Section 1.662(b), as amended, inserts a comma after "§1.633(h)" and adds the language "or would not be appropriate" at the end of the last sentence. The present rule contemplates that a reissue application may be filed by a patentee involved in an interference only for one of two reasons: either for the purpose of avoiding the interference, or for some other purpose relating to the interference, e.g., to add claims corresponding to a proposed new count. In the first case, judgment would be entered against the patentee, and in the second case, a motion under §1.633(h) to add the reissue application to the interference would be appropriate.

However, it has been found that a patentee involved in an interference may file a reissue application for some other reason not contemplated by the rule, and for which the entry of judgment or a motion under § 1.633(h) would not be appropriate. For example, the patentee might file a reissue application for the purpose of amending claims of the patent which are directed to an invention which is patentably distinct from the issue of the interference and which is not disclosed by the opposing party. In such a situation, addition of the reissue application to the interference would be unnecessary. The amendment of §1.662(b) accommodates this third possibility by providing that, instead of filing a motion under §1.633(h) to add the reissue application to the interference, a patentee can show good cause why such a motion would not be appropriate under the particular circumstances involved.

(10) Applications Under Secrecy Order

Section 5.3(b), as amended, deletes the language "under secrecy order copies claims from an issued patent" and inserts in its place the language "is under secrecy order seeks to provoke an interference with an issued patent" to make the section's language consistent with that of §1.607(d). In addition, the reference to "§1.205(c)66 is corrected to read "§1.607(d)".

Postponement of Amendment of Interference Estoppel Rule

The notice of proposed rulemaking included proposed amendments of 37 CFR 1.658(c) concerning the effect of a judgment in an interference. In response to requests by a number of commenters for further time to study the effect of the proposed amendments, the proposal will not be implemented at this time. A proposed amendment of §1.658(c) will be published later; in the meantime, interested parties are invited to submit their comments and suggestions.

Accordingly, present §1.658(c) remains in effect.

Environmental, Energy and Other Considerations

This rule change will not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment or conservation of energy resources.

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce certified to the Small Business Administration that the rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)), because it is intended to expedite the disposition of appeals and to simplify by clarification and amplification certain of the rules governing the conduct of an interference. The expedited disposition of appeals will permit the small entity to make earlier business decisions which may be affected by a pending appeal. The effect of the clarification and amplification of the rules relating to interferences will be to reduce the costs associated with involvement in an interference.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, federal, state or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the national government and the states as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

This rule does not contain a collection of information subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

List of Subjects in 37 CFR Parts 1 and 5

Administrative practice and procedure, Authority delegations (government agencies), Conflict of interests, Courts, Inventions and patents, Lawyers.

Pursuant to the authority granted to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks by 35 U.S.C. 6, Parts 1 and 5 of Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations are amended as set forth below.

Part 1—RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6, unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 1.14 is amended by revising paragraph (e) to read as follows: §1.14 Patent applications preserved in secrecy.

* * * * *

(e) Any request by a member of the public seeking access to, or copies of, any pending or abandoned application preserved in secrecy pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, or any papers relating thereto, must (1) be in the form of a petition and be accompanied by the petition fee set forth in §1.17(i) or (2) include written authority granting access to the member of the public in that particular application from the applicant or the applicant's assignee or attorney or agent of record. See §1.612(a) for access by an interference party to a pending or abandoned application.

Section 1.131 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (b) to read as follows:

> §1.131 Affidavit or declaration of prior invention to overcome cited patent or publication.

(a) When any claim of an application or a patent under reexamination is rejected on reference to a domestic patent which substantially shows or describes but does not claim the same patentable invention, as defined in §1.601(n), as the rejected invention, or on reference to a foreign patent or to a printed publication, and the inventor of the subject matter of the rejected claim, the owner of the patent under reexamination, or the person qualified under §§1.42, 1.43 or 1.47, shall make oath or declaration as to facts showing a completion of the invention in this country before the filing date of the application on which the domestic patent issued, or before the date of the foreign patent, or before the date of the printed publication, then the patent or publication cited shall not bar the grant of a patent to the inventor or the confirmation of the patentability of the claims of the patent, unless the date of such patent or printed publication is more than one year prior to the date on which the inventor's or patent owner's application was filed in this country.

(b) The showing of facts shall be such, in character and weight, as to establish reduction to practice prior to the effective date of the reference, or conception of the invention prior to the effective date of the reference coupled with due diligence from prior to said date to a subsequent reduction to practice or to the filing of the application. Original exhibits of drawings or records, or photocopies thereof, must accompany and form part of the affidavit or declaration or their absence satisfactorily explained.

4. Section 1.192 is amended by revising paragraph (a) and adding new paragraphs (c) and (d) to read as follows:

> §1.192 Appellant's brief.

(a) The appellant shall, within 2 months from the date of the notice of appeal under §1.191 in an application, reissue application, or patent under reexamination, or within the time allowed for response to the action appealed from, if such time is later, file a brief in triplicate. The brief must be accompanied by the requisite fee set forth in §1.17(f) and must set forth the authorities and arguments on which the appellant will rely to maintain the appeal.

* * * * *

(c) The brief shall contain the following items under appropriate headings and in the order here indicated:

(1) Status of Claims. A statement of the status of all the claims, pending or cancelled, and identifying the claims appealed.

(2) Status of Amendments. A statement of the status of any amendment filed subsequent to final rejection.

(3) Summary of Invention. A concise explanation of the invention defined in the claims involved in the appeal, which shall refer to the specification by page and line number, and to the drawing if any, by reference characters.

(4) Issues. A concise statement of the issues presented for review.

(5) Grouping of Claims. For each ground of rejection which appellant contests and which applies to more than one claim, it will be presumed that the rejected claims stand or fall together unless a statement is included that the rejected claims do not stand or fall together, and in the appropriate part or parts of the argument under subparagraph (c)(6) of this section appellant presents reasons as to why appellant considers the rejected claims to be separately patentable.

(6) Argument. The contentions of the appellant with respect to each of the issues presented for review in subparagraph (c)(4) of this section, and the basis therefor, with citations of the authorities, statutes, and parts of the record relied on. Each issue should be treated under a separate heading.

(i) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112 first paragraph, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection and how the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 is complied with, including, as appropriate, how the specification and drawings, if any, (A) describe the subject matter defined by each of the rejected claims, (B) enable any person skilled in the art to make and use the subject matter defined by each of the rejected claims, and (C) set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his or her invention.

(ii) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection and how the claims particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

(iii) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection and why the rejected claims are patentable under 35 U.S.C. 102, including any specific limitations in the rejected claims which are not described in the prior art relied upon in the rejection.

(iv) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection and, if appropriate, the specific limitations in the rejected claims which are not described in the prior art relied on in the rejection, and shall explain how such limitations render the claimed subject matter unobvious over the prior art. If the rejection is based upon a combination of references, the argument shall explain why the references, taken as a whole, do not suggest the claimed subject matter, and shall include, as may be appropriate, an explanation of why features disclosed in one reference may not properly be combined with features disclosed in another reference. A general argument that all the limitations are not described in a single reference does not satisfy the requirements of this paragraph.

(v) For any rejection other than those referred to in paragraphs (i) to (iv) of this section, the argument shall specify the errors in the rejection and the specific limitations in the rejected claims, if appropriate, or other reasons, which cause the rejection to be in error.

(7) Appendix. An appendix containing a copy of the claims involved in the appeal.

(d) If a brief is filed which does not comply with all the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section, the appellant will be notified of the reasons for non-compliance and provided with a period of one month within which to file an amended brief. If the appellant does not file an amended brief during the one-month period, or files an amended brief which does not overcome all the reasons for non-compliance stated in the notification, the appeal will be dismissed. Any arguments or authorities not included in the brief may be refused consideration by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

5. Section 1.193 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§1.193 Examiner's answer.

* * * * *

(b) The appellant may file a reply brief directed only to such new points of argument as may be raised in the examiner's answer, within one month from the date of such answer. The new points of argument shall be specifically identified in the reply brief. If the examiner determines that the reply brief is not directed only to new points of argument raised in the examiner's answer, the examiner may refuse entry of the reply brief and will so notify the appellant. If the examiner's answer states a new ground of rejection appellant may file a reply thereto within two months from the date of such answer; such reply may be accompanied by any amendment or material appropriate to the new ground.

6. Section 1.194 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§1.194 Oral hearing.

* * * * *

(b) If appellant desires an oral hearing, appellant must file a written request for such hearing accompanied by the fee set forth in §1.17(g) within one month after the date of the examiner's answer. If the examiner's answer states a new ground of rejection and if appellant files a reply as provided for by §1.193(b), then the written request must be made within three months after the date of the filing of the reply. If appellant requests an oral hearing and submits therewith the fee set forth in § 1.17(g), an oral argument may be presented by, or on behalf of, the primary examiner if considered desirable by either the primary examiner or the Board.

* * * * *

7. Section 1.196(b)(l) is revised to read as follows:

§1.196 Decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

* * * * *

(1) The appellant may submit an appropriate amendment of the claims so rejected or a showing of facts, or both, and have the matter reconsidered by the examiner in which event the application will be remanded to the examiner and the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences shall not be considered final for the purpose of judicial review. The statement shall be binding upon the examiner unless an amendment or showing of facts not previously of record be made which, in the opinion of the examiner, overcomes the new ground for rejection stated in the decision. Should the examiner again reject the application the applicant may again appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. When appropriate, upon conclusion of proceedings on remand before the examiner, the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences may enter an order otherwise making its decision final.

8. Section 1.604(a) is revised to read as follows: §1.604 Request for interference between applications by an applicant.

(a) An applicant may seek to have an interference declared with an application of another by (1) suggesting a proposed count and presenting at least one claim corresponding to the proposed count or identifying at least one claim in his or her application that corresponds to the proposed count, (2) identifying the other application and, if known, a claim in the other application which corresponds to the proposed count, and (3) explaining why an interference should be declared.

* * * * *

9. Section 1.607(a) is revised to read as follows:

§1.607 Request by applicant for interference with patent.

(a) An applicant may seek to have an interference declared between an application and an unexpired patent by (1) identifying the patent, (2) presenting a proposed count, (3) identifying at least one claim in the patent corresponding to the proposed count, (4) presenting at least one claim corresponding to the proposed count or identifying at least one claim already pending in his or her application that corresponds to the proposed count, and, if any claim of the patent or application identified as corresponding to the proposed count does not correspond exactly to the proposed count, explaining why each such claim corresponds to the proposed count, and (5) applying the terms of any application claim (i) identified as corresponding to the count and (ii) not previously in the application to the disclosure of the application.

* * * * *

10. Section 1.612(a) is revised to read as follows:

§1.612 Access to applications.

(a) After an interference is declared, each party shall have access to and may obtain copies of the files of any application set out in the notice declaring the interference, except for affidavits filed under §1.131 and any evidence and explanation under §1.608 filed separate from an amendment. A party seeking access to any abandoned or pending application referred to in the opposing party's involved application or access to any pending application referred to in the opposing party's patent must file a motion under §1.635.

* * * * *

11. Paragraph (vi) of §1.637(e)(l) is revised to read as follows:

§1.637 Content of motions.

* * * * *

(e) * * *

(1) * * *

(vi) Identify all claims in the opponent's application or patent which should be designated to correspond to each proposed count ; if the opponent's application does not contain any such claim, the motion shall propose a claim to be added to the opponent's application.

* * * * *

12. Paragraph (b) of §1.662 is revised to read as follows:

§1.662 Request for entry of adverse judgment; reissue filed by patentee.

* * * * *

(b) If a patentee involved in an interference files an application for reissue during the interference and omits all claims of the patent corresponding to the counts of the interference for the purpose of avoiding the interference, judgment may be entered against the patentee. A patentee who files an application for reissue other than for the purpose of avoiding the interference shall timely file a preliminary motion under §1.633(h), or show good cause why the motion could not have been timely filed or would not be appropriate.

* * * * *

Part 5—SECRECY OF CERTAIN INVENTIONS AND LICENSES TO EXPORT AND FILE APPLICATIONS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

13. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 5 is revised to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6, 41, 181-188, the Export Administration Act of 1979, as amended, 50 U.S.C.App. 2401 et seq., the Arms Export Control Act, as amended, 22 U.S.C. 2751 et seq., the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 2011 et seq., and the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Act of 1978, 22 U.S.C. 3201 et seq., and the delegations in the regulations under these acts to the Commissioner (15 CFR 370.10(j), 22 CFR 125.04, and 10 CFR 810.7).

14. Paragraph (b) of §5.3 is revised to read as follows:

§5.3 Prosecution of application under secrecy orders; withholding patent.

* * * * *

(b) An interference will not be declared involving national applications under secrecy order. However, if an applicant whose application is under secrecy order seeks to provoke an interference with an issued patent, a notice of that fact will be placed in the file wrapper of the patent. (See §1.607(d)).

APPENDIX A

Requirements for Examiner's Answer

Chapter 1200 of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure will be amended to require that the examiner's answer include, in the order indicated, the following items:

(1) Status of claims. A statement of whether the examiner disagrees with the statement of the status of claims contained in the brief and a correct statement of the status of all the claims pending or cancelled, if necessary.

(2) Status of Amendments. A statement of whether the examiner disagrees with the statement of the status of amendments contained in the brief, and an explanation of any disagreement.

(3) Summary of Invention. A statement of whether the examiner disagrees with the summary of invention contained in the brief, an explanation of why the examiner disagrees, and a correct summary of invention, if necessary.

(4) Issues. A statement of whether the examiner disagrees with the statement of the issues in the brief and an explanation of why the examiner disagrees, including:

(i) Identification of any issues which are petitionable rather than appealable, and
(ii) Identification of any issues or grounds of rejection on appeal which the examiner no longer considers applicable.

(5) Grouping of Claims. A statement of whether the examiner disagrees with any statement in the brief that certain claims do not stand or fall together, and, if the examiner disagrees, an explanation as to why those claims are not separately patentable.
(6) Claims appealed. A statement of whether the copy of the appealed claims contained in the appendix to the brief is correct and if not, a correct copy of any incorrect claim.
(7) References of record. A listing of the references of record relied on, and in the case of non-patent references, the relevant page or pages.
(8) New references. A statement of whether or not any new reference is being applied and a listing of each such reference being cited for a new ground of rejection in the examiner's answer, and in the case of non-patent references, the relevant page or pages.
(9) Grounds of rejection. For each ground of rejection applicable to the appealed claims, an explanation of the ground of rejection, or reference to a final rejection or other single prior action for a clear exposition of the rejection.

(i) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, the examiner's answer, or the single prior action, shall explain how the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 is not complied with, including, as appropriate, how the specification and drawings, if any, (a) do not describe the subject matter defined by each of the rejected claims, (b) would not enable any person skilled in the art to make and use the subject matter defined by each of the rejected claims, and (c) do not set forth the best mode contemplated by the appellant of carrying out his or her invention.
(ii) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, the examiner's answer, or single prior action, shall explain how the claims do not particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
(iii) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102, the examiner's answer, or single prior action, shall explain why the rejected claims are anticipated or not patentable under 35 U.S.C. 102, pointing out where all of the specific limitations recited in the rejected claims are found in the prior art relied upon in the rejection.
(iv) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103, the examiner's answer, or single prior action, shall state the ground of rejection and point out where each of the specific limitations recited in the rejected claims is found in the prior art relied on in the rejection, shall identify any difference between the rejected claims and the prior art relied on and shall explain how the claimed subject matter is rendered unpatentable over the prior art. If the rejection is based upon a combination of references, the examiner's answer, or single prior action, shall explain the rationale for making the combination.
(v) For each rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102 or 103 where there may be questions as to how limitations in the claims correspond to features in the prior art, the examiner, in addition to the requirements of (9)(iii) and (iv) above, should compare at least one of the rejected claims feature by feature with the prior art relied on in the rejection. The comparison shall align the language of the claim side by side with a reference to the specific page, line number, drawing reference number and quotation from the prior art, as appropriate.
(vi) For each rejection, other than those referred to in paragraphs (i) to (v) of this section, the examiner's answer, or single prior action, shall specifically explain the basis for the particular rejection.

(10) New ground of rejection. A statement of whether or not any new ground of rejection is being made in the examiner's answer and a complete statement and explanation of any such new ground. The requirements of paragraph (9) shall be complied with for any new ground of rejection.
(11) Response to argument. A statement of whether the examiner disagrees with each of the contentions of appellant in the brief with respect to the issues presented and an explanation of the reasons for disagreement with any such contention. If any ground of rejection is not argued and responded to by appellant, the response shall point out each claim affected.
(12) Period of response to new ground of rejection. A statement setting the period for appellant to file a reply to any new ground of rejection, if necessary.

(163) Treatment of Objected-to Claims After Appeal

This notice sets out the policy of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) with respect to the treatment of dependent claims that are not subject to rejection in an application in which an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences (Board) has been filed. 37 C.F.R. 1.191.

37 C.F.R. 1.197(c) reads:

> Proceedings are considered terminated by the dismissal of an appeal or the failure to timely file an appeal to the court or a civil action (37 C.F.R. 1.304) except: (1) Where claims stand allowed in an application, or (2) where the nature of the decision requires further action by the examiner. In such cases, the date of termination of proceedings is the date on which the appeal is dismissed or the date on which the time for appeal to the court or review by civil action (37 C.F.R. 1.304) expires. If an appeal to the court or a civil action has been filed, proceedings are similarly considered terminated when the appeal or civil action is terminated.

1. When an Appeal Brief is not filed

Upon failure to file an appeal brief, applications containing both, allowed claims and claims subject to rejection will have the appeal dismissed. The rejected claims will be cancelled and the application will issue with the allowed claims only.

Applicants should note that dependent claims which have been objected to by the examiner as being allowable except for their dependence from rejected claims are not claims which stand allowed. Accordingly, applicants must take affirmative action to overcome the objection and make the objected-to claims allowed claims. This may be done by filing an amendment rewriting objected-to dependent claims into independent form prior to termination of proceedings under 37 C.F.R. 1.197(c).

Upon termination of proceedings, the PTO will hold an application abandoned for failure to take appropriate action if the application contains only rejected and/or objected-to claims.

2. After a Board or Court decision

The approach outlined in (1) above will also apply to applications following an affirmance by the Board or a court of law.

An exception to the approach outlined in (1) above exists when the Board or court affirms a rejection against an independent claim and reverses all rejections against a claim dependent thereon. This type of decision requires further action by the examiner, 37 C.F.R. 1.197(c). Accordingly, upon termination of the time for appeal, the examiner will proceed in one of two ways:

a. Convert the dependent claim into independent form by examiner's amendment, cancel all claims in which the rejection was affirmed, and issue the application; or,
Set a one-month time period in which applicant may rewrite the dependent claim in independent form. Extension of time requests to this time period under 37 C.F.R. 1.136(a) will not be permitted. Failure to take timely action will result in abandonment under 35 U.S.C. 133 unless allowed claims are present in the application. If allowed claims are present, the examiner will cancel all rejected and objected-to claims and issue the application with the allowed claims only. li,0

Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patents.

MISCELLANEOUS

(164) Hearings Before the Board of Appeals

In recent years the backlog of cases awaiting decision by the Board of Appeals has grown substantially. The average time elapsing between filing of the examiner's answer and final disposition is now roughly 17 months. Intensive effort by the Board and greater use of acting examiners-in-chief have been successful in raising the number of dispositions, but at the same time the number of appeals continues to grow. Thus in the first six months of 1974, the Board disposed of 1,193 appeals but received 1,915; in the last half of the year the Board disposed of 1,993 appeals but received 2,179.

In this connection it will be helpful if applicants and attorneys will dispense with oral hearings except where unusual circumstances are present which make a hearing important to the decision. Appeals submitted on brief receive just as careful consideration as those in which oral argument is presented, nor are any implications drawn as to the merits of the appeal from failure to request a hearing. It has been the Board's experience that in the ordinary case the hearing is not of great value in arriving at the ultimate decision.

Appellants are also encouraged to review cases where a hearing has already been requested, with a view to withdrawing the request if it is not necessary. It is particularly important that the Board be given timely notice whenever circumstances prevent the applicant or his representative from the appearing at a scheduled hearing.

Rule 194 (37 CFR 1.194) limits oral argument to thirty minutes unless otherwise ordered by the Board. It has been the Board's experience, however, that effective arguments can be presented in less than thirty minutes in most cases. Effective immediately the Board will be informing appellants in the notices of hearing mailed to them that oral argument will be limited to twenty minutes unless otherwise ordered before the hearing begins.

The assistance of the public will be appreciated.

Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

(165) Hearings Before the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences

During the past twelve months there has been an increase in the number of ex parte appeals pending before the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. In order to address the growing backlog of pending appeals, it is necessary to make the most effective use of the time of Examiners-in-Chief hearing appeals. Significant amounts of time are spent by Examiners-in-Chief preparing for the hearings. In an effort to conserve the time spent in the preparation for hearing by Examiners-in-Chief, notice is hereby given that subsequent to the confirmation of attendance at oral hearing, requests for postponement of the hearing will not be granted in the absence of a showing of dramatically unusual circumstances.

(166) Hearings Before the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences

Rule 1.3 (37 CFR 1.3) provides that:

> "[a]pplicants and their attorneys or agents are required to conduct their business with the Patent and Trademark Office with decorum and courtesy."

Notice is hereby given that persons attending hearings before the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences are advised that the above provision also applies to dress. If an attendee at a hearing is not appropriately dressed, the attendee may be requested to leave the hearing room.

(167) Access to Interference Settlement Agreements by Government Agencies

Under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. §135(c), a party to an interference filing a copy of a settlement agreement may request that the copy be kept separate from the file of the interference, and made available only to Government agencies on written request, or to any person on a showing of good cause.

In order to provide the parties with a record of the inspection of such agreements by Government agencies, a representative of an agency will henceforth be required to present a written request, similar to the following, for each interference in which the inspection and/or copying of the agreement(s) is desired:

Date:_____

To: Clerk, Board of Patent Interferences

Pursuant to the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 135(c), please permit ..... the bearer(s) of this letter, to [ ] inspect and/or [ ] copy the settlement agreement(s) filed in Interference No. .....
The information gained from such inspection and/or copying will be kept in confidence and will not be disclosed to any other person except for official investigative or law enforcement purposes.

Name, Title
.....
Agency

The request will be placed in the folder containing the copy of the agreement, where it may be inspected by the parties or their authorized representatives.

This procedure will be applicable only to inspection or copying by the representatives of Government agencies, since no person other than a representative of a Government agency, or of a party, will be granted access to a copy of an interference settlement agreement which is kept separate from the interference file except by way of a petition for access thereto, see M.P.E.P. §1002.02(k), item 2, and the parties to the interference are normally provided with copies of any such petition.

(168) Accessibility of Non-Final Discovery Opinions and Orders Issued by the Board of Patent Interferences

A number of inquiries have been received from the patent bar and other interested persons relating to discovery practice under 37 C.F.R. §1.287 before the Board of Patent Interferences. The inquiries indicate a need for making available to the public non-final Board opinions, including concurring and dissenting opinions, as well as orders, made in the adjudication of discovery matters before the Board. While non-final opinions need not be made available to the public [5 U.S.C. §552(a)(2)], in order to satisfy the need, copies of non-final opinions issued by the Board will be kept in a file in the Service Branch of the Board in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (Crystal Plaza, Building 6, Eleventh Floor, Room 1116, Arlington, Virginia). Opinions in the file may be reviewed by the public during normal business hours (8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.). Copies of opinions may be made by the public on reproducing equipment in the Service Branch with tokens at a cost of $0.15 per page or copies may be ordered at a cost of $0.30 per page [37 C.F.R. 1.21(b)].

In view of the provisions of 35 U.S.C. §122 and 37 C.F.R. §1.11(a), a consent will be obtained by the Office from all parties in an interference before an opinion issued in connection with the interference is placed in the file if the interference file is not otherwise available to the public. Preliminary indications are that the parties and their counsel generally consent.

In order to obtain optimum dissemination of the information contained in the file, opinions placed therein will be indexed according to specific topics. Copies of the index will be updated from time to time as the need occurs. Specific questions relating to the index and file may be directed to the Patent Interference Examiners.

(169) Petitions in Interference Cases From Decisions of The Board on Motions for Additional Discovery Under 37 CFR 1.287(c)

Notwithstanding the clear statement in the last sentence of 37 CFR 1.287(c), parties in interference cases continue to seek review by the Commissioner of decisions of the Board of Patent Interferences on motions for additional discovery under 37 CFR 1.287(c). Review of such a decision can be had along with judicial review of a decision on the question of priority. Cochran v. Kresock, 530 F.2d 385, 188 USPQ 553 (CCPA 1976); Comstock v. Kroekel, 200 USPQ 548 (Comm'r. Pat. 1978). Accordingly, parties in interference cases are reminded that a petition to the Commissioner should not be filed for the purpose of seeking review of an interlocutory decision of the Board granting or denying a motion for additional discovery under 37 CFR 1.287(c). See also Fenstermacher v. Daugherty, 189 USPQ 536 (Comm'r. Pat. 1975) and Sheehan v. Doyle, 202 USPQ 783 (Comm'r. Pat. 1978). The filing of such a petition only serves to delay the ultimate disposition of interferences on the merits. The filing of a paper for the mere purpose of delay is not permitted by the rules. 37 CFR 1.346. The Board of Patent Interferences will no longer grant a stay of proceedings pending disposition of a petition to the Commissioner seeking review of a decision of the Board on a motion for additional discovery under 37 CFR 1.287(c).

(170) Commissioner's Notice Practice under 37 CFR §1.225(b)

When a junior party to an interference is placed under an order to show cause why judgment should not be entered pursuant to 37 CFR §1.225 and requests final hearing to contest an ancillary matter, either the junior or senior party may file a motion for permission to take testimony pursuant to 37 CFR §1.225(b) and the last sentence of 37 CFR §1.251(b). However, some uncertainty has arisen as to when the motion must be filed and what it must contain.

Motion by the Junior Party

When a junior party is placed under an order to show cause and the junior party desired a testimony period, the motion for permission to take testimony should be filed preferably before the time set for responding to the order to show cause. The motion will be considered timely, however, if filed no later than twenty (20) days after the Board of Patent Interferences enters an order setting final hearing.

There are instances where the requested testimony relates to priority. For example, the junior party may occasionally desire to take testimony to establish prior inventive acts alleged in a preliminary statement even though those acts are subsequent to the senior party's effective filing date. This situation arises when (1) the junior party's preliminary statement dates fall between the filing date of the senior party's involved application and the filing date of a prior application accorded to the senior party, (2) the junior party has unsuccessfully contended in a motion under 37 CFR §1.231 that the senior party should not be accorded benefit of the prior application, and (3) the junior party has requested final hearing to review the examiner's adverse decision on the motion.

When the requested testimony includes priority testimony, the motion to take testimony may be pro forma, viz., a simple request that a testimony period be set to obtain priority evidence. Normally, however, when a junior party seeks to take testimony under 37 CFR §1.225(b), the proposed testimony relates solely to ancillary matters. When the requested testimony relates solely to ancillary matters, the motion must comply with the provisions of 37 CFR §1.225(b)—a showing of good cause must be submitted and a pro forma request would not be sufficient. See generally Rivise & Caesar, Interference Law and Practice, Vol. III, §§376–377 (1947).

Motion by the Senior Party

There are occasions when a senior party may desire a testimony period even if the junior party does not request a testimony period. See e.g., Lorenian v. Winstead, 127 USPQ 501 (Bd.Int. 1959). When a senior party desires a testimony period, the motion for permission to take testimony should be filed promptly after the Board of Patent Interferences enters an order setting final hearing, but in no event later than twenty (20) days after entry of such order. A senior party should take into account the fact that a junior party will begin preparation of a brief for final hearing after receiving notice of the briefing schedule. Therefore, a senior party should not be permitted to let a junior party expend unnecessary energy preparing a brief for final hearing if the senior party plans to move to take testimony.

As in the case of a junior party, a request to take testimony relating to priority may be pro forma. A request to take testimony limited to ancillary matters must comply with 37 CFR §1.225(b). See 37 CFR 1.251(b), last sentence.

(171) Interference Practice: Response to Order to Show Cause Under 37 CFR 1.640

37 CFR 1.640(e) provides that when an order to show cause under 37 CFR 1.640(d) is issued against an interference party, the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences will enter judgment against that party "unless, within 20 days after the date of the order, the party against whom the order issued files a paper which shows good cause why judgment should not be entered in accordance with the order." In the application of this rule, some confusion has arisen as to the nature of the "paper" which the party must file when the basis of the order is 37 CFR 1.640(d)(1), i.e., where "[a] decision on a motion is entered which is dispositive of the interference against the party on any count."

Normally, the "paper" filed in response to such an order to show cause should be a simple request that final hearing (see 37 CFR 1.654) be set to review the decision on the motion which was dispositive of the interference against the party, as well as any other decision on motion which the party may wish to have reviewed by the Board.* When such a response is filed, the Examiner-in-Chief will normally set the times for filing briefs under 37 CFR 1.656. The response should be accompanied by a motion requesting a testimony period, if the party desires to take testimony. See 37 CFR 1.640(e), last sentence. Also, an opposing party may request a testimony period, even if the party responding to the order to show cause does not. Such a request should be filed promptly after the Examiner-in-Chief enters an order setting the brief times, but in no event more than twenty (20) days after entry of such order. Cf. the Commissioner's Notice of June 15, 1981, 1008 O.G. 9 (July 14, 1981).

Instead of filing a request that final hearing be set, the party under order to show cause may file a paper containing a full discussion of the reasons why judgment should not be entered. However, before deciding to file such a paper, the following should be taken into consideration:

(1) Such paper will be construed as a request for final hearing if a testimony period is requested;

(2) Such paper will be deemed a waiver of any opportunity to present oral argument concerning the matters discussed therein, and the matter will be decided by the Board based upon the content of the paper and any response thereto;

(3) An opposing party may still request final hearing and/or a testimony period within twenty (20) days of the date of service of the paper, and if either request is granted it will be necessary for the parties to file briefs under 37 CFR 1.656.

It is the policy of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences that when final hearing is set pursuant to a request therefor following an order to show cause issued as a result of a decision on preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 or 1.634, the parties must raise at that hearing for consideration by the Board all matters specified in 37 CFR 1.655(b) which were decided on the merits by the Examiner-in-Chief and which they wish to have considered. In other words, once the brief times are set for such a final hearing, every matter which was decided by an Examiner-in-Chief in connection with a motion under 37 CFR 1.633 or 1.634 must be raised in the parties' main briefs if the parties wish to have those matters considered by the Board. A party cannot wait to see what the Board's decision on one such matter will be and then, if the decision is unfavorable to the party and the case continues, raise that matter or any other such matter at a subsequent final hearing.

(172) Department of Commerce Patent and Trademark Office 37 CFR Part 1 Docket No. 40104–4151

Patent Interference Proceedings

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final rule.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office is amending its rules of practice in patent interference cases. The Patent Law Amendments Act of 1984, Public Law 98–622, §§201–202, abolished the Board of Appeals and Board of Patent Interferences and created in their place a Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences which will decide ex parte appeals from adverse decisions of patent examiners and interference cases. The Patent and Trademark Office, through this amendment of its rules, intends to provide guidance on the procedures the Office will be following in conducting interference cases before the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.
Date: The effective date of these rules is: Feb. 11, 1985.
For Further Information Contact: Fred E. McKelvey by telephone at (703) 557–4025 (if no answer, message may be left at 703–557–4103) or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) conducts interference proceedings to determine who as between two or more applicants for patent or one or more applicants and one or more patentees is the first inventor of a patentable invention. Heretofore, the determination was made by a Board of Patent Interferences. The Patent Law Amendments Act of 1984, Public Law 98–622, §§201–202 combines the Board of Appeals and the Board of Patent Interferences into a single Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences (Board) and authorizes the Board to consider priority and patentability in interference cases.

*It should be recognized that the decision of the Board following the final hearing may not terminate the interference. For example, if the order to show cause resulted from an Examiner-in-Chief's decision, the case might then proceed to the taking of priority testimony. The Board's decision would however be final with regard to the basis of the motion for judgement.

In view of the discretion given the Board under 35 U.S.C. §135(a), as amended by Public Law 98–622 ("The Board . . . . may determine questions of patentability . . . ."), these new rules will apply to all interferences declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985, except in special circumstances, such as: (1) interferences which are declared as a result of a motion made in another interference which was pending before the Board before Feb. 11, 1985, (e.g., an interference declared as a result of a motion under 37 CFR §1.231 to declare an additional interference); (2) an interference related to another interference declared prior to Feb. 11, 1985 (e.g., an interference involving a method of using a compound where an interference involving the same parties and the compound was declared prior to Feb. 11, 1985); and (3) an interference reinstituted after having been dissolved under the old rules (37 CFR §§1.201–1.288)(e.g., an interference reinstituted after having been dissolved as a result of a motion under 37 CFR §1.231 to dissolve on the grounds of unpatentability where the applicant has obtained allowance of the claims held unpatentable in the decision on motions).

Through these new rules the PTO seeks to improve interference procedure so that the rights of parties in interferences are determined at an early date and the overall process of examining patent applications which become involved in interferences is simplified.

In order to obtain maximum input from the public prior to formally proposing revisions to the rules, on Aug. 1, 1983, the PTO published in the Federal Register an advance notice of proposed rulemaking for interference rules. 48 F.R. 34836-34855. The advance notice was not published in the Official Gazette. Twenty-one written comments were received. All comments are available for public inspection in Rm. 10C01, Crystal Gateway II, 1225 Jefferson Davis Hwy., Arlington, Va.

On Jan. 30, 1984, the PTO published in the Federal Register a notice of proposed rulemaking. 49 F.R. 3768-3802. The notice was also published in the Official Gazette on Feb. 14, 1984. 1039 O.G. 11; 1039 TMOG 11.The notice also appeared in the Bureau of National Affairs' Patent, Trademark & Copyright Journal, Vol. 27, pp. 312–346 (Feb. 2, 1984), hereinafter 'BNA." Eighteen written comments were received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking. The comments are analyzed herein. A hearing was held on May 15, 1984. Three individuals appeared at the hearing. Oral comments made at the hearing are also analyzed herein. The eighteen comments and copy of the transcript of the hearing are available for public inspection in Rm. 10C01, Crystal Gateway II, 1225 Jefferson Davis Hwy., Arlington, Va.

The new rules for interferences are set forth herein in §§1.601 through 1.688. The new rules replace entirely the present interference rules (37 CFR §§1.201 through 1.288). A "six hundred" number series is used for the new rules. The use of a six hundred number series for the new rules will permit interested individuals to research published decisions (e.g., F.2d, USPQ) or computerized legal research services (e.g., LEXIS) citing the new rules.

An index of the headings of §§1.601–1.688 and a table correlating 37 CFR §§1.201 through 1.288 (old rules) to §§1.601 through 1.688 (new rules) appears below.

Under the new rules, interferences are decided by the Board. The Board has jurisdiction to determine (1) priority of invention, (2) patentability of any claim corresponding to a count both as to applicants and patentees, (3) any issue of interference-in-fact as to any count, and (4) any other issue necessary to resolve the interference. The rules permit an interference to be declared on the basis of a single count defining one patentable invention in interferences involving patents as well as applications. The Board also has jurisdiction to determine whether counts are patentably distinct.

When an interference is declared, an examiner-in-chief is assigned to handle the interlocutory stages of the interference. An examiner having full signatory authority determines when one or more applications or one or more applications and a patent claim the same patentable invention. When the examiner makes such determination, the examiner will forward any involved applications or patents to the Board. The examiner will designate, at the time the involved applications or patents are sent to the Board, the claims of any application and patent which correspond to each count. The examiner-in-chief can subsequently designate additional claims to correspond to a count. The examiner-in-chief assigned to handle the interference will issue a notice to the parties declaring the interference.

The object of the interference will be to resolve all controversies as to all interfering subject matter defined by one or more counts. A final decision in the interference will determine who, if anyone, is entitled to claims which correspond to a count. Any decision adverse to an applicant by the Board will constitute a final refusal by the PTO to that applicant of the claims involved. Any decision adverse to a patentee constitutes cancellation from the patent of the claims involved.

Any decision by the Board on any issue is binding on the examiner and would govern further proceedings in the PTO.

The designation of a single examiner-in-chief to handle the interlocutory phases of an interference will permit better management of, and control over, interference proceedings. The rules provide that times be set and the examiner-in-chief exercise control over proceedings in the interference such that pendency of the interference before the Board from declaration to final decision will not normally exceed 24 months. The examiner-in-chief should be familiar with the history of the interference and will be accessible to counsel for the parties. For example, an examiner-in-chief, where appropriate, may conduct telephone conference calls to obtain agreement of the parties on the setting of schedules. The rules also permit the examiner-in-chief to hold hearings in the PTO or by conference telephone call in order to expedite or settle interlocutory issues in interferences. Any hearing can be transcribed by a court reporter under such conditions as an examiner-in-chief or the Board deems appropriate. The examiner-in-chief, where appropriate, will be available by phone to rule on the admissibility of evidence in the event parties encounter unusual problems during the taking of depositions. The examiner-in-chief will also be available to rule on requests for production of documents which take place during cross-examination. Oral orders given by phone will, be followed by written orders.

At the time an interference is declared, the examiner-in-chief will set a time for filing preliminary motions. The preliminary motions can include:

(1) A motion for judgment on the ground that a claim corresponding to the count is not patentable to an opponent under 35 U.S.C. §§102, 103, 112, or any other provision of law.

(2) A motion for judgment on the ground that there is no interference-in-fact between the claims of the opponents in the interference.

(3) A motion to add or to substitute new counts, to amend a claim corresponding to a count, to designate an application or patent claim to correspond to a count, to designate an application or patent claim as not corresponding to a count, or to require an applicant to present a claim to be designated to correspond to a count.

(4) A motion to substitute another application for the application involved in the interference or to add an application for reissue to the interference.

(5) A motion to declare another interference.

(6) A motion to be accorded the benefit of an earlier application or to attack the benefit of an earlier application which has been accorded to an opponent.

Other motions are permitted as necessary, such as a motion to amend the count and/or a claim corresponding to the count in response to a preliminary motion for judgment.

Oppositions to motions are permitted if filed within a time set by the examiner-in-chief. Replies are also authorized. Papers which are not authorized by the rules or requested by the examiner-in-chief can be returned unfiled.

A preliminary statement will be filed prior to or concurrently with the preliminary motions outlined above.

Motions will be decided by an examiner-in-chief, who may consult with an examiner on questions of patentability which have not previously been decided by the examiner. The examiner-in-chief may grant a motion, deny a motion, defer consideration on the merits of a motion to final hearing, or take such other action with respect to a motion as may be appropriate, e.g., dismiss an entirely inappropriate motion.

At the time preliminary motions are decided, the preliminary statements will be opened. If a decision on a motion or inspection of the preliminary statement results in entry of an order to show cause why a judgment should not be entered, the party against whom judgment might be entered can request a hearing before the examiner-in-chief and two additional examiners-in-chief. The decision will govern further proceedings. If adverse, the decision will constitute a final agency action. If favorable, the interference will proceed before the examiner-in-chief.

After preliminary motions are decided and assuming judgment does not result, a period may be set for the parties to file motions for additional discovery. The scope of the additional discovery would be the same as under current practice.

When a time period is set for filing discovery motions, or after discovery has closed, the examiner-in-chief will set a period for taking testimony. Any party wishing to take the testimony of a witness can elect to have the testimony of the witness taken by deposition or presented by affidavit. A transcript of an ex parte deposition can be used as an affidavit. If an affidavit is presented, the opposing party may then cross-examine on oral deposition. Any redirect will take place at the deposition. The party calling the witness is responsible for securing a court reporter and filing the transcript and record associated with cross-examination of its witness.

In the event a party needs testimony from a third-party who will not appear unless a subpoena is issued, including a hostile witness, direct and cross-examination testimony may be taken on oral deposition. The rules provide that prior authorization of an examiner-in-chief is required before a party can take testimony by issuance of a subpoena under 35 U.S.C. §24. The rule thus adopts the policy of Sheehan v. Doyle, 513 F.2d 895, 898, 185 USPQ 489, 492 (1st Cir.), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 874 (1975), and Sheehan v. Doyle, 529 F.2d 38, 40, 188 USPQ 545, 546 (1st Cir.), cert. denied, 429 U.S. 870 (1976), rehearing denied, 429 U.S. 987 (1976), and rejects the policy announced in Brown v. Braddick, 595 F.2d 961, 967, 203 USPQ 95, 101–102 (5th Cir. 1979). Testimony obtained in other proceedings, e.g., another interference or an infringement action, may be used if otherwise admissible.

Under the rules, the Federal Rules of Evidence are made applicable to interferences, except for those portions which relate to criminal actions, juries, and other matters not relevant to interferences. Those portions include:

(1) Rule 103(c).
(2) Rule 104(c), (d), and (e).
(3) The language in Rule 105 which reads "and instruct the jury accordingly."
(4) Rule 201(g).
(5) The language in Rule 403 which reads "or misleading the jury."
(6) Rule 404(a)(1) and (2).
(7) The word "charge" in Rule 405(b).
(8) The language "or criminal" and proviso (ii) in Rule 410.
(9) Rule 412.
(10) Rule 606.
(11) The language "whether by an accused" and "other" in the last sentence of Rule 607.
(12) The provisions of the first sentence of Rule 611 (c) relating to leading questions on direct examination do not apply to statements made in an affidavit authorized to be filed under the rules.
(13) The language "Except as otherwise provided in criminal proceedings by section 3500 of title 18, United States Code" and "except that in criminal cases when the prosecution elects not to comply, the order shall be one striking the testimony or, if the court in its discretion determines that the interests of justice so require, declaring a mistrial" in Rule 612.
(14) Rule 614.
(15) Rule 706.
(16) The language "excluding, however, in criminal cases matters observed by police officers and other law enforcement personnel" and "and against the Government in criminal cases" in Rule 803(8).
(17) The language "but not including, when offered by the Government in a criminal prosecution for purposes other than impeachment, judgments against persons other than the second" in Rule 803(22).
(18) The language "prosecution for homicide or in a" in Rule 804(b)(2).
(19) The language "A statement tending to expose the declarant to criminal liability and offered to exculpate the accused is not admissible unless corroborating circumstances clearly indicate the trustworthiness of the statement" in Rule 804(b)(3).
(20) Rule 1101(a), (b), (d)(2), (d)(3), and (e).

The examiner-in-chief will set a period for filing the record and briefs. Oral hearings normally will be held before a panel consisting of the examiner-in-chief assigned to the interference and two other examiners-in-chief. The panel will render a final decision in the interference. Requests for reconsideration are permitted.

In rendering its decision, the Board will consider only that evidence which can be made available to the public under §1.11(a). Accordingly, the Board will not consider evidence which is submitted under a protective order issued by a court if release of that evidence under §1.11(a) would be inconsistent with the terms of the court's order.

A final decision of the Board is reviewable in the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or an appropriate U. S. district court. Any reviewing court can review all aspects of the decision including patentability, priority, and all relevant interlocutory orders, such as denials of discovery.

Except as noted above, these new rules are applicable to all interferences declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. Interferences declared prior to Feb. 11, 1985, continue to be governed by the prior rules (37 CFR §§1.201–1.288 (July 1, 1984)) and will be decided by personnel of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. Actions presently taken by a patent interference examiner or examiners of interferences will be taken by an examiner-in-chief.

An anticipated time schedule for a two-party interference follows.

Sections 1.601 through 1.688 would introduce new concepts in interference practice. Some of the more significant aspects of the rules, as well as some of the new concepts, include the following.

Section 1.1 codifies a practice announced in a Commissioner's Notice of Nov. 28, 1983, "Mailing of Papers to the PTO in Patent Interference Proceedings," 1037 Official Gazette 25 (Dec. 27, 1983) and authorizes a party in an interference to direct mail to the PTO intended for the interference to a special box in the Mail Room for interference papers. Amendments copying claims which are filed prior to the time an interference is declared would continue to be addressed in accordance with §1.5(a).

Section 1.5 provides that when a paper filed in the PTO concerns an interference which has been declared, it should state the names of the parties (e.g., Smith v.

Jones) and the number of the interference. The name of the examiner-in-chief assigned to the interference (§1.610) and the name of the party filing the paper should also appear conspicuously on the first page of the paper. Identification of the examiner-in-chief assigned to the interference and the name of the party filing the paper will greatly assist the Board in its administration of interference cases.

Section 1.8 excludes from the certificate of mailing practice any paper in an interference which an examiner-in-chief orders filed by hand or "Express Mail." Papers filed by "Express Mail" in an interference case would be addressed as set forth in §1.1(e).

Section 1.11 sets forth when the interference file would become available to the public without a petition for access.

Section 1.48 provides that when a request is filed to correct inventorship of an application involved in an interference, the request shall comply with the requirements of §1.48 and shall be accompanied by a motion under §1.634. The request will be placed in the file of the application and the motion will be placed in the file of the interference. The request will be decided as part of the interference.

Section 1.138 permits an attorney or agent to sign and file a paper abandoning an application involved in an interference.

Section 1.196 more clearly sets forth the options open to an applicant when the Board makes a new ground of rejection under §1.196(b). The last sentence of paragraph (b)(1) is intended to clarify practice in certain situations. One situation involves a case where (1) the Board affirms an examiner's rejection of a "first" claim and makes a new ground of rejection under §1.196(b) of a "second" claim, (2) the applicant elects to have further proceedings before the examiner on the new ground of rejection on the second claim, and (3) those proceedings do not result in a further appeal (i.e., the second claim is allowed or is cancelled). The last sentence of §1.196(b)(1) permits the Board to make its decision final on the first claim. By making its decision final on the first claim, the time period under §1.304 for seeking judicial review begins. Another situation involves a case where (1) the Board affirms an examiner's rejection of a claim over reference A, (2) the Board also enters a new ground of rejection of the claim over reference B, (3) the applicant elects to have further proceedings before the examiner on the new ground of rejection, and (4) those proceedings result in applicant overcoming the new ground of rejection based on reference B. The last sentence of §1.196(b)(1) permits the Board to make its decision final as to its affirmance of the rejection over reference A. Entry of an order making its decision final would start the period under §1.304 for seeking judicial review. Thus, an applicant does not forego possible judicial review by electing further prosecution before the examiner when a new ground of rejection is made by the Board. Under paragraph (d), a recommendation by the Board that an allowed claim be rejected is binding on the examiner (rather than being a mere recommendation as was previously the case) in the absence of (1) an amendment, (2) showing of facts by affidavit or other appropriate evidence, or (3) both. The last sentence of paragraph (d) is intended to clarify that the Board may enter a final decision in certain circumstances. When the Board affirms an examiner's rejection of a "first" claim and makes a recommendation under paragraph (d) as to a "second" claim, the application is remanded to the examiner and the Board's decision affirming the rejection of the first claim is not a final decision. If proceedings before the examiner on remand do not result in a further appeal (i.e., the second claim is allowed or is cancelled), the Board may then make its decision final as to the first claim. By making its decision final as to the first claim, the time period under §1.304 for seeking judicial review starts. Thus, an applicant does not forego judicial review on the first claim merely because of the remand proceedings with respect to the second claim.

Most of the current interference rules (§§1.201 through 1.247 and 1.251 through 1.288) are removed, but will continue to govern interferences declared prior to Feb. 11, 1985. Section 1.248 is retained and governs service of papers in all patent cases except interference proceedings. Section 1.646 governs service of papers in interference proceedings.

Under §1.292, it is intended to modify public use proceedings only to the extent that public use and on sale issues which arise during an interference shall be raised by a preliminary motion under §1.633(a). There is no fee for filing the motion in the interference, but a fee would continue to be necessary when a petition is filed for institution of a public use proceeding apart from an interference. When a public use proceeding is instituted apart from an interference, the Commissioner will designate an appropriate official to conduct the proceeding including the setting of times for taking testimony under §§1.671 through 1.685. There will continue to be no "additional discovery" (see §§1.687 and 1.688) in public use proceedings.

Section 1.304 makes clear that the provisions of §1.136 do not apply when judicial review is sought of a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in (1) a reexamination proceeding or (2) an interference. An extension of time to seek judicial review of a decision of the Board in a reexamination proceeding may be obtained under §1.550(c). An extension of time to seek judicial review of a decision of the Board in an interference proceeding may be obtained under §1.645. Section 1.304 also establishes an "excusable neglect" standard for seeking judicial review in interference cases when a notice of appeal is untimely filed or a civil action is not timely commenced. The excusable neglect standard is intended to be the same as the standard under Rule 4(a)(5) of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure.

Section 1.322 provides that when a request for a certificate of correction under 35 U.S.C. §254 (PTO mistake) is filed to make a correction of a patent involved in an interference, the request shall comply with the requirements of §1.322 and shall be accompanied by a motion under §1.635. The request will be placed in the file of the patent and the motion will be placed in the file of the interference. The request will be decided as part of the interference.

Section 1.323 provides that when a request for a certificate of correction under 35 U.S.C. §255 (patentee's mistake) is filed to make a correction of a patent involved in an interference, the request shall comply with the requirements of §1.323 and shall be accompanied by a motion under §1.635. The request will be placed in the file of the patent and the motion will be placed in the file of the interference. The request will be decided as part of the interference.

Section 1.324 provides that when a request is filed to correct inventorship of a patent involved in an interference, the request shall comply with the requirements of §1.324 and shall be accompanied by a motion under proposed §1.634. The request will be placed in the file of the patent and the motion will be placed in the file of the interference. The request will be decided as part of the interference.

Section 1.565 provides that when a patent is involved in an interference proceeding and a reexamination proceeding, both the interference proceeding and the reexamination proceeding will continue unless one of the proceedings is stayed. A stay of a reexamination proceeding will be made by the Commissioner. A stay of an interference proceeding will be made by an examiner-in-chief, subject to review by the Commissioner. Section 1.565 continues the present practice of the Commissioner determining in every instance whether to stay a reexamination proceeding when the patent involved in the reexamination proceeding is sought to be reissued or becomes involved in litigation.

Under §1.601, the rules shall be construed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of interferences. Section 1.601 defines various terms used in Subpart E including "additional discovery," "affidavit," "case-in-chief," "case-in-rebuttal," "count," "effective filing date," "filing date," "interference," "interference-in-fact," "junior party," "lead" attorney, "party," "phantom count," "same patentable invention," "separate patentable invention," "senior party," "sworn," and "United States." "Affidavits" include declarations under 35 U.S.C. §25 and 37 CFR §1.68 as well as statutory declarations under 28 U.S.C. §1746. The definition of "United States" is the same as the definition of United States in 35 U.S.C. §100(c).

The definition of "interference" permits an interference between one or more applications and one or more patents. Thus, these new rules follow the policy of Wilson v. Yakel, 1876 Dec. Comm'r. Pat. 245 (Comm'r.Pat. 1876) and, to the extent inconsistent therewith, do not follow the policy announced in Townal v. Newcombe, 194 USPQ 509 (Comm'r.Pat. 1976). However, in view of the statutory requirement for the presence of at least one application in an interference, if an applicant were to concede priority or otherwise be terminated from an interference involving only one application and more than one patent, the interference would have to be terminated for lack of subject matter jurisdiction unless one or more of the patentees filed an application for reissue which could be added to the interference under §1.633(h). A "count" defines interfering subject matter. An interference may have two counts only if the second count defines a "separate patentable invention" from the first count. The reason the second count must define a separate patentable invention is to permit the PTO to lawfully issue separate patents to different parties in an interference when a single party does not prevail as to all counts. A "separate patentable invention" is defined in §1.601(n):

> Invention (A) is a "separate patentable invention" with respect to invention (B) when invention (A) is new (35 U.S.C. §102) and non-obvious (35 U.S.C. §103) in view of invention (B) assuming invention (B) is prior art with respect to invention (A).

Section 1.602(a) continues the present PTO practice (37 CFR §1.201(c)) of not declaring or continuing an interference between (1) two or more applications owned by the same party or (2) an application and a patent owned by a single party unless good cause is shown. A corporation and its wholly-owned subsidiary are considered a "single party" within the meaning of §1.602(a). Under prior rules, when a patent and an application involved in an interference became commonly owned, the interference was not "dissolved." Rather, the PTO required that the interference be terminated with a judgment. Chillas v. Weisberg, 1928 Dec. Comm'r. Pat. 24 (Comm'r.Pat. 1928); Malone v. Toth, 202 USPQ 397 (Comm'r.Pat. 1978); and Morehouse v. Armbruster, 209 USPQ 514 (Comm'r.Pat. 1980). Under these new rules, all interferences, including those involving only applications, will be terminated with a judgment. As noted in Chillas v. Weisberg, supra at 25 "the common owner can allow a judgment against the junior party to be rendered by default or it can file a concession of priority from one party to the other." Paragraphs (b) and (c) of §1.602 continue the present PTO practice (37 CFR §1.201(c)) of requiring a party to notify the PTO of any real party in interest not apparent on the face of the notice declaring the interference (see §1.611) or of any change in the real party in interest after the interference is declared. The PTO needs to know the identity of any real party in interest to properly enforce §1.602(a) and to enable an examiner-in-chief to determine whether recusal is necessary or appropriate. A new requirement in paragraphs (b) and (c), not present in 37 CFR §1.201(c), is a 20-day time period for advising the PTO of the identity of, or any change in, the real party in interest.

Under §§1.601(f), 1.603, and 1.606, the interfering subject matter would be defined by one or more counts. All the claims in an application or a patent which define the same patentable invention as a count would be designated to correspond to the count. An interference would have two counts only if one count defines a separate patentable invention from another count. Under §1.606, at the time an interference is declared between a patent and an application, a count would not be narrower in scope than any patent claim which corresponds to the count. Thus, a patent claim would be presumed, subject to a motion under §1.633(c), not to embrace "separate patentable inventions." Some examples illustrate how the PTO would formulate counts and designate patent and application claims to correspond to counts.

Example 1: Application A contains patentable claim 1 (engine). Application B contains patentable claim 8 (engine). If an interference is declared, there would be one count (engine). Claim 1 of application A and claim 8 of application B would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 2: Application C contains patentable claims 1 (engine) and 2 (6-cylinder engine). Application D contains patentable claim 8 (engine). An engine and a 6-cylinder engine define the same patentable invention. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (engine). Claims 1 and 2 of application C and claim 8 of application D would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 3: Application E contains patentable claims 1 (engine), 2 (6-cylinder engine), and 3 (engine with a platinum piston). Application F contains patentable claims 11 (engine) and 12 (8-cylinder engine). Claims 1 and 2 of application E and claims 11 and 12 of application F define the same patentable invention. Claim 3 of application E defines a separate patentable invention from claims 1 and 2 of application E and claims 11 and 12 of application F. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (engine). Claims 1 and 2 of application E and claims 11 and 12 of application F would be designated to correspond to the count. Claim 3 of application E would not be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 4: Application G contains patentable claims 1 (engine), 2 (6-cylinder engine), and 3 (engine with a platinum piston). Application H contains patentable claims 11 (engine) and 15 (engine with a platinum piston). Claims 1 and 2 of application G and claim 11 of application H define the same patentable invention. Claim 3 of application G and claim 15 of application H define a separate patentable invention from claims 1 and 2 of application G and claim 11 of application H. If an interference is declared, there would be two counts: Count 1 (engine) and Count 2 (engine with a platinum piston). Claims 1 and 2 of application G and claim 11 of application H would be designated to correspond to Count 1. Claim 3 of application G and claim 15 of application H would be designated to correspond to Count 2.

Example 5: Application J contains patentable claims 1 (engine), 2 (combination of an engine and a carburetor) and 3 (combination of an engine, a carburetor, and a catalytic converter). Application K contains patentable claims 31 (engine), 32 (combination of an engine and a carburetor), and 33 (combination of an engine, a carburetor, and an air filter). The engine, combination of an engine and carburetor, and combination of an engine, carburetor, and air filter define the same patentable invention. The combination of an engine, carburetor, and catalytic converter define a separate patentable invention from engine. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (engine). Claims 1 and 2 of application J and claims 31, 32, and 33 of application K would be designated to correspond to the count. Claim 3 of application J would not be designated as corresponding to the count.

Example 6: The PTO will continue to follow Waldeck v. Lewis, 120 USPQ 88 (Comm'r.Pat. 1955). Application L contains patentable claims 1 (Markush group of benzene or toluene), 2 (benzene), and 3 (toluene). Application M contains patentable claim 11 (benzene). Benzene and toluene define the same patentable invention. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (Markush group of benzene or toluene). Claims 1, 2, and 3 of application L and claim 11 of application M would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 7: Application N contains patentable claim 1 (benzene). Application P contains patentable claim 11 (xylene). Benzene and xylene define the same patentable invention. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (benzene or xylene). Claim 1 of application N and claim 11 of application P would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 8: Application Q contains patentable claims 1 (Markush group of benzene or chloroform), 2 (benzene), and 3 (chloroform). Application R contains patentable claim 33 (benzene). If benzene and chloroform define the same patentable invention and an interference is declared, there would be one count (Markush group of benzene or chloroform). Claims 1, 2, and 3 of application Q and claim 33 of application R would be designated to correspond to the count. If chloroform defines a separate patentable invention from benzene and an interference is declared, there would be one count (benzene). Claims 1 and 2 of application Q and claim 33 of application R would be designated to correspond to the count. Claim 3 of application Q would not be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 9: Application S contains patentable claims 1 (Markush group of benzene or chloroform), 2 (benzene), and 3 (chloroform). Application T contains patentable claims 11 (Markush group of benzene or chloroform), 12 (benzene), and 13 (chloroform). If benzene and chloroform define the same patentable invention and an interference is declared, there would be one count (Markush group of benzene or chloroform). Claims 1, 2, and 3 of application S and claims 11, 12, and 13 of application T would be designated to correspond to the count. The PTO will continue to adhere to Becker v. Patrick, 47 USPQ 314 (Comm'r.Pat. 1939). An interference can have two counts only if one count defines a separate patentable invention from another count. If chloroform defines a separate patentable invention from benzene and an interference is declared, there would be two counts: Count 1 (benzene) and Count 2 (chloroform). Claims 1 and 2 of application S and claims 11 and 12 of application T would be designated to correspond to Count 1. Claims 1 and 3 of application S and claims 11 and 13 of application T would be designated to correspond to Count 2.

Example 10: Patent A contains claim 1 (engine). Application U contains patentable claim 11 (engine). If an interference is declared, there would be one count (engine). Claim 1 of patent A and claim 11 of application U would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 11: Patent B contains claims 1 (engine) and 2 (6-cylinder engine). Application V contains patentable claim 8 (engine). An engine and a 6-cylinder engine define the same patentable invention. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (engine). Claims 1 and 2 of patent B and claim 8 of application V would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 12: Patent C contains claims 1 (engine), 2 (6-cylinder engine), and 3 (engine with a platinum piston). Application W contains patentable claims 11 (engine) and 12 (8 cylinder engine). Claims 1 and 2 of patent C and claims 11 and 12 of application W define the same patentable invention. Claim 3 of patent C defines a separate patentable invention from claims 1 and 2 of patent C and claims 11 and 12 of application W. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (engine). Claims 1 and 2 of patent C and claims 11 and 12 of application W would be designated to correspond to the count. Claim 3 of patent C would not be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 13: Patent D contains claim 1 (engine), 2 (6-cylinder engine), and 3 (engine with a platinum piston). Application X contains patentable claims 11 (engine) and 15 (engine with a platinum piston). Claims 1 and 2 of patent D and claim 11 of application X define the same patentable invention. Claim 3 of patent D and claim 15 of application X define a separate patentable invention from claims 1 and 2 of patent D and claim 11 of application X. If an interference is declared, there would be two counts: Count 1 (engine) and Count 2 (engine with a platinum piston). Claims 1 and 2 of patent D and claim 11 of application X would be designated to correspond to Count 1. Claim 3 of patent D and claim 15 of application X would be designated to correspond to Count 2.

Example 14: Patent E contains claims 1 (Markush group of benzene or toluene), 2 (benzene), and 3 (toluene). Application Y contains patentable claim 11 (benzene). Benzene and toluene define the same patentable invention. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (Markush group of benzene or toluene). Claims 1, 2, and 3 of patent E and claim 11 of application Y would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 15: In this example, the claims of patent E and application Y in Example 14 are reversed. Patent E contains claim 1 (benzene). Application Y contains patentable claims 11 (Markush group of benzene or toluene), 12 (benzene), and 13 (toluene). If an interference is declared, the count would be the same as the count in Example 14—(Markush group of benzene or toluene). Claim 1 of patent E and claims 11, 12, and 13 of application Y would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 16: The PTO will continue to follow cases such as Case v. CPC International, Inc., 730 F.2d 745, 221 USPQ 196 (Fed. Cir. 1984); cert. denied, 105 S.Ct. 233 (1984); Aelony v. Arni, 547 F.2d 566, 192 USPQ 486 (CCPA 1977); and Nitz v. Ehrenriech, 537 F.2d 539, 190 USPQ 413 (CCPA 1976), and declare interferences where interfering patent and application claims are mutually exclusive provided the claims define the same patentable invention. Patent F contains claim 1 (benzene). Application Z contains patentable claim 11 (xylene). Benzene and xylene define the same patentable invention. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (benzene or xylene). Claim 1 of patent F and claim 11 of application Z would be designated to correspond to the count.

Example 17: It will be the practice of the PTO under §1.606 to initially declare interferences with counts which are identical to or broader than patent claims which correspond to the counts. A single patent claim would be presumed, subject to a motion under §1.633(c), not to define separate patentable inventions. Patent G contains claim 1 (Markush group of benzene or chloroform), 2 (benzene), and 3 (chloroform). Application AA contains patentable claim 33 (benzene). If an interference is declared, initially it would be presumed by the PTO, subject to a later motion under §1.633(c), that benzene and chloroform define the same patentable invention. There would be one count (Markush group of benzene or chloroform). Claims 1, 2, and 3 of patent G and claim 33 of application AA would be designated to correspond to the count. If a party believes benzene and chloroform define separate patentable inventions, that party could file a motion under §1.633(c) to redefine the count and the claims corresponding to the counts.

Example 18: Patent H contains claims 1 (Markush group of benzene or chloroform), 2, (benzene), and 3 (chloroform). Application AB contains patentable claims 11 (Markush group of benzene or chloroform), 12 (benzene), and 13 (chloroform). Benzene and chloroform initially would be presumed, subject to a motion under §1.633(c), to define the same patentable invention, because they are recited as a Markush group in a single patent claim. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (Markush group of benzene or chloroform). Claims 1, 2, and 3 of patent H and claims 11, 12, and 13 of application AB would be designated to correspond to the count. If a party believes benzene and chloroform define separate patentable inventions, the party could move under §1.633(c) to substitute a count (benzene) for (Markush group of benzene or chloroform) and to add a count (chloroform). See Example 36.

Example 19: Under §1.606, the PTO will continue to follow the practice announced in Ex parte Card and Card, 1904 Dec.Comm'r.Pat. 383 (Comm'r.Pat. 1904). Patent J contains claim 1 (method of mixing, grinding, and heating). Application AC contains patentable claim 8 (method of mixing and heating) and does not disclose or claim a grinding step. In the context of the inventions disclosed in patent J and application AC, a method of mixing, grinding, and heating is the same patentable invention as a method of mixing and heating. Under current practice, it would be said that "grinding" is an "immaterial" limitation in claim 1 of patent J. Under §1.606, the fact application AC does not disclose grinding would not preclude an interference. If an interference is declared, there would be one count (method of mixing and heating). Claim 1 of patent J and claim 8 of application AC would be designated to correspond to the count.

Under §1.605, timely filing of an amendment presenting a claim suggested by the examiner for purposes of an interference would stay ex parte proceedings in the application in which the claim is presented pending a determination by the examiner of whether an interference will be declared. Also under §1.605(a), when an examiner suggests a claim, the applicant will be required to copy verbatim the suggested claim. At the time the suggested claim is copied, however, the applicant may also (1) call the examiner's attention to other claims already in the application or which are presented with the copied claim and (2) explain why the other claims would be more appropriate to be included in any interference which may be declared.

Under §1.607(b), when an applicant seeks an interference with a patent, e.g., by copying claims from the patent, examination of the application including any appeal would be handled with special dispatch within the PTO. "Special dispatch" would be construed to be the same as special dispatch in a reexamination proceeding. See 35 U.S.C. §305.

Under §1.608, the PTO will continue current practice (37 CFR §1.204(c)) of requiring an applicant seeking to provoke an interference with a patent to submit evidence which demonstrates that the applicant is prima facie entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee. Evidence would be submitted only when the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of the application is more than three months after the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date under 35 U.S.C. §120 of the patent. The evidence may relate to patentability and need not be restricted to priority. When the evidence (1) consists of prior printed publications and patents and (2) shows that the claims of the application are not patentable, the claims in the application would be rejected and the applicant could file a request for reexamination of the patent.

Section 1.609 sets forth what an examiner shall forward to the Board when an interference is declared. For the most part, §1.609 continues current practice. However, under §1.609(b)(3), the examiner would identify all claims in an application which the examiner believes are patentable over the proposed counts. Thus, a claim in an application would either correspond to a count or would be indicated as being patentable over the count. For instance, in Example 3, supra, the examiner would indicate that (1) claims 1 and 2 of application E and claims 11 and 12 of application F correspond to the count and (2) claim 3 of application E defines a separate patentable invention from the count.

Under §1.610, each interference will be declared by an examiner-in-chief. The examiner-in-chief enters all interlocutory orders in the interference. As necessary, another examiner-in-chief may act in place of the examiner-in-chief assigned to the interference. At the discretion of the examiner-in-chief assigned to the interference, a panel of two or more examiners-in-chief may enter an interlocutory order. The examiner-in-chief will set times and control proceedings such that pendency of the interference normally will not exceed 24 months. Under §1.610(d), the examiner-in-chief is authorized to hold conferences. Any conference can be by a telephone conference call. Under §1.610(e), an examiner-in-chief is authorized to determine a proper course of conduct for any situation not specifically covered by the rules.

Under §1.611(a), the PTO will normally notify each party at its correspondence address (37 CFR §1.33(a)) that an interference is declared. This practice will save the PTO the administrative burden of sending multiple notices as is required by the present rules. Under §1.611(a), the PTO could, in an appropriate circumstance, also send a notice to a patentee or an assignee. An appropriate circumstance for sending an additional notice would be a situation where a patent was issued on the basis of an application filed under 37 CFR §1.47. The matters to be specified in a notice declaring an interference are set out in §1.611(c). One item to be set out is the "order of the parties," meaning the order in which the parties will take testimony. If Jones is the junior party and Smith is the senior party, the order of the parties is: Jones v. Smith. The order of the parties may change as a result of the granting of a motion under §1.633(d), (f), or (g). Under §1.611(d), the notice declaring the interference may also set dates for filing preliminary statements, notices that preliminary statements have been filed, motions under §1.633, oppositions to those motions, and replies to the oppositions. Alternatively, an examiner-in-chief may set those times in a separate order before or after consultation with counsel for the parties. Under §1.611(e), the PTO may place a notice in the Official Gazette each time an interference is declared involving a patent. The notice would make it easier for patent practitioners throughout the country to determine whether a given patent is or has been involved in an interference.

Under §1.612, except for affidavits under §1.131 and any evidence and explanation under §1.608(b) filed separate from an amendment, each party shall have access to the file of every other party after an interference is declared. The files of applications and patents involved in an interference will be maintained if the Service Branch of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences for inspection and copying. Any explanation which is filed as part of an amendment or an amendment which discusses details contained in an affidavit under §1.131 would not be sealed under §1.612(a). Thus, §1.612(a) continues the practice discussed in Moorman v. Martin, 103 USPQ 273 (Comm'r.Pat. 1950) and Calvert, An Overview of Interference Practice, 62 J. Pat. Off. Soc'y. 290, 293 (1980). Under §1.612(b), each party will have access to an opponent's affidavit under §1.131 or an opponent's evidence and explanation under §1.608(b) when a decision is rendered on motions under §1.633. Under §1.612(c), a party would be required to serve any evidence and explanation under §1.608(b) if an order to show cause is issued under §1.617(a) and the party responds to the order under §1.617(b). Under §1.612(d), the parties may agree to exchange copies of their respective files.

Under §1.613(a), when a party has appointed more than one attorney or agent of record, the party may be required to designate a "lead" attorney or agent. A lead attorney or agent would be a registered attorney or agent of record who is primarily responsible for prosecuting an interference on behalf of a party and is the individual whom an examiner-in-chief can contact to set times and take other action in the interference. Section 1.613(b) continues the practice of not permitting the same attorney or agent to represent two or more parties in an interference except as permitted by Chapter 1, see e.g., §1.344. Under §1.613(c), an examiner-in-chief can make an appropriate inquiry to determine whether an attorney or agent should be disqualified from representing a party. A final decision to disqualify an attorney or agent is made by the Commissioner under 35 U.S.C. §32.

Section 1.614 specifies when the Board gains jurisdiction over an interference. The section also indicates when an interference becomes a contested case within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. §24. A remand to the examiner is authorized and may be useful in certain situations, such as, when a party moves under §1.633(c) to add a proposed count which is broader than any count in an interference. Alternatively, an examiner-in-chief would be able to obtain informal opinions from examiners during the course of an interference. Nothing in the rules, however, is intended to authorize informal conferences between an examiner-in-chief and an examiner with respect to the merits of an application before the Board in an ex parte appeal from an adverse decision of the examiner.

Section 1.616 permits an examiner-in-chief or the Board to impose appropriate sanctions against a party who fails to comply with the rules or with an order entered in the interference. Paragraphs (a) through (e) set forth some of the possible sanctions which can be entered. The particular sanction to be entered would depend on the facts of a given case and ordinarily would not be entered prior to giving the affected party an opportunity to present its views. An individual examiner-in-chief could not impose a sanction granting judgment inasmuch as entry of a judgment requires action by the Board. See §1.610(a). A party desiring sanctions imposed against an opponent could move under §1.635 for entry of an order imposing sanctions.

Section 1.617 retains summary judgment proceedings in those cases where a junior party applicant is required to file evidence and an explanation under §1.608(b). To avoid summary judgment, the junior party applicant must establish that it is prima facie entitled to judgment relative to the senior party patentee. For the most part, practice under §1.617 will be the same as the current practice under 37 CFR §1.228. The major changes would be the following: (1) A prima facie case could be based on patentability as well as priority. (2) A stricter standard would be imposed for presenting additional evidence after entry of an order to show cause. Under current practice (37 CFR §1.228), additional evidence may be submitted with a response to an order to show cause "when a showing in excuse of . . . [its] omission from the original" showing is made. The "good cause" showing required by §1.617(b) imposes a stricter standard than was required under the prior rules. The stricter standard is necessary to encourage applicants copying claims from a patent to better prepare their initial showings under proposed §1.608(b). Under current practice, the Board of Patent Interferences has found that substantial time is lost in issuing orders to show cause based on an inadequate initial showing only to have an adequate showing made with the response to the order to show cause. Under the "good cause" standard, ignorance by a party or counsel of the provisions of the rules or the substantive requirements of the law would not constitute good cause. (3) When an interference involves more than two parties, all opponents would be permitted to participate in summary judgment proceedings. Thus, the new rules overrule Chan v. Akiba v. Clayton, 189 USPQ 621 (Comm'r.Pat. 1975). (4) Currently, an applicant must file two copies of its initial showing under 37 CFR §1.204(c). Under §1.608(b), a party would file only one copy of the showing. However, any party responding to an order to show cause would be required to serve a copy of its initial showing under §1.608(b) with any response to the order to show cause. (5) A single examiner-in-chief may order an interference to proceed after issuance of an order to show cause under §1.608(b) and the filing of a response by an applicant under §1.617(b). Only the Board, however, may enter a summary judgment. See §1.617(b).

Under §1.618, the PTO has authority to return to a party any paper presented in an interference which is not authorized by, or is not in compliance with the requirements of, Subpart E. When an improper paper is filed, a party may be given an opportunity to file a proper paper under such conditions as an examiner-in-chief may deem appropriate. Two examples of improper papers are: (1) replies to replies which are not authorized by the rules and (2) papers presented which have attached thereto a paper previously filed in the interference.

Sections 1.621 through 1.629 govern preliminary statements which continue to be required in interference cases.

Under §1.621, a preliminary statement can be signed by any individual having knowledge of the facts (e.g., the inventor) or by an attorney or agent of record. Permitting an attorney or agent of record to sign a preliminary statement eliminates unnecessary mailing of papers between parties and their attorney or agent.

Under §1.622, the preliminary statement would identify the inventor who made the invention defined by each count. If the inventor identified in the preliminary statement is not an inventor named in the application or patent involved in the interference, a motion under §1.634 must be diligently filed to correct inventorship.

Sections 1.623, 1.624, and 1.625 respectively set out the allegations which should be made in, and the attachments which should accompany, a preliminary statement when (1) the invention was made in the United States, (2) the invention was made abroad and was introduced into the United States, and (3) derivation by an opponent from a party is to be an issue.

Section 1.626 permits a party to file a preliminary statement which states that the party only intends to rely on the filing date of an earlier United States or foreign application. Ordinarily, a junior party who fails to file a preliminary statement is not entitled to access to any other preliminary statement filed (see §1.631(b)). Section 1.626 would permit a junior party who only intends to rely on an earlier application to have access to any opponent's preliminary statement.

Section 1.628 sets out how an error in a preliminary statement may be corrected.

Section 1.629 sets out the effect of a preliminary statement. A party who fails to file a preliminary statement will not be permitted to prove (1) that the party made the invention defined by a count prior to the party's filing date or (2) that an opponent derived the invention from the party.

Under §1.631, preliminary statements normally will be opened for inspection when an examiner-in-chief decides preliminary motions filed under §1.633. A junior party who does not file a preliminary statement is not entitled to access to a preliminary statement of any other party. When an interference is terminated before preliminary statements are opened, any preliminary statement which has been filed will be returned unopened to the party who submitted the statement.

Under §1.632, a notice must be filed by a party who intends to argue that an opponent abandoned, suppressed, or concealed an actual reduction to practice. 35 U.S.C. §102(g). A party will not be permitted to brief (§1.656) or argue at final hearing (§1.654) that an opponent abandoned, suppressed, or concealed an actual reduction to practice unless the notice is timely filed. A notice is timely if filed within ten (10) days of the close of the testimony-in-chief period of an opponent. While a party has the burden of proving that an opponent abandoned, suppressed, or concealed, the burden may be discharged on the basis of the opponent's evidence alone. Shindelar v. Holdeman, 628 F.2d 1337, 207 USPQ 112 (CCPA 1980). See also Correge v. Murphy, 705 F.2d 1326, 217 USPQ 753 (Fed. Cir. 1983); Horwath v. Lee, 564 F.2d 948, 195 USPQ 701 (CCPA 1977); and Peeler v. Miller, 535 F.2d 647, 190 USPQ 117 (CCPA 1976). Under current practice where notice is not required, it is possible that a party may learn for the first time that abandonment, suppression, or concealment is an issue when the party receives an opponent's brief at final hearing. See Klug v. Wood, 212 USPQ 767, 771 n. 2 (Bd.Pat.Int. 1981). At that point, it is often too late to reopen proceedings in the interference. The purpose of requiring the notice under §1.632 is to make the parties and the Board aware during the interlocutory stage of an interference that abandonment, suppression, or concealment may be an issue in the interference. Early notice will permit the parties to ask for and the examiner-in-chief to set appropriate testimony periods for a party to present evidence related to abandonment, suppression, and concealment, particularly in those cases where long unexplained delays tend to prove the allegation of suppression or concealment. Early notice will also eliminate the need for the party moving to reopen the testimony period. Klug v. Wood, supra.

Under §1.633, a party may file preliminary motions for judgment, to redefine the interference, to substitute a different application in the interference, to declare an additional interference, to be accorded the benefit of an earlier application, to attack benefit previously accorded an opponent, or to add a reissue application to the interference. The motions are called "preliminary motions" in order to distinguish the motions from other motions which might be filed during the course of an interference. The preliminary motions would replace motions currently authorized by 37 CFR §1.231.

Under §1.633(a), a motion to dissolve would be replaced with a motion for judgment. A party can file a motion for judgment on the ground that an opponent's claim corresponding to a count is unpatentable to the opponent. With two exceptions, unpatentability can be based on prior art (35 U.S.C. §§102, 103), insufficiency of disclosure (35 U.S.C. §112, first paragraph), indefiniteness of claims (35 U.S.C. §112, second paragraph), double patenting, estoppel, or any other ground which would support a holding that claims corresponding to a count are not patentable. The two exceptions are (1) priority of invention of the subject matter of a count by the moving party as against any opponent and (2) derivation of the subject matter of a count by the opponent from the moving party. The two exceptions are directed to issues which are traditional "priority" issues, e.g., which inventor made the invention defined by a count first or, when derivation is an issue, who made the invention. Resolution of those "priority" issues almost always requires the taking of testimony. A motion for judgment, however, would be proper when a party believed an individual not involved in the interference made the invention defined by the count prior to an opponent in the interference, but subsequent to the moving party. Thus, a patentability issue, such as that raised under 35 U.S.C. §102(g) in Sutter Products Co. v. Pettibone Mulliken Corp., 428 F.2d 639, 166 USPQ 100 (7th Cir. 1970), properly could be raised with a motion for judgment under §1.633(a). Derivation by an opponent from an individual not involved in the interference could also be raised under §1.633(a).

Under §1.633(b), a party could move for a judgment when the party believes there is no interference-in-fact. A motion for judgment on the ground of no interference-in-fact is only proper under one of three conditions: (1) when an interference involves designs, (2) when the interference involves plant applications or a plant application and plant patent, or (3) when no claim of a party which corresponds to a count is identical to any claim of an opponent which corresponds to that count. An example illustrates when a motion under §1.636(b) is proper.

Example 20: Application AD contains patentable claim 1 (6-cylinder engine). Application AE contains patentable claim 3 (8-cylinder engine). An interference is declared with a single count (6 or 8-cylinder engine). Claim 1 of application AD and claim 3 of application AE are designated to correspond to the count. Applicant AD believes that a 6-cylinder engine is a "separate patentable invention" (see §1.601(n)) from an 8-cylinder engine. Applicant AD would file a motion under §1.633(b) for a judgment on the ground of no interference-in-fact stating why a 6-cylinder engine is patentably distinct from an 8-cylinder engine. If the Board ultimately agrees with applicant AD, a patent could issue to AD containing claim 1 of application AD and a second patent could issue to AE containing claim 3 of application AE.

Under §1.633(c), a party may move to redefine interfering subject matter. One way to redefine interfering subject matter would be to add or substitute a count. When a party seeks to add a count, the party is required to demonstrate that the proposed count to be added is directed to a "separate patentable invention" from every other count in the interference.

A motion may be filed to amend an application claim which has already been designated to correspond to a count. See §1.633(c)(2). Such a motion might be filed when a party believes an application claim designated to correspond to a count is unpatentable and the amended claim is believed to be patentable.

An applicant may move to add a claim to the applicant's application and to designate the claim to be added to correspond to a count. See §1.633(c)(2). Such a motion may be filed when the applicant discloses specific subject matter which is not claimed, would like to claim the subject matter, and wants the subject matter involved in the interference.

Another way to redefine interfering subject matter would be to designate a claim as corresponding or not corresponding to a count. See §1.633(c)(3) and (c)(4). Examples 21 and 22 illustrate this latter point.

Example 21: Application AF contains patentable claim 1 (engine). Patent K contains claims 3 (engine) and 5 (6-cylinder engine). Claim 1 of application AF and claim 3 of patent K are designated to correspond to the count. Applicant AF believes a 6-cylinder engine is the "same patentable invention" (see §1.601(n)) as engine. Applicant AF would file a motion under §1.633(c)(3) to designate claim 5 of patent K as corresponding to the count. If the motion is granted and applicant AF prevails in the interference, judgment would be entered against patentee K and both claims 3 and 5 of patent K would be cancelled under 35 U.S.C. §135(a).

Example 22: Application AG contains patentable claim 1 (engine). Patent L contains claims 3 (engine) and 5 (8-cylinder engine). An interference is declared with one count (engine). Claim 1 of application AG and claims 3 and 5 of patent L are designated to correspond to the count. Patentee L believes that an 8-cylinder engine defines a "separate patentable invention" (see §1.601(n)) from engine. Patentee L should file a motion under §1.633(c)(4) to designate claim 5 of patent L as "not corresponding" to the count. If the motion is granted and an adverse judgment is entered against patentee L, only claim 3 would be cancelled from the patent pursuant to 35 U.S.C. §135(a).

A motion to redefine the interfering subject matter may also request that an opponent who is an applicant be required to add a claim to the opponent's application and to designate the claim to correspond to a count. See §1.633(c)(5). Such a motion might be filed when a party sees that the opponent discloses, but does not claim, subject matter which the party believes should be involved in the interference.

Section 1.633(i) would continue present practice (37 CFR §1.231) of allowing a party to move to redefine the subject matter of the interference or substitute a different application when an opponent moves for judgment (see §1.633(a) and (b)) or to attack benefit (see §1.633(g)).

Paragraph (j) of §1.633 will permit an opponent to move for benefit when a party moves to add or substitute a count. Thus, when a motion to add a count is filed by a party and an opponent wants benefit of an earlier application in the event the motion to add is granted, the opponent should file a motion under §1.633(j) to be accorded benefit. The mere fact that the opponent had been accorded benefit of an earlier application when the interference was declared does not mean the opponent will be accorded benefit as to some other count which may be added on motion of some other party.

Section 1.634 authorizes a motion to correct inventorship in an application (see §1.48) or a patent (see §1.324) involved in an interference.

Section 1.635 authorizes the filing of motions other than those specified in §§1.633 or 1.634. Motions filed under §1.635 would be referred to as "miscellaneous motions" to distinguish from "preliminary motions" under §1.633. Instances where a miscellaneous motion would be filed include motions to correct an error in a preliminary statement, to extend time for taking action or to seek judicial review, to obtain permission to proceed under 35 U.S.C. §24, or to obtain additional discovery.

Section 1.636 sets out the times within which a motion would be filed.

Section 1.637 sets out the content of motions. In prior interference practice, parties and their counsel have had difficulty meeting all the "unwritten" requirements for motions under 37 CFR §1.231. Section 1.637 is quite specific in setting out the requirements for each type of motion, particularly the preliminary motions. By setting out with specificity the requirements for each type of motion, it is intended to minimize disposition of motions on technicalities. A vast majority of the comments in response to the advanced notice published in the Federal Register on Aug. 1, 1983, commenting on then proposed §1.637 were in favor of the requirements for motions being specifically set out in the regulations.

Section 1.638 authorizes oppositions to motions. Any opposition would have to identify any material fact in dispute. A reply to an opposition would be authorized for all motions. A reply to a reply is not authorized.

Section 1.639 sets forth the evidence which may accompany a motion, opposition, or reply. Every material fact alleged in a motion, opposition, or an reply would have to be supported by proof. Section 1.639(b) authorizes affidavits to be used as proof for any motion. The affidavit may later be used by a party during the testimony period (see §§1.671(e) and 1.672(b)). When a party believes that testimony is necessary to decide a motion under §1.633 or §1.634, the party would have to describe the nature of the testimony needed. If an examiner-in-chief agrees that testimony is needed, appropriate interlocutory relief would be granted and testimony would be ordered.

Example 23: An interference is declared with one count between application AH and application AJ. Applicant AH files a preliminary motion under §1.633(c)(1) to redefine the interference by adding a second count. In order to succeed, applicant AH must show that the proposed count to be added is directed to a "separate patentable invention" (see §1.601(n)) from the count already in the interference. In the motion, applicant AH sets forth in detail the testimony which would be required to prove that the subject matter of the proposed count is to a separate patentable invention from the subject matter of the count in the interference. Applicant AJ opposes the motion on the ground that the proposed and present counts define the "same patentable invention" (see §1.601(n)). An examiner-in-chief determines that a material fact is in dispute and that applicant AH has established testimony is needed to properly rule on the motion. Under the circumstances, the motion would be deferred to final hearing and a testimony period would be ordered. The questions of (1) whether the proposed and present counts define the same patentable invention and (2) priority would be decided at final hearing.

Under §1.640, an examiner-in-chief would decide all motions. A hearing could be held on a motion in the discretion of an examiner-in-chief. Where appropriate, an examiner-in-chief could consult with an examiner on a question of patentability which arises in the first instance in the interference. Consultation would not be necessary where the examiner had already ruled on the patentability question which comes before the examiner-in-chief or the Board. Moreover, nothing in §1.640 authorizes conferences between examiners-in-chief and examiners in ex parte appeals under 35 U.S.C. §134 from an adverse decision of an examiner. A party is entitled to request reconsideration of a decision on a motion by a single examiner-in-chief. An opposition to a request for reconsideration could not be filed unless ordered by an examiner-in-chief or the Board, but the decision by the single examiner-in-chief would not normally be modified unless an opposition has been requested. The request for reconsideration would be acted on by a panel of the Board consisting of at least three examiners-in-chief, one of whom would normally be the examiner-in-chief who decided the motion. Several comments were received in response to the advance notice questioning why the examiner-in-chief who decided the motion would form part of the panel deciding the request for reconsideration. The decision to propose, and now adopt, a regulation which would permit the examiner-in-chief who decided the motion to participate in the decision on reconsideration was made after careful balancing of all the factors involved. It could have been proposed to permit the examiner-in-chief to individually decide the request for reconsideration. However, it is believed that parties in interference cases would feel that their requests for reconsideration are being more fully considered if more than one person considers their request. The two additional examiners-in-chief would be able to consult with the examiner-in-chief most familiar with the case, but would be able to control the decision on reconsideration by a majority vote. Use of the examiner-in-chief who decided the motion and two additional examiners-in-chief would (1) minimize delay which would occur if three new examiners-in-chief were used who were unfamiliar with the record and (2) minimize the possibility that reversible error occurred if only the examiner-in-chief who decided the motion also individually decided the request for reconsideration.

Under §1.644, petitions to the Commissioner are authorized in interference cases under certain restricted conditions. Petitions in interferences have been the source of substantial delay. Section 1.644 attempts to minimize those delays. Section 1.644 authorizes a petition to the Commissioner from a decision of an examiner-in-chief or a panel when the examiner-in-chief or the panel shall be of the opinion (1) that the decision involves a controlling question of procedure or an interpretation of a rule as to which there is a substantial ground for a difference of opinion and (2) that an immediate decision on petition would materially advance the ultimate termination of the interference. The standard is intended to be analogous to that of a district court certifying a question to a court of appeals under 28 U.S.C. §1292(b). A petition could be filed seeking to invoke the supervisory authority of the Commissioner. However, the petition could not be filed prior to entry of judgment and could not relate to the merits of priority or patentability or the admissibility of evidence under the Federal Rules of Evidence. A petition could also be filed seeking waiver of a rule. A fee of $120 would be charged for each petition and for each request for reconsideration of a decision on petition. Any petition would be decided on the record made before the examiner-in-chief or the Board and additional evidence could not be submitted with the petition. An opposition could not be filed unless ordered by the Commissioner. Where reasonably possible, service of a petition would have to be such that delivery is accomplished within one day. Service by hand or "Express Mail" would comply with this requirement.

Section 1.645 permits a party to file a motion to seek an extension of time to take action in an interference or to seek judicial review. The motion would have to be filed within sufficient time to actually reach an examiner-in-chief prior to expiration of the time for taking action. Under §1.645, a moving party would not be able to assume that a motion for an extension of time would be granted. Under §1.610(d)(6), a request for an extension of time could be made orally and an appropriate order would then be entered thus eliminating considerable paper work. The order would be the written record of the request and decision. See §1.2. Extensions of time have caused numerous delays in interference cases. Under present interference practice, some delays are caused because attorneys and agents on many occasions unexpectedly receive orders setting times. Under the new practice, attorneys and agents can expect times to be set for filing preliminary statements, preliminary motions, motions for additional discovery, testimony, and briefs after a conference call. It is expected that use of conference calls will permit an examiner-in-chief and attorneys or agents for parties to set a time schedule which is mutually satisfactory. A motion to extend time would not be granted unless a party shows good cause. The use of conference calls would allow schedules to be set before orders setting time are entered and therefore the press of other business which arises after the examiner-in-chief and attorneys and agents agree to times would not normally be considered good cause.

Under §1.647, when a party relies on a document in a foreign language, an English language translation of the document and an affidavit attesting to the accuracy of the translation would be required. The rule would apply to any document, including evidence submitted with motions, foreign applications for which a party seeks benefit, testimony, and exhibits introduced in evidence during testimony.

Under §1.651, after a decision is entered on preliminary motions, an examiner-in-chief would set times for filing motions for additional discovery and for taking testimony. Any motion for additional discovery would be to obtain answers to terrogatories, requests for admissions, and documents and things necessary for a party to prepare its case-in-chief.

Section 1.653 sets out what shall be in the record to be considered by the Board at final hearing. The record would continue to be printed or typed on paper 8-1/2 by 11 inches in size. Accordingly, when a party files an affidavit, the party should use 8-1/2 by 11 inches paper for the affidavit.

Section 1.654 continues the practice of holding a final hearing where oral argument may be presented by all parties. No fee would be charged for appearing at oral argument at final hearing in an interference.

Section 1.655 specifies the matters which can be considered in rendering a final decision. Patentability is an issue which may be raised. The Board can also consider whether any interlocutory order was manifestly erroneous or an abuse of discretion, although any interlocutory order would be presumed to be correct and burden of showing error shall be on the party attacking the order. This last procedural provision permits the Board to correct any manifest error before a party seeks judicial review of an interlocutory order along with judicial review of the Board's final decision.

Section 1.656 sets forth the requirements for briefs for final hearing. In large measure, §1.656 follows the requirements of Rule 28 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure. An original and three copies of a brief is required. Under §1.656(h), if a party wants the Board in rendering its final decision to rule that any evidence is inadmissible, the party must file with its opening brief an original and three copies of a motion to suppress the evidence. Any previous objection to the admissibility of evidence is waived unless the motion to suppress is filed. This procedural provision makes clear that an objection to the admissibility of evidence must be renewed at final hearing and will be considered by the Board in rendering its final decision. When a junior party fails to file a brief, an order can be issued requiring the junior party to show cause why failure to file the brief should not be taken as a concession of priority.

Under §1.658 the Board would enter a final decision. The decision can (1) enter judgment, in whole or in part, (2) remand the interference to an examiner-in-chief, or (3) take further action not inconsistent with law. A judgment as to a count shall state whether or not each party is entitled to a patent containing claims which correspond to the count. When judgment is entered as to all counts, the decision of the Board is considered final for the purpose of judicial review. Section 1.658(c) defines the doctrine of interference estoppel as it is to be applied in the PTO after an interference is terminated. The definition of interference estoppel is designed to encourage parties in interference cases to settle as many issues as possible in one proceeding. Section 1.658(c) creates an estoppel both as to senior and junior parties unlike the present practice (37 CFR §1.257) which limits estoppel in some instances to junior parties. An estoppel would not apply with respect to any claims which correspond, or which properly could have corresponded, to a count as to which the party was awarded a favorable judgment. A few examples illustrate how estoppel would be applied.

Example 24: Junior party applicant AL and senior party applicant AK both disclose separate patentable inventions "A" and "B" and claim only invention A in their respective applications. An interference is declared with a single count to invention A. Neither party files a preliminary motion (see §1.633(c)(1)) to add a count to invention B. Judgment as to all of AL's claims corresponding to the sole count is awarded to junior party applicant AL. Senior party applicant AK would be estopped to thereafter obtain a patent containing claims to invention B, because applicant AK failed to move to add a count to invention B in the interference. Junior party applicant AL would not be estopped to obtain a patent containing claims to invention B.

Example 25: In this example, the facts are the same as in Example 24 except that judgment is awarded as to all AK's claims corresponding to the count to senior party applicant AK. Junior party applicant AL would be estopped to obtain a patent containing claims to invention B in the interference. Senior party applicant AK would not be estopped to obtain a patent containing claims to invention B.

Example 26: Junior party applicant AM and senior party applicant AP both disclose separate patentable inventions "C", "D", and "E" and claim inventions C and D in their respective applications. An interference is declared with two counts. Count 1 is to invention C and Count 2 is to invention D. Neither party files a preliminary motion to add a proposed Count 3 to invention E. Judgment as to all AM's claims corresponding to Counts 1 and 2 is awarded to junior party applicant AM. Senior party applicant AP would be estopped to thereafter obtain a patent containing claims to invention E, because applicant AP failed to move to add a count to invention E in the interference. Junior party applicant AM would not be estopped to obtain a patent containing claim to invention E.

Example 27: In this example, the facts are the same as in Example 26 except that judgment is awarded as to all AP's claims corresponding to Counts 1 and 2 to senior party applicant AP. Junior party applicant AM would be estopped to obtain a patent containing claims to invention E, because applicant AM failed to move to add a count to invention E in the interference. Senior party applicant AP would not be estopped to obtain a patent containing claims to invention E.

Example 28: In this example, the facts are the same as in Example 26 except that judgment is awarded on all of AM's claims corresponding to Count 1 to junior party applicant AM and judgment is awarded on all AP's claims corresponding to Count 2 to senior party applicant AP. Both parties would be estopped to obtain a patent containing claims to invention E, because neither moved to add a count to invention E during the interference. Assume that junior party AM could have properly moved under §1.633(f) to be accorded the benefit of an earlier application, but did not do so during the interference. Junior party AM would not be estopped in subsequent ex parte prosecution from asking for benefit of the earlier application as to the invention defined by Count 1. Accordingly, if the examiner were to reject junior party AM's claim corresponding to Count 1 on the basis of some newly discovered prior art, junior party AM could properly antedate the prior art by seeking the benefit under 35 U.S.C. §120 of the earlier application. Thus, even though junior party AM was a "losing party" as to Count 2 (an adverse judgment as to junior party AM's claims corresponding to Count 2 having been entered), junior party AM was awarded a favorable judgment (§1.658(c)) as to Count 1. Junior party AM would be estopped in subsequent ex parte prosecution from attempting to be accorded the benefit of the earlier application as to the invention of Count 2.

Example 29: Applicant AQ discloses and claims invention "F." Applicant AR discloses and claims separate patentable inventions "F" and "G." The assignee of applicant AQ also owns an application AS which discloses and claims invention "G." An interference is declared between applicant AQ and applicant AR. The sole count is directed to invention F. No motion is filed by applicant AQ or its assignee to declare an additional interference between applicant AR and applicant AS with a count to invention G. A judgment as to all of AR's claims corresponding to the sole count is awarded to applicant AR. Applicant AS and the assignee would be es-topped to obtain a patent containing claims to invention G, because applicant AR and the assignee failed to move to declare an additional interference with a count to invention G.

Example 30: The facts in this example are the same as the facts in Example 29 except that judgment as to all of AQ's claims corresponding the sole count is awarded to applicant AQ. Applicant AS and the assignee would not be estopped, because applicant AQ was not a "losing party" (§1.658(c)).

Example 31: Applicant AT discloses a generic invention to "solvent" and a species to "benzene." Application AT contains a patentable claim 1 (solvent) and no other claims. Applicant AU discloses the generic invention to "solvent" and species to "benzene" and "toluene." Application AU contains patentable claim 3 (solvent) and no other claims. An interference is declared with a single count (solvent). Claims 1 of application AT and claim 3 cf applicatcn AU are designated to correspond to the count. No preliminary motions are filed. A judgment is entered in favor of applicant AT on the claim corresponding to the sole count. Applicant AU would be estopped to obtain a patent containing a claim to benzene, because applicant AU failed to file a preliminary motion under §1.633(c)(1) seeking to add a count to benzene and benzene was disclosed in winning party AT's application. Applicant AU would also be estopped to obtain a patent containing a claim to toluene, unless "toluene" defines a "separate patentable invention" from "solvent ." A basis for interference estoppel (§1.658(c)) exists if "toluene" and "solvent" define the "same patentable invention," because a claim to "toluene" could properly have been added and designated to correspond to the count. See §1.633(c)(2).

Under §1.659, the Board would be able to make recommendations to examiners and the Commissioner, including recommendations that application claims not involved in the interference be rejected and that a patent be reexamined as to patent claims not involved in the interference.

Under §1.660, a party would be required to notify the Board when the party's patent or application becomes involved in other PTO proceedings (reexamination, reissue, or protest) or litigation.

Section 1.661 sets forth when an interference is considered terminated after a judgment is entered in the interference. For the purpose of filing copies of settlement agreements, an interference is considered terminated when the time for all appeals has expired. Tallent v. Lemoine, 204 USPQ 1058 (Comm'r.Pat. 1979). See also Nelson v. Bowler, 212 USPQ 760 (Comm'r.Pat. 1981).

Section 1.662 provides that a party may request that an adverse judgment be entered. The section also provides that when a written disclaimer (not a statutory disclaimer), concession of priority or unpatentability, abandonment of the invention, abandonment of an application, or abandonment of the contest is filed, the disclaimer, concession, or abandonment would be treated as a request for entry of an adverse judgment. Section 1.662(b) provides that when a patentee files a reissue application and omits all claims of a patent corresponding to the counts of an interference for the purpose of avoiding the interference, judgment would be entered against the patentee. Under §1.662(c), the filing of a statutory disclaimer would not be treated as a request for entry of an adverse judgment unless all patent claims corresponding to a count are disclaimed. Under §1.662(d), if after entry of a judgment or after filing of a statutory disclaimer no interference exists, the interference would be terminated as to any party against whom judgment has not been entered and any further prosecution of any application involved in the interference would be ex parte before the examiner.

Section 1.666 sets out the procedure for filing settlement agreements in interference cases. The PTC is merely a repository for copies of agreements filed under 35 U.S.C. §135(c) and does not undertake to rule on whether the statute requires that a copy of any particular agreement be filed. Nelson v. Bowler, 212 USPQ 760 (Comm'r.Pat. 1981).

Section 1.671 sets out what would be considered evidence. The Federal Rules of Evidence, with certain exceptions, are made applicable to interference cases. Under§1.671(e), a party cannot rely on a previously filed affidavit unless the affidavit is served and notice is given that the party intends to rely on the affidavit. The purpose for the notice is to permit an opponent to determine whether a deposition for cross-examination is necessary (see §§1.672(b) and 1.673(e)).

Section 1.671(e) is intended to overrule prior construction of PTO rules in Holmes v. Kelly, 586 F.2d 234, 237 n. 7, 199 USPQ 778, 782 n. 7 (CCPA 1978) and Brecker v. Jennings, 204 USPQ 663 (Bd.Pat.Int. 1978), which considered a Rule 132 affidavit in the file of an involved application to be part of the "record" in an interference. Under §1.671(e), a party intending to rely on such an affidavit must give notice and serve a copy of the affidavit on the opponent.

Under §1.671(f), the significance of documentary and other exhibits must be discussed with particularity by a witness during oral deposition or in an affidavit. Section 1.671(f) sets out in the regulations an evidentiary requirement imposed by precedent. See Popoff v. Orchin, 144 USPQ 762 (Bd.Pat.Int. 1963) (unexplained experimental data should not be considered); Chandler v. Mock, 150 F.2d 563, 66 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1945) (records standing alone were held to be meaningless), and Smith v. Bousquet, 111 F.2d 157, 45 USPQ 347 (CCPA 1940) (unexplained tests in stipulated testimony are entitled to little weight). See also In re Borkowski, 505 F.2d 713, 184 USPQ 29 (CCPA 1974) and Triplett v. Steinmayer, 129 F.2d 869, 54 USPQ 409 (CCPA 1942). Under §1.671(g), a party is required to obtain permission from an examiner-in-chief prior to proceeding under 35 U.S.C. §24. This requirement insures that a subpoena is necessary (e.g., a subpoena ordinarily should not be necessary where testimony of an opponent is sought) and that testimony sought through a §24 subpoena is relevant before a subpoena is issued. The motion seeking permission to proceed under §24, any opposition thereto, and the order of an examiner-in-chief authorizing the moving party to proceed under §24 will be of assistance to a federal court in the event a party is required to resort to a court to enforce the subpoena or to compel answers to questions propounded at any deposition where a witness is appearing pursuant to a subpoena. See Sheehan v. Doyle, 529 F.2d 38, 188 USPQ 545 (1st Cir.), cert. denied, 429 U.S. 870 (1976), rehearing denied, 429 U.S. 987 (1976).

Under §1.671(h), any evidence which is not taken or sought and filed in accordance with the regulations will not admissible.

Section 1.672 sets forth the manner in which testimony shall be taken. Testimony can be taken by deposition or affidavit at the election of the party presenting the testimony. A party presenting testimony by affidavit must file and serve the affidavit. If the party presents testimony by affidavit and an opponent elects to cross-examine the affiant, the party is required to notice a deposition for the purpose of cross-examination. Re-direct and re-cross will take place at the deposition. Where the parties agree, testimony can be presented by affidavit without opportunity for cross-examination (see §1.672(e)) or by an agreed statement of facts (see §1.672(f)).

Section 1.673 sets out how a deposition must be noticed. A deposition can be noticed for any reasonable place in the United States. The extent to which parties, witnesses, and attorneys or agents have to travel may be considered in determining whether a place is reasonable. Prior to serving a notice for a deposition, a party is required to take two procedural steps. Under §1.673(b), a party would be required to serve a copy of the documents and a list of the things in its possession, custody, and control upon which it intended to rely. Under §1.673(g), the party is required to have an oral conference (in person or by telephone) with all opponents to attempt to agree on a mutually acceptable time and place for taking the deposition. An examiner-in-chief may set the time and place if agreement is not reached. A single notice listing all the witnesses and the general nature of their expected testimony is then served. Under §1.673(c) and except as provided, a party can not rely on any witness not mentioned in the notice, any document not served, or any thing not listed. Under §1.673(h), a copy of any notice must be attached to the certified transcript of each deposition filed.

Section 1.674 sets out the persons before whom depositions can be taken.

Section 1.675 sets out how a deposition is to be taken.

Section 1.676 sets out how a court reporter should prepare and file a certified transcript of a deposition. Section 1.676(d) sets out how exhibits are to be marked for identification, used at depositions, and filed. Provisions similar to those of Rule 30(f) (1)(A) and (B) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are applicable to interferences.

Section 1.677 sets out the form of a transcript of a deposition.

Under §1.678, a transcript of a deposition must be filed in the PTO within 45 days of the date of the deposition.

Section 1.682 sets out how a party may introduce in evidence, if otherwise admissible, official records or printed publications. When a notice is served, a party is also required to serve (but not file) copies of the official records and printed publications. Any objection to the notice or to the admissibility of any official record or publication must be filed within 15 days of the date of service of the notice.

Section 1.683 sets out how a party may use testimony from another interference or proceeding.

Section 1.684 sets out how a party may take testimony in a foreign country.

Section 1.685 sets out how objections during the taking of depositions must be raised. Under §1.685(a), an error in a notice of deposition is waived unless a motion to quash the notice is filed as soon as the error is, or could have been, discovered. Under §1.685(b), any objection to the qualifications of an officer is waived unless (1) the objection is noted on the record of the deposition before a witness begins to testify or (2) if discovered after the deposition, a motion to suppress is filed as soon as the objection is, or could have been, discovered. Under §1.685(c), any error in the manner in which testimony is transcribed, the transcript is signed by a witness, or the transcript is prepared or otherwise handled by the court reporter is waived unless a motion to suppress is filed as soon as the error is, or could have been, discovered. Under §1.685(d), any objection on the merits to the admissibility of evidence (e.g., under the Federal Rules of Evidence is waived unless an objection is made on the record at the deposition stating the specific ground of objection. Often objections are cured by subsequent testimony. Accordingly, any objection which a party wants the Board to consider at final hearing must also be made the subject of a motion under §1.656(h).

Section 1.687 sets out how a party could seek and obtain additional discovery. "Additional discovery" is defined in §1.601(a). Section 1.687 does not change the standard ("interest of justice") for obtaining discovery.

Section 1.688 sets out how a party can introduce into evidence admissions and answers to interrogatories obtained as a result of additional discovery.

Changes in Text

Several changes have been made to the text of the proposed rules published in the Federal Register on Jan. 30, 1984. The changes are discussed below. Additional rationale for the changes are further discussed under the heading "Analysis of Comments."

All references to the "Board of Appeals and Interferences" have been changed to "Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences" in view of Public Law 98–622.

In §1.11(a) the language "or after termination of an interference without an award of judgment" has been deleted. This change has been made in view cf changes made in paragraphs (c) and (d) of §1.662.

In response to a comment, the fee required for a petition in an interference under §1.644(e) and a request for reconsideration of a decision on petition in an interference under §1.644(f) have been set out as separate items.

Section 1.136 was changed to refer to §1.611 rather than §1.610(a).

The following sentence was inadvertently omitted as the third sentence of §1.138 in the notice of proposed rulemaking: "A registered attorney or agent acting under the provision of §1.34(a), or of record, may also expressly abandon a prior application as of the filing date granted to a continuing application when filing such a continuing application." This sentence presently appears in §1.138.

In §1.196(d), second sentence, "thirty days" has been changed to "one month".

In §1.197(b), "thirty days" has been changed to "one month".

In the last sentence of §1.304, "The Commissioner" has been changed to "An examiner-in-chief" and "of a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in an interference case" has been inserted after "time for seeking judicial review." This change is made to limit the "excusable neglect" standard to interference cases only.

In §1.601(j), the language "all the claims of a party which correspond" has been changed to read "at least one claim of a party which corresponds". The language "all the claims of an opponent which correspond" has been changed to read "at least one claim of an opponent which corresponds".

Section 1.605(a) has been changed by deleting from the third sentence the language "a claim which is the same or substantially the same as" and by adding the following sentence as the fourth sentence: "At the time the suggested claim is presented, the applicant may also (1) call the examiner's attention to other claims already in the application or which are presented with the suggested claim and (2) explain why the other claims would be more appropriate to be included in any interference which may be declared." In the second sentence, "30 days" has been changed to "one month".

In the last sentence of §1.606, the language "to define one patentable invention" has been changed to read: "not to contain separate patentable inventions."

The word "and" has been inserted in §1.607(a) before "(3)". The word "must" in the first sentence of §1.607(c) has been changed to "shall" in response to a suggestion in a comment.

Pursuant to two separate suggestions, the following is being added after the first sentence in §1.608(b): "Where the basis upon which an applicant is entitled to judgment relative to a patentee is priority of invention, the evidence shall include affidavits by the applicant, if possible, and one or more corroborating witnesses, supported by documentary evidence, if available, each setting out a factual description of acts and circumstances performed or observed by the affiant, which collectively would prima facie entitle the applicant to judgment on priority with respect to the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of the patent. To facilitate preparation of a record (§1.653(g) and (h)) for final hearing, an applicant should file affidavits on paper which is 8-1/2 by 11 inches (21.8 by 27.9 cm.)."

In §1.609(b)(1), the language "count or counts" has been changed to "proposed count or counts". In §1.609(b)(2), each occurrence of "the count" has been changed to "each count".

In §1.613(a), "§1.344" has been changed to "this Chapter." This change is being made to obviate the need to again amend §1.613 in the event new rules relating to practice before the PTO are issued. See the notice of proposed rulemaking published in the Federal Register on Aug. 24, 1984. 49 F.R. 33790, proposed §§10.62 and 10.66. The language "or members of the same firm of attorneys or agents" has been added after "agent" in §1.613(b).

In §1.615(a), second sentence, "which are" has been deleted and "in the interference" has been added after "will not be entered or considered".

Several changes have been made in §1.617. In §1.617(a), the language "the interference shall proceed before the examiner-in-chief" has been changed to read: "the interference shall proceed in the normal manner under the regulations of this part". The second sentence of §1.617(b) ("A response may include a request by the applicant for a hearing before the Board.") has been changed to read: "Any request by the applicant for a hearing before the Board shall be made in the response." This change was made to clarify when and how a hearing must be requested by the applicant. The second sentence of §1.617(d) has been changed to read: "The statement may set forth views as to why summary judgment should be granted against the applicant, but the statement shall be limited to discussing why all the evidence presented by the applicant does not overcome the reasons given by the examiner-in-chief for issuing the order to show cause." Section 1.617(e) has been re-written as follows: "Within a time authorized by the examiner-in-chief, an applicant may file a reply to any statement filed by any opponent." The language "examiner-in-chief or the" has been added after "by the applicant is timely filed, the" in the first sentence of §1.617(g). The language "Board decides that" has been deleted from the second sentence of §1.617(g). The language "If the Board decides otherwise" has been replaced with "Otherwise" in the third sentence of §1.617(g). The language "before the examiner-in-chief" in the third sentence of §1.617(g) has been changed to read: "in the normal manner under the regulations of this part." These changes will authorize either an examiner-in-chief or a Board to authorize an interference to proceed under §1.617(g). It will continue to be necessary for the Board to enter an order granting summary judgment. In the last sentence of §1.617(h), "patentee" has been changed to "any opponent".

The language "the name of" has been deleted from the first sentence of §1.622(a). The second sentence of §1.622(a) in the notice of proposed rulemaking ("When an inventor identified in the preliminary statement is not identical to the inventor named in the party's application or patent, the party shall file a motion . . . .") has been changed to read: "When an inventor identified in the preliminary statement is not an inventor named in the party's application or patent, the party shall file a motion . . . ." This change is being made in view of §105(a) of Public Law 98-622 which amended 35 U.S.C. §116 to permit joint inventors to be named "even though . . . (3) each did not make a contribution to the subject matter of every claim . . . ."

The following changes have been made in §1.623(c). In the first sentence, "copy of the drawing" has been changed to "copy of the first drawing". In the second sentence, "copy of the written description" has been changed to "copy of the first written description". In the third sentence, "when a drawing or written description" has been changed to "when a copy of the first drawing or first written description".

Several changes have been made to §1.624. The following has been added as a second sentence in §1.624(a)(5): "If an actual reduction to practice of the invention was not introduced into the United States, the preliminary statement shall so state." The following changes have been made in §1.624(c). Each occurrence of "was made" has been changed to "was introduced into the United States." In the first sentence, "copy of the drawing" has been changed to "copy of that drawing". In the second sentence, "copy of the written description" has been changed to "copy of that written description". In the third sentence, "a drawing or written description" has been changed to "a copy of the first drawing or first written description introduced in the United States".

The following changes have been made in §1.625(c). In the first sentence, "copy of the drawing" has been changed to "copy of the first drawing". In the second sentence, "copy of the written description" has been changed to "copy of the first written description". In the third sentence, "a drawing or written description" has been changed to "a first drawing or first written description".

The language of §1.628(b) which read: "because the drawing or written description is not in the party's possession, custody, or control, the party may file a motion . . . to amend its preliminary statement promptly after it secures possession, custody, or control of a copy of the drawing or written description" has been changed to read as follows: "the party (1) shall show good cause and explain in the preliminary statement why a copy of the drawing or written description cannot be attached to the preliminary statement and (2) shall attach to the preliminary statement the earliest drawing or written description made in or introduced into the United States which is available. The party shall file a motion . . . to amend its preliminary statement promptly after the first drawing, first written description or drawing or written description first introduced into the United States becomes available."

The first sentence ("A preliminary statement should be carefully prepared.") has been deleted from §1.629(a).

In §1.629(b), the language "no earlier than" has been changed to "as early as".

In §1.629(d), the following has been added after "allegation": "unless the party complies with §1.628(b)."

A new §1.632 has been added to require a party to give timely notice of the party's intent to argue that an opponent has abandoned, suppressed, or concealed an actual reduction to practice. A companion change has been made to §1.654.

Two changes have been made to §1.633(c). Paragraph (c)(2) has been changed by adding thereto the following language: "or adding a claim in the moving party's application to be designated to correspond to a count". In addition, in §1.633(c), the "or" before "(4)" has been deleted and the following has been added to the end of the first sentence: ", or (5) requiring an opponent who is an applicant to add a claim and to designate the claim to correspond to a count."

Paragraph (j) has been added to §1.633.

In §1.636(b), "(i)" has been changed to "(i) or (j)" in view of the addition of paragraph (j) to §1.633. The language "filed as soon as practical" in §1.636(c) has been changed to "diligently filed" in order to conform §1.636 to §1.48. A party must exercise diligence in correcting inventorship. Van Otteren v. Hafner, 278 F.2d 738, 126 USPQ 151 (CCPA 1960).

Several changes have been made to §1.637. The language "Where appropriate," has been deleted from the following paragraphs of §1.637: (c)(1)(vi); (c)(2)(iv); (c)(3)(iii); (d)(4); (e)(1)(viii); (e)(2)(vii); and (h)(4). The following has been added in §1.637(c)(2) before "shall": "or adding a claim to be designated to correspond to a count". The language "amended claim" in §1.637(c)(2)(i) has been changed to read: "amended or added claim". The language "Apply the terms of each proposed claim to the disclosure of the application" in §1.637(c)(2)(ii) has been changed to read: "Show that the proposed or added claim defines the same patentable invention as the count." The language "proposed amended claim" in §1.637(c)(2)(iii) has been changed to read "amended or added claim." The language "adding the proposed claim" in §1.637(c)(2)(iii) has been changed to read: "making the amended or added claim".

The word "interferences" in §1.637(c)(4)(ii) has been corrected to read: "interference".

Subparagraph (c)(5) has been added to §1.637.

The following has been added as the last sentence to §1.637(f)(2): "If the earlier application filed abroad is not in English, the requirements of §1.647 must also be met."

In paragraph §1.637(f)(3), the language "discloses an embodiment with the scope" has been changed to read: "constitutes a constructive reduction to practice".

The first sentence, originally proposed in §1.638(b) ("A reply to an opposition shall not be filed unless authorized by this subpart or an examiner-in-chief or the motion was filed under §§1.633 or 1.634"), has been deleted. The language "any authorized reply" in §1.638(b) has been changed to "a reply".

The language "or a motion to correct inventorship under §1.634" has been added to the first sentence of §1.639(c) after "preliminary motion under §1.633."

The following has been added after the first sentence of §1.640(b)(1): "Failure or refusal of a party to timely present an amendment required by an examiner-in-chief shall be taken without further action as a disclaimer by that party of the invention involved." The fourth sentence of §1.640(c) ("A request for reconsideration will ordinarily not be granted unless an opposition has been requested by an examiner-in-chief or the Board") has been changed to read: "A decision of a single examiner-in-chief will not ordinarily be modified unless an opposition has been requested by an examiner-in-chief or the Board." In the last sentence of §1.640(c), the language "shall be decided by a panel" has been changed to read: "shall be acted on by a panel".

The word "application" in the paragraph heading and text of §1.642 has been changed to read: "application or patent".

Three changes have been made in §1.644. The following language has been added after "Commissioner" in §1.644(a)(2): "and is not filed prior to the decision of the Board awarding judgment and does not relate to (i) the merits of priority of invention or patentability or (ii) the admissibility of evidence under the Federal Rules of Evidence". The following language has been deleted from the second sentence of §1.644(b): "and shall not relate to (1) the merits of priority of invention or patentability or (2) the admissibility of evidence under rhe Federal Rules of Evidence". The language "A request for reconsideration will ordinarily not be granted unless" in the second sentence of §1.644(f) has been changed to read: "The decision will not ordinarily be modified unless such".

Two changes have been made in §1.645. The word "to" has been added before "file a notice of appeal" and "commence a civil action" in the first sentence of paragraph (a). The language ", accompanied by an affidavit," has been deleted from paragraph (b).

Three changes have been made to §1.646. The word "service" has been added after "additional" in the third sentence of paragraph (b). The language "or except as otherwise provided by this part," has been added after "otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief," in paragraph (c). The language in paragraph (c) "paper may be made" has been changed to "paper shall be made". The word "time" has been changed to "date" in the last sentence of paragraph (e).

A new paragraph (c) has been added to §1.654 to require that a party give timely notice of the party's intent to argue that an opponent has abandoned, suppressed, or concealed an actual reduction to practice. Section 1.632 specifies the time within which the notice shall be filed.

Three changes have been made in §1.658. The language "paragraph (a) of the section" in the last sentence of §1.658(b) has been changed to "paragraph (a) of this section". The "(i)" in the first sentence of §1.658(c) has been changed to "(j)" in view of the addition of §1.633(j). In the notice of proposed rulemaking, the second sentence of §1.658(c) read: "A party, other than a party awarded a favorable judgment as to all counts, who could have properly moved, but failed to move, under §§1.633 or 1.634, shall be estopped to take ex parte or inter partes action in the Patent and Trademark Office after the interference which is inconsistent with the party's failure to properly move." This sentence has been changed to read: "A losing party who could have properly moved, but failed to move, under §1.633 cr 1.634, shall be estopped to take ex parte or inter partes action in the Patent and Trademark Office after the interference which is inconsistent with that party's failure to properly move, except that a losing party shall not be estopped with respect to any claims which correspond, or properly could have corresponded, to a count as to which that party was awarded a favorable judgment."

Several changes have been made in §1.662. In §1.662(a), the word "construed" has been changed to "treated". The first sentence of §1.662(c) in the notice of proposed rulemaking read: "The filing of a statutory disclaimer under 35 U.S.C. §253 by a patentee will not be treated as a request for entry of an adverse judgment against the patentee, but will delete any statutorily disclaimed claims from being involved in the interference." That first sentence has been changed to read: "The filing of a statutory disclaimer under 35 U.S.C. §253 by a patentee will delete any statutorily disclaimed claims from being involved in the interference." The second sentence of §1.662(c) in the notice of proposed rulemaking read: "A statutory disclaimer of any claim involved in an interference shall in subsequent proceedings have the same effect with respect to the patentee as an adverse judgment." That second sentence has been changed to read: "A statutory disclaimer will not be treated as a request for entry of an adverse judgment against the patentee unless it results in the deletion of all patent claims corresponding to a count." In view of this change, proposed §1.662(d) has been deleted as unnecessary, and a change has also been made in §1.11(a) to delete any reference to a termination of an interference by any means other than judgment.

The last sentence of §1.671(g) has been changed from "The motion shall describe the general nature and show the admissibility in the interference of the testimony, document, or thing" to: "The motion shall describe the general nature and the relevance of the testimony, document, or thing."

Three changes have been made to §1.672(b). In the second sentence after "witness by affidavit shall" the following has been added: ", prior to the close of the party's relevant testimony period". The language "file an affidavit" has been changed to "file and serve an affidavit". The following has been added after the third sentence: "A party shall not be entitled to rely on any document referred to in the affidavit unless a copy of the document is filed with the affidavit. A party shall not be entitled to rely on any thing mentioned in the affidavit unless the opponent is given reasonable access to the thing. A thing is something other than a document."

Several changes have been made in §1.673(b). The introductory sentence of paragraph (b) ("Unless the parties agree otherwise, at least three days prior to the conference required by paragraph (g) of this section, a party shall serve, but not file, the following:") has been changed to read: "Unless the parties agree otherwise, a party shall serve, but not file, at least three days prior to the conference required by paragraph (g) of this section, if service is made by hand or "Express Mail," or at least ten days prior to the conference if service is made by any other means, the following:" In §1.673(b)(1) the word "copy" has been changed to "list and copy".

In the last sentence of §1.675(d), the language "signed by the witness in the presence of any notary" has been changed to read "signed by the witness in the form of (1) an affidavit in the presence of any notary or (2) a declaration". This change conforms §1.675(d) to §1.68.

In §1.682(a)(4), ", where appropriate," has been added prior to "be accompanied" and "(§1.671(d))" has been added after "printed publication".

The word "admissible" in §1.684(a)(4) has been changed to "relevant".

The following sentence has been deleted from §1.687(b): "If the witness refuses to produce a requested document or thing, the party may file a motion (§1.635) for additional discovery under paragraph (c) of this section."

Section 1.688 has been revised to more clearly describe how a party may introduce in evidence an answer to a request for admission or an answer to a written interrogatory.

Analysis of Comments

Eighteen written comments were received. Three individuals testified at a hearing held on May 15, 1984.

The following is an analysis of the written comments and the oral comments made at the hearing.

One comment suggested that §1.8 not be amended to exclude from the certificate of mailing practice a paper in an interference which an examiner-in-chief orders to be filed by hand or "Express Mail." The comment argues that "[s]ome parties might not have an attorney in the Washington area or they may live in an area not serviced by Express Mail." The suggestion is not being adopted. Experience has shown that there are situations in interferences where it is desirable to have and the parties need a prompt ruling on a written motion. It is difficult for an examiner-in-chief to render a prompt ruling if the motion and any opposition are not promptly served and filed. In those situations where a party has no Washington, D.C. metropolitan area attorney or where a party resides in an area not served by "Express Mail," it may not be possible to hand-file or use "Express Mail." The examiner-in-chief would then exercise discretion by not invoking the exception of new subparagraph (xii) of §1.8(a).

One comment suggested that it would be clearer if the fee for a petition in an interference and the fee for a request for reconsideration of a decision on petition in an interference were set out in §1.17(h) as separate items. This suggestion has been adopted and the two fees have been set out in §1.17(h) as separate items.

A suggestion was made that a reference be made in §1.136 to §1.611 rather than §1.610(a). The suggestion is being adopted, because a reference to §1.611 is believed to be more appropriate. Once an interference is declared involving an application, ex parte prosecution of the application is suspended and the applicant need not respond to any PTO action outstanding as of the date the interference is declared.

One comment made the following remark concerning §1.196: "I do not understand the need or desire of the PTO to start the time to appeal to a Court from a PTO final decision on one claim, while PTO action is continuing on a second claim." As explained in the notice of proposed rulemaking (49 F.R. 3770, columns 2–3; 1039 O.G. 20–21; 1039 TMOG 20–21), when there are further proceedings before the examiner following a decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, judicial review is not appropriate. Hence, under §1.196, the PTO will not start a time for seeking judicial review of a PTO decision on one claim while PTO action is continuing on another claim. The last sentences of §1.196(b)(1) and §1.196(d) authorize the Board to enter an order making its decision final as to one claim when remand proceedings as to another claim result in a favorable decision for the applicant. Section 1.196 is intended to eliminate piecemeal appeals.

With respect to §1.292(c), one commentator said: "[a] party should be able to raise public use and [on] sale issues at any stage [of an interference proceeding] provided the issue is raised in a timely manner after learning of the use or sale." Public use and on sale issues are to be raised in interferences by way of a preliminary motion under §1.633(a). If a motion under §1.633(a) cannot be timely filed, a belated motion may be filed provided the moving party complies with the provisions of §1.645(b). Whether or not a belated motion will be accepted where a public use or sale is discovered after the time for filing §1.633(a) motions which has passed will manifestly depend on the facts of a given case.

One comment suggested that the language "speedy, and inexpensive" be deleted from the second sentence of the preamble of §1.601. This suggestion is not being adopted. The second sentence of the preamble of §1.601 provides that the rules "shall be construed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every interference." The provision is modeled in part after the second sentence of Rule 1 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure which states that the Federal Rules "shall be construed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every action." The "just, speedy, and inexpensive determination" provision of §1.601 will prove useful in construing other provisions in the rules.

Two comments were received which suggested a change in language in §1.601(j). One comment correctly noted that "[i] f even one claim of each party defines the same patentable invention, there is an interference-in-fact." The comment went on to correctly note that "[t] he remaining claims can be disposed of by a motion under§1.633(c)(4)." A second comment noted that under the definition proposed, all the claims of both parties corresponding to a count must define the same patentable invention. The comment went on to correctly note the intent of the PTO is, however, that an interference-in-fact exists if at least one of the claims of a party corresponding to a count defines the same patentable invention as one of the corresponding claims of an opponent. In view of the suggestions made in the two comments, §1.601(j) has been changed to state that an interference-in-fact exists when at least one claim of a party which corresponds to a count and at least one claim of an opponent which corresponds to the count defines the same patentable invention.

Two comments were received which suggested that the language "earliest filing date" in §1.601(m) be changed to read "earliest effective filing date." The suggestion is not being adopted. Section 1.601(m) defines "senior party." The definition of "senior party" in §1.601(m) is consistent with current practice and is intended to codify current practice. In an interference where there are no benefit applications, the "senior party" is the party with the earliest "filing date." There are interferences where a party may be "senior" with respect to a first count based on the filing dates of the applications involved in the interference and "junior" with respect to a second count because the opponent is entitled to benefit of an earlier application as to the second count only. Under these circumstances in the past, the PTO has designated the party who is "senior" based on the filing dates of the applications involved as the "senior party." The designation of the party as "senior party" is for procedural purposes only, i.e., setting who takes testimony first, and does not affect which party has the burden of proof. Section 1.601(m) preserves this past practice.

Comments were received regarding §1.601(n) which defines "same patentable invention" and "separate patentable invention." One written comment suggested that §1.601(n) be deleted. The commentator appeared at the hearing and also urged orally that §1.601(n) be deleted. The suggestion is not being adopted. In view of the nature of the comment and the importance of the definitions in §1.601(n), the written comment is reproduced in its entirety:

Comment: The paragraph to be deleted contains an explicit definition of both "same patentable invention" and "separate patentable invention". It requires application of a two-prong test for determining "sameness" or "separateness". Two inventions are considered to be the "same patentable invention" when they are the same under 35 USC 102 or obvious variants under 35 USC 103 when one is considered as "prior art" with respect to the other. Application of this standard may lead to results which are anomalous or in conflict with statutory requirements if, as the proposed rules apparently assume, the award of priority as to counts embodying "separate patentable inventions" will inherently and finally resolve the question of entitlement to a patent as between the parties on involved claims corresponding to those counts. Three specific problems with the definition of Rule 601(n) have been identified as follows:

(1) If the standard of separate patentability as between two counts is applied on a mutual basis (i.e., Invention A must be separately patentable from Invention B considered as prior art and Invention B must be separately patentable from Invention A considered as prior art), then the conduct of interferences with separate counts directed to both a generic invention and an included specific embodiment thereof (i.e., a species) are frustrated. If, however, such mutuality is not applied (i.e., if Invention A is the existing count, then a count directed to Invention B is proper so long as Invention B would be considered patentable over Invention A as prior art), then a number of irreconcilable anomalies in count modification through preliminary motions practice will be manifest.

(2) "Separate patentability" as a non-obviousness issue is in every context except interference practice before the PTO determined with finality only when an affirmative determination has been reached or the applicant elects to discontinue further prosecution of any applications embodying the invention or to admit obviousness. Because in the ex parte context an applicant may continue to marshall additional evidence supportive of non-obviousness until separate patentability over a prior art invention has been established, "separate patentability" is always a fluid concept where ultimate resolution can neither be predicted nor foreclosed. On certain cases interference proceedings under the proposed rules will be conducted and judgment rendered on the assumption of a lack of "separate patentability", which would ordinarily be subject to change or rebuttal as additional argument, evidence or other supportive activity of non-obviousness were marshalled. Thus, simply determining a proposed count is not yet "separately patentable" for the purposes of count formation ought not to foreclose post-interference reconsideration of separate patentability questions when the party proposing the count would not have been foreclosed on priority grounds.

(3) The underlying assumption that "separate patentability" is to be established under the proposed rules for one invention when a second invention is considered as "prior art" does not have any necessary correspondence to the effect of an adverse judgment in an interference on the question of priority. While a lost count in interference is not patentable to the loser, the lost count will be considered as "prior art" against the losing party only if the status of prior art for the purposes of 35 USC 103 is established by the record in the interference, (i.e., by representing a prior invention of another made in the United States, not abandoned, suppressed or concealed under 35 USC 102). A party entitled to priority for a count under the benefit provisions of 35 USC 119 creates no "prior art" under 35 USC 102(g)/103 against his opponent. Separate counts ought not to be created or denied in an interference on the basis of a rule which fails to account for whether the interference record will confirm the assumption in the definition that a lost count will become "prior art".

The following examples are provided as indicative of perceived difficulties in the application of the definition embodied in Rule 601(n):

Example A: Rule 601(n) is applied in a mutuality sense to an interference where the existing count (Invention A) is a broad genus over organic compounds. Both parties disclose a species (Invention B) which one of the parties alleges represents a "selection invention", i.e., is neither anticipated by the genus nor obvious therefrom. The party proposing to add a species count to Invention B must demonstrate that the genus was neither the same as nor obvious in view of the species, an impossibility since disclosure of the species anticipates the genus under 35 USC 102. In effect, no party could ever propose sub-generic or species counts included within broader generic counts. Since all potential patentability and priority questions with respect to possible sub-generic and species claims are intended to be resolved in the unified patentability/priority proceedings, loss of such a broad generic count might be construed as estopping the losing party from arguing entitlement to a patent for species and sub-genera within the lost count. Since proof of a single species is dispositive of the question of priority as to a genus, no matter how large, this is a more severe result than would appear to be proper or intended.

Example B: Under the facts of Example A, if the standard under which the propriety for including a second sub-generic or species count is merely that the proposed count must be non-obvious over the existing count considered as prior art, then, an interference could conceivably proceed with both the generic and the species count in the interference. The usual criteria for "selection inventions" could be employed. However, when an interference is declared with a species count embodying Invention A, then utilization of a test requiring that a proposed count be non-obvious over the existing count as prior art leads literally to the conclusion that a proposed count to a generic Invention B is anticipated by the existing species count and therefore may not be added to the interference. This artificial distinction can certainly not have been intended, and yet the rules provide no clear indication of which result is the "correct" one or whether another test will be employed, e.g., the narrower count need only be non-obvious over the broader count.

Example C: A party moves to substitute two sub-generic counts to allegedly separately patentable inventions, Invention A and Invention B, in place of a broad generic count to the "Markush" group of Invention A and Invention B. The party alleges Invention B has surprising and unexpected properties over Invention A and is separately patentable thereover. Because, however, a consideration of Invention B as "prior art" suggests Invention A would not be non-obvious thereover, the motion is denied. The moving party establishes priority as to Invention B, but loses the sole count of the interference to an opponent who filed a foreign application disclosing a single species from Invention A. The result is that the moving party with clear evidence of priority apparently loses the right to patent an invention on the technicality of "count formation" in interference. The result is substantially more severe than had he been simply faced with a statutory bar!

Example D: The senior party, a foreign applicant, relies on a priority application disclosing Embodiment A. Subsequently the junior party files a United States application directed to an Embodiment B. Thereafter both parties file applications in the United States disclosing a generic invention including both Embodiments A and B. An interference is declared on the generic invention and the junior party moves to substitute two counts, one count to Embodiment A and a second count to Embodiment B on the ground that they represent separate patentable inventions. Since the junior party's invention date for Embodiment B is after the senior party's priority date, the junior party will be obliged to concede priority on the sole count in the interference unless his motion to substitute counts is granted.

Accordingly, the junior party undertakes laboratory tests which indicate that both Embodiments A and B achieve substantially the same result in substantially the same manner without any significant differences in effectiveness. Without evidence of separate patentability to support the motion to substitute, the junior party is unsuccessful and priority is awarded to the senior party.

The junior party abandons his claim to the generic invention of the lost count, but persists in his assertion he is entitled to a patent on Embodiment B since the interference record indicates no actual priority for this embodiment in favor of the senior party. Ultimately, the junior party obtains evidence that Embodiment B is unexpectedly more useful than anticipated in a commercial setting, while Embodiment A is substantially unsuitable for any practical use in a commercial setting.

Is the junior party entitled to a patent notwithstanding the disposition of the issue of its separate patentability in an inter partes proceeding? If indeed, the junior party would be entitled to such a patent, must a second interference now be declared with the senior party to again litigate the issue of priority? Had the junior party failed to have made the motion to substitute counts in view of his utter lack of supporting evidence of separate patentability, would the estoppel under 37 CFR 1.658(c) have applied? Finally, would the ends of justice be better served by a standard for count formation which could be finally determined contemporaneously with the filing of the preliminary motions themselves? All of these questions suggest that the utilization of a fluid concept such as non-obviousness as the basis for count formation will give unintended and unsupportable results in situations where the lack of separate patentability is prematurely assumed.

Example E: In the scenario of Example D, the non-entitlement to contest Embodiment B as a separate count was premised on a failure to demonstrate that Embodiment B was non-obvious over Embodiment A considered as prior art. However, an award of priority to the senior party based on the disclosure of Embodiment A in a foreign priority application does not render Embodiment A as available prior art (35 USC 102(g)/103) inasmuch as Embodiment A would not have been a prior invention of another made in the United States which had not been abandoned, suppressed or concealed. The junior party's entitlement to a patent on Embodiment B should depend, therefore, solely on his entitlement to priority with respect to Embodiment B. Priority is a necessary condition for entitlement to a patent since both parties disclose the embodiment and a sufficient condition since regardless of the party entitled to priority on Embodiment A, it should not become obviousness-generating prior art. Therefore, any standard or count formation which fails to reach the result of the junior party is entitled to contest priority and a patent on Embodiment B is contrary to current statutory requirements for entitlement to a patent.

The proposed rules attempt to rationally define counts in an interference so that the judgment in the interference settles all questions of entitlement to a patent. This not only cannot be done prospectively, but should not be done at all. Judgment should be made on claims, not counts and unpatentability determinations made against a party subject to the normal ex parte standard that additional evidence of non-obviousness, or other evidence of patentability wholly independent of priority itself, could compel a reconsideration of the judgment of unpatentability.

With respect to paragraph (1) of the comment, the standard of patentability will not be applied "on a mutual basis." Thus, if a species is patentable over a genus, the species is a "separate patentable invention" from the genus. Compare In re Taub, 348 F.2d 556, 146 USPQ 384 (CCPA 1965) (fluorine species might be patentable over genus of Markush group of hydrogen and halogen). A first count to a genus and a second count to a species which is patentable over the genus may properly appear in an interference. See e.g., Example 4. The comment suggests that if "such mutuality is not applied . . . then a number of irreconcilable anomalies . . . will be manifest." The urged "irreconcilable anomalies" are not readily apparent to the PTO.

The PTO disagrees with the concept expressed in paragraph (2) of the comment that there should be "post-interference reconsideration of separate patentability." One of the principal objects of Public Law 98–622 and these new rules is to encourage complete determination of all rights between parties in an interference and to avoid post-interference reconsideration in an ex parte environment of issues which were or could have been raised inter partes in an interference.

The commentator remarks in paragraph (3) of the comment that "[a] party entitled to priority for a count under the benefit of 35 USC 119 creates no 'prior art' under 35 USC 102(g)/103 against his opponent." In re McKellin, 529 F.2d 1324, 188 USPQ 428 (CCPA 1976), arguable provides support for the commentator's remark. It should be noted, however, that in defining "same patentable invention" and "separate patentable invention" in §1.601(n), the PTO is not establishing a new definition of "prior art." Rather, the PTO is providing definitions which will determine—both initially and ultimately in an interference—how claims in an application or patent will be designated to correspond to counts. See §§1.603 and 1.606. Examples 1-19 illustrate how the PTO proposes to initially designate claims to correspond to counts. The designation of claims to correspond (or not correspond) to a count is significant because, as noted by the plurality opinion in McKellin, 529 F.2d at 1327, 188 USPQ at 432: "[a] n applicant [or patentee] who has lost an interference is not entitled to claims which correspond to the subject matter of the counts of the interference." Section 1.658(c) estops a party from obtaining a claim which could have been added and which would have been designated to correspond to the lost count. The definitions of "same patentable invention" and "separate patentable invention" in §1.601(n), the availability of motions to designate or not designate claims as corresponding to a count under §1.633(c), and the estoppel provisions of §1.658(c) provide the basis for accomplishing the PTO's objective of resolving inter partes in a single proceeding all issues which are or could have been raised between parties in an interference.

Examples illustrate how §§1.601(n), 1.633(c) and 1.658(c) accomplish the PTO's objective.

Example 32: Application AV discloses engines in general and in particular a 6-cylinder engine. Application AV contains only claim 1 (engine). Application AW discloses engines in general, but does not specifically disclose a 6-cylinder engine. Application AW contains only a single claim 3 (engine). The U.S. "filing date" (§1.601(h)) of the AV application is prior to the U. S. filing date of the AW application, but the AW application claims a foreign priority date under 35 U.S.C. 119 based on an application filed in a foreign country prior to the filing date of the AV application. An interference is declared. The sole count of the interference is to "an engine." Claim 1 of the AV application and claim 3 of the AW application are designated to correspond to the count. During the interference, applicant AV does not move under §1.633(c)(2) to add a claim to a 6-cylinder engine and to designate the claim to correspond to the count. Applicant AW is awarded a judgment in the interference based on the earlier filing date of the foreign patent application. After the interference, applicant AV adds claim 2 (6-cylinder engine) to the AV application. Whether AV would be entitled to a patent containing a claim to a 6-cylinder engine will depend solely on whether a 6-cylinder engine is a "separate patentable invention" from "engine"—the subject matter of the count. If a 6-cylinder engine is a "separate patentable invention" within the meaning of §1.601(n), applicant AV could not have successfully moved under §1.633(c)(2) to add claim 2 and to designate it to correspond to the count. Therefore applicant AV could obtain a patent containing claim 2. If, on the other hand, a 6-cylinder engine is not a "separate patentable invention," claim 2 of the AV application would be rejected on the basis of interference estoppel because claim 2 could have been added by a motion under §1.633(c)(2). See §1.658(c). See also Example 37.

Example 33: This example is basically the same as Example 32, except that application AV initially contains claim 1 (engine) and claim 2 (6-cylinder engine). When the interference is declared, both claims 1 and 2 of application AV are designated to correspond to the count. During the interference, applicant AV does not move under §1.633(c)(4) to designate claim 2 as not corresponding to the count. A judgment in the interference is entered for applicant AW based on the earlier filing date of the foreign patent application. After the interference, applicant AV would not be able to obtain a patent containing claim 2, because that claim was designated to correspond to a count and entry of the judgment constitutes a final decision by the PTO refusing to grant applicant AV a patent containing claim 2.

In the written comment, Examples A through E were set out to illustrate what the commentator believed were "perceived difficulties." These examples are set out above and are analyzed below.

Analysis of Commentator's Example A

Example A does not describe any practice under these rules, because "same patentable invention" and "separate patentable invention" under §1.601(n) are not intended to be "applied in a mutuality sense." Where a first count is to a genus and a second count is to a species within the scope of the genus, there may be two counts if the species is separately patentable from the genus. The species is "invention A" referred to in §1.601(n); the genus is "invention B" referred to in §1.601(n).

Analysis of Commentator's Example B

Commentator's Example B suggests—incorrectly—that if an interference is declared with a count to a species that no motion under §1.633(c)(1) to add a count to a genus can ever be granted. If the species ("invention A" referred to in §1.601(n)) is not anticipated by or obvious in view of the genus ("invention B" referred to in §1.601(n)), a motion to add a separate count to the genus may be proper. The commentator uses the language "selection inventions" in both Examples A and B. Insofar as the PTO is aware, the language is not a term of art in the patent law. The PTO has not ascribed any particular meaning to the language in analyzing Examples A or B.

Analysis of Commentator's Example C

The result suggested in commentator's Example C can come to pass only if the moving party accepts as final the denial of the motion to substitute two "sub-generic counts" for the "broad generic count." Unlike practice under the rules which have been in effect, under these new rules a decision denying a motion to substitute a count is reviewable by the Board (see §1.640(c) and §1.655(a), second sentence). Additionally, the party could seek judicial review (35 U.S.C. §§141, 146) of any final decision by the Board. However, if the party accepts as final the PTO's determination that inventions A and B are the "same patentable invention," the party would be precluded from obtaining a patent to invention B. After the interference is terminated, the only conceivable way that the moving party could seek to obtain a patent containing claims to invention B would be to first successfully move to reopen the interference for the purpose of presenting additional evidence. If the motion to reopen is granted (and it would be expected that such a motion will rarely be granted), the moving party would then have to successfully establish that invention A and invention B are not the same patentable invention. The PTO will continue to follow the general guidelines of 4 Rivise & Caesar, Interference Law and Practice, §821 et seq. (Michie Co. 1948), in determining motions to reopen an interference after entry of judgment. It should be additionally noted that interferences in which a judgment has been entered by a district court in an action brought under 35 U.S.C. §146 or a mandate has been entered by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit (35 U.S.C. §141 or 28 U.S.C. §1295(a)(4)(C)) will not be reopened until the district court vacates its judgment and/or the Federal Circuit withdraws its mandate.

Analysis of Commentator's Example D

Several questions asked in the commentator's Example D can be answered as follows:

Question: Is the junior party entitled to a patent notwithstanding the disposition of the issue of its separate patentability in an inter partes proceeding? Answer: No. The junior party should have presented the "evidence that Embodiment B is unexpectedly more useful than anticipated in a commercial setting" during the interference. The PTO expects to resolve issues inter partes in the interference. If the PTO was to permit the evidence to be presented after the interference is terminated and after ex parte prosecution resumes, a principal purpose of the overall change to interference practice would be defeated. It may be unfortunate that the evidence was not known to the junior party. However, it may also be true that the winning party—had the evidence been presented in the interference—could have produced probative counter-evidence. Why should the winning party be put to the expense of a second interference?

Question: If indeed, the junior party would be entitled to such a patent, must a second interference now be declared with the senior party to again litigate the issue of priority? Answer: The premise in the question is not correct. The junior party is not entitled to a patent to Embodiment B and therefore there will not be a second interference.

Question: Had the junior party failed to have made the motion to substitute counts in view of his utter lack of supporting evidence of separate patentability, would the estoppel under 37 CFR 1.658(c) have applied? Answer: Yes, unless the junior party can successfully move to reopen the interference.

Question: Would the ends of justice be better served by a standard for count formation which could be finally determined contemporaneously with the filing of the preliminary motions themselves? Answer: While the question is not fully understood, it should be recognized that counts will initially be formed when an interference is declared and are subject to being changed by a motion (§1.633(c)) or by the Board (§1.640(c) and §1.655, second sentence). The correctness of the PTO's ultimate decision on what counts should be is subject to judicial review (35 U.S.C. §§141, 146).

Analysis of Commentator's Example E

The PTO, without agreeing or disagreeing with all of the commentator's statements in Example E, disagrees with any ultimate conclusion that the junior party is entitled to a patent on Embodiment B and that such a result "is contrary to current statutory requirements for entitlement to a patent." Interference estoppel precludes granting a patent claiming Embodiment B to the junior party even if Embodiment A is not prior art with respect to Embodiment B.

One comment asked whether "invention A" and "invention B" mentioned in §1.601(n) "refer to the entire scope of subject matter recited in a claim or to the disclosed embodiment(s) supporting the claim (a la In re Vogel, [422 F.2d 438,] 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970))?" The question is somewhat difficult, if not impossible, to answer in the abstract. Whether "invention A" refers to the entire scope or to the embodiments which support a claim is not controlling under these new rules. One fundamental change being made under the new rules is that judgments will be in the form of whether an applicant or patentee is or is not entitled to a claim. In the past, the Board of Patent Interferences has entered an "award of priority." The use of an "award of priority" does not always accurately express the "judgment" entered in many interferences. See e.g., Applegate v. Scherer, 332 F.2d 571, 573 n. 1, 141 USPQ 796, 798 n. 1 (CCPA 1964). Whether an applicant or patentee is or is not entitled to a particular claim in any given interference will depend on many factors, some of which include the scope of the claim, the scope of the opponent's claim, and the prior art. An example illustrates the point.

Example 34: Applicant AX discloses an apparatus having fastening means. The specific means disclosed are rivets. Applicant AY discloses a similar apparatus having fastening means. The specific means disclosed are a nut and bolt. The prior art reveals that items have been fastened with numerous fastening means including both rivets and nuts and bolts. In determining whether AX's apparatus with rivet fastening means is the "same patentable invention" as AY's apparatus with nut and bolt fastening means, it would be proper to consider the specific apparatus disclosed by AX, the specific apparatus disclosed by AY, the fact that both AX and AY disclose the use of "fastening means" broadly, and the prior art which shows rivets and nuts and bolts to be known fastening means.

One comment suggested that the last sentence of §1.604(b) and the last sentence of §1.607(c) be deleted in view of a proposed rule (§10.23(c)(7); 49 F.R. 10028; 49 F.R. 33809) which defines "misconduct" as including "[k]nowingly withholding from the Office information identifying a patent or application of another from which one or more claims have been copied." The proposed rule is still being considered. In any event, the last sentences of §§1.604(b) and 1.607(c) are instructions to examiners whereas proposed 37 CFR §10.23(c)(7) defines misconduct for those registered to practice before the PTO. Another comment suggested deletion of §1.604(b) because "existing rules [37 CFR §1.56] already provide a duty of disclosure of subject matter material to examination." There is no inconsistency between the rule relating to the duty of disclosure and §1.604. The comment also suggested that by identifying another application, an applicant "might be construed as having admitted that the claims" of the other application are directed to the same patentable invention as the claims in the applicant's application. The filing of such a paper is a statement by the applicant that the claims presented are "known to the applicant to define the same patentable invention" (emphasis added). If an applicant wishes to call another application to the attention of an examiner and the applicant believes that the other application does not claim the same patentable invention, but nevertheless may be relevant within the meaning of 37 CFR §1.56, the applicant may identify the other application and at the same time state why the invention claimed in the other application is not the same patentable invention as the invention claimed in the applicant's application. For the reasons given, the suggestions made in the two comments are not being adopted.

Three comments relating to §1.605 were received. One comment suggested that the language "or substantially the same as the suggested claim" be deleted from the third sentence of §1.605. The suggestion is being adopted to the extent that the language "a claim which is the same or substantially the same as" is being deleted. Under §1.605, when the examiner requests an applicant to copy a suggested claim, the applicant will be required to copy verbatim the claim suggested by the examiner. A second comment suggested that the second and third sentences of §1.605 be changed to read as follows:

> The applicant to whom the claim is suggested shall amend the application by presenting the suggested claim, or shall identify in the application one or more pending claims which the applicant regards as being directed to the same or substantially the same invention as the suggested claim, within a time specified by the Examiner, not less than thirty days. Failure or refusal of an applicant to timely present a claim or to timely identify one or more claims which are directed to the same or substantially the same invention as the suggested claim shall be taken without further action as a disclaimer by the applicant of the invention defined by the suggested claim.

A third comment suggested that the second and third sentences of §1.605 fail to take into account the case where an applicant is already claiming the invention. The third comment suggested addition of the following at the end of the third sentence of §1.605(a): ", unless the application already contains claims to the same patentable invention." The suggestions made in the second and third comments are not being adopted as such. However, the following sentence is being added as the fourth sentence of §1.605: "At the time the suggested claim is presented, the applicant may also (1) call the examiner's attention to other claims already in the application or which are presented with the suggested claim and (2) explain why the other claims would be more appropriate to be included in any interference which may be declared." A major deficiency of the suggestions made in the second and third comments was the inability of the PTO to efficiently and effectively handle situations where the applicant (1) presents a claim which is "substantially the same as" the suggested claim or (2) points to a claim already in the application and the examiner is of the opinion that the claim is not to the same patentable invention. Under these circumstances, the examiner could not properly declare an interference. Accordingly, the applicant will be required to present verbatim the suggested claim. The applicant may, however, also present any other claim which the applicant believes is more appropriate. Alternatively, the applicant, in addition to presenting verbatim the suggested claim, may also call the examiner's attention to a claim already in the application which the applicant believes is more appropriate for interference purposes. In either case, the applicant must explain to the examiner why a claim other than the suggested claim is more appropriate for inclusion in the interference. Upon consideration of the suggested claim and the applicant's alternative claims and any explanation, the examiner is in a position to forward the application to the Board for declaration of an interference. If the applicant is dissatisfied with the claims of the application designated to correspond to the count, the applicant may file an appropriate motion under §1.633(c).

Two comments were received which suggested that the last sentence of §1.606 is not entirely clear. One comment suggested that the language in the last sentence which reads: "to define one patentable invention" be changed to read: "not to contain separate patentable invention." This suggestion is being adopted. The use of the language "one patentable invention" was unfortunate and rendered the actual intent of the rule unclear. Under §1.606, at the time an interference is declared a rebuttable presumption will exist that any patent claim designated to correspond to a count does not embrace separate patentable inventions. Moreover, at the time the interference is declared, no count will be narrower in scope than the broadest patent claim designated to correspond to that count. The presumption is rebuttable and may be challenged and overcome by a motion under §1.633(c). Examples 17 and 18 illustrate practice under §1.606.

Two comments were received discussing §1.607. A first comment suggested that the word "must" in the first sentence of §1.607(c) be changed to "shall". The suggestion is being adopted. Use of "shall" makes §1.607(c) consistent with §1.604(b). A second comment asked the following question:

> "If the examiner determines that the applicant's claim is patentable but that there is no interfering subject matter, and the examiner accordingly allows the claim but refuses to declare an interference, is that determination appealable [to the Board of Appeals and Interferences under 35 U.S.C. §1.134]?"

The commentator suggests that "such a determination" is appealable and rationale in support of the commentator's position appears in Gholz, Board of Appeals Jurisdiction Over Appeals from Decisions by Primary Examiners Refusing to Institute Interferences on Modified or Phantom Counts, 64 J. Pat. Off. Soc'y 651 (1982). At the hearing, the commentator orally urged that the rules be amended to permit an appeal to the Board when an examiner allows a claim, but refuses to declare an interference involving the allowed claim. The suggestion is not being adopted. A decision by an examiner to allow a claim, but not to declare an interference involving the allowed claim, is petitionable and not appealable. See Gholz, supra, at 652 n. 13. The rule being suggested would enlarge the jurisdiction of the Board. Action by Congress would be necessary to accomplish what is embodied in the suggestion.

Several written comments and one oral presentation at the hearing were made concerning §1.608. One comment suggested that §1.608 be expanded to provide for summary judgment in interferences involving applications where the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of one application was three months earlier than the date of the other application. This suggestion is not being adopted. Ordinarily, interferences are not declared between applications having effective dates more than three months apart. Moreover, expanding summary judgment proceedings to application-application interferences would result in delay in resolving interferences. Currently in application-patent summary judgment proceedings under 37 CFR §1.204(c), very few summary judgments are entered against applicants who are junior to a patentee by more than three months. There is no reason to expect that a significant number of summary judgments would be entered in application-application interferences. As noted in the notice of proposed rulemaking, the PTO has already declined to expand summary judgment proceedings to cases where a patentee is junior to an applicant by more than three months. See 49 F.R. 3775 (paragraph bridging columns 1 and 2); 1039 O.G. 34; 1039 TMOG 34; 27 BNA 319.

Two written comments were received which suggested that §1.608(b) should be more specific in indicating the kind of evidence which should be submitted when an applicant attempts to make out a prima facie case based on priority of invention. The suggestions in the comments are being adopted. The following sentence has been added to §1.608(b):

> Where the basis upon which an applicant is entitled to judgment relative to a patentee is priority of invention, the evidence shall include affidavits by the applicant, if possible, and one or more corroborating witnesses, supported by documentary evidence, if available, each setting out a factual description of acts and circumstances performed or observed by the affiant, which collectively would prima facie entitle the applicant to judgment on priority with respect to the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of the patent.

Similar language appears in the current rule: 37 CFR §1.204(c). The PTO agrees entirely with the following discussion made by one commentator:

> The material added to Rule 608(b) currently appears in existing 37 CFR §1.204(c). A comparison of the existing language of 37 CFR §1.204(c) with the proposed rule might be construed as suggesting that the allegations which are now expressly required where priority is an issue will be changed, specifically relaxed in some manner. Since under proposed Rule 617 this clearly is not the case, the proposed addition to Rule 608(b) should assist the practitioner in understanding the intent of the PTO.

The commentator has accurately pointed out that the PTO intends to apply a stricter standard for filing additional evidence in summary judgment proceedings after an order to show cause has been issued. See the notice of proposed rulemaking, 49 F.R. 3775 (column 1); 1039 O.G. 34; 1039 TMOG 1039; 27 BNA 319 (column 1).

At the hearing, it was suggested that §1.608 should encourage the use of 8-1/2 by 11 inch paper for affidavits. This suggestion is being adopted and the following sentence has been added to §1.608(b): "To facilitate preparation of a record (§1.653(g) and (h)) for final hearing, an applicant should file affidavits on paper which is 8-1/2 × 11 inches (21.8 by 27.9 cm.)." The commentator at the hearing suggested that "many people submitting a Rule 608(b) showing are going to want to rely upon that showing under Rule 672(b)" in those cases where an interference is allowed to proceed. Use of 8-1/2 by 11 inch paper will facilitate preparation of the ultimate record.

Two comments were received with respect to §1.609. The first comment suggested that the language "count or counts" in §1.609(b)(1) be changed to "proposed count or counts" and that each occurrence of "the count" in §1.609(b)(2) be changed to "each count". The suggestion is being adopted. These changes are editorial in nature and are designed to enhance the clarity of the rule. A second comment indicated that it was not clear to the commentator why it was necessary under §1.609(b)(3) for the examiner to identify the claims in an application or patent which are deemed to be patentable over any count. The commentator went on to say that the examiner "could probably readily identify claims which would clearly be unpatentable over a count and perhaps this would be all that is needed. If the examiner simply said all claims are considered unpatentable over the count, what recourse does the applicant have if he disagrees?" The purpose of having the examiner identify all claims which are patentable over the count or counts is to place the parties on notice that those claims are allowable notwithstanding any decision in the interference. Thus, in an interference between Jones and Smith if the examiner indicates that claim 8 of Jones is patentable over the proposed count or counts, Smith will know that Jones may receive a patent containing claim 8 even if Smith wins the interference. This will permit Smith to move under §1.633(c) to add claim 8 as corresponding to a count if Smith believes claim 8 defines the same patentable invention as one of the counts. Contrary to the suggestion in the comment, an examiner will not indicate that a claim is unpatentable over a count; rather, the examiner will designate the claim to correspond to a count. Each claim in a patent or application which is directed to the same patentable invention as a count will be designated to correspond to the count. Under the new practice, an examiner will no longer have occasion to indicate that a claim will be rejected over a lost count. To fully answer the commentator's question, if a claim is designated to correspond to a count and the applicant believes the claim does not define the same patentable invention as the count, the applicant may move under §1.633(c) to designate the claim as not corresponding to the count. If the motion is granted, the examiner would be authorized to issue the applicant a patent containing the claim even if the applicant loses the interference.

Several comments were received which discuss §1.611. One comment suggested addition of a paragraph (f) to permit expanded summary judgment proceedings in application-application interferences. Since expanded summary judgment proceedings are not contemplated, the suggestion is not being adopted. See the discussion above under analysis of comments of §1.608(b). Two comments suggested that §1.611(c)(8), which provides that a notice declaring the interference shall specify among other things the "order of the parties," fails to take into account the fact one party may be "senior" as to one count and "junior" as to another count. As explained above in connection the analysis of the comments concerning §1.601(m), the "order of the parties" is a procedural tool. It indicates the "style" of the case—which practitioners are encouraged to use. If there are two counts and one party is "senior" as to one count and "junior" as to another count, the party has the burden of proof as to that count to which the party is "junior." See §1.657. Appropriate testimony periods will be set (§1.651(b)) to accommodate differing burdens of proof in cases where a party is "senior" on one count and "junior" on another count. The suggestions to change the meaning of "order of the parties" are not being adopted. Another comment suggested that §1.611(e) be changed to indicate that notice "shall" (as opposed to "may") be given in the Official Gazette when an interference has been declared involving a patent. No useful purpose would be served by changing "may" to "shall" inasmuch as the rights of parties involved in an interference are not affected by publication or non-publication of the fact that a patent is involved in the interference. By §1.611 the PTO intends to exercise discretion to publish in the Official Gazette an identification of patents which become involved in interferences; however, the PTO does not intend to undertake an absolute obligation to do so. The use of "may" better expresses the PTO's intent behind §1.611(e).

No written comments were received relating to §1.612. However, at the hearing two suggestions were made orally. The first suggestion was that where a "party" has obtained a copy of his "opponent's" affidavit under §1.131 or §1.608(b) (see §1.612(b)), the party should be required to notify the opponent. According to the suggestion, if the opponent then intends to rely on the affidavit (§1.671(e)), the opponent would have to "reserve" the affidavit on the party. This suggestion is not being adopted. When the party gains access to the affidavit under §1.612(b), the party may or may not make an accurate copy. On the other hand, the opponent knows exactly those portions of the affidavit upon which the opponent intends to rely. After careful consideration, the PTO believes on balance that it is better for the opponent to serve a copy of the evidence upon which the opponent intends to rely. Service avoids issues as to whether the party obtained under §1.612(b) a complete and/or accurate copy of the evidence upon which the opponent intends to rely.

The second suggestion concerning §1.612 made orally at the hearing was that a party should have access to an opponent's "predecessor application, even though the application may not be relied upon for 35 USC, Section 120 benefit." According to the suggestion, access to a "predecessor application" may be needed to uncover relevant evidence, including violations of 37 CFR §1.56. Specifically, the commentator called attention to Driscoll v. Cebalo, 731 F.2d 878, 221 USPQ 745 (Fed. Cir. 1984), rehearing denied mem., (Fed. Cir. July 25, 1984). The suggestion is not being adopted. The Patent Statute (35 U.S.C. §122) provides that applications for patent will be preserved in secrecy by the PTO unless special circumstances are shown. Section 1.687(c) provides for "additional discovery" when required in the interest of justice. Additional discovery is believed to provide the necessary procedural vehicle for obtaining access to an opponent's "predecessor application."

One comment was received which suggested that the language "or members of the same firm of attorneys and agents" be added after "agent" in §1.613(b). The suggestion is being adopted, because it is believed to make the rule clearer.

One comment was received which said the following with respect to §1.616: "Sanctions should not be left to the Examiner-in-Chief (EIC) or BAI [Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences] - This Rule is unnecessary and should be deleted. An alternative would be to give sanction power only to the BAI." The suggestion to delete §1.616 is not being adopted. There are cases where sanctions are warranted. See e.g., Woods v. Tsuchiya, 207 USPQ 228 (Comm'r. Pat. 1979) and Tezel v. Bellantoni, 188 USPQ 688 (Bd.Pat.Int. 1975). The PTO continues to believe that imposition of a sanction (except judgment) by a single examiner-in-chief is appropriate. In any event, a party may ask a 3-member panel of the Board to reconsider any sanction which may be imposed by a single examiner-in-chief. See §1.640(c).

Several written and oral comments were received regarding §1.617.

One oral comment made at the hearing suggested that "it should be explicitly stated in Rule 617(a) that the decision of the examiner-in-chief to permit the interference to proceed is without prejudice to the right of any other party to attack the sufficiency of the Rule 608(b) showing when offered as Rule 672 testimony." The suggestion is not being adopted. While no explicit statement to that effect will be placed in §1.617(a), it necessarily follows that any opponent may attack the sufficiency of an applicant's showing under §1.608(b) when that showing is presented as evidence under §1.672. In summary judgment proceedings, all an applicant need do is make out a prima facie case. If the interference is allowed to proceed in the normal manner, the applicant must prove priority by a preponderance of evidence (when the application and the patent are copending) or beyond a reasonable doubt (when the application was filed after the patent issued). Manifestly, the burden in summary judgment proceedings is not as strict as the burden in proceedings following summary judgment. Breuer v. DeMarinis, 558 F.2d 22, 28, 194 USPQ 308, 313 (CCPA 1977) and Schwab v. Pittman, 451 F.2d 637, 640, 172 USPQ 69, 71 (CCPA 1971).

Several comments suggested that an applicant should be permitted as a matter of right to file a reply to any statement filed by any opponent under §1.617(d). The suggestion that a reply be permitted is being adopted. Accordingly, §1.617(e) has been changed to read: "[w]ithin a time authorized by the examiner-in-chief, an applicant may file a reply to any statement filed by any opponent." Some of the comments indicated that the applicant should be able to reply to a statement by a patentee or another opponent. The language "any opponent" in §1.617(e) is intended to include both the patentee and any other opponent. The change in the last sentence of §1.617(h) of "patentee" to "any opponent" is intended to make clear that all parties may appear at a hearing if the applicant requests a hearing.

One comment suggested that the patentee (and presumably any other opponent) should be allowed to present "evidence" during summary judgment proceedings. This suggestion is not being adopted. A change in the second sentence of §1.617(d) is intended to make clear that opponents may file statements in response to an applicant's "response," but the statement "shall be limited to discussing why all the evidence presented by the applicant does not overcome the reasons given by the examiner-in-chief for issuing the order to show cause." The PTO does not intend to expand summary judgment proceedings into a "mini-interference." An applicant presents evidence under §1.608(b). If the examiner-in-chief finds that evidence insufficient, an order to show cause stating reasons for the insufficiency is issued. An applicant may respond and, if appropriate, file "additional evidence." The PTO intends to be rather strict in permitting the filing of new evidence. After the applicant responds (with or without additional evidence), any opponent may file a statement. In the statement, the opponent should be free to comment on all the evidence (original and additional) which the applicant presents. Compare In re Plockinger, 481 F.2d 1327, 179 USPQ 103 (CCPA 1973). Under §1.617(d) the opponent may not urge a rationale for summary judgment which does not appear in the order to show cause issued by the examiner-in-chief. However, it is not the PTO's intent to interpret §1.617(d) in the narrow manner the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals interpreted 37 CFR §1.204(c) in Kahl v. Scoville, 609 F.2d 991, 995-996, 203 USPQ 652, 656 [headnote 6] (CCPA 1979). An example will illustrate how the PTO intends to interpret §1.617(d).

Example 35: An applicant copies claims from a patent and is required to submit a showing under §1.608(b). Upon review of the showing under §1.608(b), the examiner-in-chief concludes that the showing fails to make out a prima facie case of priority, because applicant has failed to show an actual reduction to practice. Applicant files a response and includes additional evidence which purports to show an actual reduction to practice. The patentee then files a statement in which two arguments are made. First, patentee argues that the additional evidence has not been properly authenticated. Second, patentee argues that even if applicant has shown an actual reduction to practice, summary judgment is nevertheless appropriate because applicant suppressed and concealed after the actual reduction to practice. The first argument is proper, but the second argument is not. A patentee may comment on the sufficiency of the applicant's evidence. Fairness, however, dictates that summary judgment be granted only after fair notice in the order to show cause. Accordingly, summary judgment will not be based on a rationale raised by a patentee in a statement which does not correspond to the rationale used by the examiner-in-chief in the order to show cause.

A change has been made in §1.617(a) and §1.617(g) to make clear that once summary judgment proceedings have concluded, an interference will proceed "in the normal manner." The change is intended to codify the decisions in Walsh v. Sakai, 167 USPQ 465 (Comm'r.Pat. 1967) and Ing v. Chiou, 207 USPQ 321 (Comm'r.Pat. 1979). This change is further discussed in the discussion of the comments received with respect to §1.635.

One comment was received which indicated that §1.618:

> "needs qualification. It may be appropriate to resubmit certain papers (See also §1.644(d) last sentence)."

The precise "qualification" needed was not set forth in the comment. Likewise, no example of "certain papers" was set forth. Under the circumstances, the PTO declines to make any change in §1.618.

Several comments were received which discussed the rules relating to preliminary statements.

Three comments were received which suggested that §1.622(a) be amended to "take into account several court decisions holding that joint inventors need not be joint inventors of [the subject matter of] all claims." Changes have been made in §1.622(a) consistent with the amendment to 35 U.S.C. §116 made by Public Law 98-622.

One comment was critical of §§1.623(c); 1.624(c); and 1.625(c), because §1.628(b) does not cover the possibility that a drawing might not be available, e.g., a drawing destroyed in "a fire." Section 1.628(b) has been amended to permit a party to allege a date when a first drawing or first written description was made in those circumstances where the first drawing or first written description is not available. The party will be required (1) to show good cause and explain in the preliminary statement why a copy of the drawing or written description cannot be attached to the preliminary statement and (2) attach to the preliminary statement the earliest drawing or written description made in or introduced into the United States which is available. The party would also be required to file a motion to amend its preliminary statement promptly after the drawing or written description becomes available. It is the PTO's intent by the amendment to §1.628(b) to overrule the holding of headnote [1] of Reddy v. Davis, 187 USPQ 386, 388 (Comm'r.Pat. 1975)

Another comment was critical of the language "conceived" in §1.623(a)(4). The current rules do not require a party to allege a conception; rather, they require one to allege the date of the certain acts which, if proved, would establish conception. See 37 CFR §1.216(a)(4). According to the commentator, an allegation of conception is "unprovable and meaningless." The use of "conception" in §1.623(a)(4) is intentional and is designed to permit a party to "plead" the earliest date on which it believes conception occurred. Contrary to the suggestion in the comment, "conception" is not meaningless and may be proved during the the testimony period. See Gould v. Schawlow, 363 F.2d 908, 150 USPQ 634 (CCPA 1966); Meitzner v. Carte, 410 F.2d 433, 161 USPQ 599 (CCPA 1969); and Mergenthaler v. Scudder, 11 App.D.C. 264, 1897 C.D. 724 (D.C.Cir. 1897). There is no need to prove "conception" in the preliminary statement.

A preliminary statement serves several useful purposes in an interference: (1) it serves to limit a party's proofs as to time, (2) it serves as a vehicle for permitting the examiner-in-chief or the Board to issue orders to show cause in those cases where it would be futile to take testimony, and (3) it serves as notice to an opponent of the case which is alleged by a party. Under the rules being announced herein, the issues which will be raised and decided by the Board at final hearing are made known during the interlocutory stage through (a) the preliminary statement, (b) motions under §1.633 and decisions thereon, and (c) notices under §1.632 of a party's intent to argue abandonment, suppression, or concealment. Section 1.632(a)(4) requires a party to allege a date of conception—it does not require proof of conception. The allegation puts the opponent on notice that the party intends to prove conception as of a date no earlier than the date alleged in the preliminary statement.

One comment suggested that the rules relating to preliminary statements are deficient because they do not permit one to allege allegations concerning tapes. Specifically, the commentator said: "What about a taped transcript of an invention, a practice being followed in a number of research departments of corporations?" If making a tape is the last act of conception, a party may allege the date the tape was made as the conception date under §1.623(a)(4).

Several comments were received which suggested that a party should not have to allege derivation in a preliminary statement because the party may not know derivation occurred until the testimony period. Section 1.625 requires a party to file a preliminary statement when derivation is an issue. If derivation is not known or discovered prior to the date the preliminary statement is due, a party may move to amend the preliminary statement and allege derivation promptly after existence of derivation is discovered.

Several comments discussing §1.624 were received. One comment suggested that §1.624(a)(5) should require a party to state, where appropriate, that no actual reduction to practice of an invention made in a foreign country was introduced into the United States. This suggestion is being adopted and a second sentence has been added to §1.624(a)(5) which provides: "If an actual reduction to practice of the invention was not introduced into the United States, the preliminary statement shall so state." This sentence conforms §1.624(a)(5) to the allegation required in the second sentence of §1.623(a)(5). Another comment suggested that the language "in the United States" be inserted after "reasonable diligence" in §1.624(a)(6) and that all occurrences of the language "was made" in §1.624(c) be changed to "was introduced into the United States". This suggestion is being adopted. As noted in the comment, "[t]he changes . . . are necessary to clarify that for an invention made abroad the only relevant activities are those which occur in the United States." See 35 U.S.C. §104.

One comment asked "how does one introduce 'an actual reduction to practice of the invention' in the United States?" Breuer v. DeMarinis, 558 F.2d 22, 194 USPQ 308 (CCPA 1971), illustrates a case where an actual reduction to practice abroad was introduced into the United States.

One comment suggested that §1.627(a) be changed to require preliminary statements "be enclosed in an outer envelope addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks and be additionally marked Box Interference—Preliminary Statement." According to the comment, the confidentiality of preliminary statements "envisioned under the proposed rules would be further enhanced . . . ." The suggestion is not being adopted. The PTO believes it is sufficient if preliminary statements are enclosed in a sealed envelope as specified in §1.627(a). The Board will not permit access to preliminary statements which have not been ordered opened by an examiner-in-chief.

Several comments discussing §1.629 were received. One comment suggested that the first sentence ("A preliminary statement should be carefully prepared.") should not appear in §1.629(a). This suggestion is being adopted. The PTO agrees with the commentator that the sentence

> "no longer appears necessary or appropriate in the context of rulemaking. The remainder of the paragraph makes the admonition redundant at best."

Two comments were received which suggested that the word "normally" be deleted from the last sentence of §1.629(d). The suggestions are not being adopted. A preliminary statement is a pleading. The Board does not evaluate or consider the content of a drawing or written description prior to final hearing. At final hearing, in fact, the Board will only consider the drawing or written description if a party places the drawing or written description in evidence. The word "normally" first appeared in 37 CFR §1.223(c), last sentence, in 1978 (see e.g., 973 TMOG 19 (Aug. 1, 1978)). The last sentence of 37 CFR §1.223(c) was intended to codify headnote [2] of Reddy v. Davis, 187 USPQ 386 (Comm'r.Pat. 1975). The word "normally" appears in the rule to permit the Board to exercise discretion to evaluate or consider the content of a drawing or written description in some unusual and presently unforeseen circumstance.

One comment suggested that "no earlier than" in §1.629(b) be changed to "as early as". The suggestion is being adopted inasmuch as it is believed to more clearly state the intent of the rule.

One comment suggested that §1.629(d) "is improper because it fails to take into account testimony which can show that a drawing and/or written description were actually made even though the drawing and/or written description are not now available." A change to §1.628(d) and addition of "unless the party complies with §1.628(b)" to the first sentence of §1.629(d) eliminates the problem raised by the commentator.

One comment discussing §1.631(a) was received which expressed the view that a junior party should be required to send a copy of its preliminary statement to the senior party even if the senior party does not file a preliminary statement. According to the commentator, the senior party is prima facie the first inventor and at some time it will have to know the earliest dates alleged by the junior party. The rules require all parties to file a preliminary statement. If a junior party does not file a preliminary statement, it will be denied access to any other preliminary statement which is filed. A senior party, however, is always entitled to access to any preliminary statement filed by a junior party. See e.g., §1.631(b). However, a junior party will only be required to serve a senior party who files a statement.

Numerous comments were received discussing §1.633.

One commentator asked: "What sort of a judgment is in order if a count is not patentable over the prior art to an opponent?" Section 1.633(a) authorizes a party to bring a motion for judgment on the ground that the opponent's claim corresponding to a count is not patentable. It is important to note that the motion raises the patentability of the opponent's claim not the count. Accordingly, by a motion under §1.633(a), a party seeks entry of a judgment that the opponent is not entitled to a patent containing a claim corresponding to a count.

Two comments questioned the nature of the judgment when a motion under §1.633(b) is granted. Section 1.633(b) authorizes the filing of a motion for judgment on the ground that there is no interference-in-fact. If a motion under §1.633(b) is granted, the judgment would provide that each party is entitled to a patent containing that party's claims corresponding to the count. Judgments in interferences under these rules will determine a party's entitlement or lack of entitlement to claims corresponding to a count.

One comment expressed the hope that "third party inventorship" would not be made an issue in interferences. Contrary to the hope expressed by the commentator, "third party inventorship" can be made the subject of a motion under §1.633(a). Any ground of unpatentability may be made the subject of a motion under §1.633(a) except (1) priority of invention of the subject matter of a count by the moving party as against any opponent or (2) derivation of the subject matter of a count by an opponent from the moving party. It should be noted that under past practice, third party inventorship has not been considered "ancillary" to priority. Sheffner v. Gallo, 515 F.2d 1169, 185 USPQ 726 (CCPA 1975). However, under these rules, the question of whether an issue is "ancillary" no longer arises. See 130 Cong. Rec. H10528 (daily ed. Oct. 1, 1984)(statement by Rep. Kastenmeier). Public Law 98–622 gives the Board authority to consider priority and patentability. Third party inventorship involves a question of patentability. 35 U.S.C. §102(f). One comment pointed out that §1.633(e) adopts the estoppel rule approved by the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals in Avery v. Chase, 101 F.2d 205, 40 USPQ 343 (CCPA 1939), cert. denied, 307 U.S. 638 (1939), while rejecting the rule announced by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in International Cellucotton Products Co. v. Coe, 35 F.2d 869, 30 USPQ 366 (D.C. Cir. 1936). See also American Cyanamid Co. v. Coe, 106 F.2d 851, 42 USPQ 302 (D.C. Cir. 1939). The commentator is correct in noting that the rules adopt the estoppel rule approved in Avery v. Chase. The following comment by the CCPA in its opinion in In re Shimer, 69 F.2d 556, 558, 21 USPQ 161, 163 (CCPA 1934), accurately expresses the intent of the PTO in promulgating §§1.633(e) and 1.658(c):

> It may be stated that this rule works no hardship to him who is diligent in pursuit of his rights. When an interference is declared, the files of his contestants are open to him. He has full cognizance of their disclosures and claims. So advised, it becomes his duty to put forward every claim he has. [Rule 1.633(e)] . . . affords him this opportunity. If the rule be not enforced or enforceable, then delays and litigation are greatly increased. It is quite obvious that the doctrine of estoppel, as applied in these cases, results in the better conduct of the business of the Patent[and Trademark] Office and in the public good.

One comment suggested that the following be added to the end of §1.633(c):

> A motion to add or substitute a count shall be construed as an automatic request for the benefit of any earlier application [filing] dates accorded the existing count, and also as encompassed by a contemporaneous motion under §1.633(f) or (g), unless indicated otherwise. Any opposition thereto must be raised in a motion opposition pursuant to §1.638.

The suggestion is not being adopted. A specific reference to §1.637(c) appears in §1.633(c). The provisions of §1.637(c) spell out in detail the steps which a moving party must take in filing a motion under §1.633(c). One of those steps requires the moving party to request benefit of any earlier application. The mere fact that benefit has been accorded for a "first" count does not establish that benefit should be accorded for a "second" count. The PTO believes the burden should be on the moving party to point out where an earlier application supports a count rather than placing the burden on an opponent in the first instance to point out where an earlier application fails to support particular subject matter. There is no compelling reason to force the opponent "to prove a negative." It should be noted that the language "Where appropriate," has been deleted in every instance from §1.637 to make clear that the burden lies on the moving party to request benefit when that party files a motion under §1.633.

At the hearing, one individual commented that §1.633(a) is not clear as to whether a motion for judgment based on "fraudulent appropriation of the moving party's invention by his opponent" excluded. The "fraudulent appropriation of the moving party's invention by his opponent" is derivation. Section 1.633(a)(2) excludes both "innocent" derivation (e.g., through a third party and unknown to either party in an interference) or "fraudulent" derivation (e.g., where one party knowingly takes the invention from an opponent). In either event if derivation by an opponent of a party's invention is proved, the party will be awarded judgment.

One comment made the following statement:

> An opponent faced with a motion for judgment on the ground that a count is unpatentable may not be able to prove patentability in the short time periods. Provision should be made for extensions of time in such cases.

Provisions for extensions of time are made in §1.645.

One comment addressed Example 23 which appeared in the notice of proposed rulemaking. Example 23 also appears in a slightly modified form herein and, as modified, takes into account discussion in the comment. The commentator believed that the motion mentioned in Example 23 should be denied and that a testimony period should be set. Accordingly to the commentator, the granting of the motion would shift the burden to the opponent of the motion. The commentator's point is well taken. Actually, the motion should be deferred to final hearing and a testimony period would be set. In ruling on motions under §1.633, it will not always be possible for the examiner-in-chief to grant or deny outright a motion. When testimony is needed to rule on a motion, the proper course of action is to defer a decision on the motion to final hearing and permit testimony. See §1.639(c). The moving party retains the burden. If testimony is taken on patentability, the parties would also have to take testimony on priority. With all testimony at its disposal, the Board would then be in a position to rule on all issues and award a judgment.

One comment asked how the claims of the parties would be designated to correspond to the counts if in Example 18 a motion to substitute Count 2 (benzene) and add Count 3 (chloroform) was granted. The following Example 36 answers the commentator's question.

Example 36: The facts in this example are the same as Example 18. Assume that applicant AB believes that benzene and chloroform define separate patentable inventions. Applicant AB would file a motion under §1.633(c)(1) to substitute Count 2 (benzene) for Count 1 (Markush group of benzene or chloroform) and add Count 3 (chloroform). If the examiner-in-chief grants the motion, the interference would be redeclared by deleting Count 1 and substituting in its place Counts 2 and 3. Claims 1 and 2 of the patent H and claims 11 and 12 of application AB would be designated to correspond to Count 2. Claims 1 and 3 of patent H and claims 11 and 13 of application AB would be designated to correspond to Count 3. If one party proves priority with respect to both benzene and chloroform, that party would be entitled to all claims in its application or patent corresponding to Counts 2 and 3. The other party would not be entitled to a patent containing any claim corresponding to Counts 2 and 3. If patentee H proves priority with respect to benzene and applicant AB proves priority with respect to chloroform (assuming there was no issue raised at final hearing with respect to the patentable distinctness of benzene and chloroform), the judgment would provide that patentee H is not entitled to a patent with claims 1 and 3, but is entitled to a patent with claim 2 and that applicant AB is not entitled to a patent with claims 11 and 12, but is entitled to a patent with claim 13. If an issue is properly raised at final hearing as to whether benzene and chloroform are the same patentable invention and the Board holds that they are the same patentable invention, the party proving the earliest priority as to either benzene or chloroform would prevail as to all claims. Thus, if patentee H invented benzene before applicant AB invented benzene or chloroform, patentee H would be entitled to a patent containing claims 1 through 3 even if applicant AB invented chloroform before patentee H invented chloroform. Applicant AB would not be entitled to a patent with claims 11 through 13.

An oral comment was received by telephone which raised the question of whether a party is, or could be, required to present in the party's application every claim which the party may ever seek to obtain in a patent based on the party's application. According to the commentator, such a requirement would prevent the party from proceeding ex parte after the interference on any claim on which a favorable judgment was not entered. It is not the PTO's intent to require a party who is an applicant to present at the outset all claims which the party may ever seek to obtain in a patent based on his application. Parties in interference cases should recognize, however, that the interference estoppel provisions of §1.658(c) have been expanded with the view to eliminating much of the ex parte maneuvering which has taken place in the past after an interference is terminated. Accordingly, a party who fails to move to place a matter in issue runs a considerable risk that the party will not be able to raise the issue ex parte after an interference is terminated. Nevertheless, the PTO has determined that it will not, at this time, adopt the requirement suggested by the commentator. The commentator also suggested, contingent on his earlier suggestion being rejected, that the rules provide that a party be authorized to file a motion to require an opponent who is an applicant to add a claim to the opponent's application and to designate the claim as corresponding to a count. This suggestion is being adopted by addition of §1.633(c)(5). Paragraph (c)(5) authorizes the filing of a motion to redefine the interfering subject matter by requiring an opponent who is an applicant to add a claim and to designate the claim to correspond to a count. A companion addition of paragraph (c)(5) to §1.637 sets out the requirements of a motion under §1.633(c)(5). Those requirements are: the moving party must (1) propose a claim to be added to the opponent's application, (2) show the patentability of the claim to the opponent and apply the terms of the claim to the disclosure of the opponent's application, (3) identify the count to which the proposed claim shall be designated to correspond, and (4) show that the proposed claim defines the same patentable invention as the count to which it will be designated to correspond. The following example illustrates how practice under §§1.633(c)(5) and 1.637(c)(5) is expected to occur.

Example 37: In this example, some of the facts set out in Example 32 will be used. Application AV discloses engines and in particular a 6-cylinder engine. Application AV contains only claim 1 (engine). Application AW discloses engines in general, but does not specifically disclose a 6-cylinder engine. Application AW contains only a single claim 3 (engine). Seeing that application AV specifically discloses a 6-cylinder engine and believing that a 6-cylinder engine is the same patentable invention as "engine," AW could move under §1.633(c)(5) to require applicant AV to add a claim (6-cylinder engine) and to have the claim designated to correspond to the count (engine). Applicant AV could oppose on the ground that a 6-cylinder engine is not the "same patentable invention" as "engine." If the motion is granted, applicant AV would be required to add a claim to 6-cylinder engine and the claim would be designated to correspond to the count. If applicant AV loses the interference, the judgment would preclude applicant AV from obtaining a patent with claims to "engine" or "6-cylinder engine." If the motion is denied on the basis that a 6-cylinder engine is not the same patentable invention, applicant AV would not be required to present a claim to 6-cylinder engine and would be able to pursue such a claim ex parte even if applicant AV loses the interference.

If an applicant is ordered by an examiner-in-chief to file an amendment to present a claim and the applicant fails or refuses to timely present the amendment, the failure or refusal will be taken without further action as a disclaimer by the applicant of the subject matter of the claim. See the second sentence of §1.640(b)(1).

At the hearing, one commentator indicated that it is not clear whether §1.635 "would permit a motion for judgment in a situation where a junior party's case-in-chief fails as a matter of law to overcome a senior party's effective filing date." Under the rules, it is not the intent of the PTO to allow a senior party to test the sufficiency of the case-in-chief of a junior party prior to final hearing. Thus, a "motion for a directed verdict" (see Rule 50(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure) at the conclusion of the junior party's case-in-chief and prior to a senior party's case-in-chief is not authorized under the rules. If a senior party believes the case-in-chief of the junior party is insufficient as a matter of law, the senior party may elect to proceed immediately to final hearing. If the senior party is incorrect, however, the senior party will have waived any right to present any case-in-chief or rebuttal. See e.g., Comstock v. Kroekel, 200 USPQ 548, 550 n. 4 (Comm'r.Pat. 1978); Lorenian v. Winstead, 127 USPQ 501, 508 (Bd.Pat.Int. 1959); and, more recently, Burson v. Carmichael, 731 F.2d 849, 221 USPQ 664 (Fed. Cir. 1984) ("There is no support in law for repeated bites at the apple"). This would be true even if the only evidence relied upon by the junior party is a showing under 1.608(b). In this respect, the rules codify the decision in Walsh v. Sakai, 167 USPQ 465 (Comm'r.Pat. 1970).

Two comments were received which suggested that the twenty-day period in §1.636(b) is too short. It was suggested that a longer time period be set and one comment suggested thirty (30) days. The suggestions are not being adopted. The time period set for filing oppositions will normally be set during a telephone conference call between the examiner-in-chief and the attorneys for the parties. The twenty-day period appears in the rule in the event a specific time for filing oppositions is not set by an examiner-in-chief. The twenty-day period is deemed to be sufficient in most cases. Twenty days are currently allowed to respond to a motion. See 37 CFR §1.231(b). It should be noted that the twenty-day period is longer than the minimum period allowed by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for responding to motions. See Rule 6(d) and (e).

Two comments were received which discussed §1.637. Both comments suggested that a sentence be added to §1.637(f) (2) to require a translation to be filed when a party moves for benefit of an earlier foreign application which is not in English. The suggestions are being adopted and the following has been added as the last sentence of §1.637(f) (2): "If the earlier application filed abroad is not in English, the requirements of §1.647 must also be met." Section 1.647 requires a translation whenever a party relies on a document in a language other than English. One comment suggested that the language of §1.637(f)(3) ("Show that the earlier application discloses an embodiment within the scope of the each count.") may be "contrary to past decisions of the CCPA which have held a disclosure can be good without a specific embodiment." The critical issue in each benefit situation is whether the earlier application constitutes a constructive reduction to practice of the invention defined by the count. The issue is necessarily resolved on a case-by-case basis and the presence or absence of an embodiment is only one factor to be considered. Accordingly, the language of §1.647(f)(2) has been changed to read: "Show that the earlier application constitutes a constructive reduction to practice of each count." The comment also criticized the use of the word "each" in §1.647(f)(2). The term "each" is used to make clear that when there are two or more counts, the moving party must show that the earlier application constitutes a constructive reduction to practice for each count. There are cases where a disclosure in an earlier application would constitute a constructive reduction to practice for one count but not for another count.

Several changes have been made to §1.637 which were not made as a result of a comment submitted from the public. Each occurrence of the language "Where appropriate," in §1.637 has been deleted as being unnecessary and possibly confusing. Whenever a party wants or believes that it is entitled to benefit of an earlier application, the party must file a motion under §1.633(f) for benefit. The language "Where appropriate" may have given parties the mistaken impression that a motion was not necessary where benefit of the earlier application had been accorded in the papers declaring the interference. See the discussion above of the suggested change to §1.633(c) which was rejected.

The language "or adding a claim to be designated to correspond to a count" has been added to §1.637(c)(2). The change supplements a change made in §1.633(c)(2). Section 1.637(c)(2) sets out the requirements for a preliminary motion to redefine the interfering subject matter by adding a claim in the moving party's application and to designate the claim to correspond to a count.

In §1.637(c)(2)(ii), the language "Apply the terms of each proposed claim to the disclosure of the application" has been changed to "Show that the proposed or added claim defines the same patentable invention as the count". This change was made to add the requirement of showing that the new claim defines the same patentable invention as the count and to eliminate a requirement already contained in §1.637(c)(2)(iii).

Section 1.637(c)(2)(iii) was changed to refer to an "amended or added claim" and thereby conform the language of the section to the language of §1.633(c)(2).

Paragraph (c)(5) was added to set out the requirements of a motion under §1.633(c)(5) which permits a party to move to require an opponent who is an applicant to add a claim to the application and to designate the claim to correspond to a count. See Example 37.

Two comments were made concerning §1.638. One comment suggested that the twenty-day periods of paragraphs (a) and (b) were too short. The PTO has evaluated the time periods of paragraphs (a) and (b) and has decided that no change will be made to those periods. Attention is directed to the discussion above of the comments concerning §1.636(b) which also contains a twenty-day period.

Another comment made at the hearing suggested that a reply to an opposition to a motion should be permitted as a matter of course. Upon consideration of the comment, it has been decided to authorize the filing of replies to opposition to all motions. Presently, replies are permitting as a matter of course only for oppositions to motions under 37 CFR §1.231. Section 1.638(b), as changed, would permit the reply in every instance. The PTO over the years has received complaints concerning the inability of a party to file replies. The change being made in §1.638(b) will be reviewed sometime in the future to determine whether authorizing replies is helpful to the Board and/or whether undue delay in resolving interference occurs because replies are filed. Moreover, the PTO will make a judgment on whether "new issues" are being raised as a matter of course in replies. It can thus be seen that the change in authorizing replies may be considered experimental and could be changed in the future if found to be counter-productive or inconsistent with the objective of resolving interferences in a relatively prompt manner.

One comment discussing §1.639 was received. The comment states:

> The requirement that proofs of alleged material facts must be filed may be difficult or impossible to meet in view of the shortened times. [The] rule should make provisions for timely submission of proofs within reasonable times.

To the extent that the comment suggests setting specific times in the rules, the suggestion is not being adopted. It should be noted that if affidavits cannot be timely prepared to be filed with a motion, the moving party may wish to take advantage of paragraph (c) which requires a party to specify any testimony needed to resolve a motion.

One change was made in §1.639(c) to make clear that a moving party or an opponent may describe any testimony needed to resolve a motion under either §1.633 or §1.634. Often, testimony is needed to resolve inventorship disputes. Accordingly, a party may describe testimony needed to resolve motions to correct inventorship under §1.634. It should be noted that if a party relies solely on affidavits in support of a motion (under §1.633 or §1.634) and the issue raised in the motion is to be considered at final hearing, the party must comply with §1.671(e).

Several comments were received which discussed §1.640. One comment asked: "When the final sentence speaks of a panel deciding the request for reconsideration, does this mean that the panel decides whether to reconsider or whether to modify the decision?" It was the PTO's intent that the panel make a decision on whether to modify the decision made by the single examiner-in-chief. Accordingly, the language "shall be decided by a panel" in the last sentence of §1.640(c) has been changed to read: "shall be acted on by a panel". Another change in language to the fourth sentence of §1.640(c) has been made to make clear that a decision of a single examiner-in-chief will not ordinarily be modified by a panel without an opportunity to file an opposition.

Another comment suggested that §1.640(a) be changed to "allow, even encourage, the examiner-in-chief to travel to conferences where more convenient/practical for all concerned." This suggestion is not being adopted. The use of a telephone conference call eliminates the need to adopt the suggestion. The same comment suggested that the "speedy and inexpensive" language of the second sentence of §1.640(b) be deleted. The suggestion is not being adopted. The comment fails to explain why the language should be deleted. It is obvious that a motion cannot always be granted or denied; other action is often appropriate, e.g., deferring consideration of a motion to final hearing. Section 1.640(b) gives the examiner-in-chief discretion to take appropriate action and the "just, speedy, and inexpensive determination" language provides some standard which an examiner-in-chief may follow in those cases where granting or denying a motion is not appropriate.

One comment was received which suggested that §1.640 be changed to provide that an examiner-in-chief hold a hearing to determine whether an interference should proceed in those cases where a junior party fails to allege a date prior to the senior party and remains in an interference only because the junior party is alleging "fraud" by the senior party. The suggestion is not being adopted. If a party believes that an opponent has committed "fraud" or has engaged in "inequitable conduct," the party may file a motion under §1.633(a) for judgment. Obviously, a motion for judgment on the basis of "fraud" or "inequitable conduct" must make out a case by clear and convincing evidence. The examiner-in-chief has sufficient authority under the rules to preclude a party from proceeding in an interference on a baseless charge of "fraud" or "inequitable conduct."

One oral comment was received which suggested that the examiner-in-chief be required to consult with an examiner prior to deciding a preliminary motion for judgment under §1.633(a) based on patentability. The oral comment suggested alternate proposals:

(1) The examiner-in-chief will normally obtain a patentability report when deciding motions involving a question of patentability.

(2) The examiner-in-chief will consult with a primary examiner prior to deciding a motion raising an issue of patentability.

The suggestion of the oral comment is not being adopted. An examiner-in-chief is a person having "competent legal knowledge and scientific ability." 35 U.S.C. §7. Examiners-in-chief review decisions of examiners on questions of patentability. Accordingly, there is no reason to require an examiner-in-chief to consult with an examiner on a question of patentability. The PTO recognizes that many examiners possess special expertise in particular arts. It is for this reason that §1.640(b) provides that "[a] n examiner-in-chief may consult with an examiner in deciding motions involving a question of patentability" (emphasis added). Thus, an examiner-in-chief is authorized to consult with an examiner on a question of patentability where the examiner-in-chief believes consultation will be beneficial.

One comment suggested that §1.642 be changed to permit an examiner-in-chief to add a newly discovered patent, as well as newly discovered applications, to an interference. Inasmuch as 35 U.S.C. §135(a) authorizes interferences between applications and patents, the suggestion is being adopted. The language "application" in §1.642 has been changed to read: "application or patent".

Several comments discussing §1.644 were received. One commentator made four suggestions, none of which are being adopted. First, the commentator suggested that there should be no fee for a petition under §1.644(a)(1). This suggestion is not being adopted. A decision on a petition is a service performed by the PTO on behalf of a petitioner. The Commissioner is authorized to charge fees for services performed. 35 U.S.C. §41(d). Second, the commentator suggested that the last sentence of §1.644(d) be deleted. This suggestion is not being adopted. In the past when parties have filed petitions, copies of documents already in the interference file have been attached to the petition. The copies tend to increase unnecessarily the size of the file of an interference. Inasmuch as the document submitted with the petition is already in the interference, there is no need to file a "second" copy of the document. Parties can expect that petitions will be returned (§1.618) if the petition is accompanied by documents which are already in the interference file. Third, the commentator argued that the "requirement of service within one (1) day is too onerous and should be deleted" from §1.644(g). No rationale was given in support of the argument. Petitions have caused considerable delay in interference cases in the past. To avoid unnecessary delay and surprise on the part of the opponent, the PTO has decided to require that service of a petition be such that delivery to the opponent is within one (1) working day. Service within one day should not ordinarily be difficult in view of "Express Mail" and numerous commercial one-day delivery services available. Lastly, the commentator suggested that §1.644(i) be changed to provide that decision on a petition would not be delegated to the examiner-in-chief handling the interference. The suggestion to change §1.644(i) is not being adopted. However, when a PTO employee is granted authority to decide a petition in an interference case, the employee would not be the examiner-in-chief handling the interference or an employee on a panel of the Board deciding the petition. It would be expected that an employee deciding a petition by delegation of authority would be one who could exercise independent judgment on the petition bearing in mind that a petition will be decided on the record made before the examiner-in-chief or the panel. In connection with this latter point, findings of fact by an examiner-in-chief or the Board will be presumed to be correct unless shown to be clearly erroneous. Discretionary action by an examiner-in-chief or the Board will not be overturned unless it is shown that an abuse of discretion occurred.

One commentator asked the following: "Is §1.644(g) intended to apply only to 'oppositions' to §1.644 petitions, or is it also applicable to §1.638 oppositions?" The provisions of §1.644(g) apply only to petitions filed under §1.644; those provisions do not apply to oppositions under §1.638.

Two comments suggested that §1.644(a)(2) be changed to include an express statement that a petition under paragraph (a)(2) could not be filed until after the Board has entered judgment and that the petition could not relate to the merits of priority of invention or patentability or a question of whether evidence is admissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence. The suggestions are being adopted and appropriate language has been added to §1.644(a)(2) after the word "Commissioner". The change was suggested by the commentators so that no reasonable person could possibly overlook the fact that a petition to exercise supervisory authority can be filed only after entry of judgment. It should be noted that the language "and shall not relate to (1) the merits of priority of invention or patentability or (2) the admissibility of evidence under the Federal Rules of Evidence" has been deleted from §1.644(b) in view of the change to §1.644(a)(2).

One comment suggested that the last sentence of §1.644(f) be changed to make clear that a decision would not ordinarily be modified until the Commissioner had requested an opposition to a request for reconsideration. This suggestion has been adopted and an appropriate change has been made to the last sentence of §1.644(g).

One comment suggested that the word "shall" in the last sentence of §1.644(b) precludes the filing of an opposition beyond the 15-day period specified in the rules. According to the commentator, the opposition should also be considered timely if filed within "any appropriate extension." A party may move to extend the time for filing an opposition. See §1.645.

One comment argued that §1.644(a)(1) cannot "be squared with the statute as interpreted in Myers [v. Feigelman, 455 F.2d 596, 172 USPQ 580 (CCPA 1972)]." The rationale in support of the comment is the following:

> I presume that the limitation in subparagraph (b) that a petition under subparagraph (a)(2) "shall not relate to . . . the merits of priority of invention or patentability or . . . the admissibility of evidence" is intended to avoid conflict with Myers v. Feigelman, 172 USPQ 580 (CCPA 1972), and its progeny. However, I read Myers as saying that, if the board has statutory authority to make a decision (including all the myriad of ancillary decisions that the panels and/or the single examiner-in-chief will be making under the new procedure), then the Commissioner does not have authority to review the board's or the single examiner-in-chief's decision. Or, to put it the other way around, if the Commissioner reviews an examiner-in-chief's decision, he is stepping into the shoes of the examiner-in-chief, and the Commissioner's decision is in turn reviewable by the panel (which is, of course, the only entity authorized to exercise the statutory jurisdiction of the board—see Knickerbacker Toy Co. v. Faultless Starch Co., 175 USPQ 417 n.8 (CCPA 1972)). Thus, I don't see how proposed section 1.644(a)(1) can possibly be squared with the statute as interpreted in Myers.

It is true that the CCPA has stated that, "in performing his duties, the Commissioner cannot usurp the functions or impinge upon the jurisdiction of the Board . . . established by 35 U.S.C. 135." In re Dickinson, 299 F.2d 954, 958, 133 USPQ 39, 43 (CCPA 1962). See also Myers v. Feigelman, supra, 455 F.2d at 599 n. 8, 172 USPQ at 583 n. 8. However, it is also true that the Commissioner "shall superintend or perform all duties required by law respecting the granting and issuing of patents . . ." 35 U.S.C. §6; Kingsland v. Carter Carburetor Corp., 83 U.S.App.D.C. 266, 168 F.2d 565, 77 USPQ 499 (D.C.Cir. 1948); In re Staeger, 189 USPQ 284, 285 n. 2 (Comm'r.Pat. 1974). The Commissioner, subject to approval of the Secretary of Commerce, establishes the procedure by which the examiners-in-chief and the Board will consider interference cases. 35 U.S.C. §6. See also 35 U.S.C. §23 relating to affidavits and depositions.

Under the rules, the Commissioner will not determine on petition either "priority of invention" or "patentability." See §1.644(b). Likewise, the Commissioner will not consider whether evidence should have been admitted or excluded under the Federal Rules of Evidence. The PTO believes that the federal courts, which routinely rule on admissibility under the Federal Rules, are in a better position to determine whether the Board properly interpreted the Federal Rules of Evidence.

While the Commissioner will not decide "priority of invention" or "patentability" under 35 U.S.C. §135(a), it does not follow that the Commissioner is precluded from interpreting PTO rules on procedural matters, including procedural matters related to the admissibility of evidence on some basis other than the Federal Rules of Evidence, e.g., whether a party has complied with a PTO rule such as §1.671(e)(procedure for relying on affidavits) or §1.671(g)(permission required for obtaining evidence by subpoena).

Full consideration has been given to the comment. The PTO nevertheless believes that §1.644(a)(1) is not inconsistent with law. Several comments concerning §1.645 were received. One comment suggested that "to" be inserted in the first sentence of paragraph (a) before "file a notice of appeal" and "commence a civil action". According to the comment, "[t] he use of parallel infinitive verb forms provides greater clarity to the rule." The suggestion has been adopted.

Another commentator said the following:

> "No good reason is seen to require a notarized oath from an attorney merely to explain why a paper was filed late, if there is no claim of substantive prejudice by other parties. Attorneys and examiners-in-chief should not be spending unnecessary time and effort on merely procedural formalities. That is contrary to the intent of the new rules."

The PTO agrees with the commentator and has deleted the language "accompanied by an affidavit" from §1.645(b).

One comment suggested that a reference to §1.610(d)(6) which provides for oral requests should be inserted into §1.645 to reflect intent stated in the comments [of the notice of proposed rulemaking] on proposed §1.645." This suggestion is not being adopted. As the commentator notes, §1.610(d) authorizes an examiner-in-chief to hold a conference call to resolve issues and to enter an appropriate order following the conference call. A conference call may be used to obtain an extension of time. If the examiner-in-chief grants the request, an order may be entered—in which case a written motion is not necessary. The order provides the written record required by 37 CFR §1.2. However, it would unduly lengthen the rules to insert a reference to §1.610(d) in each rule to which it may be applicable. Section 1.645(a) specifies the procedure to be used when a written motion is filed. It should be noted that an examiner-in-chief may require a written motion notwithstanding a conference call.

One comment stated that "[t] he 'other business' may be more pressing than the Interference. In order to serve the ends of justice, the PTO should be considerate in this matter." The PTO intends to evaluate each request for an extension of time on a case-by-case basis. However, extensions of time in interference cases have become "routine." A recent survey of a file in one interference revealed the following. The interference was declared on Mar. 30, 1976. Preliminary statements were filed on May 5, 1979. A decision on motions was entered on June 28, 1982. Testimony was filed on Jan. 3, 1984. During the period between declaration and filing of testimony, sixty-four (64) requests or stipulations for extension of time were filed.

When counsel and an examiner-in-chief agree to a schedule and times are set, the parties will be expected to adhere to the schedule unless there are unusual circumstances. Apart from work that counsel may have in an interference, an examiner-in-chief will have a docket and must manage not only the interference involving counsel, but numerous other interferences. The U. S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit recently said the following in Rosemount, Inc. v. Beckman Instruments, Inc., 727 F.2d 1540, 1549-1550, 221 USPQ 1, 10 (Fed. Cir. 1984):

> The conduct of a trial, granting of continuances and the like, is not, however, solely or entirely a matter of balancing conveniences of the parties. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure recognize another consideration—the need for the exercise of discretion by the trial court in carrying out its duty of managing the judicial process, the business of the court, and the administration of justice.

Likewise, these rules also recognize the need for the exercise of discretion by an examiner-in-chief in carrying out his or her duty of managing the interference (§1.610), the business of the PTO (§1.610), and the administration of justice (§1.601).

Several comments were received which discussed §1.646. One comment suggested that it would be clearer if "service" was inserted after "additional" in the last sentence of §1.646(b). This suggestion has been adopted.

Another comment suggested that "or except as otherwise provided in these Rules" be added to §1.646(c) after "otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief". The commentator pointed out that the change was needed because certain rules (§§1.644(g) and 1.658(b)) require service by "Express Mail" or by hand. The commentator accurately pointed out that adding the suggested phrase "will call attention to the fact that there are other rules which have their own requirements for service of papers." The suggestion has been adopted, except that "this part" has been used instead of "these Rules."

One comment suggested changing "time" to "date" in the last sentence of §1.646(e). The suggestion has been adopted. The change is necessary to conform with the language of the rule to actual practice and other language in the rule.

Two comments suggested that §1.646(d), which authorizes an examiner-in-chief to order service by hand or "Express Mail," be deleted. This suggestion is not being adopted. The use of "Express Mail" or delivery by hand is often desirable to expedite matters or to avoid unnecessary delay. One comment argued that delivery by hand may be prohibitive. Commercial couriers may be used to accomplish delivery by hand. The fee charged by most commercial couriers is not "prohibitive." The other comment argued that "there are circumstances when . . . [delivery by hand] is [not] possible." The use of §1.646(d) is discretionary on the part of an examiner-in-chief. If delivery by hand, i.e., personal delivery or delivery by commercial courier, or by "Express Mail" is impossible, it would be expected that the examiner-in-chief would exercise discretion and permit service by first class mail.

One comment suggested that the language "present case," which was said to appear in §1.651(b)(1) and §1.651(c), be changed to "prepare case." The suggestion is not being adopted because the language "present case" does not appear in §1.651. In any event, a testimony period is set for a party to present its testimony—either case-in-chief or case-in-rebuttal.

One comment was received which made two suggestions regarding §1.652. First, the comment suggested that a period longer than 15 days be set for filing a response to a paper answering an order to show cause. This suggestion is not being adopted. The fifteen-day period is believed to be adequate in most cases. If more time is needed, a party may file a motion under §1.645. Second, the comment suggested that the party placed under an order to show cause should be permitted as a matter of course to file a "reply" brief. This suggestion is not being adopted. In those instances where the Board believes a "reply" brief is desirable it may authorize the filing of a "reply."

One comment argued that §1.653(i) "fails to make provision for exhibits which are too big to file or are too dangerous to file." If an "exhibit" cannot be filed, it will not be given consideration. A party will have to rely on testimony and/or pictures or sketches for "exhibits" (e.g., a large machine in a factory) which are too large or too dangerous to be filed in the PTO.

While no comments were received concerning §1.654, it should be noted that a new paragraph (c) has been added and paragraph (c) as set out in the notice of proposed rulemaking has been redesignated as paragraph (d). New paragraph (c) provides that a party shall not be entitled to argue that an opponent abandoned, suppressed, or concealed an actual reduction to practice unless a notice under §1.632 was timely filed.

Two comments discussing §1.655 were received. The first comment made the following statement regarding §1.655(a):

> Last sentence—interlocutory orders are reviewed only for 'manifest error' etc. It is not clear whether this includes show cause orders under §1.640 resulting from unpatentability determined under §1.633(a). However, if so, it precludes proper review of the patentability determination.

Patentability will initially be determined by a single examiner-in-chief. See §§1.610(a) and 1.640(b). If the examiner-in-chief determines that a claim of a party is unpatentable to that party, an order to show cause why judgment should not be entered as to that claim will be issued to that party. See §1.640(d). If a response to the order to show cause is filed, a decision will be entered by the Board. See §§1.610(a) and 1.640(e). If the Board determines that the claim is not patentable to the party, a final decision and judgment will be entered holding the claim to be unpatentable. Review of the final decision and judgment is by judicial review under 35 U.S.C. §§141 or 146. It should be noted, however, that if there are other claims in the party's application or patent which are deemed to be patentable, an interlocutory order would be entered holding only that certain claims are unpatentable. A final order holding those claims unpatentable would be entered after final hearing on other issues. Such a practice will avoid piecemeal judicial review.

Another comment suggested that §1.655 be changed to preclude consideration of patentability at final hearing. Public Law 98–622 authorizes consideration of patentability assuming patentability is properly raised by a party during the interlocutory phase of an interference.

Two comments discussing §1.656 were received. One comment suggested that "[b] riefs should be letter size for consistency." The PTO has no preference for the size of briefs. Briefs may be filed on letter or legal-size paper. Inasmuch as the federal courts now require letter-size paper, parties who intend to use a PTO brief as an exhibit in a federal court should use letter-size paper.

Another comment suggested that §1.656 be amended to preclude a single examiner-in-chief from ruling on admissibility of evidence. The introductory remarks to the notice of proposed rulemaking (and this notice) state that "[t] he examiner-in-chief, where appropriate, will be available by phone to rule on the admissibility of evidence in the event parties encounter unusual problems during the taking of depositions" (emphasis added). The commentator states:

> If an examiner-in-chief has ruled certain evidence inadmissible, that evidence would presumably not be before the Board at final hearing. Proposed Rule 1.656(h) provides a means for a party to obtain suppression of evidence to which he has made timely objection, but the Rule does not provide for any means for a party whose proffered evidence has been held inadmissible by the examiner-in-chief, to have that holding considered by the Board.

The change suggested by the comment will not be adopted. However, a brief explanation of how practice is expected to work is in order. The introductory remarks indicate that a single examiner-in-chief may rule on admissibility of evidence "where appropriate" and in "unusual" circumstances. There are times during interferences where a motion in limine can be helpful. For example, a junior party during its case-in-chief may wish to examine a witness on a document which was not served as required by §1.673(b)(1). The senior party objects and realizes that if the junior party is permitted to examine the witness on the document, extensive cross-examination using numerous documents would be necessary. In order to avoid wasting considerable time, the parties could contact the examiner-in-chief by phone for a determination in limine on whether the junior party should be able to examine the witness on the document. Under the circumstances outlined the examiner-in-chief in his or her discretion could enter an order excluding the document from evidence. The order would be subject to a request for reconsideration. See §1.640(c). Ordinarily, however, it would be expected that parties would present evidence subject to objection. See §1.675(c), last sentence. It is not envisioned that a single examiner-in-chief will routinely rule on the admissibility of evidence.

Several comments discussing §1.658 were received. One comment suggested that the 14-day time period in §1.658(b) is too short. Section 1.658(b) provides that a party may file a request for reconsideration with 14 days of a final decision by the Board. The 14-day time period is the same period authorized for filing requests for reconsideration by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. See Rule 40(a) of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure.

Several individuals suggested that a less restricted "interference estoppel" be set out in §1.658(c). While full consideration has been given to the suggestions, it has been decided to retain in these rules the interference estoppel provisions of §1.658(c) essentially as proposed. "Interference estoppel" under §1.658(c) is designed to implement the PTO's intent to have as many issues resolved as possible in a single inter partes proceeding. Numerous examples in this notice illustrate how practice is expected to take place under §1.658(c).

The language in the second sentence of §1.658(c) has been changed to more clearly state the nature of the estoppel and the exception to estoppel. The word "counts" in the second sentence of §1.658(c) means the counts as they exist at the time a final decision is entered.

One comment was received concerning §1.658(c) which requires a specific answer. The comment made the following statement:

> You state that an estoppel would not apply against a party awarded a favorable judgment as to all counts. However, it seems to me that there will be occasion when it would not be appropriate to have estoppel where there was a split decision. For instance, consider an interference between applicants A and B in which A was awarded priority as to count 1 and B was awarded priority as to count 2. If I understand you correctly, A would be estopped in post-interference ex parte practice to present an additional claim X which was patentably indistinct from his claim corresponding to count 1 if B had support for claim X. I think this result would be unfortunate, and that A should be permitted to further refine his claim structure after the interference — that is, after he has been assured that he is entitled to claims to the basic invention recited in count 1. Under the circumstances described by the commentator, inventor A would not be estopped to present a claim to X because X is "patentably indistinct" (the proper terminology under the rules would be to say X is the "same patentable invention" as the subject matter of count 1) from the subject matter of count 1. Inventor A would be entitled to claim any disclosed invention which is directed to the "same patentable invention" as count 1. The change in the second sentence of §1.658(c) more clearly reflects the PTO's intent in this regard. Inventor A would not be entitled to claim any invention which is the "same patentable invention" as the subject matter of lost count 2. See Examples 26, 27, and 28 for illustrations of interference estoppel practice when a "split" judgment is entered.

Two comments were received discussing §1.659. One comment suggested that the first sentence of §1.659(b) should "reflect" that a reexamination may be based only on patents and printed publications. The suggestion is not being adopted. The basis upon which a reexamination may be instituted are set out elsewhere in the statute and rules. 35 U.S.C. 301-306; 37 CFR 1.501-1.570. There is no further need to set that basis out again in §1.659(b). Another comment suggested that the language "not involved in the judgment of the interference" be deleted from §1.659(b). The rationale in support of the comment was as follows:

> Besides introducing a potential ambiguity as to what claims were 'involved in the judgment,' there does not appear to be any good reasons to draw this distinction, particularly unless it is made more specific. Why should the Board be prevented from recommending reexamination of some (less relevant) patent claims and not other patent claims which are potentially even more relevant to the public, unless all of the same art has already been fully evaluated against the same claims in the Board's decision? (emphasis in original).

When a patent is involved in an interference, each claim of the patent will be designated to (1) correspond to a count or (2) not correspond to a count. All claims which are ultimately determined to correspond to a count will be "involved in the judgment of the interference." Inasmuch as they are involved in the judgment of the interference, there is no need to recommend reexamination of those claims. The claims involved in the interference are either patentable or unpatentable based on the final decision of the Board. Section 1.659(b) merely authorizes the Board to recommmend reexamination of patent claims which (1) are not involved in the judgment and (2) for one reason or another neither party saw fit to move to designate as corresponding to a count.

One comment was received which suggested that the requirements of §1.660 are unnecessary. The PTO disagrees. The requirements of §1.660 are designed to keep the PTO and a party's opponent informed of activity which is relevant to an interference. These rules attempt, to the extent possible, to eliminate procedural surprise. Inasmuch as mail delays occur and the PTO cannot react instantaneously to every paper filed in connection with every application or patent, the provisions of §1.660 are believed helpful in preventing surprise on the part of opponent's and unnecessary work by examiners-in-chief or the Board due to a lack of knowledge of relevant activity which may be taking place in the PTO.

One comment suggested that at the end of §1.661 the following be added: "and the time for any such available appeal or review has expired." The suggestion is not being adopted. Section 1.661 already provides for finality when "no appeal . . . can be taken . . . ." The language finds antecedent basis in 35 U.S.C. §135(a).

Several comments discussing §1.662 were received. Two comments suggested a change be made to provide that when a patentee files a statutory disclaimer under 35 U.S.C. §253 and deletes all claims corresponding to a count, the disclaimer will be treated as a request for judgment. As one of the comments pointed out, "[s] ince . . . [the filing of a statutory disclaimer disclaiming all claims corresponding to a count] by the patentee could have no other conceivable effect, the proposed rule should be changed to require judgment when all corresponding claims are disclaimed." The suggestion has been adopted and appropriate changes have been made to §1.662(c). In view of the changes, the following language in §1.662(c), as proposed, is not necessary: "A statutory disclaimer of any claim involved in an interference shall in subsequent proceedings have the same effect with respect to the patentee as an adverse judgment." When a patentee disclaims less than all claims corresponding to a count; the claims which remain in the patent continue to be involved in the interference and any patentability or priority issues involving those remaining claims will be involved in the judgment on the merits in the interference.

Two comments suggested that the word "dissolved" in §1.662(d) be changed to "terminated". This suggestion is being adopted, because §1.662(d) has been deleted. However, all interferences will be terminated with a "judgment." A change has been made in the language of §1.11(a) to delete any reference to terminating an interference other than by judgment.

One comment suggested that the word "construed" in §1.662(a) be changed to "treated". This suggestion has been adopted and more clearly states the intent of the PTO. The filing of the various papers mentioned paragraphs (a) and (c) of §1.662 will result in certain action by the PTO. The word "treated" more appropriately describes the consequences of filing such papers.

One comment suggested that §1.662(a) "is too sweeping." According to the commentator, a patentee may file a disclaimer because it has "become aware of a statutory bar or can not afford the expense of an interference." If the patentee becomes aware of a statutory bar, the patentee should call the "bar" to the attention of the PTO or file an appropriate motion under §1.633(a) for judgment if the "bar" applies to the opponent. If a junior party patentee decides than an interference is too expensive and for that reason files a disclaimer, there is no reason why judgment should not be entered in favor of the opponent. The comment also suggested that §1.662(c) "needs revision" because a patentee may disclaim one claim corresponding to a count, but not another. Section 1.662(c), as revised, takes into account the possibility that less than all claims corresponding to a count may be disclaimed. When some of the patent claims corresponding to a count are disclaimed, the interference proceeds on the basis of the remaining claims which correspond to the count. If all patent claims corresponding to a count are disclaimed, judgment will be entered.

One comment made the following statement regarding the third sentence of §1.662(a):

> What of abandonment in favor of a CIP [continuation-in-part application]? Would this be construed as [a] request to enter [an] adverse judgment? Language should reflect procedural moves of substituting CIP for abandoned application and/or declaring new interference.

The third sentence of §1.662(a) does not apply to an application which is not involved in an interference. If an applicant files a continuation-in-part application and successfully moves (§1.633(d)) to substitute the continuation-in-part for the application involved in the interference, abandonment of the application originally involved in the interference would have no bearing on the interference. Accordingly, no additional language is needed in §1.662(a).

Two comments discussing §1.663 were received. One comment suggested that an explanation of the status of patent claims involved in an adverse judgment should be stated in the rule. This suggestion is not being adopted. The status of patent claims involved in an adverse judgment is stated in 35 U.S.C. §135(a). Another comment suggested that the status of "claims which could have been counts . . . should be made of record." Unless a motion (§1.633(c)) to add claims to correspond to counts is filed, no reference will be made in a judgment as to claims "which could have been made counts."

One comment suggested that the language "then owned by either party but" be inserted after "application" in §1.665. This suggestion is not being adopted. The language "same parties" in §1.665 is intended to cover a party and any assignee. The suggested language "then owned" would narrow the scope of the rule in a manner not intended by the PTO.

An oral comment at the hearing suggested that §1.671(e) be changed so that a party would not have to serve copies of affidavits relied upon under §1.608(b) in those cases where an opponent had already obtained copies of the Rule 608(b) affidavits. This suggestion is not being adopted. See the discussion above answering comments related to §1.612(b). Another comment made at the hearing noted that the PTO is "adopting" the Federal Rules of Evidence. The Federal Rules include a "shop book" rule—Rule 803(b)(6). The commentator expressed the view that adopting of a "shop book" rule might make an important change in evidence which is admissible in interferences and suggested that "it would be helpful if the Patent and Trademark Office would publicly comment on this extremely important evidentiary rule . . . " The PTO believes that adoption of Rule 803(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence does not constitute a change in the admissibility of "shop book" evidence in interference cases. Rule 803(b)(6) is very similar to the former Federal Shop Book Rule (28 U.S.C. §1732) which it replaced. The courts have articulated a rule of law which the PTO will continue to apply in determining admissibility of laboratory note books under the "shop book" Rule 803(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence. See e.g., Alpert v. Slatin, 305 F.2d 891, 134 USPQ 296 (CCPA 1962) and Elliott v. Barker, 481 F.2d 1337, 179 USPQ 100 (CCPA 1973).

One comment suggested that §1.671(f) be eliminated on the ground that a rule should not be used to train attorneys and agents. The suggestion is not being adopted. The problem addressed by §1.671(f) is significant. By providing in the rules that documentary evidence must be explained the PTO hopes to save both parties and the Board considerable difficulty in presenting and evaluating evidence.

One comment suggested that §1.671(g) should be changed to require a party only to show the "relevancy" of expected testimony as opposed to the "admissibility" of the testimony. This suggestion is being adopted and an appropriate change has been made to §1.671(g) to require a moving party to "describe the general nature and the relevance of the testimony, document, or thing."

An oral comment was received which asked whether permission to issue a subpoena would be needed in the event a party seeks to call a witness under the control of an opponent. Ordinarily, the examiner-in-chief can order a party to produce an individual for a deposition as long as the individual is a party or is under the control of the party, e.g., an employee of an assignee. Where so-called "third parties" are concerned, however, issuance of a subpoena may be necessary, because the PTO has no authority to compel attendance of third parties. Several comments concerning §1.672 were received. One comment at the hearing pointed out that use of 8-1/2 by 11 inch paper for affidavits appears to be optional. The commentator is correct in pointing out that the use is optional. By using 8-1/2 by 11 inch paper, however, a party will save considerable time when filing a record (§1.653).

Two comments asked questions concerning §1.672(b), and in particular, the meaning of the word "party" in the phrase "a party shall not be entitled to rely on any document or thing not mentioned in one or more of the affidavits . . ." Specifically, one commentator stated:

> It is the scope of the words "the party" which leave doubt as to the meaning of the passage. If "the party" refers only to the party proffering the affidavit testimony, then the passage is fair since such party had the opportunity to use whatever documents it deemed favorable to its position. But if "the party" also encompasses the opponent, i.e., the cross-examining party not proffering the affidavit testimony, then the passage improperly restricts the scope of cross-examination. Surely, the proponent party cannot, simply by confining the affidavit to favorable documents, insulate the witness from cross-examination on unfavorable documents.

Section 1.672(b) refers to a "party" and an "opponent." The "party" is the party filing the affidavit and not an opponent of that party. Any "opponent" conducting cross-examination of an affiant may properly rely on documents and things not referred to in the affidavit.

One comment suggested that the language "a witness whose testimony will not be compelled under 35 U.S.C. 24" should be deleted or revised. According to the commentator:

> This is often not determinable in advance. Even a "voluntary" witness may develop cold feet and require a subpoena, or demand one for his own protection. Nor will all witnesses agreeable to affidavits be agreeable to depositions.

The suggestion is not being adopted. An affidavit may be used only when a witness agrees to sign the affidavit. If an individual refuses to sign an affidavit or voluntarily appear at a deposition, the party calling the witness will have to compel attendance at a deposition by a subpoena under 35 U.S.C. §24 after receiving permission from an examiner-in-chief.

One comment asked why there is "no express provision . . . [in the rules] for simply taking appropriate testimony of an adverse party by notice . . . rather than requiring a subpoena?" In many cases, notice will be sufficient inasmuch as an examiner-in-chief or the Board may generally order an adverse party to appear and give testimony. Thus, in many cases a subpoena is not needed to require attendance at a deposition of an adverse party.

Two comments suggested that a time be set out in the rules by which an affidavit should be filed. The suggestion is being adopted and the second sentence of §1.672(b) has been changed to provide that affidavits shall be filed prior to the close of the party's relevant testimony period. The two comments also suggested that the rules specify that documents relied upon in an affidavit be filed with the affidavit. This suggestion is also being adopted by an appropriate change to §1.672(b) which will provide that a party cannot rely on any document referred to in an affidavit unless a copy of the document is filed with the affidavit. Any document filed with an affidavit must also be served (§1.646). Section 1.672(b) will also provide that a party may not rely on any "thing" mentioned in an affidavit unless the opponent is given reasonable access to the "thing." A "thing" is something other than a document. The comments had suggested that the "things" be limited to those under the possession, custody, or control of the party submitting the affidavit. This suggestion is not being adopted. If a "thing" is not under the possession, custody, or control of a party, the party should resort the use of a deposition and compel production of the "thing" by a subpoena under 35 U.S.C. §24.

Four comments were received discussing §1.673. It was suggested that the time for service under §1.673(b) be three days if service is accomplished by hand or "Express Mail" and ten days if service is accomplished by any other means. This suggestion is being adopted. An appropriate change has been made in the introductory sentence of §1.673(b). It was also suggested that the word "copy" in §1.673(b)(1) be changed to read "list and copy". In support of the suggestion, one commentator states:

> In connection with the service of documents, the amendment to the proposed rule would require that a listing of documents accompany the documents themselves. This would permit cross-checking between lists and documents to ascertain whether or not discrepancies exist and reduce the possibility for later controversy.

The suggestion is being adopted. Under §1.673(b)(1) a list of the documents would have to accompany the documents. One comment suggested that documents served should be "Bates numbered." While this suggestion is not being adopted in the sense of changing the language of a rule, it must be remembered that the party serving documents may be required to later prove exactly what was served. Using "Bates" numbers or an equivalent scheme may prove invaluable in later stages of an interference.

One comment discussing §1.682 suggested that the language "not identified on the record during the taking of testimony of a witness" be deleted. This suggestion is not being adopted. If an official record or printed publication is made an exhibit during a deposition or in an affidavit, it need not be submitted under §1.682. Section 1.682 permits a party to make an official record or printed publication part of the evidence being considered at final hearing without calling a witness. The official record or printed publication must, however, be self-authenticating. On the other hand, a party may present the official record or printed publication as an exhibit during testimony. When this latter course is followed, there is no need to take advantage of the provisions of §1.682. The comment also suggested that a change be made in §1.682(a)(4) because the requirement therein for a "certified" copy appeared to be inconsistent with §1.671(d) which provides that a record of the PTO need not be certified. The suggestion is being adopted by adding "where appropriate" at the beginning of §1.682(a)(4) and a reference to §1.671(d) at the end of §1.682(a)(4). If the official record is not a record of the PTO, it will be necessary to submit a certified copy of the official record.

Comments were received discussing §1.684. One comment suggested that language be inserted in §1.684(a) to make clear that the testimony authorized is for a case-in-chief or a case-in-rebuttal. The suggestion is not being adopted. The testimony authorized by §1.684(a) is necessarily testimony for a case-in-chief or a case-in-rebuttal. The commentator correctly notes that the use of written interrogatories under §1.684 "for cross-examination would seem neither appropriate or justified." Section 1.684 does not apply to cross-examination. If a party submits an affidavit under §1.672(b) or intends to rely on an affidavit under §1.617(e), the party must make the affiant available for cross-examination at a deposition. See §1.673(e). A deposition may be noticed only "for a reasonable time and place in the United States." See §1.673(a). Accordingly, it is not expected that §1.684(a) will be used to cross-examine affiants residing in foreign countries. The party filing the affidavit will be required to make the affiant available for cross-examination in the United States.

One comment suggested that the provisions of §1.685(d) are "harsher" than the corresponding provisions of 37 CFR §1.285(c). The comment is not fully understood. Section 1.685(d) requires an objection to be stated on the record. An objection to the admissibility of evidence must be stated on the record and a motion under §1.656(h) renewing the objection at final hearing must be filed. No longer will a party be permitted to attend a deposition and fail to enter an objection only to raise the objection at final hearing. The current practice permits a party to delay the objection until it is often too late to permit an opponent to correct the evidentiary basis on which the objection is bottomed.

One comment suggested that the second sentence of §1.687(b) ("If the witness refuses to produce a requested document or thing, the party may file a motion (§1.635) for additional discovery under paragraph (c) of this section.") be deleted. This suggestion is being adopted. The PTO agrees with the following remark by the commentator: "[o]mission of the sentence is recommended since it is clear from [paragraph] (c) [of §1.687] that such a motion could be made in an appropriate case."

One comment at the hearing suggested that the PTO's inability to enter protective orders makes discovery unduly complicated. The commentator suggested that under §1.687(c), as set out in the notice of proposed rulemaking, it is possible to obtain appropriate protective orders. The commentator correctly concedes that the maximum sanction which the PTO can enter upon a proven violation of a PTO entered protective order is judgment. See §1.616. The commentator suggested, however, that additional discovery may be conditioned on the issuance of a subpoena duces tecum under 35 U.S.C. §24. Upon issuance of the subpoena, the commentator stated that the opponent could move the district court for entry of a protective order. If a party violates a protective order entered by a district court, the party would be subject to such sanctions as the district court might deem appropriate as well as a sanction by the PTO, including entry of judgment against the party. The PTO, unlike the district court, would not be able to apply a sanction after an interference is terminated.

The commentator's suggestion is believed to be sound. No change in the language of §1.687(b) is believed to be necessary inasmuch as paragraph (b) authorizes the PTO to "specify the terms of conditions of such additional discovery." One of those terms could be requiring a party to issue a subpoena under 35 U.S.C. §24. By making a party proceed in the first instance in the PTO, appropriate PTO orders may be entered suggesting the scope of any protective order and stating the underlying basis for requiring a party to produce documents. The order could be of assistance to the district court in subsequent enforcement or contempt proceedings.

Additional discovery obtained under a protective order issued by either the PTO or a district court will not be admitted in evidence in the PTO in determining the interference. All evidence submitted in an interference must be made available to the public under the provisions of §1.11(a). Accordingly, any protective orders have to be vacated before a document could be admitted in evidence in the PTO which is subject to a protective order.

Example 38 illustrates how the practice would work.

Example 38: An interference involves party X and party Y. During the interference, party X files a motion for additional discovery under §1.687(c) asking that party Y be required to produce certain documents. Party Y opposes on the sole ground that the documents contain trade secret and confidential information. Party Y indicates that it has no objection to producing the documents for inspection by counsel for party X, but insists that party X not be permitted to inspect the documents. Accordingly, party Y asks the examiner-in-chief to authorize the discovery subject to entry of a protective order. Party Y argues, however, that the sanctions of §1.616 are not sufficient in the event of a violation of the protective order. An examiner-in-chief concludes that additional discovery should be ordered, that a protective order is appropriate, and that the sanctions of §1.616 are not sufficient in the event of a violation of the protective order. Under the circumstances, the examiner-in-chief would enter an order directing party Y to produce the documents for inspection by counsel of party X on the condition that party X seek production of the documents by a subpoena duces tecum under 35 U.S.C. §24. Upon issuance of any subpoena, party Y could move the district court for entry of a protective order. If the district court enters the protective order, party Y can produce the documents to counsel for party X. If the protective order of the examiner-in-chief is violated, an appropriate sanction up to and including judgment may be entered by the Board. In addition, party Y would be in a position to seek contempt or other sanctions in the district court. The documents produced for inspection by counsel for party X could not be admitted in evidence in the interference (until the protective order is vacated), because those documents are not documents which can be made available to the public under §1.11(a).

Other Considerations: These rules do not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment or the conservation of energy resources.

The rules are in conformity with the requirements of the (1) Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96–354), (2) Executive Order 12291, and (3) the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Small Business Administration that these rules will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act; Public Law 96–354). The rules govern the conduct of interference cases which arise in the Patent and Trademark Office. In fiscal 1983, the Patent and Trademark Office received 105,704 patent applications. During the same period, 180 interferences were declared. It is expected that the overall cost will be reduced for obtaining a patent based on application which become involved in an interference. See a "section-by-section" analysis submitted for the Record by Representative Kastenmeier during discussion of H. R. 6286 on the floor of the House in which the following statement appears (130 Cong. Rec. H10528, columns 2 and 3):

> it is expected that interferences will become simpler, more expeditious, and less costly. Under the bill, all issues of patentability and priority which arise in an interference can be decided in a single proceeding rather than in a series of complicated inter partes and ex parte proceedings.

These rules, therefore, will have no significant economic impact on small entities.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy would be less than $100 million. There would be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, federal state, or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There would be no adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

These rules do not impose a burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., since no record keeping or reporting requirements within the coverage of the Act are placed upon the public.

PART 1 — RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

For the reasons set out in the preamble and under the authority given to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks by 35 U.S.C. 6, 23, 41, and 135, Part 1 of Title CFR is amended as set forth below.

1. Section 1.1 is amended by adding a new paragraph (e) to read as follows:

§1.1 All communications to be addressed to Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

* * * * *

(e) Communications relating to interferences and applications or patents involved in an interference should be additionally marked "BOX INTERFERENCE."

2. Section 1.4 is amended by revising paragraph (a)(2) and reprinting the introductory text of paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§1.4 Nature of correspondence.

(a) Correspondence with the Patent and Trademark Office comprises:

* * * * *

(2) correspondence in and relating to a particular application or other proceeding in the Office. See particularly the rules relating to the filing, processing, or other proceedings of national applications in Subpart B, §§1.31 to 1.352; of international applications in Subpart C, §§1.401 to 1.482; of reexamination of patents in Subpart D, §§1.501 to 1.570; of interferences in Subpart E, §§1.601 to 1.688; and of trademark applications §§2.11 to 2.189.

(a) After a patent has been issued, the specification, drawings and all papers relating to the case in the file of the patent are open to inspection by the general public, and copies may be obtained upon paying the fee therefor. After entry of a judgment in an interference by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences as to all parties, the file of any interference which involved a patent, or an application on which a patent has issued, is similarly open to public inspection and procurement of copies. See §2.27 for trademark files.

9. Section 1.36 is revised as follows:

§1.36 Revocation of power of attorney or authorization; withdrawal of attorney or agent.

A power of attorney or authorization of agent may be revoked at any stage in the proceedings of a case, and an attorney or agent may withdraw, upon application to and approval by the Commissioner. An attorney or agent, except an associate attorney or agent whose address is the same as that of the principal attorney or agent, will be notified of the revocation of the power of attorney or authorization, and the applicant or patent owner will be notified of the withdrawal of the attorney or agent. An assignment will not of itself operate as a revocation of a power or authorization previously given, but the assignee of the entire interest may revoke previous powers and be represented by an attorney or agent of the assignee's own selection. See §1.613(d) for withdrawal of an attorney or agent of record in an interference.

10. Section 1.48 is revised as follows:

12. Section 1.59 is revised as follows:

§1.59 Papers of application with filing date not to be returned.

Papers in an application which has received a filing date pursuant to §1.53 will not be returned for any purpose whatever. If applicants have not preserved copies of the papers, the Office will furnish copies at the usual cost of any application in which either the required basic filing fee (§1.16) or the processing and retention fee (§1.21(l)) has been paid. See §1.618 for return of unauthorized and improper papers in interferences.

13. Section 1.68 is revised as follows:

§1.68 Declaration in lieu of oath.

Any document to be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office and which is required by any law, rule, or other regulation to be under oath may be subscribed to by a written declaration. Such declaration may be used in lieu of the oath otherwise required, if, and only if, the declarant is on the same document, warned that willful false statements and the like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both (18 U.S.C. 1001) and may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon. The declarant must set forth in the body of the declaration that all statements made of the declarant's own knowledge are true and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true.

* * * * *

(b) Ordinarily all amendments presented in a paper filed while the application is open to amendment are entered and considered, subsequent cancellation or correction being required of improper amendments. Untimely amendatory papers may be refused entry and consideration in whole or in part. For amendments presented during an interference see §1.664.

16. Section 1.136 is amended by removing "§1.207" and inserting, in its place, "§1.611" and by removing "§1.245" and inserting, in its place, "§1.645".

17. Section 1.138 is revised as follows:

§1.138 Express Abandonment.

An application may be expressly abandoned by filing in the Patent and Trademark Office a written declaration of abandonment signed by the applicant and the assignee of record, if any, and identifying the application. An application may also be expressly abandoned by filing a written declaration of abandonment signed by the attorney or agent of record. A registered attorney or agent acting under the provision of §1.34(a), or of record, may also expressly abandon a prior application as of the filing date granted to a continuing application when filing such a continuing application. Express abandonment of the application may not be recognized by the Office unless it is actually received by appropriate officials in time to act thereon before the date of issue.

18. Section 1.181 is amended by revising paragraph (a) as follows:

§1.181 Petition to the Commissioner.

(a) Petition may be taken to the Commissioner: (1) from any action or requirement of any examiner in the ex parte prosecution of an application which is not subject to appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or to the court; (2) in cases in which a statute or the rules specify that the matter is to be determined directly by or reviewed by the Commissioner; and (3) to invoke the supervisory authority of the Commissioner in appropriate circumstances. For petitions in interferences, see §1.644.

* * * * *

19. The center heading preceding §1.191 is revised to read "APPEAL TO THE BOARD OF PATENT APPEALS AND INTERFERENCES".

20. Section 1.191 is amended by revising the section heading and paragraphs (a) and (c) as follows:

§1.191 Appeal to Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

(a) Every applicant for a patent or for reissue of a patent, or every owner of a patent under reexamination, any of the claims of which have been twice rejected or who has been given a final rejection (§1.113), may, upon the payment of the fee set forth in §1.17(e), appeal from the decision of the examiner to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences within the time allowed for response.

* * * * *

(c) An appeal when taken must be taken from the rejection of all claims under rejection which the applicant or patent owner proposes to contest. Questions relating to matters not affecting the merits of the invention may be required to be settled before an appeal can be considered.

* * * * *

21. Section 1.194 is amended by removing the words "Board of Appeals" and inserting, in their place, the words "Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences."

22. Section 1.196 is revised as follows:

§1.196 Decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

(a) The Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, in its decision, may affirm or reverse the decision of the examiner in whole or in part on the grounds and on the claims specified by the examiner. The affirmance of the rejection of a claim on any of the grounds specified constitutes a general affirmance of the decision of the examiner on that claim, except as to any ground specifically reversed.

(b) Should the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences have knowledge of any grounds not involved in the appeal for rejecting any appealed claim, it may include in the decision a statement to that effect with its reasons for so holding, which statement shall constitute a new rejection of the claims. When the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences makes a new rejection of an appealed claim, the appellant may exercise any one of the following three options:

(1) The appellant may submit an appropriate amendment of the claims so rejected or a showing of facts, or both, and have the matter reconsidered by the examiner in which event the application will be remanded to the examiner and the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences shall not be considered final for the purpose of judicial review. The statement shall be binding upon the examiner unless an amendment or showing of facts not previously of record be made which, in the opinion of the examiner, overcomes the new ground for rejection stated in the decision. When appropriate, upon conclusion of proceedings on remand before the examiner, the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences may enter an order otherwise making its decision final.

(2) The appellant may have the case reconsidered under §1.197(b) by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences upon the same record. Where request for such reconsideration is made the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences shall, if necessary, render a new decision which shall include all grounds upon which a patent is refused.

(3) The appellant may treat the decision, including the new grounds for rejection given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, as a final decision in the case.

(c) Should the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences include an explicit statement that a claim may be allowed in amended form, appellant shall have the right to amend in conformity with such statement which shall be binding on the examiner in the absence of new references or grounds of rejection.

(d) Although the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences normally will confine its decision to a review of rejections made by the examiner, should it have knowledge of any grounds for rejecting any allowed claim it may include in its decision a recommended rejection of the claim and remand the case to the examiner. In such event, the Board shall set a period, not less than one month, within which the appellant may submit to the examiner an appropriate amendment, a showing of facts or reasons, or both, in order to avoid the grounds set forth in the recommendation of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. The examiner shall be bound by the recommendation and shall enter and maintain the recommended rejection unless an amendment or showing of facts not previously of record is filed which, in the opinion of the examiner, overcomes the recommended rejection. Should the examiner make the recommended rejection final the applicant may again appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. Whenever a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences includes a remand, that decision shall not be considered a final decision. When appropriate, upon conclusion of proceedings on remand before the examiner, the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences may enter an order otherwise making its decision final.

23. Section 1.197 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (b) as follows:

§1.197 Action following decision.

(a) After decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, the case shall be returned to the examiner, subject to the appellant's right of appeal or other review, for such further action by the appellant or by the examiner, as the condition of the case may require, to carry into effect the decision.

(b) A single request for reconsideration or modification of the decision may be made if filed within one month from the date of the original decision, unless that decision is so modified as to become, in effect, a new decision, and the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences so states.

41. Section 1.292 is amended by revising paragraph (a) and adding paragraph (c) as follows:

§1.292 Public use proceedings.

(a) When a petition for the institution of public use proceedings, supported by affidavits or declarations and the fee set forth in §1.17(j) is filed by one having information of the pendency of an application and is found, on reference to the examiner, to make a prima facie showing that the invention claimed in an application believed to be on file had been in public use or on sale more than one year before the filing of the application, a hearing may be had before the Commissioner to determine whether a public use proceeding should be instituted. If instituted, the Commissioner may designate an appropriate official to conduct the public use proceeding, including the setting of times for taking testimony, which shall be taken as provided by §§1.671 through 1.685. The petitioner will be heard in the proceedings but after decision therein will not be heard further in the prosecution of the application for patent.

* * * * *

(c) A petition for institution of public use proceedings shall not be filed by a party to an interference as to an application involved in the interference. Public use and on sale issues in an interference shall be raised by a preliminary motion under §1.633(a).

42. Section 1.301 is amended by removing the words "Board of Appeals" and the words "Board of Patent Interferences" and inserting, in each of their places, the words "Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences."

43. Section 1.302 is amended by removing from paragraph (b) "1.248" and inserting, in its place, "1.646" and by removing "and other contested cases".

44. Section 1.304 is amended by revising paragraph (a) as follows:

§1.304 Time for appeal or civil action.

(a) The time for filing the notice and reasons of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit (§1.302) or for commencing a civil action (§1.303) is sixty days from the date of the decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. If a request for reconsideration or modification of the decision is filed within the time provided under §1.197(b) or §1.658(b), the time for filing an appeal or commencing a civil action shall expire at the end of the sixty-day period or thirty days after action on the request, whichever is later. Except for an appeal from or commencing a civil action after a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in a reexamination proceeding or an interference proceeding, the time periods set forth herein are subject to the provisions of §1.136. See §1.550(c) for extensions of time to appeal or commence a civil action in a reexamination proceeding. See §1.645(a) for extensions of time to appeal or commence a civil action in an interference. An examiner-in-chief, upon a showing of excusable neglect, may extend the time for seeking judicial review of a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in an interference case when a request is untimely filed after expiration of the time prescribed by this section.

46. Section 1.322 is amended by revising paragraph (a) as follows:

§1.322 Certificate of correction of Office mistake.

(a) A certificate of correction under 35 U.S.C. 254 may be issued at the request of the patentee or the patentee's assignee. Such certificate will not be issued at the request or suggestion of anyone not owning an interest in the patent, nor on motion of the Office, without first notifying the patentee (including any assignee of record) and affording the patentee an opportunity to be heard. When the request relates to a patent involved in an interference, the request shall comply with the requirements of this section and shall be accompanied by a motion under §1.635.

* * * * *

47. Section 1.323 is revised as follows:

§1.323 Certificate of correction of applicant's mistake.

Whenever a mistake of a clerical or typographical nature or of minor character which was not the fault of the Office, appears in a patent and a showing is made that such mistake occurred in good faith, the Commissioner may, upon payment of the fee set forth in §1.20(a), issue a certificate, if the correction does not involve such changes in the patent as would constitute new matter or would require reexamination. A request for a certificate of correction of a patent involved in an interference shall comply with the requirements of this section and shall be accompanied by a motion under §1.635.

48. Section 1.324 is revised as follows:

§1.324 Correction of inventorship in patent.

Whenever a patent is issued and it appears that the correct inventor or inventors were not named through error without deceptive intention on the part of the actual inventor or inventors, the Commissioner may, on petition of all the parties and the assignees and satisfactory proof of the facts and payment of the fee set forth in §1.20(b), or on order of a court before which such matter is called in question, issue a certificate naming only the actual inventor or inventors. A request to correct inventorship of patent involved in an interference shall comply with the requirements of this section and shall be accompanied by a motion under §1.634.

49. Section 1550 is amended by removing from paragraph (a) "Board of Appeals" and inserting, in its place, "Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences."

50. Section 1.565 is amended by revising paragraph (b) and adding paragraph (e) as follows:

§1.565 Concurrent office proceedings.

* * * * *

(b) If a patent in the process of reexamination is or becomes involved in litigation or a reissue application for the patent is filed or pending, the Commissioner shall determine whether or not to stay the reexamination or reissue proceeding.

* * * * *

(e) If a patent in the process of reexamination is or becomes involved in an interference, the Commissioner may stay reexamination or the interference. The Commissioner will not consider a request to stay an interference unless a motion (§1.635) to stay the interference has been presented to, and denied by, an examiner-in-chief and the request is filed within ten (10) days of a decision by an examiner-in-chief denying the motion for a stay or such other time as the examiner-in-chief may set.

51. A new subpart entitled "Subpart E—Interferences" is added which reads as follows:

SUBPART E — Interferences

§1.601 Scope of rules, definitions.

This subpart governs the procedure in patent interferences in the Patent and Trademark Office. This subpart shall be construed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every interference. For the meaning of terms in the Federal Rules of Evidence as applied to interferences, see §1.671(c). Unless otherwise clear from the context, the following definitions apply to this subpart:

(a) "Additional discovery" is discovery to which a party may be entitled under §1.687 in addition to discovery to which the party is entitled as a matter of right under §1.673(a) and (b).

(b) "Affidavit" means affidavit, declaration under §1.68, or statutory declaration under 28 U.S.C. §1746. A transcript of an ex parte deposition may be used as an affidavit.

(c) "Board" means the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences.

(d) "Case-in-chief" means that portion of a party's case where the party has the burden of going forward with evidence.

(e) "Case-in-rebuttal" means that portion of a party's case where the party presents evidence in rebuttal to the case-in-chief of another party.

(f) A "count" defines the interfering subject matter between (1) two or more applications or (2) one or more applications and one or more patents. When there is more than one count, each count shall define a separate patentable invention. Any claim of an application or patent which corresponds to a count is a claim involved in the interference within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. §135(a). A claim of a patent or application which is identical to a count is said to "correspond exactly" to the count. A claim of a patent or application which is not identical to a count, but which defines the same patentable invention as the count, is said to "correspond substantially" to the count. When a count is broader in scope than all claims which correspond to the count, the count is a "phantom count." A phantom count is not patentable to any party.

(g) The "effective filing date" of an application or a patent is the filing date of an earlier application accorded to the application or patent under 35 U.S.C. §§119, 120, or 365.

(h) In the case of an application, "filing date" means the filing date assigned to the application. In the case of a patent, "filing date" means the filing date assigned to the application which issued as the patent.

(i) An "interference" is a proceeding instituted in the Patent and Trademark Office before the Board to determine any question of patentability and priority of invention between two or more parties claiming the same patentable invention. An interference may be declared between two or more pending applications naming different inventors when, in the opinion of an examiner, the applications contain claims for the same patentable invention. An interference may be declared between one or more pending applications and one or more unexpired patents naming different inventors when, in the opinion of an examiner, any application and any unexpired patents contain claims for the same patentable invention.

(j) An "interference-in-fact" exists when at least one claim of a party which corresponds to a count and at least one claim of an opponent which corresponds to the count define the same patentable invention.

(k) A "lead" attorney or agent is a registered attorney or agent of record who is primarily responsible for prosecuting an interference on behalf of a party and is the attorney or agent whom an examiner-in-chief may contact to set times and take other action in the interference.

(l) A "party" is (1) an applicant or patentee involved in the interference or (2) a legal representative or an assignee of an applicant or patentee involved in an interference. Where acts of a party are normally performed by an attorney or agent, "party" may be construed to mean the attorney or agent. An "inventor" is the individual named as inventor in an application involved in an interference or the individual named as inventor in a patent involved in an interference.

(m) A "senior party" is the party with earliest effective filing date as to all counts or, if there is no party with the earliest effective filing date as to all counts, the party with the earliest filing date. A "junior party" is any other party.

(n) Invention "A" is the "same patentable invention" as a invention "B" when invention "A" is the same as (35 U.S.C. §102) or is obvious (35 U.S.C. §103) in view of invention "B" assuming invention "B" is prior art with respect to invention "A". Invention "A" is a "separate patentable invention" with respect to invention "B" when invention "A" is new (35 U.S.C. §102) and nonobvious (35 U.S.C. §103) in view of invention "B" assuming invention "B" is prior art with respect to invention "A".

(o) "Sworn" means sworn or affirmed.

(p) "United States" means the United States of America, its territories and possessions.

§1.602 Interest in applications and patents involved in an interference.

(a) Unless good cause is shown, an interference shall not be declared or continued between (1) applications owned by a single party or (2) applications and an unexpired patent owned by a single party.

(b) The parties, within 20 days after an interference is declared, shall notify the Board of any and all right, title, and interest in any application or patent involved or relied upon in the interference unless the right, title, and interest is set forth in the notice declaring the interference.

(c) If a change of any right, title, and interest in any application or patent involved or relied upon in the interference occurs after notice is given declaring the interference and before the time expires for seeking judicial review of a final decision of the Board, the parties shall notify the Board of the change within 20 days of the change.

§1.603 Interference between applications; subject matter of the interference.

Before an interference is declared between two or more applications, the examiner must be of the opinion that there is interfering subject matter claimed in the applications which is patentable to each applicant subject to a judgment in the interference. The interfering subject matter shall be defined by one or more counts. Each count shall define a separate patentable invention. Each application must contain, or be amended to contain, at least one claim which corresponds to each count. All claims in the applications which define the same patentable invention as a count shall be designated to correspond to the count.

§1.604 Request for interference between applications by an applicant.

(a) An applicant may seek to have an interference declared with an application of another by (1) suggesting a proposed count and presenting a claim corresponding to the proposed count, (2) identifying the other application and, if known, a claim in the other application which corresponds to the proposed count, and (3) explaining why an interference should be declared.

(b) When an applicant presents a claim known to the applicant to define the same patentable invention claimed in a pending application of another, the applicant shall identify that pending application, unless the claim is presented in response to a suggestion by the examiner. The examiner shall notify the Commissioner of any instance where it appears an applicant may have failed to comply with the provisions of this paragraph.

§1.605 Suggestion of claim to applicant by examiner.

(a) The examiner may suggest that an applicant present a claim in an application for the purpose of an interference with another application or a patent. The applicant to whom the claim is suggested shall amend the application by presenting the suggested claim within a time specified by the examiner, not less than one month. Failure or refusal of an applicant to timely present the suggested claim shall be taken without further action as a disclaimer by the applicant of the invention defined by the suggested claim. At the time the suggested claim is presented, the applicant may also (1) call the examiner's attention to other claims already in the application or which are presented with the suggested claim and (2) explain why the other claims would be more appropriate to be included in any interference which may be declared.

(b) The suggestion of a claim by the examiner for the purpose of an interference will not stay the period for response to any outstanding Office action. When a suggested claim is timely presented, ex parte proceedings in the application will be stayed pending a determination of whether an interference will be declared.

§1.606 Interference between an application and a patent; subject matter of the interference.

Before an interference is declared between an application and an unexpired patent, an examiner must determine that there is interfering subject matter claimed in the application and the patent which is patentable to the applicant subject to a judgment in the interference. The interfering subject matter will be defined by one or more counts. Each count shall define a separate patentable invention. Any application must contain, or be amended to contain, at least one claim which corresponds to each count. All claims in the application and patent which define the same patentable invention as a count shall be designated to correspond to the count. At the time an interference is initially declared (§1.611), a count shall not be narrower in scope than any patent claim which corresponds to the count and any single patent claim will be presumed, subject to a motion under §1.633(c), not to contain separate patentable inventions.

§1.607 Request by applicant for interference with patent.

(a) An applicant may seek to have an interference declared between an application and an unexpired patent by (1) presenting a proposed count and a claim corresponding to the proposed count and, if any claim of the patent or application does not correspond exactly to the proposed count, explaining why an interference should be declared, (2) identifying the patent and indicating which claim in the application and which claim or claims of the patent correspond to the proposed count, and (3) applying the terms of the application claim corresponding to the count to the disclosure of the application.

(b) When an applicant seeks an interference with a patent, examination of the application, including any appeal to the Board, shall be conducted with special dispatch within the Patent and Trademark Office. The examiner shall determine whether there is interfering subject matter claimed in the application and the patent which is patentable to the applicant subject to a judgment in an interference. If the examiner determines that there is any interfering subject matter, an interference will be declared. If the examiner determines that there is no interfering subject matter, the examiner shall state the reasons why an interference is not being declared and otherwise act on the application.

(c) When an applicant presents a claim which corresponds exactly or substantially to a claim of a patent, the applicant shall identify the patent and the number of the patent claim, unless the claim is presented in response to a suggestion by the examiner. The examiner shall notify the Commissioner of any instance where an applicant fails to identify the patent.

(d) A notice that an applicant is seeking to provoke an interference with a patent will be placed in the file of the patent and a copy of the notice will be sent to the patentee. The identity of the applicant will not be disclosed unless an interference is declared. If a final decision is made not to declare an interference, a notice to that effect will be placed in the patent file and will be sent to the patentee.

§1.608 Interference between an application and a patent; prima facie showing by applicant.

(a) When the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of an application is three months or less after the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of a patent, the applicant, before an interference will be declared, shall file an affidavit alleging that there is a basis upon which applicant is entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee.

(b) When the earlier of the filing date or the effective filing date of an application is more than three months after the earlier of the filing date or the effective filing date under 35 U.S.C. §120 of a patent, the applicant, before an interference will be declared, shall file (1) evidence which may consist of patents or printed publications, other documents, and one or more affidavits which demonstrate that applicant is prima facie entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee and (2) an explanation stating with particularity the basis upon which the applicant is prima facie entitled to the judgment. Where the basis upon which an applicant is entitled to judgment relative to a patentee is priority of invention, the evidence shall include affidavits by the applicant, if possible, and one or more corroborating witnesses, supported by documentary evidence, if available, each setting out a factual description of acts and circumstances performed or observed by the affiant, which collectively would prima facie entitle the applicant to judgment on priority with respect to the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of the patent. To facilitate preparation of a record (§1.653(g) and (h)) for final hearing, an applicant should file affidavits on paper which is 8-1/2× 11 inches (21.8 by 27.9 cm.). The significance of any printed publication or other document which is self-authenticating within the meaning of Rule 902 of the Federal Rules of Evidence or §1.671(d) and any patent shall be discussed in an affidavit or the explanation. Any printed publication or other document which is not self-authenticating shall be authenticated and discussed with particularity in an affidavit. Upon a showing of sufficient cause, an affidavit may be based on information and belief. If a examiner finds an application to be in condition for declaration of an interference, the examiner will consider the evidence and explanation only to the extent of determining whether a basis upon which the applicant would be entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee is alleged and, if a basis is alleged, an interference may be declared.

§1.609 Preparation of interference papers by examiner.

When the examiner determines that an interference should be declared, the examiner shall forward to the Board:

(a) All relevant application and patent files and
(b) A statement identifying:

§1.617 Summary judgment against applicant

(a) An examiner-in-chief shall review any evidence filed by an applicant under §1.608(b) to determine if the applicant is prima facie entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee. If the examiner-in-chief determines that the evidence shows the applicant is prima facie entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee, the interference shall proceed in the normal manner under the regulations of this part. If in the opinion of the examiner-in-chief the evidence fails to show that the applicant is prima facie entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee, the examiner-in-chief shall, concurrently with the notice declaring the interference, enter an order stating the reasons for the opinion and directing the applicant, within a time set in the order, to show cause why summary judgment should not be entered against the applicant.

(b) The applicant may file a response to the order and state any reasons why summary judgment should not be entered. Any request by the applicant for a hearing before the Board shall be made in the response. Evidence shall not be filed by any opponent. An opponent may not request an oral hearing.

(e) Within a time authorized by the examiner-in-chief, an applicant may file a reply to any statement filed by any opponent.

(f) When more than two parties are involved in an interference, all parties may participate in summary judgment proceedings under this section.

(g) If a response by the applicant is timely filed, the examiner-in-chief or the Board shall decide whether the evidence submitted under §1.608(b) and any additional evidence properly submitted under paragraph (b) of this section shows that the applicant is prima facie entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee. If the applicant is not prima facie entitled to a judgment relative to the patentee, the Board shall enter a final decision granting summary judgment against the applicant. Otherwise, an interlocutory order shall be entered authorizing the interference to proceed in the normal manner under the regulations of this part.

(h) Only an applicant who filed evidence under §1.608(b) may request a hearing. If that applicant requests a hearing, the Board may hold a hearing prior to entry of a decision under paragraph (g) of this section. The examiner-in-chief shall set a date and time for the hearing. §1.626 Preliminary statement; earlier application.

When a party does not intend to present evidence to prove a conception or an actual reduction to practice and the party intends to rely solely on the filing date of an earlier application filed in the United States or abroad to prove a constructive reduction to practice, the preliminary statement may so state and identify the earlier application with particularity.

§1.627 Preliminary statement, sealing before filing, opening of statement.

(a) The preliminary statement and copies of any drawing or written description shall be filed in a sealed envelope bearing only the name of the party filing the statement and the style (e.g., Jones v. Smith) and number of the interference. §1.629 Effect of preliminary statement.

(a) A party shall be strictly held to any date alleged in the preliminary statement. Doubts as to (1) definiteness or sufficiency of any allegation in a preliminary statement or (2) compliance with formal requirements will be resolved against the party filing the statement by restricting the party to the earlier of its filing date or effective filing date or to the latest date of a period alleged in the preliminary statement as may be appropriate. A party may not correct a preliminary statement except as provided by §1.628.

(b) Evidence which shows that an act alleged in the preliminary statement occurred prior to the date alleged in the statement shall establish only that the act occurred as early as the date alleged in the statement.

(c) If a party does not file a preliminary statement, the party:

(2) will not be permitted to prove that:

(i) the party made the invention prior to the party's filing date or

(ii) any opponent derived the invention from the party.

(d) If a party files a preliminary statement which contains an allegation of a date of first drawing or first written description and the party does not file a copy of the first drawing or written description with the preliminary statement as required by §1.623(c), §1.624(c), or §1.625(c), the party will be restricted to the earlier of the party's filing date or effective filing date as to that allegation unless the party complies with §1.628(b). (viii) Be accompanied by a motion under §1.633(f) requesting the benefit of the filing date of an earlier application filed in the United States or abroad.

(2) When the preliminary motion seeks an additional interference under §1.633(e)(2), the motion shall:

(i) Identify any application or patent to be involved in the additional interference.

(ii) Propose a count for the additional interference.

(iii) When the moving party is an applicant, show the patentability to the applicant of all claims in, or proposed to be added to the party's application which correspond to each proposed count and apply the terms of the claims to the disclosure of the party's application; when necessary a moving party applicant shall file with the motion an amendment adding any proposed claim to the application.

(iv) Identify all claims in any opponent's application which should be designated to correspond to each proposed count; if an opponent's application does not contain such a claim, the moving party shall propose a claim to be added to the opponent's application. The moving party shall show the patentability of any proposed claims to the opponent and apply the terms of the claims to the disclosure of the opponent's application.

(v) Designate the claims of any patent involved in the interference which define the same patentable invention as each proposed count.

(vi) Show that each proposed count for the additional interference defines a separate patentable invention from all counts in the interference in which the motion is filed.

(vii) Be accompanied by a motion under §1.633(f) requesting the benefit of the filing date of an earlier application filed in the United States or abroad.

(f) A preliminary motion for benefit under §1.633(f) shall:

(1) Identify the earlier application.

(2) When the earlier application is an application filed in the United States, certify that a complete copy of the file of the earlier application, except for documents filed under §1.131 or §1.608(b), has been served on all opponents. When the earlier application is an application filed abroad, certify that a copy of the application filed abroad has been served on all opponents. If the earlier application filed abroad is not in English, the requirements of §1.647 must also be met.

(3) Show that the earlier application constitutes a constructive reduction to practice of each count.

(g) A preliminary motion to attack benefit under §1.633(g) shall explain, as to each count, why an opponent should not be accorded the benefit of the filing date of the earlier application.

(h) A preliminary motion to add an application for reissue under §1.633(h) shall:

(1) Identify the application for reissue.

(2) Certify that a complete copy of the file of the application for reissue has been served on all opponents.

(3) Show the patentability of all claims in, or proposed to be added to, the application for reissue which correspond to each count and apply the terms of the claims to the disclosure of the application for reissue; when necessary a moving applicant for reissue shall file with the motion an amendment adding a claim to the application for reissue.

(4) Be accompanied by a motion under §1.633(f) requesting the benefit of the filing date of an earlier application filed in the United States or abroad.

§1.638 Opposition and reply, time for filing opposition and reply.

(a) Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief, any opposition to any motion shall be filed within 20 days after service of the motion. An opposition shall (1) identify any material fact set forth in the motion which is in dispute and (2) include an argument why the relief requested in the motion should be denied.

(b) Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief, a reply shall be filed within 15 days after service of the opposition. A reply shall be directed only to new points raised in the opposition.

§1.639 Evidence in support of motion, opposition, or reply.

(a) Proof of any material fact alleged in a motion, opposition, or reply must be filed and served with the motion, opposition, or reply unless the proof relied upon is part of the interference file or the file of any patent or application involved in the interference or any earlier application filed in the United States of which a party has been accorded or seeks to be accorded benefit.

(b) Proof may be in the form of patents, printed publications, and affidavits.

(c) When a party believes that testimony is necessary to support or oppose a preliminary motion under §1.633 or a motion to correct inventorship under §1.634, the party shall describe the nature of the testimony needed. If the examiner-in-chief finds that testimony is needed to decide the motion, the examiner-in-chief may grant appropriate interlocutory relief and enter an order authorizing the taking of testimony and deferring a decision on the motion to final hearing.

§1.640 Motions, hearing and decision, redeclaration of interference, order to show cause.

(a) A hearing on a motion may be held in the discretion of the examiner-in-chief. The examiner-in-chief shall set the date and time for any hearing. The length of oral argument at a hearing on a motion is a matter within the discretion of the examiner-in-chief. An examiner-in-chief may direct that a hearing take place by telephone.

(b) Motions will be decided by an examiner-in-chief. An examiner-in-chief may consult with an examiner in deciding motions involving a question of patentability. An examiner-in-chief may grant or deny any motion or take such other action which will secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of the interference.

(1) When preliminary motions under §1.633 are decided, the examiner-in-chief will, when necessary, set a time for filing any amendment to an application involved in the interference and for filing a supplemental preliminary statement as to any new counts involved in the interference. Failure or refusal of a party to timely present an amendment required by an examiner-in-chief shall be taken without further action as a disclaimer by that party of the invention involved. A supplemental preliminary statement shall meet the requirements specified in §§1.623, 1.624, 1.625, or 1.626, but need not be filed if a party states that it intends to rely on a preliminary statement previously filed under §1.621(a). After the time expires for filing any amendment and supplemental preliminary statement, the examiner-in-chief will, if necessary, redeclare the interference.

(2) After a decision is entered on preliminary motions filed under §1.633, a further motion under §1.633 will not be considered except as provided by §1.655(b).

(c) When a decision on any motion under §§1.633, 1.634, or 1.635 is entered which does not result in the issuance of an order to show cause under paragraph (d) of this section, a party may file a request for reconsideration within 14 days after the date of the decision. The filing of a request for reconsideration will not stay any time period set by the decision. The request for reconsideration shall specify with particularity the points believed to have been misapprehended or overlooked in rendering the decision. No opposition to a request for reconsideration shall be filed unless requested by an examiner-in-chief or the Board. A decision of single examiner-in-chief will not ordinarily be modified unless an opposition has been requested by an examiner-in-chief or the Board. The request for reconsideration shall be acted on by a panel of the Board consisting of at least three examiners-in-chief, one of whom will normally be the examiner-in-chief who decided the motion.

(d) An examiner-in-chief may issue an order to show cause why judgment should not be entered against a party when:

(1) A decision on a motion is entered which is dispositive of the interference against the party as to all counts;

(2) The party is a junior party who fails to file a preliminary statement; or

(3) The party is a junior party whose preliminary statement fails to overcome the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of another party.

(e) When an order to show cause is issued under paragraph (d) of this section, the Board shall enter a judgment in accordance with the order unless, within 20 days after the date of the order, the party against whom the order issued files a paper which shows good cause why judgment should not be entered in accordance with the order. Any other party may file a response to the paper within 20 days of the date of service of the paper. If the party against whom the order was issued fails to show good cause, the Board shall enter judgment against the party. If a party wishes to take testimony in response to an order to show cause, the party's response should be accompanied by a motion (§1.635) requesting the testimony period. See §1.651(c)(4).

§1.641 Unpatentability discovered by examiner-in-chief.

During the pendency of an interference, if the examiner-in-chief becomes aware of a reason why a claim corresponding to a count may not be patentable, the examiner-in-chief may notify the parties of the reason and set a time within which each party may present its views. After considering any timely filed views, the examiner-in-chief shall decide how the interference shall proceed.

§1.642 Addition of application or patent to interference.

During the pendency of an interference, if the examiner-in-chief becomes aware of an application or a patent not involved in the interference which claims the same patentable invention as a count in the interference, the examiner-in-chief may add the application or patent to the interference on such terms as may be fair to all parties.

§1.643 Prosecution of interference by assignee.

(a) An assignee of record in the Patent and Trademark Office of the entire interest in an application or patent involved in an interference is entitled to conduct prosecution of the interference to the exclusion of the inventor.

(b) An assignee of a part interest in an application or patent involved in an interference may file a motion (§1.635) for entry of an order authorizing it to prosecute the interference. The motion shall show (1) the inability or refusal of the inventor to prosecute the interference or (2) other cause why the ends of justice require that the assignee of a part interest be permitted to prosecute the interference. The examiner-in-chief may allow the assignee of a part interest to prosecute the interference upon such terms as may be appropriate.

§1.644 Petitions in interferences.

(a) There is no appeal to the Commissioner in an interference from a decision of an examiner-in-chief or a panel consisting of more than one examiner-in-chief. The Commissioner will not consider a petition in an interference unless:

(1) The petition is from a decision of an examiner-in-chief or a panel and the examiner-in-chief or the panel shall be of the opinion (i) that the decision involves a controlling question of procedure or an interpretation of a rule as to which there is a substantial ground for a difference of opinion and (ii) that an immediate decision on petition by the Commissioner may materially advance the ultimate termination of the interference;

(2) The petition seeks to invoke the supervisory authority of the Commissioner and is not filed prior to the decision of the Board awarding judgment and does not relate to (i) the merits of priority of invention or patentability or (ii) the admissibility of evidence under the Federal Rules of Evidence; or

(3) The petition seeks relief under §1.183.

(b) A petition under paragraph (a)(1) of this section filed more than 15 days after the date of the decision of the examiner-in-chief or the panel may be dismissed as untimely. A petition under paragraph (a)(2) of this section shall not be filed prior to decision by the Board awarding judgment. Any petition under paragraph (a)(3) of this section shall be timely if it is made as part of, or simultaneously with, a proper motion under §§1.633, 1.634, or 1.635. Any opposition to a petition shall be filed within 15 days of the date of service of the petition.

(c) The filing of a petition shall not stay the proceeding unless a stay is granted in the discretion of the examiner-in-chief, the panel, or the Commissioner.

(d) Any petition must contain a statement of the facts involved and the point or points to be reviewed and the action requested. Briefs or memoranda, if any, in support of the petition or opposition shall accompany or be embodied therein. The petition will be decided on the basis of the record made before the examiner-in-chief or the panel and no new evidence will be considered by the Commissioner in deciding the petition. Copies of documents already of record in the interference shall not be submitted with the petition or opposition.

(e) Any petition under paragraph (a) of this section shall be accompanied by the petition fee set forth in §1.17(h).

(f) Any request for reconsideration of a decision by the Commissioner shall be filed within 15 days of the decision of the Commissioner and must be accompanied by the fee set forth in §1.17(h). No opposition to a request for reconsideration shall be filed unless requested by the Commissioner. The decision will not ordinarily be modified unless such an opposition has been requested by the Commissioner.

(g) Where reasonably possible, service of any petition, opposition, or request for reconsideration shall be such that delivery is accomplished within one working day. Service by hand or "Express Mail" complies with this paragraph.

(h) An oral hearing on the petition will not be granted except when considered necessary by the Commissioner.

(i) The Commissioner may delegate to appropriate Patent and Trademark Office employees the determination of petitions under this section.

§1.645 Extension of time, late papers, stay of proceedings.

(a) A party may file a motion (§1.635) seeking an extension of time to take action in an interference, to file a notice of appeal (§§1.302, 1.304), or to commence a civil action (§§1.303, 1.304). The motion shall be filed within sufficient time to actually reach the examiner-in-chief before expiration of the time for taking action, filing the notice, or commencing the civil action. A moving party should not assume that the motion will be granted even if there is no objection by any other party. The motion will be denied unless the moving party shows good cause why an extension should be granted. The press of other business arising after an examiner-in-chief sets a time for taking action will not normally constitute good cause. A motion seeking additional time to take testimony because a party has not been able to procure the testimony of a witness shall set forth the name of the witness, any steps taken to procure the testimony of the witness, the dates on which the steps were taken, and the facts expected to be proved through the witness.

(b) Any paper belatedly filed will not be considered except upon motion (§1.635) which shows sufficient cause why the paper was not timely filed.

(c) The provisions of §1.136 do not apply to time periods in interferences.

(d) In an appropriate circumstance, an examiner-in-chief may stay proceedings in an interference.

§1.646 Service of papers, proof of service.

(a) A copy of every paper filed in the Patent and Trademark Office in an interference or an application or patent involved in the interference shall be served upon all other parties except:

(1) Preliminary statements when filed under §1.621; preliminary statements shall be served when service is ordered by an examiner-in-chief.

(2) Certified transcripts and exhibits which accompany the transcripts filed under §§1.676 or 1.684; copies of transcripts shall be served as part of a party's record under §1.653(c).

(b) Service shall be on an attorney or agent for a party. If there is no attorney or agent for the party, service shall be on the party. An examiner-in-chief may order additional service or waive service where appropriate.

(c) Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief, or except as otherwise provided by this part, service of a paper shall be made as follows:

(1) By handing a copy of the paper to the person served.

(2) By leaving a copy of the paper with someone employed by the person at the person's usual place of business.

(3) When the person served has no usual place of business, by leaving a copy of the paper at the person's residence with someone of suitable age and discretion then residing therein.

(4) By mailing a copy of the paper by first class mail; when service is by mail the date of mailing is regarded as the date of service.

(5) When it is shown to the satisfaction of an examiner-in-chief that none of the above methods of obtaining or serving the copy of the paper was successful, the examiner-in-chief may order service by publication of an appropriate notice in the Official Gazette.

(d) An examiner-in-chief may order that a paper be served by hand or "Express Mail".

(e) Proof of service must be made before a paper will be considered in an interference. Proof of service may appear on or be affixed to the paper. Proof of service shall include the date and manner of service. In the case of personal service under paragraphs (c)(1) through (c)(3) of this section, proof of service shall include the names of any person served and the person who made the service. Proof of service may be made by an acknowledgment of service by or on behalf of the person served or a statement signed by the party or the party's attorney or agent containing the information required by this section. A statement of an attorney or agent attached to, or appearing in, the paper stating the date and manner of service will be accepted as prima facie proof of service.

§1.647 Translation of document in foreign language.

When a party relies on a document in a language other than English, a translation of the document into English and an affidavit attesting to the accuracy of the translation shall be filed with the document.

§1.651 Setting times for discovery and taking testimony, parties entitled to take testimony.

(a) At an appropriate stage in an interference, an examiner-in-chief shall set (1) a time for filing motions (§1.635) for additional discovery under §1.687(c) and (2) testimony periods for taking any necessary testimony.

(b) Where appropriate, testimony periods will be set to permit a party to:

(1) present its case-in-chief and/or case-in-rebuttal and/or

(2) cross-examine an opponent's case-in-chief and/or a case-in-rebuttal.

(c) A party is not entitled to take testimony to present a case-in-chief unless:

(1) the examiner-in-chief orders the taking of testimony under §1.639(c);

(2) the party alleges in its preliminary statement a date of invention prior to the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of the senior party;

(3) a testimony period has been set to permit an opponent to prove a date of invention prior to the earlier of the filing date or effective filing date of the party and the party has filed a preliminary statement alleging a date of invention prior to that date; or

(4) a motion (§1.635) is filed showing good cause why a testimony period should be set.

(d) Testimony shall be taken during the testimony periods set under paragraph (a) of this section.

§1.652 Judgment for failure to take testimony or file record.

If a junior party fails to timely take testimony authorized under §1.651, or file a record under §1.653(c), an examiner-in-chief, with or without a motion (§1.635) by another party, may issue an order to show cause why judgment should not be entered against the junior party. When an order is issued under this section, the Board shall enter judgment in accordance with the order unless, within 15 days after the date of the order, the junior party files a paper which shows good cause why judgment should not be entered in accordance with the order. Any other party may file a response to the paper within 15 days of the date of service of the paper. If the party against whom the order was issued fails to show good cause, the Board shall enter judgment against the party.

§1.653 Record and exhibits.

(a) Testimony shall consist of affidavits under §1.672(b) and (e), transcripts of depositions under §§1.672(b) and (c), agreed statements of fact under §1.672(f), and transcripts of interrogatories, cross-interrogatories, and recorded answers under §1.684(c).

(b) An affidavit shall be filed as set forth in §1.672(b) or (e). A certified transcript of a deposition including a deposition cross-examining an affiant, shall be filed as set forth in §1.676. An original agreed statement shall be filed as set forth in §1.672(f). A transcript of interrogatories, cross-interrogatories, and recorded answers shall be filed as set forth under §1.684(c).

(c) In addition to the items specified in paragraph (b) of this section and within a time set by an examiner-in-chief each party shall file three copies and serve one copy of a record consisting of:

(1) An index of the names of each witness giving the pages of the record where the direct testimony and cross-examination of each witness begins.

(2) An index of exhibits briefly describing the nature of each exhibit and giving the page of the record where each exhibit is first identified and offered into evidence.

(3) The count or counts.

(4) Each (i) affidavit, (ii) transcript, including transcripts of cross-examination of any affiant, (iii) agreed statement relied upon by the party, and (iv) transcript of interrogatories, cross-interrogatories, and recorded answers filed under paragraph (b) of this section.

(5) Each notice, official record, and publication relied upon by the party and filed under §1.682(a).

(6) Any evidence from another interference, proceeding, or action relied upon by the party under §1.683.

(7) Each request for an admission and the admission and each written interrogatory and the answer upon which a party intends to rely under §1.688.

(d) The pages of the record shall be consecutively numbered.

(e) The name of each witness shall appear at the top of each page of each affidavit or transcript.

(f) The record may be typewritten or printed.

(g) When the record is printed, it may be produced by standard typographical printing or by any process capable of producing a clear black permanent image. All printed matter except on covers must appear in at least 11 point type on opaque, unglazed paper. Margins must be justified. Footnotes may not be printed in type smaller than 9 point. The page size shall be 8-1/2 by 11 inches (21.8 by 27.9 cm.) with type matter 6-1/2 by 9-1/2 inches (16.5 by 24.1 cm.). The record shall be bound to lie flat when open.

(h) When the record is typewritten, it must be clearly legible on opaque, unglazed, durable paper approximately 8-1/2 by 11 inches (21.8 by 27.9 cm.) in size (letter size). Typing shall be double-spaced on one side of the paper in not smaller than pica-type with a margin of 1-1/2 inches (3.8 cm.) on the left-hand side of the page. The pages of the record shall be bound with covers at their left edges in such manner to lie flat when open in one or more volumes of convenient size (approximately 100 pages per volume is suggested). Multigraphed or otherwise reproduced copies conforming to the standards specified in this paragraph may be accepted.

(i) Each party shall file its exhibits with the record specified in paragraph (c) of this section. One copy of each documentary exhibit shall be served. Documentary exhibits shall be filed in an envelope or folder and shall not be bound as part of the record. Physical exhibits, if not filed by an officer under §1.676(d), shall be filed with the record. Each exhibit shall contain a label which identifies the party submitting the exhibit and an exhibit number, the style of the interference (e.g., Jones v. Smith), and the interference number. Where possible, the label should appear at the bottom right-hand corner of each documentary exhibit. Upon termination of an interference, an examiner-in-chief may return an exhibit to the party filing the exhibit. When any exhibit is returned, the examiner-in-chief shall enter an appropriate order indicating that the exhibit has been returned.

(j) Any testimony, record, or exhibit which does not comply with this section may be returned under §1.618(a).

§1.654 Final hearing.

(a) At an appropriate stage of the interference, the parties will be given an opportunity to appear before the Board to present oral argument at a final hearing. An examiner-in-chief shall set a date and time for final hearing. Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief or the Board, each party will be entitled to no more than 60 minutes of oral argument at final hearing.

(b) The opening argument of a junior party shall include a fair statement of the junior party's case and the junior party's position with respect to the case presented on behalf of any other party. A junior party may reserve a portion of its time for rebuttal.

(c) A party shall not be entitled to argue that an opponent abandoned, suppressed, or concealed an actual reduction to practice unless a notice under §1.632 was timely filed.

(d) After final hearing, the interference shall be taken under advisement by the Board. No further paper shall be filed except under §1.658(b) or as authorized by an examiner-in-chief or the Board. No additional oral argument shall be had unless ordered by the Board.

§1.655 Matters considered in rendering a final decision.

(a) In rendering a final decision, the Board may consider any properly raised issue including (1) priority of invention, (2) derivation by an opponent from a party who filed a preliminary statement under §1.625, (3) patentability of the invention, (4) admissibility of evidence, (5) any interlocutory matter deferred to final hearing, and (6) any other matter necessary to resolve the interference. The Board may also consider whether any interlocutory order was manifestly erroneous or an abuse of discretion. All interlocutory orders shall be presumed to have been correct and the burden of showing manifest error or an abuse of discretion shall be on the party attacking the order.

(b) A party shall not be entitled to raise for consideration at final hearing a matter which properly could have been raised by a motion under §§1.633 or 1.634 unless (1) the motion was properly filed, (2) the matter was properly raised by a party in an opposition to a motion under §§1.633 or 1.634 and the motion was granted over the opposition, or (3) the party shows good cause why the issue was not timely raised by motion or opposition.

(c) To prevent manifest injustice, the Board may consider an issue even though it would not otherwise be entitled to consideration under this section.

§1.656 Briefs for final hearing.

(a) Each party shall be entitled to file briefs for final hearing. The examiner-in-chief shall determine the briefs needed and shall set the time and order for filing briefs.

(b) The opening brief of a junior party shall contain under appropriate headings and in the order indicated:

(1) A table of contents, with page references, and a table of cases (alphabetically arranged), statutes, and other authorities cited, with references to the pages of the brief where they are cited.

(2) A statement of the issues presented for decision in the interference.

(3) A statement of the facts relevant to the issues presented for decision with appropriate references to the record.

(4) An argument, which may be preceded by a summary, which shall contain the contentions of the party with respect to the issues to be decided, and the reasons therefor, with citations to the cases, statutes, other authorities, and parts of the record relied on.

(5) A short conclusion stating the precise relief requested.

(6) An appendix containing a copy of the counts.

(c) The opening brief of the senior party shall conform to the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section except:

(1) a statement of the issues and of the facts need not be made unless the party is dissatisfied with the statement in the opening brief of the junior party and

(2) an appendix containing a copy of the counts need not be included if the copy of the counts in the opening brief of the junior party is correct.

(d) Briefs may be printed or typewritten. If typewritten, legal-size paper may be used. The opening brief of each party in excess of 50 legal-size double-spaced typewritten pages or any other brief in excess of 25 legal-size double-space typewritten pages shall be printed unless a satisfactory reason be given why the brief should not be printed. Any printed brief shall comply with the requirements of §1.653(g). Any typewritten brief shall comply with the requirements of §1.653(h), except legal-size paper may be used and the binding and covers specified are not required.

(e) An original and three copies of each brief must be filed.

(f) Any brief which does not comply with the requirements of this section may be returned under §1.618(a).

(g) Any party, separate from its opening brief, but filed concurrently therewith, may file an original and three copies of concise proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law. Any proposed findings of fact shall be supported by specific references to the record. Any proposed conclusions of law shall be supported by citation of cases, statutes, or other authority. Any opposing party, separate from its opening or reply brief, but filed concurrently therewith, may file a paper accepting or objecting to any proposed findings of fact or conclusions of law; when objecting, a reason must be given. The Board may adopt the proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law in whole or in part.

(h) If a party wants the Board in rendering its final decision to rule on the admissibility of any evidence, the party shall file with its opening brief an original and three copies of a motion (§1.635) to suppress the evidence. The provisions of §1.637(b) do not apply to a motion to suppress under this paragraph. Any objection previously made to the admissibility of an opponent's evidence is waived unless the motion required by this paragraph is filed. An original and three copies of an opposition to the motion may be filed with an opponent's opening brief or reply brief as may be appropriate.

(i) When a junior party fails to timely file an opening brief, an order may issue requiring the junior party to show cause why the Board should not treat failure to file the brief as a concession of priority. If the junior party fails to respond within a time period set in the order, judgment may be entered against the junior party.

§1.657 Burden of proof as to date of invention.

A rebuttable presumption shall exist that, as to each count, the inventors made their invention in the chronological order of the earlier of their filing dates or effective filing dates. The burden of proof shall be upon a party who contends otherwise.

§1.658 Final decision.

(a) After final hearing, the Board shall enter a decision resolving the issues raised at final hearing. The decision may (1) enter judgment, in whole or in part, (2) remand the interference to an examiner-in-chief for further proceedings, or (3) take further action not inconsistent with law. A judgment as to a count shall state whether or not each party is entitled to a patent containing the claims in the party's patent or application which correspond to the count. When the Board enters a decision awarding judgment as to all counts, the decision shall be regarded as a final decision.

(b) Any request for reconsideration of a decision under paragraph (a) of this section shall be filed within 14 days after the date of the decision. The request for reconsideration shall specify with particularity the points believed to have been misapprehended or overlooked in rendering the decision. Any reply to a request for reconsideration shall be filed within 14 days of the date of service of the request for reconsideration. Where reasonably possible, service of the request for reconsideration shall be such that delivery is accomplished by hand or "Express Mail." The Board shall enter a decision on the request for reconsideration. If the Board shall be of the opinion that the decision on the request for reconsideration significantly modifies its original decision under paragraph (a) of this section, the Board may designate the decision on the request for reconsideration as a new decision.

(c) A judgment in an interference settles all issues which (1) were raised and decided in the interference, (2) could have been properly raised and decided in the interference by a motion under §1.633 (a) through (d) and (f) through (j) or §1.634 and (3) could have been properly raised and decided in an additional interference with a motion under §1.633(e). A losing party who could have properly moved, but failed to move, under §§1.633 or 1.634, shall be estopped to take ex parte or inter partes action in the Patent and Trademark Office after the interference which is inconsistent with that party's failure to properly move, except that a losing party shall not be estopped with respect to any claims which correspond, or properly could have corresponded, to a count as to which that party was awarded a favorable judgment.

§1.659 Recommendation.

(a) Should the Board have knowledge of any ground for rejecting any application claim not involved in the judgment of the interference, it may include in its decision a recommended rejection of the claim. Upon resumption of ex parte prosecution of the application, the examiner shall be bound by the recommendation and shall enter and maintain the recommended rejection unless an amendment or showing of facts not previously of record is filed which, in the opinion of the examiner, overcomes the recommended rejection.

(b) Should the Board have knowledge of any ground for reexamination of a patent involved in the interference as to a patent claim not involved in the judgment of the interference, it may include in its decision a recommendation to the Commissioner that the patent be reexamined. The Commissioner will determine whether reexamination will be ordered.

(c) The Board may make any other recommendation to the examiner or the Commissioner as may be appropriate.

§1.660 Notice of reexamination, reissue, protest, or litigation.

(a) When a request for reexamination of a patent involved in an interference is filed, the patent owner shall notify the Board within 10 days of receiving notice that the request was filed.

(b) When an application for reissue is filed by a patentee involved in an interference, the patentee shall notify the Board within 10 days of the day the application for reissue is filed.

(c) When a protest under §1.291 is filed against an application involved in an interference, the applicant shall notify the Board within 10 days of receiving notice that the protest was filed.

(d) A party in an interference shall notify the Board promptly of any litigation related to any patent or application involved in an interference, including any civil action commenced under 35 U.S.C. §146.

§1.661 Termination of interference after judgment.

After a final decision is entered by the Board, an interference is considered terminated when no appeal (35 U.S.C. §141) or other review (35 U.S.C. §146) has been or can be taken or had.

§1.662 Request for entry of adverse judgment; reissue filed by patentee.

(a) A party may, at any time during an interference, request and agree to entry of an adverse judgment. The filing by an applicant or patentee of a written disclaimer of the invention defined by a count, concession of priority or unpatentability of the subject matter of a count, abandonment of the invention defined by a count, or abandonment of the contest as to a count will be treated as a request for entry of an adverse judgment against the applicant or patentee as to all claims which correspond to the count. Abandonment of an application by an applicant, other than an applicant for reissue having a claim of the patent sought to be reissued involved in the interference, will be treated as a request for entry of an adverse judgment against the applicant as to all claims corresponding to all counts. Upon the filing by a party of a request for entry of an adverse judgment, the Board may enter judgment against the party.

(b) If a patentee involved in an interference files an application for reissue during the interference and omits all claims of the patent corresponding to the counts of the interference for the purpose of avoiding the interference, judgment may be entered against the patentee. A patentee who files an application for reissue other than for the purpose of avoiding the interference shall timely file a preliminary motion under §1.633(h) or show good cause why the motion could not have been timely filed.

(c) The filing of a statutory disclaimer under 35 U.S.C. §253 by a patentee will delete any statutorily disclaimed claims from being involved in the interference. A statutory disclaimer will not be treated as a request for entry of an adverse judgment against the patentee unless it results in the deletion of all patent claims corresponding to a count.

§1.663 Status of claim of defeated applicant after interference.

Whenever an adverse judgment is entered as to a count against an applicant from which no appeal (35 U.S.C. §141) or other review (35 U.S.C. §146) has been or can be taken or had, the claims of the application corresponding to the count stand finally disposed of without further action by the examiner. Such claims are not open to further ex parte prosecution.

§1.664 Action after interference.

(a) After termination of an interference, the examiner will promptly take such action in any application previously involved in the interference as may be necessary. Unless entered by order of an examiner-in-chief, amendments presented during the interference shall not be entered, but may be subsequently presented by the applicant subject to the provisions of this part provided prosecution of the application is not otherwise closed.

(b) After judgment, the application of any party may be held subject to further examination, including an interference with another application.

§1.665 Second interference.

A second interference between the same parties will not be declared upon an application not involved in an earlier interference for an invention defined by a count of the earlier interference. See §1.658(c).

§1.666 Filing of interference settlement agreements.

(a) Any agreement or understanding between parties to an interference, including any collateral agreements referred to therein, made in connection with or in contemplation of the termination of the interference, must be in writing and a true copy thereof must be filed before the termination of the interference (§1.661) as between the parties to the agreement or understanding.

(b) If any party filing the agreement or understanding under paragraph (a) of this section so requests, the copy will be kept separate from the file of the interference, and made available only to Government agencies on written request, or to any person upon petition accompanied by the fee set forth in §1.17(i) and on a showing of good cause.

(c) Failure to file the copy of the agreement or understanding under paragraph (a) of this section will render permanently unenforceable such agreement or understanding and any patent of the parties involved in the interference or any patent subsequently issued on any application of the parties so involved. The Commissioner may, however, upon petition accompanied by the fee set forth in §1.17(h) and on a showing of good cause for failure to file within the time prescribed, permit the filing of the agreement or understanding during the six month period subsequent to the termination of the interference as between the parties to the agreement or understanding.

§1.671 Evidence must comply with rules.

(a) Evidence consists of testimony and exhibits, official records and publications filed under §1.682, evidence from another interference, proceeding, or action filed under §1.683, and discovery relied upon under §1.688, and the specification (including claims) and drawings of any application or patent:

(1) Involved in the interference.

(2) To which a party has been accorded benefit in the notice declaring the interference or by a preliminary motion granted under §1.633.

(3) For which a party has sought, but has been denied, benefit by a preliminary motion under §1.633.

(4) For which benefit was rescinded by a preliminary motion granted under §1.633.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this part, the Federal Rules of Evidence shall apply to interference proceedings. Those portions of the Federal Rules of Evidence relating to criminal actions, juries, and other matters not relevant to interferences shall not apply.

(c) Unless the context is otherwise clear, the following terms of the Federal Rules of Evidence shall be construed as follows:

(1) "Courts of the United States," "U.S. Magistrate," "court," "trial court," or "trier of fact" means examiner-in-chief or Board as may be appropriate.

(2) "Judge" means examiner-in-chief.

(3) "Judicial notice" means official notice.

(4) "Civil action," "civil proceeding," "action," or "trial," mean interference.

(5) "Appellate court" means United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or a United States district court when judicial review is under 35 U.S.C. §146.

(6) "Before the hearing" in Rule 703 means before giving testimony by oral deposition or affidavit.

(7) "The trial or hearing" in Rules 803(24) and 804(5) means the taking of testimony by oral deposition.

(d) Certification is not necessary as a condition to admissibility when the record is a record of the Patent and Trademark Office to which all parties have access.

(e) A party may not rely on an affidavit filed by that party during ex parte prosecution of an application, an affidavit under §1.608(b), or an affidavit under §1.639(b) unless (1) a copy of the affidavit is or has been served and (2) a written notice is filed prior to the close of the party's relevant testimony period stating that the party intends to rely on the affidavit. When proper notice is given under this paragraph, the affidavit shall be deemed filed under §1.672(b). A copy of the affidavit shall be included in the record (§1.653).

(f) The significance of documentary and other exhibits shall be discussed with particularity by a witness during oral deposition or in an affidavit.

(g) A party must file a motion (§1.635) seeking permission from an examiner-in-chief prior to taking testimony or seeking documents or things under 35 U.S.C. §24. The motion shall describe the general nature and the relevance of the testimony, document, or thing.

(h) Evidence which is not taken or sought and filed in accordance with this subpart shall not be admissible.

§1.672 Manner of taking testimony.

(a) Testimony of a witness may be taken by oral deposition or affidavit in accordance with this subpart.

(b) A party wishing to take the testimony of a witness whose testimony will not be compelled under 35 U.S.C. §24 may elect to present the testimony of the witness by affidavit or deposition. A party electing to present testimony of a witness by affidavit shall, prior to the close of the party's relevant testimony period, file and serve an affidavit of the witness or, where appropriate, a notice under §1.671(e). To facilitate preparation of the record (§1.653(g) and (h)), a party should file an affidavit on paper which is 8-1/2 by 11 inches (21.8 by 27.9 cm). A party shall not be entitled to rely on any document referred to in the affidavit unless a copy of the document is filed with the affidavit. A party shall not be entitled to rely on any thing mentioned in the affidavit unless the opponent is given reasonable access to the thing. A thing is something other than a document. After the affidavit is filed and within a time set by an examiner-in-chief, any opponent may file a request to cross-examine the witness on oral deposition. If any opponent requests cross-examination of an affiant, the party shall notice a deposition under §1.673(e) for the purpose of cross-examination by any opponent. Any redirect and recross shall take place at the deposition. At any deposition for the purpose of cross-examination of a witness whose testimony is presented by affidavit, the party shall not be entitled to rely on any document or thing not mentioned in one or more of the affidavits filed under this paragraph, except to the extent necessary to conduct proper redirect. A party electing to present testimony of a witness by deposition shall notice a deposition of the witness under §1.673(a). The party who gives notice of a deposition shall be responsible for obtaining a court reporter and for filing a certified transcript of the deposition as required by §1.676.

(c) A party wishing to take the testimony of a witness whose testimony will be compelled under 35 U.S.C. §24 must first obtain permission from an examiner-in-chief under §1.671(g). If permission is granted, the party shall notice a deposition of the witness under §1.673 and may proceed under 35 U.S.C. §24. The testimony of the witness shall be taken on oral deposition.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of this subpart, if the parties agree in writing, a deposition may be taken before any person authorized to administer oaths, at any place, upon any notice, and in any manner, and when so taken may be used like other depositions.

(e) If the parties agree in writing, the testimony of any witness may be submitted in the form of an affidavit without opportunity for cross-examination. The affidavit of the witness shall be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office.

(f) If the parties agree in writing, testimony may be submitted in the form of an agreed statement setting forth (1) how a particular witness would testify if called or (2) the facts in the case of one or more of the parties. The agreed statement shall be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office. See §1.653(a).

§1.673 Notice of examination of witness.

(a) A party electing to take testimony of a witness by deposition shall, after complying with paragraphs (b) and (g) of this section, file and serve a single notice of deposition stating the time and place of each deposition to be taken. Depositions may be noticed for a reasonable time and place in the United States. Unless the parties agree in writing, a deposition may not be noticed for any other place without approval of an examiner-in-chief (see §1.684). The notice shall specify the name and address of each witness and the general nature of the testimony to be given by the witness. If the name of a witness is not known, a general description sufficient to identify the witness or a particular class or group to which the witness belongs may be given instead.

(b) Unless the parties agree otherwise, a party shall serve, but not file, at least three days prior to the conference required by paragraph (g) of this section, if service is made by hand or "Express Mail," or at least ten days prior to the conference if service is made by any other means, the following:

(1) A list and copy of each document in the party's possession, custody, or control and upon which the party intends to rely at any deposition and

(2) A list of and a proffer of reasonable access to things in the party's possession, custody, or control and upon which the party intends to rely at any deposition.

(c) A party shall not be permitted to rely at any deposition on any witness not listed in the notice, or any document not served or any thing not listed as required by paragraph (b) of this section, (1) unless all opponents agree in writing or on the record to permit the party to rely on the witness, document, or thing or (2) except upon a motion (§1.635) promptly filed which is accompanied by any proposed notice, additional documents, or lists and which shows sufficient cause why the notice, documents, or lists were not served in accordance with this section.

(d) Each opposing party shall have a full opportunity to attend a deposition and cross-examine. If an opposing party attends a deposition of a witness not named in a notice and cross-examines the witness or fails to object to the taking of the deposition, the opposing party shall be deemed to have waived any right to object to the taking of the deposition for lack of proper notice.

(e) A party electing to present testimony by affidavit and who is required to notice depositions for the purpose of cross-examination under §1.672(b), shall, after complying with paragraph (g) of this section, file and serve a single notice of deposition stating the time and place of each cross-examination deposition to be taken.

(f) The parties shall not take depositions in more than one place at the same time or so nearly at the same time that reasonable opportunity to travel from one place of deposition to another cannot be had.

(g) Before serving a notice of deposition and after complying with paragraph (b) of this section, a party shall have an oral conference with all opponents to attempt to agree on a mutually acceptable time and place for conducting the deposition. A certificate shall appear in the notice stating that the oral conference took place or explaining why the conference could not be had. If the parties cannot agree to a mutually acceptable place and time for conducting the deposition at the conference, the parties shall contact an examiner-in-chief who shall then designate the time and place for conducting the deposition.

(h) A copy of the notice of deposition shall be attached to the certified transcript of the deposition filed under §1.676(a).

§1.674 Persons before whom depositions may be taken.

(a) Within the United States or a territory or insular possession of the United States a deposition shall be taken before an officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States or of the place where the examination is held.

(b) Unless the parties agree in writing, the following persons shall not be competent to serve as an officer: (1) a relative or employee of a party, (2) a relative or employee of an attorney or agent of a party, or (3) a person interested, directly or indirectly, in the interference either as counsel, attorney, agent, or otherwise.

§1.675 Examination of witness, reading and signing transcript of deposition.

(a) Each witness before giving an oral deposition shall be duly sworn according to law by the officer before whom the deposition is to be taken.

(b) The testimony shall be taken in answer to interrogatories with any questions and answers recorded in their regular order by the officer or by some other person, who shall be subject to the provisions of §1.674(b), in the presence of the officer unless the presence of the officer is waived on the record by agreement of all parties.

(c) All objections made at the time of the deposition to the qualifications of the officer taking the deposition, the manner of taking it, the evidence presented, the conduct of any party, or any other objection to the proceeding shall be noted on the record by the officer. Evidence objected to shall be taken subject to any objection.

(d) Unless the parties agree in writing or waive reading and signature by the witness on the record at the deposition, when the testimony has been transcribed a transcript of the deposition shall be read by the witness and then signed by the witness in the form of (1) an affidavit in the presence of any notary or (2) a declaration.

§1.676 Certification and filing by officer, marking exhibits.

(a) The officer shall prepare a certified transcript of the deposition by attaching to a transcript of the deposition a copy of the notice of deposition, any exhibits to be annexed to the certified transcript, and a certificate signed and sealed by the officer and showing:

(1) The witness was duly sworn by the officer before commencement of testimony by the witness.

(2) The transcript is a true record of the testimony given by the witness.

(3) The name of the person by whom the testimony was recorded and, if not recorded by the officer, whether the testimony was recorded in the presence of the officer.

(4) The presence or absence of any opposing party.

(5) The place where the deposition was taken and the day and hour when the deposition began and ended.

(6) The officer is not disqualified under §1.674.

(b) If the parties waived any of the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, the certificate shall so state.

(c) The officer shall note on the certificate the circumstances under which a witness refuses to sign a transcript.

(d) Unless the parties agree otherwise in writing or on the record at the deposition, the officer shall securely seal the certified transcript in an envelope endorsed with the style of the interference (e.g., Smith v. Jones), the interference number, the name of the witness, and the date of sealing and shall promptly forward the envelope to BOX INTERFERENCE, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231. Documents and things produced for inspection during the examination of a witness, shall, upon request of a party, be marked for identification and annexed to the certified transcript, and may be inspected and copied by any party, except that if the person producing the documents and things desires to retain them, the person may (1) offer copies to be marked for identification and annexed to the certified transcript and to serve thereafter as originals if the person affords to all parties fair opportunity to verify the copies by comparison with the originals or (2) offer the originals to be marked for identification, after giving to each party an opportunity to inspect and copy them, in which event the documents and things may be used in the same manner as if annexed to the certified transcript. The exhibits shall then be filed as specified in §1.653(i). If the weight or bulk of a document or thing shall reasonably prevent the document or thing from being annexed to the certified transcript, it shall, unless waived on the record at the deposition by all parties, be authenticated by the officer and forwarded to the Commissioner in a separate package marked and addressed as provided in this paragraph.

§1.677 Form of a transcript of deposition.

(a) A transcript of a deposition must be typewritten on opaque, unglazed, durable paper approximately 8-1/2 by 11 inches (21.8 by 27.9 cm.) in size (letter size). Typing shall be double-spaced on one side of the paper in not smaller than pica-type with a margin of 1-1/2 inches (3.8 cm.) on the left-hand side of the page. The pages must be consecutively numbered throughout the entire record of each party (§1.653(d)) and the name of the witness must be typed at the top of each page (§1.653(e)). The questions propounded to each witness must be consecutively numbered unless paper with numbered lines is used and each question must be followed by its answer.

(b) Exhibits must be numbered consecutively and each must be marked as required by §1.653(i).

§1.678 Transcript of deposition must be filed.

Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief, a certified transcript of a deposition must be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office within 45 days from the date of the deposition. If a party refuses to file a certified transcript, the examiner-in-chief or the Board may take appropriate action under §1.616. If a party refuses to file a certified transcript, any opponent may move for leave to file the certified transcript and include a copy of the transcript as part of the opponent's record.

§1.679 Inspection of transcript.

A certified transcript filed in the Patent and Trademark Office may be inspected by any party. The certified transcript may not be removed from the Patent and Trademark Office for printing (§1.653(g)) unless authorized by an examiner-in-chief upon such terms as may be appropriate.

§1.682 Official records and printed publications.

(a) A party may introduce into evidence, if otherwise admissible, any official record or printed publication not identified on the record during the taking of testimony of a witness, by filing a notice offering the official record or publication into evidence. If the evidence relates to the party's case-in-chief, the notice shall be filed prior to close of testimony of the party's case-in-chief. If the evidence relates to rebuttal, the notice shall be filed prior to the close of testimony of the party's case-in-rebuttal. The notice shall (1) identify the official record or printed publication, (2) identify the portion thereof to be introduced in evidence, (3) indicate generally the relevance of the portion sought to be introduced in evidence, and (4), where appropriate, be accompanied by a certified copy of the official record or a copy of the printed publication (§1.671(d)).

(b) A copy of the notice, official record, and publication shall be served.

(c) Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief, any written objection to the notice or to the admissibility of the official record or printed publication shall be filed within 15 days of service of the notice. See also §1.656(h).

§1.683 Testimony in another interference, proceeding, or action.

(a) Prior to close of a party's appropriate testimony period or within such time as may be set by an examiner-in-chief, a party may file a motion (§1.635) for leave to use in an interference testimony of a witness from another interference, proceeding, or action involving the same parties, subject to such conditions as may be deemed appropriate by an examiner-in-chief. The motion shall specify with particularity the exact testimony to be used and shall demonstrate its relevance.

(b) Any objection to the admissibility of the testimony of the witness shall be made in an opposition to the motion. See also §1.656(h).

§1.684 Testimony in a foreign country.

(a) An examiner-in-chief may authorize testimony of a witness to be taken in a foreign country. A party seeking to take testimony in a foreign country shall, prior to the close of the party's appropriate testimony period or within such time as may be set by an examiner-in-chief, file a motion (§1.635):

(1) Naming the witness.

(2) Describing the particular facts to which it is expected that the witness will testify.

(3) Stating the grounds on which the moving party believes that the witness will so testify.

(4) Demonstrating that the expected testimony is relevant.

(5) Demonstrating that the testimony cannot be taken in this country at all or cannot be taken in this country without hardship to the moving party greatly exceeding the hardship to which all opposing parties will be exposed by the taking of the testimony in a foreign country.

(6) Accompanied by an affidavit stating that the motion is made in good faith and not for the purpose of delay or harassing any party.

(7) Accompanied by written interrogatories to be asked of the witness.

(b) Any opposition under §1.638(a) shall state any objection to the written interrogatories and shall include any cross-interrogatories to be asked of the witness. A reply under §1.638(b) may be filed and shall be limited to stating any objection to any cross-interrogatories proposed in the opposition.

(c) If the motion is granted, the moving party shall be responsible for obtaining answers to the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories before an officer qualified to administer oaths in the foreign country under the laws of the United States or the foreign country. The officer shall prepare a transcript of the interrogatories, cross-interrogatories, and recorded answers to the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories and shall transmit the transcript to BOX INTERFERENCE, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, with a certificate signed and sealed by the officer and showing:

(1) The witness was duly sworn by the officer before answering the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories.

(2) The recorded answers are a true record of the answers given by the witness to the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories.

(3) The name of the person by whom the answers were recorded and, if not recorded by the officer, whether the answers were recorded in the presence of the officer.

(4) The presence or absence of any party.

(5) The place, day, and hour that the answers were recorded.

(6) A copy of the recorded answers was read by or to the witness before the witness signed the recorded answers and that the witness signed the recorded answers in the presence of the officer. The officer shall state the circumstances under which a witness refuses to read or sign recorded answers.

(7) The officer is not disqualified under §1.674.

(d) If the parties agree in writing, the testimony may be taken before the officer on oral deposition.

(e) A party taking testimony in a foreign country shall have the burden of proving that false swearing in the giving of testimony is punishable as perjury under the laws of the foreign country. Unless false swearing in the giving of testimony before the officer shall be punishable as perjury under the laws of the foreign country where testimony is taken, the testimony shall not be entitled to the same weight as testimony taken in the United States. The weight of the testimony shall be determined in each case.

§1.685 Errors and irregularities in depositions.

(a) An error in a notice for taking a deposition is waived unless a motion (§1.635) to quash the notice is filed as soon as the error is, or could have been, discovered.

(b) An objection to a qualification of an officer taking a deposition is waived unless:

(1) The objection is made on the record of the deposition before a witness begins to testify.

(2) If discovered after the deposition, a motion (§1.635) to suppress the deposition is filed as soon as the objection is, or could have been, discovered.

(c) An error or irregularity in the manner in which testimony is transcribed, a certified transcript is signed by a witness, or a certified transcript is prepared, signed, certified, sealed, indorsed, forwarded, filed, or otherwise handled by the officer is waived unless a motion (§1.635) to suppress the deposition is filed as soon as the error or irregularity is, or could have been, discovered.

(d) An objection to the competency of a witness, admissibility of evidence, manner of taking the deposition, the form of questions and answers, any oath or affirmation, or conduct of any party at the deposition is waived unless an objection is made on the record at the deposition stating the specific ground of objection. Any objection which a party wishes considered by the Board at final hearing shall be included in a motion to suppress under §1.656(h).

(e) Nothing in this section precludes taking notice of plain errors affecting substantial rights although they were not brought to the attention of an examiner-in-chief or the Board.

§1.687 Additional Discovery.

(a) A party is not entitled to discovery except as authorized in this subpart.

(b) Where appropriate, a party may obtain production of documents and things during cross-examination of an opponent's witness or during the testimony period of the party's case-in-rebuttal.

(c) Upon a motion (§1.635) brought by a party within the time set by an examiner-in-chief under §1.651 or thereafter as authorized by §1.645 and upon a showing that the interest of justice so requires, an examiner-in-chief may order additional discovery, as to matters under the control of a party within the scope of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, specifying the terms and conditions of such additional discovery.

(d) The parties may agree to discovery among themselves at any time. In the absence of an agreement, a motion for additional discovery shall not be filed except as authorized by this subpart.

§1.688 Use of discovery.

(a) If otherwise admissible a party may introduce into evidence, an answer to a written request for an admission or an answer to a written interrogatory obtained by discovery under §1.687 by filing a copy of the request for admission or the written interrogatory and the answer. If the answer relates to a party's case-in-chief, the answer shall be filed prior to the close of testimony of the party's case-in-chief. If the answer relates to the party's rebuttal, the admission or answer shall be filed prior to the close of testimony of the party's case-in-rebuttal. Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief, any written objection to the admissibility of an answer shall be filed within 15 days of service of the answer.

(b) A party may not rely upon any other matter obtained by discovery unless it is introduced into evidence under this subpart.

1. In the second column after the last full paragraph, the following paragraph is added:

An oral comment was received by telephone concerning the declaration of an interference under §§1.603 and 1.606 with applications filed under the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 157—Statutory Invention Registration (SIR). Under 35 U.S.C. 157(c), a published SIR has all of the attributes specified for patents except those specified in 35 U.S.C. 183 and 271 to 289. Consequently, interferences will be declared between an application and either an application containing a request for a SIR (37 CFR 1.293) or a published SIR. Until sufficient experience is gained by the PTO, the interference will be conducted by procedure established on a case by case basis.

In the second column, after the first full paragraph, the following paragraph is added:

Oral comments have been received by telephone concerning the doctrine of interference estoppel under 37 CFR 1.658(c) with respect to a party's failure to move under 37 CFR 1.633(e) to declare an "additional interference" between an additional application not involved in the interference and owned by the party and an opponent's application or patent involved in the interference on a separate patentable invention. Generally a party will be estopped for failure to move when the separate patentable invention (subject matter) which could have been the subject of the "additional interference" was claimed (during the pendency of the interference) (1) in the opponent's involved application or patent or (2) in a non-involved application owned by the party.

The following illustrates the general applicability of interference estoppel in certain situations where a party fails to move under 37 CFR 1.633(e) to declare an "additional interference" on a separate patentable invention.

(174) Animals — Patentability

A decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Allen, 2 USPQ2d 1425 (Bd. App. & Int., Apr. 3, 1987), held that claimed polyploid oysters are nonnaturally occurring manufactures or compositions of matter within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 101. The Board relied upon the opinion of the Supreme Court in Diamond v. Chakrabarty, 447 U.S. 303, 206 USPQ 193 (1980) as it had done in Ex parte Hibbard, 227 USPQ 443 (Bd. App. & Int., 1985), as controlling authority that Congress intended statutory subject matter to "include anything under the sun that is made by man." The Patent and Trademark Office now considers nonnaturally occurring non-human multicellular living organisms, including animals, to be patentable subject matter within the scope of 35 U.S.C. 101.

The Board's decision does not affect the principle and practice that products found in nature will not be considered to be patentable subject matter under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 102. An article of manufacture or composition of matter occurring in nature will not be considered patentable unless given a new form, quality, properties or combination not present in the original article existing in nature in accordance with existing law. See e.g. Funk Bros. Seed Co. v. Kalo Inoculant Co., 333 U.S. 127, 76 USPQ 280 (1948); American Fruit Growers v. Brogdex, 283 U.S. 1, 8 USPQ 131 (1931); Ex Parte Grayson, 51 USPQ 413 (Bd. App. 1941).

A claim directed to or including within its scope a human being will not be considered to be patentable subject matter under 35 U.S.C. 101. The grant of a limited, but exclusive property right in a human being is prohibited by the Constitution. Accordingly, it is suggested that any claim directed to a non-plant multicellular organism which would include a human being within its scope include the limitation "non-human" to avoid this ground of rejection. The use of a negative limitation to define the metes and bounds of the claimed subject matter is a permissible form of expression, In re Wakefield, 422 F.2d 897, 164 USPQ 636 (CCPA 1970).

Accordingly, the Patent and Trademark Office is now examining claims directed to multicellular living organisms, including animals. To the extent that the claimed subject matter is directed to a non-human "nonnaturally occurring manufacture or composition of matter — a product of human ingenuity" (Diamond v. Chakrabarty), such claims will not be rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as being directed to nonstatutory subject matter.

Arbitration of Patent Interference Cases

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Final rule.

Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office is amending its rules to implement the arbitration provisions of section 105 of the Patent Law Amendments Act of 1984, Pub. L. 98–622.
Effective Date: May 27, 1987.
For Further Information Contact: Ian A. Calvert or Michael Sofocleous by telephone at (703) 557–4000 or by mail marked to the attention of either and addressed to Box Interference, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: Section 105 of the Patent Law Amendments Act of 1984, enacted Nov. 8, 1984, provides for the arbitration of patent interference cases. Section 105, codified as 35 U.S.C. 135(d), provides:

Parties to a patent interference, within such time as may be specified by the Commissioner by regulation, may determine such contest or any aspect thereof by arbitration. Such arbitration shall be governed by the provisions of title 9 to the extent such title is not inconsistent with this section. The parties shall give notice of any arbitration award to the Commissioner, and such award shall, as between the parties to the arbitration, be dispositive of the issues to which it relates. The arbitration award shall be unenforceable until such notice is given. Nothing in this subsection shall preclude the Commissioner from determining patentability of the invention involved in the interference.

The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) conducts interference proceedings to determine any question of patentability and priority of invention between two or more parties claiming the same patentable invention. An interference may be declared between two or more pending applications naming different inventors when, in the opinion of an examiner, the applications contain claims for the same patentable invention. An interference may be declared between one or more pending applications and one or more unexpired patents naming different inventors when, in the opinion of an examiner, any application and any unexpired patent contain claims for the same patentable invention. Patent interference cases can be quite expensive. Arbitration may prove useful to minimize expenses in interference cases. The arbitration rule applies to all pending interferences.

The PTO published an advance notice of rulemaking in the Federal Register of Jan. 16, 1985 (50 FR 2294–2296). The notice was also published in the Official Gazette on Feb. 12, 1985 (1051 O.G. 9–10). The notice also appeared in the Bureau of National Affairs' Patent, Trademark and Copyright Journal, Vol. 29, p. 310 (Jan. 24, 1985), hereinafter "BNA." Five written comments were received in response to the advance notice.

A notice of proposed rulemaking was published in the Federal Register on Sept. 15, 1986 (51 FR 32756–32762), in the Official Gazette on Oct. 21, 1986 (1071 O.G. 25–31), and in BNA's Patent, Trademark and Copyright Journal, Vol. 32, pp. 552–558 (Sept. 18, 1986). In response to the notice, three comments, two in writing and one by telephone, were received. These comments are discussed herein.

All written comments are available for public inspection in Rm. 10C01, Crystal Gateway 2, 1225 Jefferson Davis Hwy., Arlington, Va.

Discussion of the Rule

Under §1.690 the arbitrator can determine issues of patentability as between the parties but a determination by him or her that the subject matter is patentable would not be binding upon the PTO. If the arbitrator's award holds that a party's claims corresponding to the count are unpatentable over prior art or under 35 U.S.C. 112, that determination would be binding on that party vis-a-vis the party's opponent and would result in a judgment adverse to that party. The judgment, however, would not discharge the duty that each party has under 37 CFR 1.56 to bring to the attention of the examiner in charge of its respective application any prior art and/or reason relied upon by the arbitrator in the determination of unpatentability.

It is the longstanding practice of the PTO to favor the settlement of interferences and the PTO looks with favor on all proper efforts in that direction as being conducive to the termination of the proceeding. See 4 Revise and Caesar, Interference Law and Practice, section 861, p. 2956 (Michie Co. 1948) and the Commissioner's Notice of Nov. 9, 1976, titled, "Extensions of Time and Filing of Papers in Interferences," 953 Official Gazette 2 (Dec. 7, 1976). In this regard, the notice states that:

> • • • stipulation or motions for extensions of time under 37 CFR 1.245 will not henceforth be approved or granted, respectively, unless accompanied by a detailed showing of facts sufficient to establish that the action for which the extension is sought could not have been or cannot be taken or completed during the time previously set therefor, and that the entire extension appears necessary for the taking or completion of that action. Since the Office favors the amicable settlement of interferences, the foregoing requirement will be liberally applied in the case of a first request for extension of time for the purpose of negotiating settlement.

Consequently, the examiner-in-chief may give favorable consideration to a motion for an extension of time for purposes of settlement; however, a further motion for an extension for that purpose would not be granted unless it is accompanied by a schedule of specific dates showing that the parties will make a good faith effort to promptly terminate the proceeding. If preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 have not been filed, the examiner-in-chief would not normally extend the time for their filing merely for purposes of settlement. In these circumstances, the examiner-in-chief would require that the preliminary motions be filed or that their filing be waived.

If the proceeding is in the testimony stage, the examiner-in-chief could grant the parties' motion to extend all the unexpired testimony times to close concurrently on the date the record is due provided they file a stipulation that any evidence to be submitted will be in one of the forms specified in 37 CFR 1.672(e) and (f), i.e., affidavit testimony or a stipulation either as to what a particular witness would testify to if called or the facts in the case of any party.

Analogously, the aforesaid practice would apply to arbitration. Section 1.690 requires that parties who intend to arbitrate an interference notify the examiner-in-chief in writing of their intention to arbitrate and file a copy of the arbitration agreement within 20 days of its execution. Pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 135(c) an agreement to arbitrate is considered to be one "made in connection with and in contemplation of the termination of the interference". The agreement must be in writing a copy filed in the PTO within 20 days after its execution. The notification of intention to arbitrate must be made in a separate paper. Merely incorporating the notification in the agreement is not sufficient to comply with §1.690(a). The parties also will be required to adhere to a time schedule approved by the examiner-in-chief such that the interference proceeding can be expeditiously resolved so as to prevent the unnecessary postponement of the beginning of the running of the term of any patent resulting from an application involved in the interference. Pritchard v. Loughlin, 361 F.2d 483, 149 USPQ 841 (CCPA 1966).

If the parties desire to arbitrate an interference prior to the close of the motion period, the examiner-in-chief will not normally grant an extension of time for the purpose. The parties will be required to file their preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633. After the motions are filed, the examiner-in-chief could grant an extension only upon compliance with 37 CFR 1.645 which requires a showing of "good cause." Such a "good cause" showing would normally include a schedule, agreed to by the parties, setting forth, inter alia, the dates for (1) executing the arbitration agreement, (2) determining priority and (3) terminating the interference.

Section 1.690(a) requires that an arbitration agreement include the following:

(1) The name of the arbitrator or a date certain (not more than 30 days after the execution of the agreement) for his or her selection.
(2) The issues to be decided by the arbitrator.
(3) A provisions that the arbitrator's award is binding on the parties and that the Board can enter a judgment based thereon.

Section 1.690(c) requires that a copy of the arbitration award be filed within 20 days from the date of the award or by a date set by the examiner-in-chief.

If the proceeding is in the testimony stage and the parties desire to arbitrate, the examiner-in-chief could grant a reasonable extension for that purpose. A motion for a further extension for that purpose would not be granted unless it were accompanied by a schedule, agreed to by the parties, setting forth, inter alia, the dates for (1) executing the arbitration agreement, (2) determining priority, and (3) terminating the interference. If the parties are to submit the required schedule, a motion for a further extension could be granted. If the parties file a copy of the arbitration agreement and they agree that any evidence submitted in the proceeding will be in one of the forms specified by 37 CFR 1.672(e) or (f), the examiner-in-chief could give favorable consideration to the parties' motion that all the unexpired times be extended to close concurrently on the date the record is due. By that date, the parties would be required to file the arbitrator's award and their records, if necessary for the resolution of any issue not decided by the arbitrator. If the award is not dispositive of all the issues in the interference, the examiner-in-chief would set brief times so that parties could explain their evidence relating to any issues which the arbitrator did not, or was unable to decide. For example, the award might be dispositive of the issue of priority between the parties and leave for the Board's determination the question of substituting a new count raised in a preliminary motion under 37 CFR 1.633.

The arbitration award, filed by the parties, would be in the nature of a final decision and should include the following:

(1) The style (e.g., Jones v. Smith), the number of the interference and the names of the real parties in interest.
(2) The subject matter in issue, i.e., the counts and a table of counts, if necessary, indicating the relationship of the parties' claims corresponding to each count and those claims not corresponding thereto.
(3) The issues for decision before the arbitrator.
(4) The arbitrator's decision. The decision may also include a statement of the grounds and reasoning in support thereof.
(5) A summary, if appropriate, indicating, inter alia, that judgment should be awarded to one of the parties.

Any party to the arbitration can attack the award only in the manner provided by 9 U.S.C. 10 and 11.

9 U.S.C. 10 reads as follows:

> In either of the following cases the United States court in and for the district wherein the award was made may make an order vacating the award upon the application of any party to the arbitration—
> (a) Where the award was procured by corruption, fraud, or undue means.
> (b) Where there was evident partiality or corruption in the arbitrators, or either of them.
> (c) Where the arbitrators were guilty of misconduct in refusing to postpone the hearing, upon sufficient cause shown, or in refusing to hear evidence pertinent and material to the controversy; or of any other misbehavior by which the rights of any part have been prejudiced.
> (d) Where the arbitrators exceeded their powers, or so imperfectly execute them that a mutual, final, and definite award upon the subject matter submitted was not made.
> (e) Where an award is vacated and the time within which the agreement required the award to be made has not expired the court may, in its discretion, direct a rehearing by the arbitrators.

9 U.S.C. 11 reads as follows:

> In either of the following cases, the United States court in and for the district wherein the award was made may make an order modifying or correcting the award upon the application of any party to the arbitration—
> (a) Where there was an evident material miscalculation of figures or an evident material mistake in the description of any person, thing, or property referred to in the award.
> (b) Where the arbitrators have awarded upon a matter not submitted to them, unless it is a matter not affecting the merits of the decision upon the matter submitted.
> (c) Where the award is imperfect in matter of form not affecting the merits of the controversy.
> The order may modify and correct the award, so as to effect the intent thereof and promote justice between the parties.

See, for example, Fairchild and Co., Inc. v. Richmond, F. and P. R. Co., 516 F.Supp. 1305 (D.D.C. 1981). If such an attack were to be made by one of the parties while the interference is pending before the Board, the Board would not stay the interference. Rather, the Board would issue its judgment in accordance with the award. So long as the award is in compliance with §1.690, it would carry the presumption that the arbitrator acted correctly in making his decision and accordingly, the party designated by the award as the prevailing party would be entitled prima facie to a judgment in its favor. If the dissatisfied party brings an action in an appropriate United States district court and if the court vacates, modifies or corrects the award, the Board would take action consistent with the court's findings. No action would lie in the PTO to vacate or correct an arbitration award, unless all parties agreed in writing.

Arbitration Practice—Preliminary Stage

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. The parties decide to arbitrate the interference in accordance with §1.690 and file a motion for an extension of time so that they can "freely" arbitrate the interference, but do not file a waiver of their right to file motions.

The examiner-in-chief would deny the motion because the parties' intention to arbitrate, in and of itself, does not constitute a showing of "good cause" within the meaning of 37 CFR 1.645(a). Even if the parties file an agreement to arbitrate, the PTO would not grant any extension of time to permit the parties to "freely" arbitrate an interference prior to the expiration of the time for filing preliminary motions.

Arbitration Practice—Testimony Stage

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633. The parties file preliminary motions; the examiner-in-chief renders a decision thereon and sets the testimony times. The parties file a notice of intent to arbitrate the interference under §1.690(a) and a motion for a one month extension of the testimony times. The examiner-in-chief could grant the motion, but would indicate that if the parties file another motion for an extension for that purpose, the motion must be accompanied by a schedule, agreed to by the parties, setting forth the dates for (1) executing the arbitration agreement, (2) determining priority and (3) terminating the interference.

The parties file a motion for an additional one month extension of time to permit the parties to arbitrate the interference. Accompanying the motion is a proposed schedule of times and a copy of the arbitration agreement which provides, inter alia, (i) the name of the arbitrator or a date certain for his selection, (ii) that the arbitrator's award will be binding on the parties, (iii) the issues to be decided by the arbitrator and (iv) that the award will be filed by the date the record is due. The parties also indicate that the evidence to be filed in the proceeding will be in one of the forms specified by 37 CFR 1.672(e) or (f). The examiner-in-chief could grant the motion and indicate that he will give favorable consideration to a motion to extend all the unexpired times to close concurrently on the date the record is due should the parties request such.

On the date for filing the record, the parties file the arbitrator's award and their evidentiary records, if necessary. The award states (i) the style and number of the interference and the real parties in interest, (ii) the subject matter in issue and the parties' claims which correspond thereto and which do not correspond thereto, (iii) the issues for decision before the arbitrator, (iv) the arbitrator's decision (which may include a statement of the grounds and reasoning in support thereof) and (v) that judgment should be awarded to one of the parties. The examiner-in-chief examines the award to ensure that it complies with §1.690 and is dispositive of the issues in the interference which can be decided by the arbitrator. If the award is otherwise acceptable, the Board would issue a judgment based on the award. If the award is not dispositive of all the issues in the interference, the examiner-in-chief would determine how the interference will proceed.

Arbitration Practice—Award Decides Interference-in-Fact Issue and Junior Party Takes No Testimony

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. The junior party files a motion for judgment under 37 CFR 1.633(b) on the ground that there is no interference-in-fact between his claims corresponding to the count and his opponent's claims corresponding thereto. The examiner-in-chief denies the motion, examines the preliminary statements and sets the testimony times.

During the testimony period, the parties decide to arbitrate the interference, notify the examiner-in-chief of their intent to arbitrate and file an arbitration agreement which is approved by the examiner-in-chief. On the date for filing the record, the junior party files the award together with a motion requesting that the interference be terminated in view of the award. He does not file a record. In his award the arbitrator holds that no interference-in-fact exists between the parties' claims corresponding to the count.

The motion would be denied because the award decides a matter of patentability which would not result in a judgment adverse to one of the parties. Consequently, the junior party would be placed under an order to show cause why judgment under 37 CFR 1.652 should not be entered against him for his failure to file an evidentiary record by the time set therefore. In response to the order, the junior party requests final hearing to review the examiner-in-chief's denial of the motion for judgment and a testimony period to show no interference-in-fact. The examiner-in-chief would grant the junior party's request to the extent that final hearing is set and would deny the request for testimony because the junior party already had the opportunity to take testimony on the matter.

Arbitration Practice—Cannot Decide Patentability

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR

1.633 and preliminary statements. The junior party files a motion for judgment under 37 CFR 1.633(a) on the ground that the claims corresponding to the count are unpatentable over prior art. In his decision on motions, the examiner-in-chief grants the motion and places both parties under an order pursuant to 37 CFR 1.640(d)(1) to show cause why judgment should not be entered against them as to the count. In response to the order, the senior party files a paper in accordance with 37 CFR 1.640(e) purportedly showing good cause why judgment should not be entered in accordance with the order and a motion requesting permission to arbitrate the patentability issue. The examiner-in-chief would deny the motion. The arbitrator is without authority to establish vis-a-vis the public that the subject matter of the court is patentable. Thus, the arbitration will serve no useful purpose. The Board would consider the senior party's paper and enter an appropriate order.

Arbitration Practice—Award After Decision on Motions

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. The junior party files a motion for judgment under 37 CFR 1.633(a) on the ground that the claims corresponding to counts 1 and 2 are unpatentable over prior art. In his decision on motions, the examiner-in-chief grants the motion with respect to count 1, denies the motion with respect to count 2 and places both parties under an order pursuant to 37 CFR 1.640(d)(1) to show cause why judgment should not be entered against them as to count 1. The senior party files a paper in accordance with 37 CFR 1.640(e); the junior party, a response thereto. The Board considers the paper and the response thereto and based on the record enters judgment adverse to both parties as to count 1. Thereafter, the examiner-in-chief examines the preliminary statements and sets dates for taking testimony and filing the record.

During the testimony period, the parties decide to arbitrate the interference, notify the examiner-in-chief of their intent to arbitrate and file an arbitration agreement which is approved by the examiner-in-chief. In his award, the arbitrator decides that judgment should be awarded to the junior party. On the date for filing the record, both parties file the award together with a motion requesting that the interference be terminated in view of the award. No record is filed.

The motion would be granted and accordingly it would be held that the senior party is not entitled to a patent containing his claims corresponding to count 2.

Arbitration Practice—Award Decides Patentability

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. No motions for judgment under 37 CFR 1.633 are filed and after the examination of the preliminary statements, the examiner-in-chief sets the testimony times.

During the testimony period, the parties decide to arbitrate the interference, notify the examiner-in-chief of their intent to arbitrate and file an arbitration agreement which is approved by the examiner-in-chief. In his award, the arbitrator finds (1) that the evidence is insufficient to establish a prior public use bar under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) against the junior party, (2) that the claims of the junior party corresponding to the count are patentable under 35 U.S.C. 103 over the prior art cited by the senior party to the junior party, and (3) that judgment on priority should be awarded to junior party. On the date for filing together with a motion requesting that the interference be terminated in view of the award.

The motion would be granted and accordingly it would be held that the senior party is not entitled to a patent containing his claims corresponding to the count. After the termination of the proceeding, each party has the duty under 37 CFR 1.56 to bring before the primary examiner the evidence concerning the purported public use bar and the prior art cited by the senior party and/or considered by the arbitrator.

Arbitration Practice—Award Grants Priority to Junior Party Contingent Upon Granting of Preliminary Motion Under 1.633(C)

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. The junior party files a motion under 37 CFR 1.633(c)(1) to substitute another count. The examiner-in-chief denies the motion, examines the preliminary statements and sets the testimony times.

During the testimony period, the parties decide to arbitrate the interference, notify the examiner-in-chief of their intention to arbitrate and enter into an arbitration agreement which is approved by the examiner-in-chief. The agreement provides that any evidence to be submitted by the parties will be in the form of a stipulation under 37 CFR 1.672(e) and (f). The parties file a motion requesting that all the unexpired testimony times be extended to close concurrently on the date the record is due. The motion would be granted.

On the date for filing the record, the junior party files his record and the award. The award states, inter alia, that if the Board at final hearing should grant the junior party's motion under 37 CFR 1.633(c)(1) to substitute a new count, judgment should be awarded to the junior party based on the evidence. Otherwise, the award states that judgment should be awarded to the senior party.

The examiner-in-chief sets the brief times and after the filing thereof the interference would be set for final hearing so that the Board can review the examinter-in-chief's denial of the junior party's motion under 37 CFR 1.633(c) and issue an appropriate judgment based on the award.

Arbitration Practice—Award Attacked

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. No preliminary motions are filed. The examiner-in-chief examines the preliminary statements and sets the testimony times.

During the testimony period, the parties decide to arbitrate the interference, notify the examiner-in-chief of their intention to arbitrate and file an arbitration agreement which is approved by the examiner-in-chief.

On the date for filing the record, both parties file their records. The junior party files the award which states that judgment should be awarded to him and a motion for judgment based on that award. The senior party files an opposition to the motion for judgment on the grounds (i) that the award contains errors of law, (ii) that the award was procured by "corruption, fraud or undue means" in violation of 9 U.S.C. 10(a), and (iii) that the arbitrator exhibited "evident partiality" in violation of 9 U.S.C. 10(b) and was "guilty of misconduct * * * in refusing to hear evidence pertinent and material" to the interference, citing 9 U.S.C. 10(c).

The Board would grant the judgment based on the award, holding that the senior party is not entitled to a patent containing his claims corresponding to the count. So long as the award is in compliance with the provisions of §1.690, it would carry a presumption that the arbitrator acted properly in all respects. Consequently, before the PTO the award is binding upon the parties and the junior party is prima facie entitled to a judgment in its favor. Thus, no action lies in the PTO as regards the matter raised by the senior party. The senior party's action lies in an appropriate United States district court and the PTO would take any action consistent with the court's decision.

Arbitration Practice—Award Cannot Modify Board's Final Decision

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. No motions are filed. The examiner-in-chief examines the preliminary statements and sets the testimony times.

During the testimony period, the parties decide to arbitrate the interference and enter into an arbitration agreement. Neither party notifies the examiner-in-chief of their intent to arbitrate nor do they file a copy of the agreement in the interference. Both parties timely file their records and briefs. Both waive oral argument. The Board enters a final decision after consideration of the evidence in favor of the senior party.

The junior party requests reconsideration of the Board's final decision, submits a copy of the arbitration award and moves that the Board set aside its final decision and enter judgment in his favor based on the award. In support of its request, the junior party cites 9 U.S.C. 9, which provides that "any party to the arbitration may apply to the court so specified for an order confirming the award" and 35 U.S.C. 135(d) which provides that title 9 applies to interference arbitrations.

The Board would deny the motion to set aside. The parties did not comply with §1.690(a), i.e., notify the examiner-in-chief in writing of their intention to arbitrate and file a copy of the arbitration agreement within twenty (20) days of its execution. The denial of the motion is an appropriate sanction under 37 CFR 1.616. Such action by the Board is considered consistent with long-standing interference practice. Cf. Humphrey v. Fickert, 1904 Dec. Comm'r. Pat. 447 (Comm'r. 1904) wherein the Board, after it had considered the evidence, refused to set aside its award of priority to Fickert and act upon the Fickert's concession of priority in favor of Humphrey, the losing party.

Arbitration Award Filed With Record—No Notice to Examiner-In-Chief

An interference is declared on or after Feb. 11, 1985. The examiner-in-chief sets a time in accordance with 37 CFR 1.611 for filing preliminary motions under 37 CFR 1.633 and preliminary statements. No motions are filed. The examiner-in-chief examines the preliminary statements and sets the testimony times.

During the testimony period, the parties decide to arbitrate the interference and enter into an arbitration agreement. Neither party notifies the examiner-in-chief of the agreement. The junior party timely files its record together with a copy of the arbitration award and a motion for judgment based on the award.

The motion would be denied. Under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.616, the examiner-in-chief would place both parties under an order to show cause why judgment should not be rendered against them for their failure to comply with 1.690(a), i.e., failing to notify him of their intent to arbitrate and file a copy of the arbitration agreement.

Discussion of Comments

One commentor suggested that the expression "An interference or any aspect thereof shall be arbitrated" in part (b) of proposed §1.690 might be construed as going beyond the terms of the statute by authorizing an examiner-in-chief to require the parties to arbitrate an interference, and proposed that the quoted language be changed to "An arbitration proceeding under this section shall be conducted." To eliminate any possible misconstruction of the rule, this proposal has been adopted.

A second commentor suggested, by telephone, that a provision be added to proposed §1.690 requiring that the arbitrator be familiar with United States interference practice, and that United States law be applied by the arbitrator in making the determination. He expressed the fear that a foreign arbitrator might reach a result contrary to established domestic law.

This suggestion has not been adopted. It is incumbent upon the parties to select the arbitrator, and to satisfy themselves as to his or her qualifications. Presumably if the arbitrator's decision is contrary to established law, any resulting patent would be subject to attack on that ground by a third party in subsequent litigation.

Another commentor stated that, with the arbitration rule, the PTO was "attempting to apply a band-aid to a system which cannot be cured by application of a band-aid," and that the first-to-file system should be adopted in place of the first-to-invent system. This suggestion is obviously far beyond the scope of the rule change under consideration. The first-to-invent system is mandated by statute and could not be replaced merely by a change in the rules. The purpose of §1.690 is to establish a specific procedure governing the optional arbitration of interferences provided by section 105 of Pub. L. 98–622.

Other Considerations

This rule does not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment or the conservation of natural resources.

The rule is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96–354), Executive Order 12291, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce certified to the Small Business Administration that the rule will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act. Pub. L. 96–354) because arbitration intended to minimize expenses in interference cases.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effects on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, federal, state or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The rule will not impose a burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., since no record keeping or reporting requirements within the coverage of the Act are placed upon the public.

List of Subjects in 37 CFR Part 1

Administrative practice and procedure, Authority delegations, Conflicts of interest, Courts, Inventions and patents, Lawyers.

For the reasons set out in the preamble and under the authority given to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks by 35 U.S.C. 6 and 135, Part 1 of Title 37 CFR is amended as follows:

PART 1—RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 would continue to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6 unless otherwise noted.

2. New §1.690 is added to Subpart E to read as follows:

§1.690 Arbitration of Interferences.

(a) Parties to a patent interference may determine the interference or any aspect thereof by arbitration. Such arbitration shall be governed by the provisions of Title 9, United States Code. The parties must notify the Board in writing of their intention to arbitrate. An agreement to arbitrate must be in writing, specify the issues to be arbitrated, the name of the arbitrator or a date not more than thrity (30) days after the execution of the agreement for the selection of the arbitrator, and provide that the arbitrator's award shall be binding on the parties and that judgment thereon can be entered by the Board. A copy of the agreement must be filed within twenty (20) days after its execution. The parties shall be solely responsible for the selection of the arbitrator and the rules for conducting proceedings before the arbitrator. Issues not disposed of by arbitration will be resolved in accordance with the procedures established in 37 CFR, Subpart E of Part 1, as determined by the examiner-in-chief.

(b) An arbitration proceeding under this section shall be conducted within such time as may be authorized on a case-by-case basis by an examiner-in-chief.

(c) An arbitration award will be given no consideration unless it is binding on the parties, is in writing and states in a clear and definite manner (1) the issue or issues arbitrated and (2) the disposition of each issue. The award may also include a statement of the grounds and reasoning in support thereof. Unless otherwise ordered by an examiner-in-chief, the parties shall give notice to the Board of an arbitration award by filing within twenty (20) days from the date of the award a copy of the award signed by the arbitrator or arbitrators. When an award is timely filed, the award shall, as to the parties to the arbitration, be dispositive of the issue or issues to which it relates.

(d) An arbitration award shall not preclude the Office from determining patentability of any invention involved in the interference.

Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

(176) Disclosure Document Program

This notice consolidates and supersedes the notices of Mar. 26, 1969 (862 O.G. 1) and Aug. 11, 1970 (878 O.G. 1) relating to the Patent Office Disclosure Document Program. Under this program the Patent Office accepts and preserves, for a period of two years, papers referred to as "Disclosure Documents." These papers may be used as evidence of the dates of conception of inventions.

The Program

A paper disclosing an invention and signed by the inventor or inventors may be forwarded to the Patent Office by the inventor (or by any one of the inventors when there are joint inventors), by the owner of the invention, or by the attorney or agent of the inventor(s) or owner. It will be retained for two years and then be destroyed unless it is referred to in a separate letter in a related patent application within said two years.

A Disclosure Document is not a patent application and the date of its receipt in the Patent Office will not become the effective filing date of any patent application subsequently filed. However, like patent applications, these documents will be kept in confidence by the Patent Office. If patent protection is desired, a patent application should be filed as soon as possible.

This program does not diminish the value of conventional witnessed and notarized records as evidence of conception of an invention, but it should provide a more credible form of evidence than that provided by the popular practice of mailing a disclosure to oneself or another person by registered mail. The program is made available as a service to those persons desiring to use it.

Content of Disclosure Document

Although there are no restrictions as to content and claims are not necessary, the benefits afforded by a Disclosure Document will depend directly upon the adequacy of the disclosure. Therefore, it is strongly urged that the document contain a clear and complete explanation of the manner and process of making and using the invention in sufficient detail to enable a person having ordinary knowledge in the field of the invention to make and use the invention. When the nature of the invention permits, a drawing or sketch should be included. The use or utility of the invention should be described, especially in chemical inventions.

The Disclosure Document must be limited to written matter or drawings on paper or other thin, flexible material, such as linen or plastic drafting material, having dimensions or being folded to dimensions not to exceed 8 1/2 by 13 inches. Photographs also are acceptable. Each page should be numbered. Text and drawings should be sufficiently dark to permit reproduction with commonly used office copying machines.

A $10 fee is charged for filing a Disclosure Document. Payment must accompany the Disclosure Document when it is submitted to the Patent Office.

In addition to the $10 fee, the Disclosure Document must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a separate paper in duplicate, signed by the inventor, stating that he is the inventor and requesting that the material be received for processing under the Disclosure Document Program. The papers will be stamped by the Patent Office with an identifying number and date of receipt, and the duplicate request will be returned in the self-addressed envelope together with a warning notice indicating that the Disclosure Document may be relied upon only as evidence and that a patent application should be diligently filed if patent protection is desired. The inventor's request may take the following form:

"The undersigned, being the inventor of the disclosed invention, requests that the enclosed papers be accepted under the Disclosure Document Program, and that they be preserved for a period of two years."

Retention

The Disclosure Document will be preserved in the Patent Office for two years after its receipt and will then be destroyed unless it is referred to in a separate letter in a related patent application filed within the two-year period. The Disclosure Document must be referred to in the separate letter by title, number, and date of receipt. Acknowledgment of receipt of such letters will be made in the next official communication or in separate letter from the Patent Office. Unless it is desired to have the Patent Office retain the Disclosure Document beyond the two-year period, it is not required that it be referred to in a patent application.

Warning as to Limitations

The two-year retention period should not be considered to be a "grace period" during which the inventor can wait to file his patent application without possible loss of benefits. It should be recognized that in establishing priority of invention an affidavit or testimony referring to a Disclosure Document must usually also establish diligence in completing the invention or in filing the patent application since the filing of the Disclosure Document.

Inventors are also reminded that any public use or sale in the United States, or publication of the invention anywhere in the world, more than one year prior to the filing of a patent application on that invention will prohibit the granting of a patent on that invention.

If the inventor is not familiar with what is considered to be "diligence in completing the invention" or "reduction to practice" under the patent law, or if he has other questions about patent matters, the Patent Office advises him to consult an attorney or agent registered to practice before the Patent Office. Patent attorneys and agents may be found in the telephone directories of most major cities. Also, many large cities have associations of patent attorneys which may be consulted.

Assistant Commissioner of Patents.

(177) Suspension of Action Under 37 CFR 1.103 and Under 37 CFR 1.212

The purpose of this notice is to clarify existing Office practice with respect to suspension of action. "Suspension of action" under 37 CFR 1.103 applies only to the situation where action is to be taken by the Examiner. In other words, action cannot be suspended in an application which contains an outstanding Office action awaiting response by the applicant.

Under 37 CFR 1.212, upon declaration of an interference, ex parte prosecution of an application is suspended and any outstanding Office actions are considered as withdrawn by operation of the rule. Ex parte Peterson, USPQ 119 (Commissioner of Patents, 1941). Upon termination of the interference, the Examiner will reinstate the action treated as withdrawn by operation of 37 CFR 1.212 and set a statutory period for response. The formats set forth in MPEP 1109.01 and MPEP 1109.02 may be followed.

Careful adherence to the distinction set forth above will prevent any question of abandonment from arising in connection with cases in which suspension of prosecution has occurred.

Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Patents.

(178) POSTAL SERVICE EMERGENCY CONTINGENCY PLAN

The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office is establishing the following contingency plan for filing any paper or paying any fee in the Office in the event of an emergency caused by any major interruption in the mail service in the United States. Upon determination by the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks that such an emergency exists, a notice activating the plan will be issued by the Commissioner. The activating notice will be published in the Wall Street Journal and made available in a special recorded telephone message at area code 703, 557-3158. Also, certain publications, patent bar groups, and other organizations closely associated with the patent system, will be notified. Termination of the program will be similarly announced. Where the postal emergency is not nationwide, the Commissioner will designate the areas of the United States in which the procedures outlined below will be in effect.

U.S. Department of Commerce District Offices (formerly referred to as Department of Commerce Field Offices) will be designated on an emergency basis, as receiving stations for filing papers and paying fees in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

Upon determination that an emergency exists, the following procedures may be followed: All papers and fees should be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Patent and Trademark Office and deposited in one of the District Offices. Such papers will be considered as received in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office on the day of deposit. The District Office will date stamp each envelope and the accompanying receipt card which completely identifies the deposited papers. The receipt card will be returned to the depositor. Applicants or their representatives should assure the legibility of the date stamp.

District Office deposits should be limited to checks in payment of issue fees, new application papers wherein priority dates or statutory bars may be involved, amendments where the six month statutory period for response is about to expire, trademark oppositions, Section 8 affidavits, trademark renewals, and to other papers for which the patent and trademark statutes do not provide a remedy for failure to obtain a particular date.

Where papers originate from overseas, it is suggested that the papers be mailed to a registered agent in Canada, with a request that the papers be forwarded by courier to the nearest District Office in the United States.

In regard to pending applications, if the time for taking any action or paying any fee expires during the period that the Commissioner declares to be an emergency, the time will be extended until one month after the end of the emergency period, provided that such extension does not exceed the maximum period for response provided for in the statutes.

Since this extension of time will be automatic, there will be no record in the individual files to indicate that a response filed during the extended period is in fact timely. In order to provide a complete record, applicants or their representatives should file a paper referring to this notice in each case in which a response is filed during the extended period.

(179) Examiner Testimony

As stated in Section 1701 of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure, patent examiners are forbidden to testify as patent experts or to express opinions, in testimony or otherwise, as to the invalidity of any issued patent. Patent examiners have, in connection with litigation involving patent validity, been called to testify on factual matters. In those cases, the practice has been to permit the examiner to testify only upon the issuance of a subpoena.

Henceforth, patent examiners will be permitted to testify on deposition in patent suits, without the need for a subpoena, provided the following conditions are satisfied:

1. The party proposing to take the testimony will state in writing, that the questions to be asked of the examiner will be phrased to comply with the permissible scope of inquiry as outlined in the protective orders contained in the Court opinions in In re Mayewsky, 162 USPQ 86, 89 and Shaffer Tool Works v. Joy Manufacturing Co., 167 USPQ 170, 171: ". . . the scope of the oral depositions of the patent examiners is hereby limited to matters of fact and must not go into hypothetical or speculative areas or the bases, reasons, mental processes, analyses, or conclusions of the patent examiners in acting upon the patent applications maturing into the patent [in suit]." 167 USPQ 171.
2. That in addition to complying with the requirements of Rule 30 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the party taking the testimony will agree to give notice of the taking of the deposition of the patent examiner to the Solicitor, at least thirty days prior to the date on which the taking of the deposition is desired.
3. That the party taking the deposition arrange with the Solicitor to notice the deposition at a place convenient to the Patent Office.

If the party desiring to take the testimony of the examiner does not agree to the conditions enumerated, the Patent Office will not permit the examiner to be deposed without a subpoena and compliance with the procedure set forth in Section 7.02, Department of Commerce Administrative Order 205–12, June 29, 1967 as amended April 10, 1970. That section states:

> In any case where it is sought by subpoena, order or other compulsory process or other demand of a court or other authority (hereinafter referred to as a "demand") to require the production or disclosure of any record in the files of the Department of Commerce or other information acquired by an officer or employee of the Department as a part of the performance of his official duties or because of his official status, the matter shall be immediately referred for determination to the appropriate official described in subsection 4.01 of this order. If such official has discretion with respect to disclosure and he determines that it would be improper to comply with the demand, or if he has no discretion with respect to disclosure, the matter shall be promptly referred to the Secretary of Commerce for final determination. Unless and until the Secretary determines that the records or information should be produced, the officer or employee who appears in answer to the demand shall inform the court or other authority (a) that the section 7 of this order prohibits the officer or employee from producing or disclosing the records or other information demanded without the prior approval of the Secretary of Commerce, and (b) that the demand has been, or is being, as the case may be, referred for the prompt consideration of the Secretary. The officer or employee shall also provide the court or other authority with a copy of the regulations prescribed in this section 7 of this order, and shall respectfully request the court or other authority to stay the demand pending the receipt of instructions or directions from the Secretary of Commerce concerning the demand.

(180) No Change in Foreign Filing License Requirements

It should be noted that the change to 37 CFR 5.19 deleting the requirement to obtain an export license for filing a patent application in a foreign country does not in any way alter the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 184. 35 U.S.C. 184 requires that a foreign filing license be obtained from the Patent and Trademark Office before any patent application, based on an invention made in the United States, is filed abroad unless a corresponding application has been on file in the USPTO for over six months.

United States Adherence to the International Union for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants (UPOV)

On Nov. 12, 1980, the United States deposited its instrument of acceptance of the 1978 text of the UPOV Convention. The United States was the second State to adhere to this text, New Zealand having earlier done so.

The UPOV Convention will take effect with respect to the United States and the other adherents to the 1978 text upon a total of five adherences, three of which must be by present member States (States adhering to the text of the Convention). We expect at least three present member States to adhere shortly and the 1978 text to take effect, therefore, during 1981.

The United States deposited its instrument of acceptance on the basis of the legal protection offered for asexually reproduced plants under the plant patent law (35 U.S.C. 161–164). Accordingly, the Convention will apply only to asexually reproduced plants protected under this law. Steps are now being taken, however, by the Plant Variety Protection Office of the Department of Agriculture to conform the implementation of the Plant Variety Protection Act (7 U.S.C. 2321 et seq.) to the Convention's requirements. When this is done, the United States will notify the UPOV Secretariat that the Convention is also applicable in the United States to sexually reproduced plants protected under that Act.

Questions concerning the UPOV Convention may be directed to the Office of Legislation and International Affairs of the Patent and Trademark Office. This Office may be addressed as follows: Box 4, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231. The Office's telephone number is (703) 557–3065.

(182) Taking Effect in the United States of the International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants

The International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants (the UPOV Convention) will take effect in the United States on Nov. 8, 1981. It will apply to all applications for the patenting of plants under the provisions of Title 35, United States Code, which are filed on or after Nov. 8, 1981. The actual filing date will govern in determining whether the Convention will apply to an application, even though the application may be entitled to an earlier effective date under section 119 or 120 of Title 35, United States Code.

In addition to the United States, the UPOV Convention will be in effect as of Nov. 8, 1981, in the following fourteen States: Belgium, Denmark, Federal Republic of Germany, France, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Netherlands, New Zealand, Republic of South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom.

No changes in the patent law are needed to implement the UPOV Convention in the United States. An applicant for a plant patent will be required, however, to submit for registration a variety name for the plant to be patented. Registration is required by Article 13 of the UPOV Convention.

Registrability shall be determined in accordance with the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants (1980). As an interim procedure pending the promulgation of an appropriate rule, inclusion of the variety name in the application will be accepted as a submission of the name for registration. No plant patent as a result of an application filed on or after Nov. 8, 1981, shall be issued without the registration of a variety name. Questions concerning this variety naming requirement or the UPOV Convention may be addressed to:

(183) Qualifications for Admission to the Examination for Registration to Practice Before the Patent and Trademark Office

37 CFR 1.341(c) provides in pertinent part, "No person will be admitted to practice and registered unless he shall . . . establish to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that he is of good moral character and good repute and  possessed of the legal and scientific and technical qualifications necessary to enable him to render applicants for patents valuable service . In order that the Commissioner may determine whether the person  has the qualifications specified, satisfactory proof of good moral character and repute, and of sufficient basic training in scientific and technical matters must be submitted ***."

All persons requesting application forms are routinely furnished with a circular entitled "General Requirements For Admission To The Examination For Registration To Practice Before The Patent and Trademark Office". The circular contains a list of the subjects in which a person must have a bachelor's degree or the equivalency thereof in scientific and technical training to meet registration qualifications. It is strongly recommended that persons who do not have a bachelor's degree in one of those subjects comply with the instructions in the paragraph following the list to show their scientific and technical qualifications. If it is intended to rely on courses in computer science, no more than 3 semester hours of courses in computer programming will be accepted as providing part of the required basic training in scientific and technical matters. Computer science courses oriented away from the physical sciences or engineering, e.g., toward accounting or business, will not be accepted as providing any of the requisite basic training in scientific and technical matters.

Many applications for admission to an examination are filed on or just prior to the announced closing date for doing so, and these applications are frequently disapproved because the person does not furnish a satisfactory showing of his or her qualifications. For instance, persons with a bachelor's degree in a subject other than one of those listed in the circular frequently do not follow instructions in the circular and do not furnish both their transcripts and official course descriptions. Other persons list charges brought against them requiring further showings to overcome doubts raised by the charges about their character and reputation. Still others who failed one section of the examination three times do not furnish a satisfactory showing of sufficient additional legal training to pass the examination.

The Office of Enrollment and Discipline evaluates each application for admission to the examination on an individual basis as soon as practical after receipt in that office. Thereafter, notification is promptly mailed to each person whose application has been disapproved.

The Office of Personnel Management (OPM — formerly Civil Service Commission), which administers the examination, requires that it receive correct data from the Patent and Trademark Office identifying the locale of the examination and the number of persons to be tested well ahead of the examination date. To afford adequate time to present a satisfactory supplemental showing to gain admission to the examination for which application is being made, it is recommended that all persons file their applications early, preferably at least two months before the closing date.

All supplemental showings of qualifications and all applications filed after the announced closing date to apply for admission to an examination will be considered only in connection with the person's admission to the next succeeding examination. Admission to an examination given on a particular date is available only to persons who have filed a completed application form, a $75.00 admission fee, and a satisfactory showing of qualifications on or before the closing date for applying for admission to the examination. Examinations are given in Apr. and Oct. each year, and the respective closing dates for applying for admission to the examinations are the preceding Jan. 31 and July 31.

Director of Enrollment and Discipline.

Docket 407 88–4181

Practice before the Patent and Trademark Office

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is amending its rules governing practice before the PTO by attorneys and agents. These rules are needed to clarify and modernize the rules relating to admission to practice and the conduct of disciplinary cases. The rules are also needed to set out in the Code of Federal Regulations a PTO Code of Professional Responsibility. By amending the rules, the PTO believes the standards for admission to practice in patent cases will be more easily understood, that those practicing before the PTO will have ready access to a code of professional responsibility, and that procedure in disciplinary cases will be more easily understood. The PTO expects that the conduct of disciplinary proceedings under these rules will be more effective and less costly.
Dates: The effective date of these rules (except §1.21(a)(5) and (6)) is Mar. 8, 1985. Section 1.21(a)(5) and (6) is effective Apr. 8, 1985.
For Further Information Contact: Fred E. McKelvey by telephone at (703) 557–4025 (if no answer, message may be left at 703–557–4103) or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: Attorneys and agents practice before the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) in patent cases. 35 U.S.C. 31. Attorneys also practice before the PTO in trademark and other non-patent cases. 5 U.S.C. 500(b). A few agents also practice before the PTO in trademark cases under rules in force prior to Jan. 1, 1957.

A notice of proposed rulemaking for attorney and agent conduct and disciplinary procedure was published on Aug. 11, 1983 in the Federal Register, 48 F.R. 36478, and on Sept. 20, 1983 in the Official Gazette, 1034 O.G. 39, 1034 TMOG 33. A notice extending the comment period and setting a second hearing was published on Oct. 5, 1983 in the Federal Register, 48 F.R. 45424, and on Oct. 18, 1983, in the Official Gazette, 1035 O.G. 19, 1035 TMOG 17. The PTO decided to withdraw, and not adopt, the rules proposed in the Federal Register notice of Aug. 11, 1983. There were numerous objections to the proposed rules and the public indicated that a longer period for study and review of a code of conduct and disciplinary procedures was necessary.

An advance notice of proposed rulemaking setting out revised rules being considered for standards of conduct and disciplinary proceedings was published on Mar. 16, 1984, in the Federal Register, 49 F.R. 10012, and on Apr. 10, 1984, in the Official Gazette, 1041 O.G. 15, 1041 TMOG 13. Numerous organizations and individuals filed comments in response to the advance notice.

On Aug. 24, 1984, the PTO published in the Federal Register a notice of proposed rulemaking. 49 F.R. 33790. On Aug. 28, 1984, the notice was also published in the Official Gazette. 1045 O.G. 29; 1045 TMOG 25. The notice also appeared in the Bureau of National Affairs, Patents, Trademark & Copyright Journal, Vol. 28, No. 694, pp. 485–515 (Aug. 30, 1984). Twenty-two written comments were timely received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking. The comments are analyzed herein. A hearing was held on Oct. 10, 1984. Five individuals appeared at the hearing. Oral comments made at the hearing are also analyzed herein. The twenty-two written comments and a copy of the transcript of the hearing are available for public inspection in Room 12B10, Crystal Gateway II, 1225 Jefferson Davis Hwy., Arlington, Va.

This notice of rulemaking sets out rules in three areas:

(1) Practice of attorneys and agents before the PTO in patent, trademark, and other non-patent cases (§§10.2 through 10.19);

(2) A PTO Code of Professional Responsibility (§§10.20 through 10.112); and

(3) Rules governing (a) investigation of possible violations of the PTO Code of Professional Responsibility and (b) disciplinary proceedings to reprimand, suspend, or exclude (disbar) individuals from practicing before the PTO who, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, are found to have violated a disciplinary rule of the PTO Code of Professional Responsibility (§§10.130 through 10.170).

Familiarity with the advance notice and notice of proposed rulemaking is assumed. Changes in the text of the rules published for comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking are discussed. Comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking are discussed. Comments not timely received in response to the advance notice are also discussed.

Tables 1, 2, and 3 are included in this notice to assist readers in correlating present rules with the new rules and to find the principal source for the new rules. An indication in Tables 1, 2, or 3 that a section is "new" means that a corresponding section does not currently appear in Tile 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Table 1 shows the principal sources of the new rules which relate to (1) admission to practice of attorneys and agents in patent cases and (2) practice in trademark and other non-patent cases.

Table 2 shows the principal sources of the rules for the new PTO Code of Professional Responsibility.

Table 3 shows the principal sources of the new rules for disciplinary proceedings.

Other sources for, and rationale in support of, the proposed rules are discussed in the Supplementary Information of the advance notice, 49 F.R. 10012–10022, and the Supplementary Information of the notice of proposed rulemaking, 49 F.R. 33790–33803.

In issuing these rules, the PTO has made every effort to minimize preemption of State control over the practice of law. Thus, in §10.1, second sentence, the new rules provide:

> Nothing in . . . [these rules] shall be construed to preempt the authority of each State to maintain control over the practice of law, except to the extent necessary for the Patent and Trademark Office to accomplish its federal objectives.

This provision of §10.1 is based on language in Sperry v. Florida ex rel. Florida Bar, 373 U.S. 379, 402 (1963), and makes clear the PTO's intent to regulate only conduct related or relevant to practice before the PTO.

In an effort to ascertain whether the proposed rules would have any adverse impact on the States, copies of both the advance notice of Mar. 16, 1984, and the notice of proposed rulemaking of Aug. 24, 1984, were sent to Bar Counsel in each State. The PTO received responses from Bar Counsel in Ala., Conn., Fla., Ga., Md., Miss., Nebr., Tex., and Vt. Comments were also received from the National Organization of Bar Counsel, the American Bar Association, and others.

Alaska Bar Counsel, contrary to other bar counsel filing comments, suggested that creation of a PTO Code of Professional Responsibility would be "inherently confusing" to any attorney practicing in a State and also before the PTO. The new rules, however, do not establish for the first time a PTO Code of Professional Responsibility. The current PTO code appears in 37 CFR §§1.344 and 2.12. Sections 1.344 and 2.12 merely incorporate by reference the Code of Professional Responsibility of the American Bar Association (1970). The new PTO code more appropriately sets out the standards of conduct relevant to the practice of law before the PTO. Alaska Bar Counsel also felt that it would be more appropriate if the PTO brought alleged ethics violations by attorneys to local state enforcement authorities. This view was not shared by other bar counsel who filed comments. The statute (35 U.S.C. 32) authorizes the Commissioner to administer discipline. The PTO has taken disciplinary action in instances where a State has declined to do so. Moreover, there are registered patent agents who are not subject to discipline by State enforcement agencies. Finally, Alaska Bar counsel suggested that "adjudicative agencies" are too closely involved in a disciplinary matter to be impartial. Congress has determined otherwise. 35 U.S.C. 32 and 5 U.S.C. 500(d).

Comments were received from the Statewide Grievance Committee of Connecticut in response to the advance notice. Many helpful suggestions were made in the comments. Most of the suggestions were adopted at the time the notice of proposed rulemaking was published.

The Florida Bar, through its Director of Lawyer Regulation, filed comments in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking. The Florida Bar commented on §§10.1(c) and 10.23(c) (5). The PTO's response to the comment appears later in this notice under a discussion of §10.1.

An Assistant General Counsel of the State Bar of Georgia filed a response to the advance notice. The response stated, among other things: "Although due to the press of business at the present time I am unable to provide a substantive response in this correspondence, I will respond within the appropriate time limits after having an opportunity to study the enclosed . . . [advance notice]." No further response was received.

Bar counsel for the Attorney Grievance Commission of Maryland filed a response to the advance notice. In his response Bar Counsel states in part:

> It does not appear to me that any of the proposed Rules would present any difficulty in the administration of discipline within Md.

Complaint Counsel for Miss. responded to the advance notice. He stated in part:

> I have not reviewed the proposed Code in comparison with the Code of Professional Responsiblity in great detail. In general however I can state that adoption of the proposed Code would not have an adverse effect upon the function of this office.

The General Counsel of the State Bar of Texas responded to the advance notice and did "not perceive that any problem would be created by . . . [the proposed rules] in Tex." The General Counsel did express the thought that the PTO's use of the word "practitioner" instead of "lawyer" would not prevent reciprocal discipline in Tex. based on disciplinary action by the PTO. The PTO sees no reason for disagreeing with the General Counsel. The word "practitioner" is used by the PTO to define registered attorneys, registered agents, and other attorneys authorized to practice in trademark and other non-patent cases before the PTO under 5 U.S.C. 500(b).

The Chairman of the Professional Conduct Board of Vermont responded to the advance notice. He states in part:

> I find nothing contained in the proposed rules which would present any difficulty in the administration of disciplinary matters within the State of Vermont. Further, I see no problems created vis-a-vis the Code of Professional Responsibility in this jurisdiction.

The President of the National Organization of Bar Counsel responded to the notice of proposed rulemaking. He expressed a concern as to whether the PTO intended to "provide for notice and information of . . . [each disciplinary violation by an attorney] to each jurisdiction where the attorney is licensed." Two provisions of the rules are designed to insure that States are notified of PTO disciplinary action. Section 10.158(b) (1) requires a disciplined attorney to notify all bars of which he or she is a member and to file a copy of the notice with the Director of Enrollment and Discipline of the PTO. Section 10.159(a) requires the Director to notify known state bars and appropriate bar associations of PTO disciplinary action. In addition, as a matter of policy, the PTO intends to notify the National Discipline Data Bank of the American Bar Association.

Comments were filed in response to the advance notice and the notice of proposed rulemaking by the Standing Committee on Professional Discipline of the American Bar Association. The comments filed in response to the advance notice were analyzed in the notice of proposed rulemaking and are not re-analyzed in this notice. In its comments responding to the notice of proposed rulemaking the Standing Committee made several helpful suggestions, some of which are being adopted. A full discussion of the PTO rationale for adopting or not adopting a particular suggestion appears under analysis of comments later in this notice. The Standing Committee urged adoption of the 1983 ABA Model Rules. The PTO is not now adopting the Model Rules inter alia because most States have not adopted those rules. If a significant number of states adopt the Model Rules, the PTO will consider further amendments to its Code of Professional Responsibility. The Standing Committee suggested changes to §10.23(c) (12) which are being adopted in part. The Standing Committee suggested that notice be given to a practitioner prior to any meeting of the Committee on Discipline. This suggestion is not being adopted. In most instances, a practitioner will be able to respond to a notice under 5 U.S.C. 558(c). The Committee will have the practitioner's response at the time of its deliberation. The Standing Committee urged that hearings in disciplinary matters should be open to the public. Others opposed this position. The PTO is not adopting this suggestion in view of 35 U.S.C. 122. Further rationale for not adopting the Standing Committee's suggestion appears later in the notice. The Standing Committee urged a change in §10.149 to make the burden for proving a disciplinary violation one of "clear and convincing evidence." This suggestion is being adopted. The Standing Committee urged that more discovery be permitted than was authorized by §10.152 as proposed. This suggestion is being adopted as explained further in this notice. The Standing Committee also thought §10.159 should provide for notice to the ABA National Discipline Data Bank when the PTO administers discipline. While §10.159 will not specifically mention the Data Bank, a change has been made to permit the Director to notify appropriate bar associations. The Data Bank is an appropriate bar association.

Changes in Text: Several changes have been made in the text of the new rules from the text of the proposed rules which were published for comment in the notice of proposed rulemaking. Those changes are discussed below.

In §1.8, the new subparagraph will be (xiii). Subparagraph (xii) was added when the rules relating to patent interference proceedings were amended. See 49 F.R. 48451 (Dec. 12, 1984).

In the first sentence of §1.31, the term "agent" has been changed to "registered agent" to make clear that only registered agents are intended.

Section 1.33(c) is being amended to delete a reference to former §§1.341 and 1.347 and to now refer to §§10 .5 and 10.11.

Section 1.56(f) and (h) is being amended to delete a reference to former §1.346 and to now referred to §10.18.

In the second sentence of §10.1, "subpart shall" has been changed to "part shall" and "maintain control over" has been changed to "regulate." In the same sentence, "within its borders" has been deleted.

In §10.2(b) (1), "maintain the register" has been changed to "maintain the register provided for in §10.5".

In the next-to-the-last sentence of §10.7(b), "examining corps" has been changed to "patent examining corps".

The language "an alien" in §10.9(b) has been changed to read "a resident alien" to make clear that aliens registered under paragraphs (a) or (b) of §10.6 must be resident aliens.

In the first sentence of §10.14(c), "foreigner" has been changed to "foreign attorney or agent", "registered and in good standing" has been changed to "registered or in good standing", "applicants" has been changed to "parties" and "trademark applications" has been changed to "trademark cases".

In §10.18(a) (1), "the paper has been read" has been changed to "the paper has been read by the practitioner".

Several changes have been made in §10.23.

In §10.23(c) (4) (iii), "improperly" has been added before "bestowing."

In §10.23(c) (5), "on ethical grounds" has been added after the first occurrence of "attorney or agent" and "suspension or disbarment as an attorney or agent" (after "10.6(c)") has been deleted.

In §10.23(c) (7), "patent" has been added before "application of another" and the following has been added as a second sentence: "See §§1.604(b) and 1.607(c) of this Subchapter."

In §10.23(c) (8), "Failing to forward" has been changed to "Failing to inform a client or former client"; "inability to forward, to" has been changed to "inability to notify"; "client correspondence" has been changed to "client of correspondence"; "is correspondence which" has been changed to "is correspondence of which"; and "under the circumstances should be forwarded to the client or former client" has been changed to "under the circumstances the client or former client should be notified."

Section 10.23(c) (12) has been changed to read: "Knowingly filing, or causing to be filed, a frivolous complaint alleging a violation by a practitioner of the Patent and Trademark Office Code of Professional Responsibility."

In §10.23(c) (15), "including" has been changed to "making a" and "matter" has been changed to "statement".

In §10.36(b) (3), the language "in the locality" has been deleted.

The following language has been deleted from §10.40(c): ", and may not withdraw in other matters,".

In §10.62(b), the language "contemplated or pending litigation or" has been deleted.

In §10.63(a), the language "contemplated or pending litigation or" has been deleted. Both occurrences of "trial or" have been deleted from §10.63(a). The language "contemplated or pending litigation or" has been deleted from §10.63(b).

The following sentence has been added to §10.64(b):

"A practitioner may, however, advance any fee required to prevent or remedy an abandonment of a client's application by reason of an act or omission attributable to the practitioner and not to the client, whether or not the client is ultimately liable for such fee."

In §10.84(a) (3), "§10.85" has been changed to "this part".

The following sentence has been added to §10.87(a):

"It is not improper, however, for a practitioner to encourage a client to meet with an opposing party for settlement discussions."

Subparagraph (5) of §10.89(c) as it appeared in the notice of proposed rulemaking has been deleted. Subparagraph (6) of §10.89(c) as it appeared in the notice of proposed rulema king has been changed to read: "(5) Engage in undignified or discourteous conduct before the Office (see §1.3 of this Subchapter)." Subparagraph (7) of §10.89(c) has been redesignated as subparagraph (6).

In §10.112(a), the language:

maintained: (1) in the case of a practitioner whose office is located in the United States, the State in which the practitioner's office is situated or (2) in the case of a practitioner having an office in a foreign country or registered under §10.6(c) in the United States or the foreign country has been changed to read:
maintained in the United States or, in the case of a practitioner having an office in a foreign country or registered under §10.6(c), in the United States or the foreign country.

In §10.131(a), the second sentence has been deleted as being unnecessary in view of §10.132(b). The second sentence of §10.131(a) in the notice of proposed rulemaking read: "The investigation shall be such as to determine whether there is probable cause to believe that a violation of a Disciplinary Rule by a practitioner has occurred."

In the first sentence of §10.132(a), the language "that there is probable cuase to believe" has been deleted. The Committee on Discipline, not the Director, shall determine whether there is probable cause to believe that a practitioner has violated a Disciplinary Rule. See §§10.4(b) and 10.132(b).

Several changes have been made in §10.133. In the first sentence of §10.133(b), the language "§§10.132(b) and 10.134" has been replaced with "§10.134". The reference to §10.132(b) is not necessary. The language "his or her resignation by filing" in §10.133(b) has been deleted as unnecessary. The second sentence of §10.133(b) has been modified to become new paragraphs (c) and (d). Paragraph (c) indicates the content of an affidavit of resignation filed prior to the date set by the administrative law judge (ALJ) for hearing. Paragraph (d) indicates the content of an affidavit of resignation filed on or after the date set by the ALJ for hearing. Paragraph (c) has been redesignated as new paragraph (e). In addition, the language "paragraph (b)" therein has been changed to "paragraphs (b) or (c)". Paragraphs (d) and (e) have been redesignated as new paragraphs (f) and (g), respectively.

In §10.135(a) (2) (i), "Committee on Enrollment" has been changed to "Director".

In §10.149, "a preponderance of" has been changed in both instances to "clear and convincing".

Several changes have been made to §10.152 to expand discovery. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of §10.152 as set out in the notice of proposed rulemaking have been redesignated as paragraphs (e) and (f), respectively, and new paragraphs (a) through (d) have been added. New paragraph (a) sets forth discovery which is authorized. New paragraph (b) sets forth matter which cannot be discovered. Paragraph (c) sets forth factors which an ALJ can consider in determining whether to authorize discovery. Paragraph (d) requires that a motion be filed which addresses specifically and separately each particular request for discovery. In paragraph (e) (formerly paragraph (a)), a new subparagraph (3) has been added to specify that the ALJ may require the parties to set out in a pre-hearing statement information related to expert witnesses. Old subparagraphs (3) and (4) have been redesignated as new subparagraphs (4) and (5), respectively.

In §10.154(b), a new subparagraph (5) has been added which states: "(5) any extenuating circumstances."

In §10.155(a), both occurrences of "on the respondent" have been deleted.

Several changes have been made to §10.158. In §10.158(b) (1), after "all clients of the practitioner" the following has been added "for whom he or she is handling matters before the Office". In §10.158(b) (2), "client's active case files" has been changed to "client's active Office case files". In §10.158(c), changes have been made to make paragraph (c) applicable to corporate patent departments and to prohibit a suspended or excluded practitioner from meeting in person or in the presence of another practitioner with an official of the PTO in connection with the prosecution of a patent, trademark, or other case.

The following has been added to the end of §10.159(a): "and any appropriate bar associations,"

Several changes have been made in §10.160(c). "A practitioner has been suspended or excluded" has been changed to "An individual who has resigned under §10.133 or who has been suspended or excluded". The language "if the Director is satisfied" has been changed to "when the individual makes a clear and convincing showing". The language "suspended or excluded practitioner" has been changed to "individual".

Response to and Analysis of Comments: Twenty-two (22) written comments where timely received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking. The comments have been analyzed. Some suggestions made in comments have been adopted and others have been rejected. A detailed analysis of the timely received comments follows. Several comments were not timely received by July 9, 1984, in response to the advance notice of proposed rulemaking of Mar. 16, 1984. These comments have now been considered and are analyzed herein.

Several comments were received which suggested that the rules purport to regulate attorney conduct beyond that necessary or proper for administration of federal programs by the PTO. It is not, and has never been, the intention of the PTO to regulate conduct except to the extent necessary for the accomplishment of federal objectives. Thus, only that conduct which is relevant to the practice of patent, trademark, or other law before the PTO is what the PTO seeks to regulate. The preamble of §10.1 indicates that Subpart 10 governs solely the practice of patent, trademark, and other law before the PTO. As noted in the preamble to §10.1, "[n]othing in this subpart shall be construed to preempt the authority of each State to regulate the practice of law, except to the extent necessary for the Patent and Trademark Office to accomplish its federal objectives." See Sperry v. Florida ex rel. Florida Bar, 373 U.S. 379, 402 (1963). See also Michigan Canners and Freezers Ass'n. v. Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Board, 104 S. Ct. 2518, 2523 (1984) (State Law is preempted when it stands as an obstacle to the accomplishment and execution of the full purposes and objectives of Congress) and Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n. v. de la Cuesta, 102 S. Ct. 3014, 3022 (1982) (federal regulations have no less preemptive effect than federal statutes).

Several comments were received concerning §10.1. The Florida Bar noted that in the notice of proposed rulemaking the PTO indicated "that failure to pay State bar dues is not a basis for suspension or exclusion before the PTO because failure to pay the dues has no relationship to the federal objectives which the PTO seeks to accomplish." 49 F.R. 33795, column 1, third full paragraph. The Florida Bar suggested that "the loss of good standing [should] be of concern to the PTO." The PTO agrees in part. Suspension from a State bar for failure to pay dues will not be viewed by the PTO as "misconduct." See §10.23(c) (5), which has been changed to define misconduct as suspension or disbarment on ethical grounds. If an attorney is suspended by his or her State bar for failure to pay bar dues, and for that reason is no longer in good standing before the State bar, that attorney is no longer an attorney within the meaning of §10.1(c). An attorney suspended from his or her State bar for failure to pay bar dues would no longer be eligible to represent individuals before the PTO in trademark and other non-patent cases.

One commentator suggested that the second sentence of §10.1 be changed to read: "Nothing in this subpart shall be construed to preempt the authority of each State to regulate the practice of law, except to the extent necessary for the Patent and Trademark Office to accomplish its federal objectives." The suggestion is being adopted. The commentator noted that as originally proposed in the notice of proposed rulemaking, the phrase "to maintain control over the practice of law within its borders" is unduly restrictive. The commentator correctly pointed out that "[c]ertainly, New York would have the authority to regulate the practice of law by a New York attorney residing in Fla."

Another commentator noted the language "federal objectives" in §10.1 and felt it would be appropriate for the PTO "to set forth what the federal objectives really are." The PTO does not believe it is appropriate to set out in the regulations specific federal objectives. The PTO engages in the examination of applications for patents, reexamination of issued patents, examination of applications for registrations of trademarks, and numerous inter parties patent and trademark proceedings. The federal objectives of the PTO center around these activities.

With respect to §10.2(c), one commentator argued that "it is unfair to require the payment of a fee to review a final decision of the Director." The PTO disagrees. The review provided by §10.2(c) is a service preformed by the PTO for which a fee may be charged. There is no compelling reason for not charging a fee.

Several comments were received discussing §10.4. One commentator suggested "that a provision for no discovery or testimony from a member of the Committee on Discipline is unfair and inappropriate." The PTO does not believe that a "mini-trial" should be conducted in a subsequent disciplinary proceeding of how or why the Committee on Discipline reached its decision. The commentator also argued that 10.4(c) "would be in direct conflict with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure" in any review in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. Again, the PTO disagrees. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure do not apply to disciplinary cases in the PTO. Moreover, those rules do not apply in cases seeking judicial review of a decision of the Commissioner in a disciplinary matter. Applicable law (35 U.S.C. 32 and Local Rule 1–26 of the district court) provides for review on the record made in the PTO. See also Camp v. Pitts, 411 U.S. 138 (1973). Hence, there is no discovery in a proceeding under 35 U.S.C. 32.

Comments were received which suggest that the associate and assistant solicitors in the Office of the Solicitor cannot be isolated from the Solicitor and the Deputy Solicitor. The associate and assistant solicitors are to be isolated so that (1) the associate and assistant solicitors may act as attorney for the Director in prosecuting a disciplinary proceeding and (2) the Solicitor and Deputy Solicitor may act as legal advisor to the Commissioner in deciding a disciplinary matter. In disciplinary matters, the associate and assistant solicitors will report directly to the Director. Associate and assistant solicitors will not have occasion to discuss disciplinary matters with the Solicitor or Deputy Solicitor.

The following discussion in the Attorney General's Manual on the Administrative Procedure Act, pp. 57–58 (1947), commenting on original §5(c) (now 5 U.S.C. 554(d)) is believed particularly relevant to the issues raised in the comments:

> Assuming that an agency will in many cases wish to consult with certain of its staff members, it may proceed in one of two ways. It may in a particular case consult with staff members who in fact have not performed investigative or prosecuting functions in that or a factually related case. In the alternative, the agency may find it feasible so to organize its staff assignments that the staff members whom it most frequently desires to consult will be free of all investigative and prosecuting functions.
> [I]f the agency so organizes its staff that the general counsel is not responsible for the investigative and prosecuting functions, he would be regularly available to the agency for consultation on the decision of cases.[1]

Several commentators suggested that members of the public or the PTO bar should be members of the Committee on Discipline. This suggestion is not being adopted. As noted in the notice of proposed rulemaking (49 F.R. 33793, column 2, last paragraph), there are two reasons for not adopting the suggestion. Use of individuals outside the PTO is made difficult by 35 U.S.C. 122. Administrative delays would take place because it would be more difficult to schedule meetings.

One commentator suggested that the language "at least" in the phrase "at least three employees of the Office" should be deleted from the second sentence of §10.4(a). This suggestion is not being adopted. The"at least" language will permit the Commissioner to appoint alternate members to substitute for a member who may be disqualified or who may be unavailable for an extended period.

Section 10.10 provides that only practitioners who are registered under §10.6 or individuals given limited recognition under §10.9 will be permitted to prosecute patent applications of others before the PTO. One comment was received which noted that the rules do not address the "status" of (a) "an individual in a training program directed to the preparation and prosecution of applications for patent" or (b) "a long-time employee working within a patent organization in the area of preparation and prosecution of applications for patent, but has never become registered to practice as either a Patent Agent or Patent Attorney." The commentator suggested that the rules should state what such individuals or employees may do. The suggestion is not being adopted. Only registered practitioners (attorneys and agents) may practice patent law before the PTO. The commentator also suggested that the rules should provide that long-time corporate or government employees who have never been registered should be given limited recognition by the PTO. This suggestion is not being adopted. Limited recognition will be given only on a case-by-case basis. See §10.9.

One comment suggested that "applicants" and "trademark applications" in the first sentence of §10.14(c) rendered it unclear whether an individual authorized to practice before the PTO in trademark cases could prosecute post-registration cases, such as a cancellation proceeding. The rule has been clarified by changing "applicants" to "parties" and "trademark applications" to "trademark cases". An individual authorized to represent others under §10.14 is authorized to appear in any trademark case.

Several comments were received discussing §10.18. One comment made at the hearing suggested that the rule should specify who should read the paper being signed. The commentator stated: "I think it would be salutary if what you really mean is that the practitioner who signs it has read it." The suggestion is being adopted and the language of §10.18(a) (1) has been changed from "the paper has been read" to "the paper has been read by the practitioner".

Two individuals commented that requiring the signature of a practitioner would eliminate the "custom" of having an associate sign the name of a principal attorney on a paper which the principal authorizes the associate to file. Section 10.18 requires that the practitioner signing the paper sign his or her own name. The rule would permit associate attorney John Smith to sign on behalf of principal attorney David Jones by signing the paper as follows: "David Jones by John Smith." The rule would not permit Smith to merely sign Jones' name or to sign "David Jones by JS." The rule does not authorize a non-practitioner (e.g., a para-legal or secretary) to sign a paper on behalf of a practitioner.

One comment asked the following:

> Assume an inventor is under Final Rejection and the period for proper response is near at hand. The attorney is now instructed to "keep the case alive" until a CIP [continuation-in-part] is prepared and filed. For reasons outside the control of the attorney, the CIP cannot be filed in time. Assume now the attorney files a Notice of Appeal, never intending to prosecute the appeal, intending only to buy time until the CIP can be filed. Would the filing of the Notice of Appeal violate Rule 10.18 and subject the attorney to PTO disciplinary action?

A notice of appeal is a proper response to a final rejection. Accordingly, it would not appear under the circumstances outlined that the notice of appeal was "interposed for delay" within the meaning of §10.18(a) (4).

Three comments were received discussing §10.22. One comment suggested that modifiers, such as "knowingly" and "willfully" be inserted in paragraphs (a) and (b) of §10.22. The suggestion is not being adopted. A "materially false statement," a failure "to disclose a material fact," or furthering the application of another "known . . . to be unqualified" constitute acts which cannot be characterized as innocent. Accordingly, there is no need to insert the "modifiers" in the text of the rule. Another commentator suggested that the provisions of §10.22 are not relevant to the federal objectives of the PTO. The PTO disagrees. Practitioners who (1) fail to tell the truth, (2) fail to reveal material information or (3) knowingly further the application of an unqualified individual to a bar, demonstrate that they are "disreputable" within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 32. A third commentator suggested that §10.22(b) is too broad because a practitioner could recommend an individual for membership in a bar and the individual might fail to pass the bar examination. Unless a practitioner has good reason to know that the individual will fail to pass a bar examination, it is not apparent how the practitioner's recommendation could amount to a violation of the PTO Code of Professional Responsibility.

[1]The general counsel's participation in rule making and in court litigation would be entirely compatible with his role in advising the agency in the decision of adjudicatory cases subject to section 5(c).

Numerous comments were received discussing §10.23. One comment suggested that §10.23(c) (8) be changed to require notification of a client rather than requiring correspondence to be forwarded. This suggestion has been adopted by making appropriate changes to §10.23(c) (8).

A suggestion was made to delete the reference to $5000 in §10.23(c) (17). This suggestion is not being adopted. See the discussion in the advance notice, 49 F.R. 10016, column 1.

A suggestion was made that §10.23(c) (5) has "a built-in inequity as regards different patent attorneys in different states." According to the commentator, a practitioner suspended for an act by Ohio might not be suspended for the same act by New York. The commentator reasons it would be unfair for the Office to suspend the Ohio practitioner, but not the New York practitioner. The commentator's concern is not warranted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

Another commentator noted that §10.23(a) (3) "points up the difficulty of superimposing . . . [a] set of rules on of the various local jurisdictions." Here again, the commentator's concern is not believed warranted in view of the second sentence of §10.1. Another commentator noted that "moral turpitude" is hard to define. It was suggested that possession of marijuana is regarded as a crime involving moral turpitude in some states where a 99-year sentence may be received. It was suggested that in other states possession of marijuana might result in "a slap on the wrist." If a practitioner is incarcerated for a crime in a state, it follows that the practitioner is not capable of representing individuals before the Office. This is true even if the same practitioner would not have been incarcerated in another state for the same act.

The Florida Bar raised a question concerning §10.23(c) (5) which is answered under the discussion above of §10.1. Section 10.23(c) (5) has been changed to make suspension or disbarment "on ethical grounds" a basis for suspension or disbarment by the Office. "Ethical grounds" would include incompetence, but would not include failure to pay State bar dues.

One comment suggested that "disreputable" and "gross misconduct" in §10.23(a) be defined. The terms "disreputable" and "gross misconduct" appear in 35 U.S.C. 32 and need no further definition in the rules. For a discussion of "disreputable," see Poole v. United States, 54 A.F.T.R. 2d (P-H) 84–5536 (D.D.C. June 29, 1984).

Several comments suggested that the Model Rules of Professional Conduct of the American Bar Association (1983) be adopted in place of §10.23. Adoption of the Model Rules was given consideration prior to publication of the advance notice and the notice of proposed rulemaking. The matter has been considered again. However, it has not been demonstrated to the Office that a large number of states have adopted the Model Rules. As noted in the notice of proposed rulemaking, at least Va. has rejected the Model Rules. Accordingly, the PTO will not, at this time, adopt the Model Rules. If a large number of states adopt the Model Rules in the future, the PTO would be willing to reconsider its position.

One comment suggested that "before the Office" be inserted after the word "conduct" in §10.23(b) (4), (5), and (6). This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

A suggestion was received that "improperly" be inserted at the beginning of §10.23(c) (4) (iii). This suggestion has been adopted.

A suggestion was received that the word "patent" be inserted before "application" in §10.23(c) (7). This suggestion has been adopted.

A suggestion was received that §10.23(c) (15) be changed so that a trademark practitioner could present potentially scandalous subject matter in order to receive a determination on the merits of registrability. See e.g., In re McGinley, 660 F.2d 481, 211 USPQ 668 (CCPA 1981). Section 10.23(c) (15) has been changed to refer only "making a scandalous or indecent statement in a paper filed in the Office."

Several individuals suggested that it may be difficult to determine the identity of tunder §10.23(c)(5), particularly in corporate patent departments. The PTO will presume that practitioners know the identities of their clients and that information conveyed to the client is being conveyed in a manner acceptable to the client.

Section 10.23(c)(12) has been changed in response to comments which suggested that it would be difficult for practitioners to comply with §10.23(c)(12) on the one hand and §§10.24 and 10.131 on the other hand. The purpose of §10.23(c)(12) is to eliminate a frivolous complaint against practitioners. Accordingly, §10.23(c)(12) has been changed to define as misconduct "knowningly filing, or causing to be filed, a frivolous complaint alleging a violation by a practitioner of the Patent and Trademark Office Code of Professional Responsibility."

Several individuals criticized §10.24. The provisions of §10.24 are derived from DR 1–103 of the Code of Professional Responsibility of the American Bar Association (1970)—the rule currently applicable to practitioners. See 37 CFR §§1.344 and 2.13. The PTO is not aware that the current rule causes any problems. Accordingly, the numerous suggestions to delete or amend §10.24 are not being adopted.

One comment was received which suggested that charging another person with trademark infringement and requesting that the person withdraw a pending application "might be . . . interpreted as a violation" of §10.31(a). The PTO disagrees. A reasonable interpretation of the rule does not justify the unreasonable construction by the commentator.

At the hearing, an individual discussed §10.32. The individual suggested that three "practices" should be sanctioned under any PTO Code of Professional Responsibility and it was suggested that all three practices might be prohibited by §10.32. First, the individual suggested that "the giving of moderately priced presents . . . to established clients on appropriate occasions—Christmas, weddings of their daughters" should not constitute a violation of §10.32. The PTO agrees. The giving of a gift to an "established client" on the occasions suggested is not a gift "to a person for recommending the practitioner's services." Second, the individual suggested that a practitioner should not be prohibited from "paying for ordinary client entertainment." The PTO agrees. Again the "client" is not "a person recommending the practitioner's services" in return for being entertained. Third, the individual argued that the rules should not preclude an "exchange of cases with foreign practitioners." An "exchange" was said to occur "[w]here a foreign patent practitioner in his country sends cases to an American patent or trademark practitioner to prosecute before the PTO, and you send the foreign firm cases to prosecute before the foreign patent office, on the more or less explicit basis that it's something in the nature of a trade." According to the individual, the "exchange" ordinarily takes place without knowledge of the practitioner's client. The individual expressed the opinion that "exchanges" without knowledge of the client presently occur routinely. The PTO believes that the suggested "exchange" may ethically take place only when the practitioner's clients are fully advised of the exchange. Three other witnesses at the hearing expressed the view—correctly the PTO believes—that client knowledge is essential to an ethical exchange of the type contemplated. No change in §10.32 is being made.

A suggestion was received that "in matters before the Office" be inserted after "professional employment" in §10.33. The suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1. Another comment suggested that Rule 7.3 of the Model Rules of Professional Conduct (1983) be adopted in place of §10.33. The suggestion is not being adopted. Section 10.33 is based partly on Rule 7.3, but contains the additional language "under circumstances evidencing undue influence, intimidation, or overreaching." Section 10.33 is designed to prohibit so-called "ambulance chasing." In Ohralik v. Ohio State Bar Ass'n., 436 U.S. 447 (1978), the Supreme Court held that a state could lawfully regulate ambulance chasing. In its opinion, the Supreme Court said:

> We need not discuss or evaluate each of these interests in detail as appellant has conceded that the State has a legitimate and indeed "compelling" interest in preventing those aspects of solicitation that involve fraud, undue influence, intimidation, overreaching, and other forms of 'vexatious conduct.' We agree that protection of the public from these aspects of solicitation is a legitimate and important state interest.

436 U.S. at 462. The additional language appearing in §10.33 is designed to limit the application of §10.33 to those situations in which the PTO has a legitimate interest. See also 35 U.S.C. 32 and §10.31(a).

A suggestion was received that §10.35(b) should be deleted. According to the suggestion, "[r]egulation of the practitioner's business arrangements should be left to state regulation." While the PTO is in general agreement with the rationale suggested, there exist partnerships of agents which are not subject to regulation by any state. Moreover, the commentator has not suggested or shown that §10.35(b) is inconsistent with the policy of any state. Practitioners should not be free to hold themselves out as being associated with a partnership or other organizations when an association does not in fact exist.

One comment suggested that "in the locality" be deleted from §10.36(b)(3). This suggestion is being adopted, because "in the locality" has no particular significance in the practice of patent and trademark law. Clients of patent and trademark practitioners are not necessarily located where counsel are located. Moreover, the practice is national in scope.

An individual at the hearing suggested that the PTO should delete subparagraphs (1) and (2) from §10.37(a). This suggestion is not being adopted. The individual suggested that a client need not know that "employment" has been referred to another practitioner or to a foreign practitioner. The PTO disagrees and so did three other individuals who expressed a view at the hearing. Moreover, the PTO believes that when "farming out" occurs with the consent of a client, that the fee division should be proportional to the services rendered. Under §10.37, "farming out" of work without knowledge and consent of a client will constitute a disciplinary rule violation.

One commentator suggested that §10.39 "may result in numerous claims to the effect that a practitioner brought a proceeding 'merely for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring another person.' " Section 10.39 continues existing policy (37 CFR §1.344 and DR 2–109 of the ABA Code (1970)). Under existing policy, the PTO has not experienced "numerous claims." Accordingly, there is no reason to expect such claims under §10.39.

A suggestion was received that the first sentence of §10.40(a) be changed to read: "A practitioner may withdraw from employment in a proceeding before the Office without permission from the Commissioner in those instances in which a substitute has been selected and is willing to serve." This suggestion is not being adopted. If "a substitute has been selected and is willing to serve," presumably with the consent of the client, a new power of attorney may be filed in the PTO. Another commentator suggested that §10.40 should not apply to corporate attorneys. This suggestion likewise is not being adopted. If a corporate atorney changes jobs, the attorney should withdraw from representing the "old" corporation or the old corporation should revoke any power of attorney.

One comment suggested that the PTO should be under a burden of deciding requests for permission to withdraw within thirty (30) days. This suggestion is not being adopted, but it is and will continue to be PTO policy to promptly decide requests for permission to withdraw.

One comment suggested that ", and may not withdraw in other matters," be deleted from §10.40(c). This suggestion has been adopted.

One comment asked whether a power of attorney given during prosecution of a patent application continues to be viable after the patent is issued. The answer is "yes." Communications received during reexamination proceedings are sent to the correspondence address established during prosecution of the application which matures into the patent being reexamined. See 37 CFR §1.525. Notices concerning maintenance fees likewise are mailed to the correspondence address. See 37 CFR §1.363, 49 F.R. 34725 (Aug. 31, 1984). The commentator also raised a question of who is the client when a case is filed on behalf of an individual, but the individual's assignee pays the practitioner's bills. Practitioners are expected to know the identities of their clients. If a practitioner is hired by a corporation and wishes to make that fact plain on the record of a patent application, the practitioner may file an assignment and a power of attorney signed by the assignee. If a dispute should then occur between the individual and the assignee, the record would be clear that the assignee is the client.

A comment suggested that §10.40(a) "would appear to be unreasonable" in view of the language "giving due notice to another practitioner." Such language does not appear in §10.40(a).

An oral comment was received by phone which questioned whether the use of para-legals or apprentices by a practitioner constitutes the unauthorized practice of law. If a para-legal or apprentice works under the direction of a practitioner and the practitioner does not allow the para-legal or apprentice to hold themselves out as a practitioner, there is no unauthorized practice of law problem within the meaning of §10.47.

One comment discussing §10.49 made the following statement:

> ". . . if the intent of this section is to prohibit a practitioner from forming a partnership with a lawyer who, while in good standing with his State bar, does not qualify to practice before the Office (either because he has not taken the patent examination or is not qualified to handle trademark matters), then it should be stricken."

As explained in the notice of proposed rulemaking (49 F.R. 33797, column 3), the PTO does not intend to prohibit formation of law firms by members of the Bar of any state.

One comment suggested that "in matters before the Office" should be inserted after "employment" in §10.62(a). This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

Another comment suggested that §§10.62 and 10.63 be replaced with Rule 3.7(b) of the Model Rules of Professional Conduct of the ABA (1983). For reasons already discussed, the PTO is not adopting the Model Rules. The comment went on to suggest that practitioners would not be free testify concerning attorney diligence in patent interference cases. The PTO has made it plain twice that it disagrees. See the advance notice (49 F.R. 10016, column 3 (Mar. 16, 1984)) and the notice of proposed rulemaking (49 F.R. 33797, column 3, last paragraph (Aug. 24, 1984)).

A comment suggested that language in §§10.62 and 10.63 is not clear. Specifically, the commentator referred to "solely to an uncontested matter" or "solely to a matter of formality." This language occurs in the current rules and has not caused any known difficulty.

Two comments were received which suggested that §10.64(b) should permit practitioners to pay fees which rightfully should be paid by a practitioner. This suggestion is being adopted and the following sentence has been added to §10.64(b): "A practitioner may, however, advance any fee required to prevent or remedy an abandonment of a client's application by reason of an act or omission attributable to the practitioner and not to the client, whether or not the client is ultimately liable for such fee." One of the commentators supplied the following rationale with which the PTO agrees:

> It sometimes happens that payment of a fee is necessitated by some act or omission for which the practitioner and not the client is responsible. One example is a fee for an extension of time to respond to an Office Action (see 37 C.F.R. §1.17 and §1.136), where the delay has resulted from the practitioner's workload for other clients, or from the practitioner's absence from his or her office for purposes unrelated to the client's business. Another example is a petition fee for revival of an application unintentionally abandoned through some inadvertent oversight on the practitioner's part. In these circumstances, it would seem unjust to require the client to bear the cost of the fee.

One comment suggested that §10.65 should be amended to indicate that it relates only to matters before the PTO. This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

Another comment suggested that §10.65(a) "may limit a practitioner serving on the board of directors of a client." The commentator went on to say that practitioners serving on boards of directors is a common practice. Inasmuch as the client consents to practitioner serving on the board, it is believed that §10.65 does not limit a practitioner as suggested by the commentator.

One comment was received which suggested that §10.66(d) be changed to exclude corporate patent departments. According to the comment, "why should an entire corporate patent department have to withdraw if one of its members has to withdraw for disciplinary reasons?" In situations where it would not be appropriate for an entire firm or department to withdraw, §10.66(d) permits the Commissioner or the Director to so order. See e.g., Sunkist Growers, Inc. v. The Benjamin Ansehl Co., 221 USPQ 1077 (Comm'r.Pat. 1984). Another comment suggested that §10.66 should be amended to indicate that it relates only to matters before the PTO. This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

One comment was received which suggested that §10.67 be amended to indicate that it relates only to matters before the PTO. This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

A comment was received which suggested that §10.68(c) might be construed to preclude a practitioner from joining a law firm where attorneys who are not registered to practice before the PTO "are in control," i.e., are the "senior" partners. The definition of practitioner (see §10.1(r)) precludes such a construction, because any attorney in good standing in any State is a practitioner. Another comment suggested that §10.68 be amended to indicate that it relates only to matters before the PTO. This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

One comment was made at the hearing which suggested that modifiers, such as "knowingly, willfully, intentionally," be inserted in §10.77. This suggestion is not being adopted. The PTO believes §10.77 states clearly the prohibited conduct.

A comment was received which suggested that §§10.77, 10.78, and 10.84 be amended to indicate that they refer only to matters before the PTO. This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

One comment suggested that the term "unwarranted" in §10.85(a) (2) is "too vague as to its limits." The PTO disagrees. Contrary to the suggestion by the commentator, it is believed that practitioners can readily determine whether they are advocating a position that is unwarranted under existing law.

A comment was received which suggested that §10.85(b) can place a difficult burden on patent counsel. In support of his position, the commentator gave two examples and commented on both examples as follows:

Example 1:

A client engages a patent attorney in the preparation of a patent application, and the patent attorney goes through the usual routine of advising the client of statutory bars, duty to disclose, etc. The attorney prepares and files the application, and during the course of the prosecution, the client informs the attorney of some activities that occurred a couple of years before filing the application, which activities might constitute an offer for sale. The attorney advises that this must be disclosed to the Patent Examiner, but the applicant refuses to follow this course of action and discharges the patent attorney. The client then engages another attorney to complete the prosecution, without telling the new attorney of the potentially damaging prior art.

Comment:

In accordance with my interpretation of §10.85(b), the first attorney would be required to disclose this situation to the Office, unless the term "prepetrated a fraud" as it appears in that rule does not include the deliberate failure to disclose relevant prior art. My concern is that this could make for some very poor relationships with the client who might not understand the attorney's duty of disclosure before the Office.

Example 2:

A rather poor inventor has managed to drum up enough money for the filing fee for a patent application and then proceeds to prepare and file his own patent application, without the assistance of a patent attorney. After a few months, the inventor obtains some financing from an investor, and the inventor and the investor consult the patent attorney to see if he would continue with the prosecution of the application. The attorney reviews the fact pattern and informs both the inventor and the investor that there is unquestionably some prior art, in the form of an earlier publication by the inventor, which must be disclosed before the Office. When the inventor and the investor find that the attorney intends to disclose this prior art as soon as he is engaged as their attorney, the inventor and the investor tell the attorney that they would rather engage the services of some other patent attorney, and that they will not tell the second attorney of the prior art.

Comment:

As I would interpret §10.85 (b), the first patent attorney would be obliged to inform the Office of the relevant prior art. The first patent attorney would likely have the serial number and filing date of the application, and it would appear to me that the patent attorney would have to disclose not only the prior art, but also disclose the intent of the inventor and the investor not to disclose the same. This is pretty harsh treatment, and I can see where the inventor and the investor would have some very hard feelings against the patent attorney.

The PTO agrees that under the circumstances of Example 1, a "client . . . might not understand the attorney's duty of disclosure . . . " Likewise, the PTO can understand "where the inventor and the investor [in Example 2] would have some very hard feelings against the patent attorney." Nevertheless, the commentator has correctly noted in each case that the practitioner is required to advise the PTO. The practitioner's obligation under §10.85(b) has not been changed by the rules and is mandated by Kingsland v. Dorsey, 338 U.S. 318 (1949). See also Nahstoll, The Lawyer's Allegiance: Priorities Regarding Confidentiality, 41 Wash. & Lee L. Rev. 421 (1984).

A comment was received which suggested that §10.85 be amended to indicate that it pertains only to matters before the PTO. The suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

Two comments were received which suggested that §10.87(a) could be construed to prohibit a practitioner from recommending that a client meet with an opposing party for settlement discussions. Both comments suggested that §10.87(a) be amended to permit a practitioner to recommend that a client engage in settlement discussions directly with an opposing party. The suggestion is being adopted and the following sentence has been added to §10.87(a): "It is not improper, however, for a practitioner to encourage a client to meet with an opposing party for settlement discussions."

A suggestion was made that §10.87 be amended to indicate that it pertains only to matters before the PTO. The suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

One comment suggested that §10.89(c) (5) be "eliminated on the grounds of vagueness" because one cannot "be expected to comply with apparently unpublished customs of courtesy or practice." The suggestion is being adopted. Subparagraph (6) of §10.89(c) is being redesignated as subparagraph (5) and has also been changed to read: "Engage in undignified or discourteous conduct before the Office (see §1.3 of this Subchapter)." Subparagraph (7) has been redesignated as subparagraph (6).

Another comment discussing §10.89 asked "since when must counsel cite to the Examiner in ex parte proceedings cases known to be directly adverse to the position being advocated?" Counsel are expected to advise patent and trademark examiners of known controlling authority which is contrary to a position being advocated. It is important for counsel to do so in ex parte cases because there is no advocate taking a position contrary to the position being taken by an applicant. See also Southern Pacific Transportation Co. v. Public Utilities Commission of the State of Calif., 716 F.2d 1285, 1291 (9th Cir. 1983).

A commentator contended that §10.89(a) "makes no sense" because a decision of the PTO may have been overruled by the Federal Circuit. Section 10.89(a) is limited to "a decision of the Office made in the course of a proceeding." Practitioners are expected to follow interlocutory orders entered in PTO proceedings. Obviously if such an order is ultimately overruled or reversed by a court, it no longer need be followed. The same commentator suggested that §10.89(c) (3) is not appropriate. Specifically, the commentator indicated that practitioners often rely on the specification of a patent application and prior art. The specification and prior art are evidence, not the "practitioner's personal knowledge."

One commentator suggested that §§10.92 and 10.93 be amended to indicate that they relate solely to matters before the PTO. This suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

A commentator at the hearing suggested that §10.93 be changed to permit practitioners to discuss procedural matters with interlocutory examiners or members of the Board of Patent Interferences or the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. In view of Public Law 98–622, November 8, 1984, the Board of Patent Interferences will cease to exist on February 8, 1985. All patent interference cases will be transfered to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences and will be assigned to an examiner-in-chief. Practitioners may consult an examiner-in-chief orally upon adequate notice to opposing counsel. A telephone conference call may be arranged when opposing counsel desires to participate in the oral consultation. The same is true of the interlocutory examiners or members of the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. Questions of a purely procedural nature may be asked. However, an examiner-in-chief or the interlocutory examiner or member of the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board may nevertheless decline to answer procedural questions without opposing counsel being present or involved in a conference call.

One commentator suggested that §§10.101, 10.102, 10.103, and 10.111 be amended to indicate that they refer only to proceedings in the PTO. The suggestion is not being adopted in view of the second sentence of §10.1.

One comment suggested that practitioners residing in the United States should be able to maintain trust funds in a bank in any State. This suggestion is being adopted and §10.112(a) has been changed to implement the suggestion. However, if a State bar requires funds to be kept in a bank within the State, a practitioner would be required to keep funds in a bank in the State in order to comply with State rules. Another comment suggested that §10.112(c)(2) is not practical. According to the commentator, "invention samples and invention disclosures and drawings usually are the client's property, but keeping them in a safe deposit box is totally impractical." The commentator overlooks that portion of §10.112(c)(2) which reads "in a safe deposit box or other place of safekeeping . . . ." A client may consent to a practitioner keeping invention samples, invention disclosures, and drawings in the practitioner's office. The practitioner, of course, should see to it that the office is maintained with appropriate security.

An individual testified at the hearing that §10.112 is not clear. According to the individual, "I think the rules should specify that if you get money up front from a client, whether it's called a retainer, pre-payment, or whatever . . . that money has to be put into a trust fund or a trust account . . . and that you can't take the money out and spend it until you have performed the services and sent a bill to the client that says X dollars has come out of your trust account in payment of Y services." The PTO believes that §10.112(b)(2) specifies "that you can't take the money out and spent it until you have performed the services" and that §10.112(c)(3) specifies that you must send "a bill to the client." Accordingly, no change to §10.112 is necessary.

One commentator testified at the hearing that the PTO rules do not address "those individuals who, due to a mental or physical defect, are not able to bring themselves in conformity with the rules of conduct . . . ." On the contrary, §10.130 specifies that any practitioner shown to be "incompetent" may be suspended or excluded. The commentator at the hearing referred to an individual "who has a drinking problem or one who is mentally incapable of representing people before the . . . Office." The statute (35 U.S.C. 32) and the rules address such an individual. As noted in the advance notice, the PTO has declined to adopt the suggestion appearing in Manson, Helping Lawyers Who Need Help (But Won't Ask for It!), 25 Va. Bar News 27 (June 1977). See 49 F.R. 10017, column 1 (Mar. 16, 1984). If an individual is suspended due to a drinking problem, reinstatement (see §10.160) may be conditioned on a clear and convincing showing that the drinking problem has been overcome.

One individual testified at the hearing that a "statute of limitations" should be inserted in §10.131. This suggestion is not being adopted. As the individual noted during testimony, statues of limitations do not apply in disciplinary proceedings.

A suggestion was received that §10.132 be changed to expressly provide that:

> No disposition adverse to the respondent shall be recommended by the Director until the respondent shall have been afforded the opportunity to be heard.

This suggestion is not being adopted. Section 10.132(a) provides that, where necessary, the Director shall comply with 5 U.S.C. 558(c) prior to calling a meeting of the Committee on Discipline. The relevant portion of 5 U.S.C. 558(c) provides:

> Except in cases of willfulness or those in which public health, interest, or safety required otherwise, the withdrawal, suspension, revocation, or annulment of a license is lawful only if, before the institution of agency proceedings therefor, the license has been given;
> (1) notice by the agency in writing of the facts or conduct which may warrant the action; and
> (2) opportunity to demonstrate or achieve compliance with all lawful requirements.

Where appropriate, a notice under §588(c) will be issued prior to the time the Director takes a case to the Committee on Discipline. Any reply to the §558 (c) notice will be reviewed by the Director and the Committee on Discipline prior to deciding whether a complaint should be filed.

Another suggestion was received which indicated that §10.132(c) should be changed so that the "accused practitioner . . . [would] have the right to select an administrative law judge from a panel of such judges, such panel including the names of at least two law judges." This suggestion is not being adopted. No rationale was given in support of the suggestion and there is no known reason to permit a respondent to select the particular administrative law judge (ALJ) to be assigned to hear the practitioner's case.

Several changes have been made in §10.133 by the PTO which are not in response to any comment or suggestion. The language "§§10.132(b) and 10.134" in the first sentence of §10.133(b) has been changed to §10.134". This change was made because a reference to §10.132(b) is not necessary. The language "his or her resignation by filing" in the first sentence of §10.133(b) has also been deleted as unnecessary. The second sentence of paragraph (b) of §10.133 has been replaced by new paragraphs (c) and (d). New paragraph (c) specifies the content of an affidavit of resignation filed prior to the date set by the ALJ for a hearing. New paragraph (d) specifies the content of an affidavit of resignation filed on or after the date set by the ALJ for a hearing. Old paragraph (c) has been redesignated as new paragraph (e) and the language "paragraph (b)" therein has been changed to read "paragraphs (b) and (c)". Old paragraphs (d) and (e) have been redesignated as new paragraphs (f) and (g), respectively.

New paragraph (c) of §10.133 has been added to define the conditions under which a practitioner may resign prior to the date set by the ALJ for a hearing. Experience has shown that practitioners do not readily resign prior to hearing if they are required to admit the charges against them and/or are required to admit that they could not have been defended against the charges or the subject of an investigation. Paragraph (c) does not require a practitioner to admit the charges or any lack of defense at the time of resignation. Rather, under §10.133(c)(5), any admission is operative at the time of a request for reinstatement and only for the limited purpose of determining the request for reinstatement. By deferring the time when the practitioner makes the admissions, it is believed that settlements are more likely. Once a hearing begins, however, there is no reason to permit a resignation without admission of the facts and a lack of defense. The admissions of paragraph (c)(5) are relevant in determining whether reinstatement should be granted and whether sufficient time has passed between resignation and any application for reinstatement.

One comment was made at the hearing which suggested that "if, in fact there is a real stalemate in a settlement discussion, that there be some avenue so that there be, in essence, binding arbitration" on the part of the respondent and the Director. This suggestion is not being adopted. There is no reason to impose binding arbitration in disciplinary matters. While settlements are to be encouraged, if the parties (the respondent and the Director) cannot reach a mutually agreeable settlement, the proper recourse is to proceed with the disciplinary proceeding.

A suggestion was received that the second sentence of §10.138 be deleted. The suggestion is not being adopted. The second sentence of §10.138 provides that evidence obtained by a subpoena under 35 U.S.C. 24 will not be admitted unless prior approval was obtained from the ALJ to proceed under §24. This provision is necessary to retain control over the proceedings in the ALJ. Moreover, an order authorizing a party to proceed under §24 can be helpful to any district court which is required to determine whether an individual should be compelled to answer counsel's questions. Additional rationale in support of the PTO's decision not to adopt the suggestion appears in the advance notice (49 F.R. 10019, columns 1 and 2) and in the notice of proposed rulemaking (49 F.R. 33800, column 1).

Two individuals testified at the hearing concerning §10.144. Section 10.144 provides that hearings in disciplinary cases will not be open to the public. One individual suggested that hearings in disciplinary matters should be opened to the public. The other individual took the opposite position and supported §10.144 as proposed. The suggestion to open hearings to the public is not being adopted at this time. The PTO believes that a practitioner should not unnecessarily be exposed to charges of alleged wrongdoing until the practitioner is found to have violated the PTO Code of Professional Responsibility. Unnecessary and premature exposure could cause a practitioner's clients to find other counsel based on mere allegations. Additionally, the PTO is required to maintain information concerning patent applications in secrecy. 35 U.S.C. 122. In most disciplinary cases information concerning a patent application is revealed at any hearing. Accordingly, the PTO will not provide for public hearings. However, the PTO intends to further study the possibility of hearings open to the public (e.g., in a disciplinary proceeding involving only trademark matters) and may, in the future, propose to modify §10.144.

Numerous comments were received which suggested that the burden of proof set forth in §10.149 should be changed from "preponderance of evidence" to "clear and convincing evidence." As announced at the hearing, this suggestion is being adopted. The "clear and convincing evidence" standard brings §10.149 in conformance with §10.158(d)(1)(ii) which also requires proof by clear and convincing evidence.

The term "clear and convincing evidence" is not succeptable to a precise definition. The PTO, therefore, deems it appropriate to set forth its views on what constitutes "clear and convincing evidence." "Clear and convincing evidence" falls somewhere between proof beyond a reasonable doubt and proof by a preponderance of evidence.

A reasonable doubt is a doubt based upon reason and common sense—the kind of doubt that would make a reasonable person hesitate to act. Proof beyond a reasonable doubt must, therefore, be proof of such a convincing character that a person would be willing to rely and act upon it unhesitatingly in the most important of his or her affairs. Devitt, Federal Jury Practice and Instructions §11.01 (2d ed. 1970).

To establish a fact by a preponderance of evidence means to prove that fact is more likely so than not so. A preponderance of evidence means such evidence as, when considered and compared with that opposed to it, has more convincing force, and produces in the mind of the trier of fact a belief that what is sought to be proved is more likely true than not true. Devitt, supra at §7.01.

Clear and convincing evidence is that measure or degree of proof which will produce in the mind of the trier of fact a firm belief or conviction as to an allegation sought to be established; it is more than a preponderance of evidence, but less than that required to establish guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. Hobson v. Eaton, 399 F.2d 781 (6th Cir. 1968). It does not mean clear and unequivocal." Fred C. Walker Agency, Inc. v. Lucas, 215 Va. 535, 540–541, 211 S.E.2d 88, 92 (1975).

Several comments were received which suggested that §10.150 be changed to make the Federal Rules of Evidence applicable to disciplinary proceedings. The suggestion is not being adopted. The PTO has explained, in both the advance notice (49 F.R. 10020, column 2) and the notice of proposed rulemaking (49 F.R. 338001, columns 1 and 2) why it cannot adopt the Federal Rules of Evidence in disciplinary cases. The "Federal Rules of Evidence . . . do not apply to administrative proceedings . . . ." Davis, Administrative Law Treatise, §14.01 (Supp. 1970). The controlling law is set out in 5 U.S.C. 556(d) which provides in part: "Any oral or documentary evidence may be received, but the agency as a matter of policy shall provide for the exclusion of irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious evidence. A sanction may not be imposed or rule or order issued except on consideration of the whole record or those parts thereof cited by a party and supported by and in accordance with the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence." It appears to be the concern of some of the comments that the Administrative Procedure Act does not articulate an appropriate standard of evidence and that hearsay may be admitted. Suffice it to say that many adjudications occur daily under the Administrative Procedure Act, including disciplinary proceedings. The following language appearing in an opinion of the Eleventh Circuit in TRW-United Greenfield Division v. National Labor Relations Board, 716 F.2d 1391, 1394 (11th Cir. 1983), may be helpful:

> At the hearing the ALJ refused to allow five additional employees to testify that other employees told them that such a statement had been made. TRW contends it was denied a full and fair hearing by the exclusion of this testimony. The general rule is that administrative tribunals are not bound by the strict rules of evidence governing jury trials. Opp Cotton Mills, Inc. v. Administrator of Wage & Hour Div., 312 U.S. 126, 155, 61 S.Ct. 524, 537, 85 L.Ed. 624 (1971). Thus, the admission of testimony which would be deemed incompetent in judicial proceedings would not invalidate the administrative order. Tagg Bros. & Moorhead v. United States, 280 U.S. 420, 442, 50 S.Ct. 220, 225, 74 L.Ed. 524 (1930). But this assurance of a desirable flexibility in administrative procedure does not go so far as to justify orders without a basis in evidence having rational probative force. Mere uncorroborated hearsay or rumor does not constitute substantial evidence. Consolidated Edison Co. v. N.L.R.B., 305 U.S. 197, 230, 59 S.Ct. 206, 217, 83 L.Ed. 126 (1938). Therefore, the hearsay testimony of other employees would not have amounted to substantial evidence sufficient to support a finding for the company. We find that TRW was not denied a full and fair hearing by the judge's refusal to admit hearsay testimony.

A suggestion was received that §10.151 be changed to make the deposition rules of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure applicable to disciplinary proceedings. This suggestion is not being adopted. The discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are not being adopted by the PTO in disciplinary cases. Except for discovery which the parties agree to make voluntarily, all discovery under these rules will require the prior permission of the ALJ. This prior permission is designed to insure that the ALJ retains control over the proceeding. By requiring prior approval of the ALJ to take a deposition, the rules insure that the deposition will relate to evidence the ALJ deems to be relevant and will afford the ALJ the option of determining whether he or she wishes to observe the witness.

Several comments were received which suggested that §10.152 be changed to permit more discovery. Some commentators urged adoption of the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure relating to requests for admissions, interrogatories, and requests for production of documents. Other commentators felt that the discovery proposed in the notice of proposed rulemaking was not sufficient and that more discovery should be authorized. These latter commentators, however, did not urge adoption of the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. As one commentator noted:

> Disciplinary proceedings are not in the nature of civil actions and full discovery within the scope of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure is probably not needed or desirable.

The PTO agrees that more discovery is appropriate than would have been authorized under §10.152 as proposed. The PTO does not agree, however, that discovery should be commensurate in scope with the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

One commentator at the hearing who urged adoption of the discovery provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, correctly recognized the existence of "concerns of the Patent [and Trademark] Office regarding what are alleged to be general discovery abuses." There is ample basis for the PTO's concern. See e.g., Pollack, Discovery—Its Abuse and Correction, 80 F.R.D. 219 (1979) (reproducing remarks made by Judge Pollack at the Fifth Circuit Judicial Conference on April 26, 1978 at New Orleans). The same commentator at the hearing went on to note, however, that if the ALJ "gets on top of a case and monitors a case very actively, then no discovery abuses will occur, and if they do, they will be dealt with swiftly and properly."

Advocates of discovery "reform" seemingly rely on two principles which are claimed to be the cure-all for discovery abuse: (1) active control by the judge and (2) sanctions. See e.g. Second Report of the Special Committee for the Study of Discovery Abuse, 92 F.R.D. 137 (1980). The PTO is not in a position to impose the most effective sanction—costs. However, the PTO can invest the ALJ with control over discovery. It is because the PTO can invest the ALJ with control over discovery that the suggestion for more discovery is being adopted. Section 10.152 has been changed to permit discovery which the PTO believes will be effective. The scope of the discovery, however, will not be commensurate in scope with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Paragraph (a) of §10.152 will permit limited discovery an answer is filed. Discovery is not authorized prior to the filing of an answer. A party seeking discovery will have to make out a clear and convincing case to the ALJ that discovery is necessary and relevant. If discovery is authorized, the ALJ may set conditions he or she deems appropriate to accomplish the discovery. For example, the ALJ may set the place and time for inspection of documents which are required to be produced or the ALJ can order a party to mail copies of the documents to the other party. Under paragraph (a) of §10.152, discovery is limited to a reasonable number of requests for admissions, interrogatories, or requests for production of documents and things. Consideration was given to setting numerical maximums for requests for admission, interrogatories and requests for production of documents and things. See e.g., Local Rule 11.1 of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia. However, numerical maximums are not presently specified. Should discovery become a problem, the PTO will give further consideration to limiting the number of discovery requests which a party may file.

Paragraph (b) of §10.152 specified certain matters which cannot be discovered. Matter which will be used by another party solely for impeachment or cross-examination cannot be discovered. Documents which will be used as part of the Director's case-in-chief or the respondent's case-in-rebuttal or affirmative defenses are subject to discovery. Patent applications not available to a respondent under 35 U.S.C. §122 are not subject to discovery. Matter relating to disciplinary proceedings commenced prior to the effective date of these rules is not available. For the most part, the reasons for a particular length of suspension or disbarment have not been stated in the past. Accordingly, disciplinary proceedings commenced prior to these rules are not particularly relevant. See Poole v. United States, 54 A.F.T.R. 2d (P-H) 84–5536 (D.D.C. June 29, 1984). Prior disciplinary proceedings which resulted in public discipline being imposed will continue to be available in the Office of the Director of Enrollment and Discipline. Respondents will continue to be free to inspect the files of those proceedings. Matters relating to experts, except as may be required by the ALJ under §10.152(e), likewise are not subject to discovery. Privileged matter and attorney work product are excluded from matter which can be discovered.

Paragraph (c) sets forth some factors the ALJ can consider in determining whether to authorize discovery or to limit discovery which is authorized. The factors include delay (which is a major consideration in disciplinary matters), burden on the party required to produce discovery, availability of the discovery sought to the public (in which case, discovery may not be necessary), the extent to which the matter sought to be discovered is equally available to both parties, and the extent to which discovery is available from another source.

Paragraph (d) of §10.152 requires a party desiring discovery to file a motion which explains, in detail, how each request is relevant to an issue raised in the complaint or the answer.

Paragraph (e) of §10.152 sets out matter which the ALJ can require a party to produce in a pre-hearing statement. Subparagraph (4) states the matter the ALJ can require disclosed related to experts.

The PTO has every reason to believe that the discovery authorized by §10.152 will be useful and that sufficient authority has been given to the ALJ to effectively control discovery and prevent abuses. The PTO intends to monitor discovery closely in the future and will consider amending these rules if abuses occur.

One comment suggested that §10.154(b) be modified by adding "any extenuating circumstances" as a matter to be considered in imposing a penalty. This suggestion is being adopted. Another comment suggested that §10.154 should address "probation." This suggestion is not being adopted. Nevertheless, the PTO has authority to place a practitioner on probation for all or a portion of any suspension and to revoke the probation upon a showing of a violation. See In re Dula, 1030 Official Gazette 20 (May 17, 1983).

One comment suggested that §10.155 be modified to specify that the Director should serve a copy of any appeal "on the respondent or on the attorney for respondent." This suggestion is not being adopted. However, in view of the suggestion the language "on the respondent" (both occurrences) in §10.155(a) is being deleted. Section 10.142(a) specifies how service is made on a respondent who is represented by an attorney.

A suggestion was received that §10.157 be modified to provide that a stay would be entered in every case where a respondent seeks judicial review of a decision of the Commissioner. This suggestion was rejected at the time the notice of proposed rulemaking was published (49 F.R. 33802) and is not being adopted. There are cases where a stay is not appropriate, e.g., when the disbarred practitioner is incarcerated. There are other times when a stay may be appropriate. Accordingly, stays will be granted in the discretion of the Commissioner.

Several comments were received discussing §10.158. Some commentators suggested that §10.158 was "too lenient" and another suggested that it was "too hard" on suspended and excluded practitioners. Section 10.158 is designed to advise suspended practitioners as to what they can and cannot do during any period of suspension. The PTO believes that §10.158 strikes a reasonable balance in a difficult area. See the discussion concerning §10.158 in the advance notice (49 F.R. 10021, columns 2 and 3). One comment suggested that §10.158 should be made applicable to corporations. This suggestion is being adopted by appropriate changes in §10.158(c) to refer to client-employers. Another comment suggested that §10.158(b)(1) and (2) be changed to refer to matters before the PTO. This suggestion is also being adopted.

An oral comment was received asking whether the Director could conduct an investigation in connection with a determination under §10.158(d). The Director may conduct whatever investigation is warranted to determine whether a suspended or excluded practitioner seeking reinstatement has complied with regulations relating to suspended and excluded practitioners.

A comment was received regarding §10.159(a) which suggested that the Director notify the American Bar Association National Discipline Data Bank when a practitioner is suspended or excluded. This suggestion is not being adopted as such. However, §10.159(a) has been changed to authorize the Director to notify "any appropriate bar association." The PTO is not inclined to mention any particular bar association by name in the rules. It will be the practice of the PTO to notify the National Discipline Data Bank, among others, when a practitioner is disciplined. Another comment suggested that the entire file of a disciplinary proceeding should not be open to the public when only some, but not all, charges are sustained. This suggestion is not being adopted. In most disciplinary matters, it would be highly inconvenient to segregate the relevant from the irrelevant. Moreover, once discipline is imposed, the principal rationale for keeping the file secret no longer exists. The disciplined practitioner will suffer whatever public embarassment results from discipline apart from whether part or all of the file is open to the public.

With respect to §10.160, one commentator suggested that the burden on the suspended or excluded practitioner for reinstatment be stated in the rules. This suggestion is being adopted and a "clear and convincing showing" requirement has been added to §10.160(c). Section 10.149 sets out the burden on the Director for proof of allegations in the complaint and upon the respondent for proving affirmative defenses. The showing required by §10.158(d)(1) is by "clear and convincing evidence." One commentator suggested that the 5-year period of §10.160(b) should be changed to a 3-year period. This suggestion is not being adopted. According to the commentator, the PTO has failed to state why a 5-year period was proposed. The commentator believes a 3-year period is more appropriate, although no reason is given in support of the commentator's belief. The PTO, after considering the matter, has concluded that some period must be specified and there is no reason to change the 5-year period proposed. A commentator suggested that a practitioner suspended for less than six months should "automatically" be reinstated. This suggestion is not being adopted, because the Director, as a condition to any reinstatement, must find that the suspended practitioner complied with §10.158. Another commentator questioned whether the rules should provide for application for reinstatement during a period of probation. The PTO believes the rules need not make provision for application for reinstatement during probation. For example, if a practitioner is suspended for a period of three years and it is ordered that the practitioner be actually suspended for at least one year and that the last two years the practitioner be placed on probation, the practitioner would be able to apply for reinstatement after serving one year of the three year suspension.

The PTO disagrees with the following comment concerning §10.161(b). "This clause is ex post facto legislation as it seeks retroactively an increase of penalties regarding conduct which occurred prior to the legislation." No legislation is involved. Section 10.161(b) does not "increase penalties."

Other Considerations: The rules will not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment or the conservation of energy resources.

The rules are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96–354) and Executive Order 12291.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Small Business Administration that the rules will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96–354). The rules regulate the conduct of attorneys and agents who represent individuals and juristic entities before the Patent and Trademark Office and would not be expected to result in an increase of fees charged by attorneys and agents to entities, including small entities.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that the rules are not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, federal, state, or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of the United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The information reporting requirements contained in the rules have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget, OMB Control No. 0651–0012 and OMB Control No. 0651–0017.

"Invention developer" means any person, and any agent, employee, officer, partner, or independent contractor thereof, who is not a registered practitioner and who advertises invention development services in media of general circulation or who enters into contracts for invention development services with customers as a result of such advertisement. (b) A practitioner shall not give anything of value to a person for recommending the practitioner's services, except that a practitioner may pay the reasonable cost of advertising or written communication permitted by this section and may pay the usual charges of a not-for-profit lawyer referreal service or other legal service organization.
(c) Any communication made pursuant to this section shall include the name of at least one practitioner responsible for its content.

§10.33 Direct contact with prospective clients.

A practitioner may not solicit professional employment from a prospective client with whom the practitioner has no family or prior professional relationship, by mail, in-person or otherwise, when a significant motive for the practitioner's doing so is the practitioner's pecuniary gain under circumstances evidencing undue influence, intimidation, or overreaching. The term "solicit" includes contact in person, by telephone or telegraph, by letter or other writing, or by other communication directed to a specific recipient, but does not include letters addressed or advertising circulars distributed generally to persons not specifically known to need legal services of the kind provided by the practitioner in a particular matter, but who are so situated that they might in general find such services useful.

tent Lawyer," "Registered Patent Attorney," or a substantially similar designation.

(b) A registered practitioner who is not an attorney may use the designation "Patents," "Patent Agent," "Registered Patent Agent," or a substantially similar designation, except that any practitioner who was registered prior to November 15, 1938, may refer to himself or herself as a "patent attorney."

§10.35 Firm names and letterheads.

(a) A practitioner shall not use a firm name, letterhead, or other professional designation that violates §10.31. (b) Practitioners may state or imply that they practice in a partnership or other organization only when that is the fact.

§10.36 Fees for legal services.

(a) A practitioner shall not enter into an agreement for, charge, or collect an illegal or clearly excessive fee.

(b) A fee is clearly excesive when, after a review of the facts, a practitioner of ordinary prudence would be left with a definite and firm conviction that the fee is in excess of a reasonable fee. Factors to be considered as guides in determining the reasonableness of a fee include the following:

(1) The time and labor required, the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved, and the skill requisite to perform the legal service properly.

(2) The likelihood, if apparent to the client, that the acceptance of the particular employment will preclude other employment by the practitioner.

(3) The fee customarily charged for similar legal services.

(4) The amount involved and the results obtained.

(5) The time limitations imposed by the client or by the circumstances.

(6) The nature and length of the professional relationship with the client.

(8) Whether the fee is fixed or contingent.

§10.37 Division of fees among practitioners.

(a) A practitioner shall not divide a fee for legal services with another practitioner who is not a partner in or associate of the practitioner's law firm or law office, unless:

(1) The client consents to employment of the other practitioner after a full disclosure that a division of fees will be made.

(2) The division is made in proportion to the services performed and responsibility assumed by each.

(3) The total fee of the practitioners does not clearly exceed reasonable compensation for all legal services rendered to the client.

(b) This section does not prohibit payment to a former partner or associate pursuant to a separation or retirement agreement.

§10.38 Agreements restricting the practice of a practitioner.

(a) A practitioner shall not be a party to or participate in a partnership or employment agreement with another practitioner that restricts the right of a practitioner to practice before the Office after the termination of a relationship created by the agreement, except as a condition to payment of retirement benefits.

(b) In connection with the settlement of a controversy or suit, a practitioner shall not enter into an agreement that restricts the practitioner's right to practice before the Office.

§10.39 Acceptance of employment.

A practitioner shall not accept employment on behalf of a person if the practitioner knows or it is obvious that such person wishes to:

(a) Bring a legal action, commence a proceeding before the Office, conduct a defense, assert a position in any proceeding pending before the Office, or otherwise have steps taken for the person, merely for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring any other person.

(b) Present a claim or defense in litigation or any proceeding before the Office that is not warranted under existing law, unless it can be supported by good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of existing law.

§10.40 Withdrawal from employment.

(a) A practitioner shall not withdraw from employment in a proceeding before the Office without permission from the Office (see §§1.36, and 2.19 of this Subchapter). In any event, a practitioner shall not withdraw from employment until the practitioner has taken reasonable steps to avoid foreseeable prejudice to the rights of the client, including giving due notice to his or her client, allowing time for employment of another practitioner, delivering to the client all papers and property to which the client is entitled, and complying with applicable laws and rules. A practitioner who withdraws from employment shall refund promptly any part of a fee paid in advance that has not been earned.

(b) Mandatory withdrawal. A practitioner representing a client before the Office shall withdraw from employment if:

(1) the practitioner knows or it is obvious that the client is bringing a legal action, commencing a proceeding before the Office, conducting a defense, or asserting a position in litigation or any proceeding pending before the Office, or is otherwise having steps taken for the client, merely for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring any person;

(2) the practitioner knows or it is obvious that the practitioner's continued employment will result in violation of a Disciplinary Rule;

(3) the practitioner's mental or physical condition renders it unreasonably difficult for the practitioner to carry out the employment effectively; or

(4) the practitioner is discharged by the client.

(c) Permissive withdrawal. If paragraph (b) of this section is not applicable, a practitioner may not request permission to withdraw in matters pending before the Office unless such request or such withdrawal is because:

(1) the petitioner's client:

(i) insists upon presenting a claim or defense that is not warranted under existing law and cannot be supported by good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of existing law;

(ii) personally seeks to pursue an illegal course of conduct;

(iii) insists that the practitioner pursue a course of conduct that is illegal or that is prohibited under a Disciplinary Rule;

(iv) by other conduct renders it unreasonably difficult for the practitioner to carry out the employment effectively;

(v) insists, in a matter not pending before a tribunal, that the practitioner engage in conduct that is contrary to the judgment and advice of the practitioner but not prohibited under the Disciplinary Rule; or

(vi) has failed to pay one or more bills rendered by the practitioner for an unreasonable period of time or has failed to honor an agreement to pay a retainer in advance of the performance of legal services.

(2) the practitioner's continued employment is likely to result in a violation of a Disciplinary Rule;

(3) the practitioner's inability to work with co-counsel indicates that the best interests of the client likely will be served by withdrawal;

(4) the practitioner's mental or physical condition renders it difficult for the practitioner to carry out the employment effectively;

(5) the practitioner's client knowingly and freely assents to termination of the employment; or

(6) the practitioner believes in good faith, in a proceeding pending before the Office, that the Office will find the existence of other good cause for withdrawal.

§10.49 Forming a partnership with a non-practitioner.

(b) A practitioner shall not accept employment in a proceeding before the Office if the practitioner knows or it is obvious that the practitioner or another practitioner in the practitioner's firm ought to sign an affidavit to be filed in the Office or be called as a witness, except that the practitioner may undertake the employment and the practitioner or another practitioner in the practitioner's firm may testify:

(1) If the testimony will relate solely to an uncontested matter.

(2) If the testimony will relate solely to a matter of formality and there is no reason to believe that substantial evidence will be offered in opposition to the testimony.

(3) If the testimony will relate solely to the nature and value of legal services rendered in the case by the practitioner or the practitioner's firm to the client.

(4) As to any matter, if refusal would work a substantial hardship on the client because of the distinctive value of the practitioner or the practitioner's firm as counsel in the particular case.

§10.63 Withdrawal when the practitioner becomes a witness.

(a) If, after undertaking employment in a proceeding in the Office, a practitioner learns or it is obvious that the practitioner or another practitioner in the practitioner's firm ought to sign an affidavit to be filed in the Office or be called as a witness on behalf of a practitioner's client, the practitioner shall withdraw from the conduct of the proceeding and the practitioner's firm, if any, shall not continue representation in the proceeding, except that the practitioner may continue the representation and the practitioner or another practitioner in the practitioner's firm may testify in the circumstances enumerated in paragraphs (1) through (4) of §10.62(b).

(b) If, after undertaking employment in a proceeding before the Office, a practitioner learns or it is obvious that the practitioner or another practitioner in the practitioner's firm may be asked to sign an affidavit to be filed in the Office or be called as a witness other than on behalf of the practitioner's client, the practitioner may continue the representation until it is apparent that the practitioner's affidavit or testimony is or may be prejudicial to the practitioner's client.

§10.64 Avoiding acquisition of interest in litigation or proceeding before the Office.

A practitioner may, however, advance any fee required to prevent or remedy an abandonment of a client's application by reason of an act or omission attributable to the practitioner and not to the client, whether or not the client is ultimately liable for such fee.

§10.65 Limiting business relations with a client.

A practitioner shall not enter into a business transaction with a client if they have differing interests therein and if the client expects the practitioner to exercise professional judgment therein for the protection of the client, unless the client has consented after full disclosure.

(b) A practitioner shall not continue multiple employment if the exercise of the practitioner's independent professional judgment in behalf of a client will be or is likely to be adversely affected by the practitioner's representation of another client, or if it would be likely to involve the practitioner in representing differing interests, except to the extent permitted under paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) In the situations covered by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section a practitioner may represent multiple clients if it is obvious that the practitioner can adequately represent the interest of each and if each consents to the representation after full disclosure of the possible effect of such representation on the exercise of the practitioner's independent professional judgment on behalf of each.

(d) If a practitioner is required to decline employment or to withdraw from employment under a Disciplinary Rule, no partner, or associate, or any other practitioner affiliated with the practitioner or the practitioner's firm, may accept or continue such employment unless otherwise ordered by the Director or Commissioner.

Investigations and Disciplinary Proceedings

§10.130 Reprimand, suspension or exclusion.

(a) The Commissioner may, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, (a) reprimand or (b) suspend or exclude, either generally or in any particular case, any individual, attorney, or agent shown to be incompetent or disreputable, who is guilty of gross misconduct, or who violates a Disciplinary Rule.
(b) Petitions to disqualify a practitioner in ex parte or inter partes cases in the Office are not governed by §§10.130 through 10.170 and will be handled on a case-by-case basis under such conditions as the Commissioner deems appropriate.

§10.131 Investigations.

(a) The Director is authorized to investigate possible violations of Disciplinary Rules by practitioners. See §10.2(b) (2).

(b) Practitioners shall report and reveal to the Director any knowledge or evidence required by §10.24. A practitioner shall cooperate with the Director in connection with any investigation under paragraph (a) of this section and with officials of the Office in connection with any disciplinary proceeding instituted under §10.132(b).
(c) Any non-practitioner possessing knowledge or information concerning a violation of a Disciplinary Rule by a practitioner may report the violation to the Director. The Director may require that the report be presented in the form of an affidavit.

§10.132 Initiating a disciplinary proceeding; reference to an administrative law judge.

(a) If after conducting an investigation under §10.131(a) the Director is of the opinion that a practitioner has violated a Disciplinary Rule, the Director shall after complying where necessary with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 558(c), call a meeting of the Committee on Discipline. The Committee on Discipline shall then determine as specified in §10.4(b) whether a disciplinary proceeding shall be instituted under paragraph (b) of this section.
(b) If the Committee on Discipline determines that probable cause exists to believe that a practitioner has violated a Disciplinary Rule, the Director shall institute a disciplinary proceeding by filing a complaint under §10.134. The complaint shall be filed in the Office of the Director. A disciplinary proceeding may result in:

(1) a reprimand or
(2) suspension or exclusion of a practitioner from practice before the Office.

(c) Upon the filing of a complaint under §10.134, the Commissioner will refer the disciplinary proceeding to an administrative law judge.

§10.133 Conference between Director and practitioner; resignation.

(a) General. The Director may confer with a practitioner concerning possible violations by the practitioner of a Disciplinary Rule whether or not a disciplinary proceeding has been instituted.
(b) Resignation. Any practitioner who is the subject of an investigation under §10.131 or against whom a complaint has been filed under §10.134 may resign from practice before the Office only by submitting with the Director an affidavit stating his or her desire to resign.
(c) If filed prior to the date set by the administrative law judge for a hearing, the affidavit shall state that:

(1) the resignation is freely and voluntarily proferred;
(2) the practitioner is not acting under duress or coersion from the Office;
(3) the practitioner is fully aware of the implications of filing the resignation;
(4) the practitioner is aware (i) of a pending investigation or (ii) of charges arising from the complaint alleging that he or she is guilty of a violation of the Patent and Trademark Office Code of Professional Responsibility, the nature of which shall be set forth by the practitioner to the satisfaction of the Director;
(5) the practitioner acknowledges that, if and when he or she applies for reinstatement under §10.160, the Director will conclusively presume, for the limited purpose of determining the application for reinstatement, that:

(i) the facts upon which the complaint is based are true and
(ii) the practitioner could not have successfully defended himself or herself against (A) charges predicated on the violation under investigation or (B) charges set out in the complaint filed against the practitioner.

(d) If filed on or after the date set by the administrative law judge for a hearing, the affidavit shall make the statements required by subparagraphs (1) through (4) of paragraph (b) of this section and shall state that:

(1) the practitioner acknowledges the facts upon which the complaint is based are true; and
(2) the resignation is being submitted because the practitioner could not successfully defend himself or herself against (i) charges predicated on the violation under investigation or (ii) charges set out in the complaint.

(e) When an affidavit under paragraph (b) or (c) of this section is received while an investigation is pending, the Commissioner shall enter an order excluding the practitioner "on consent." When an affidavit under paragraphs (b) or (c) of this section is received after a complaint under §10.134 has been filed, the Director shall notify the administrative law judge. The administrative law judge shall enter an order transferring the disciplinary proceeding to the Commissioner and the Commissioner shall enter an order excluding the practitioner "on consent."
(f) Any practitioner who resigns from practice before the Office under this section and who intends to reapply for admission to practice before the Office must comply with the provisions of §10.158.
(g) Settlement. Before or after a complaint is filed under §10.134, a settlement conference may occur between the Director and a practitioner for the purpose of settling any disciplinary matter. If an offer of settlement is made by the Director or the practitioner and is not accepted by the other, no reference to the offer of settlement or its refusal shall be admissible in evidence in the disciplinary proceeding unless both the Director and the practitioner agree in writing.

§10.134 Complaint.

(a) A complaint instituting a disciplinary proceeding shall:

(1) Name the practitioner, who may then be referred to as the "respondent."
(2) Give a plain and concise description of the alleged violations of the Disciplinary Rules by the practitioner.
(3) State the place and time for filing an answer by the respondent.
(4) State that a decision by default may be entered against the respondent if an answer is not timely filed.
(5) Be signed by the Director.

(b) A complaint will be deemed sufficient if it fairly informs the respondent of any violation of the Disciplinary Rules which form the basis for the disciplinary proceeding so that the respondent is able to adequately prepare a defense.

§10.135 Service of complaint.

(a) A complaint may be served on a respondent in any of the following methods:

(1) By handing a copy of the complaint personally to the respondent, in which case the individual handing the complaint to the respondent shall file an affidavit with the Director indicating the time and place the complaint was handed to the respondent.
(2) By mailing a copy of the complaint by "Express Mail" or first-class mail to:

(i) a registered practitioner at the address for which separate notice was last received by the Director or
(ii) a non-registered practitioner at the last address for the respondent known to the Director.

(3) By any method mutually agreeable to the Director and the respondent.

(b) If a complaint served by mail under paragraph (a) (2) of this section is returned by the U.S. Postal Service, the Director shall mail a second copy of the complaint to the respondent. If the second copy of the complaint is also returned by the U.S. Postal Service, the Director shall serve the respondent by publishing an appropriate notice in the Official Gazette for four consecutive weeks, in which case the time for answer shall be at least thirty days from the fourth publication of the notice.

(c) If a respondent is a registered practitioner, the Director may serve simultaneously with the complaint a letter under §10.11(b). The Director may require the respondent to answer the §10.11(b) letter within a period of not less than 15 days. An answer to the §10.11(b) letter shall constitute proof of service. If the respondent fails to answer the §10.11(b) letter, his or her name will be removed from the register as provided by §10.11(b).

(d) If the respondent is represented by an attorney under §10.140(a), a copy of the complaint shall also be served on the attorney.

§10.136 Answer to complaint.

(a) Time for answer. An answer to a complaint shall be filed within a time set in the complaint which shall be not less than thirty days.

(b) With whom filed. The answer shall be filed in writing with the administrative law judge. The time for filing an answer may be extended once for a period of no more than thirty days by the administrative law judge upon a showing of good cause provided a motion requesting an extension of time is filed within thirty days after the date the complaint is filed by the Director. A copy of the answer shall be served on the Director.

(c) Content. The respondent shall include in the answer a statement of the facts which constitute the grounds of defense and shall specifically admit or deny each allegation set forth in the complaint. The respondent shall not deny a material allegation in the complaint which the respondent knows to be true or state that respondent is without sufficient information to form a belief as to the truth of an allegation when in fact the respondent possesses that information. The respondent shall also state affirmatively special matters of defense.

(d) Failure to deny allegations in complaint. Every allegation in the complaint which is not denied by a respondent in the answer is deemed to be admitted and may be considered proven. No further evidence in respect of that allegation need be received by the administrative law judge at any hearing. Failure to timely file an answer will constitute an admission of the allegations in the complaint.

(e) Reply by Director. No reply to an answer is required by the Director and any affirmative defense in the answer shall be deemed to be denied. The Director may, however, file a reply if he or she chooses or if ordered by the adminstrative law judge.

§10.137 Supplemental complaint.

False statements in an answer may be made the basis of a supplemental complaint.

§10.138 Contested case.

Upon the filing of an answer by the respondent, a disciplinary proceeding shall be regarded as a contested case within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 24. Evidence obtained by a subpoena issued under 35 U.S.C. 24 shall not be admitted into the record or considered unless leave to proceed under 35 U.S.C. 24 was previously authorized by the administrative law judge.

§10.139 Administrative law judge; appointment; responsibilities; review of interlocutory orders; stays.

(a) Appointment. An administrative law judge, appointed under 5 U.S.C. 3105, shall conduct disciplinary proceedings as provided by this part.

(b) Responsibilities. The administrative law judge shall have authority to:

(1) Administer oaths and affirmations;
(2) Make rulings upon motions and other requests;
(3) Rule upon offers of proof, receive relevant evidence, and examine witnesses;
(4) Authorize the taking of a deposition of a witness in lieu of personal appearance of the witness before the adminstrative law judge;
(5) Determine the time and place of any hearing and regulate its course and conduct;
(6) Hold or provide for the holding of conferences to settle or simplify the issues;
(7) Receive and consider oral or written arguments on facts or law;
(8) Adopt procedures and modify procedures from time to time as occasion requires for the orderly disposition of proceedings;
(9) Make initial decisions under §10.154; and
(10) Perform acts and take measures as necessary to promote the efficient and timely conduct of any disciplinary proceeding.

(c) Time for making initial decision. The administrative law judge shall set times and exercise control over a disciplinary proceeding such that an initial decision under §10.154 is normally issued within six months of the date a complaint is filed. The administrative law judge may, however, issue an initial decision more than six months after a complaint is filed if in his or her opinion there exist unusual circumstances which preclude issuance of an initial decision within six months of the filing of the complaint.

(d) Review of interlocutory orders. An interlocutory order of an administrative law judge will not be reviewed by the Commissioner except:

(1) when the administrative law judge shall be of the opinion (i) that the interlocutory order involves a controlling question of procedure or law as to which there is a substantial ground for a difference of opinion and (ii) that an immediate decision by the Commissioner may materially advance the ultimate termination of the disciplinary proceeding or
(2) in an extraordinary situation where justice requires review.

(e) Stays pending review of interlocutory order. If the Director or a respondent seeks review of an interlocutory order of an administrative law judge under paragraph (b)(2) of this section, any time period set for taking action by the administrative law judge shall not be stayed unless ordered by the Commissioner or the administrative law judge.

§10.140 Representative for Director or respondent.

(a) A respondent may be represented before the Office in connection with an investigation or disciplinary proceeding by an attorney. The attorney shall file a written declaration that he or she is an attorney within the meaning of §10.1(c) and shall state:

(1) the address to which the attorney wants correspondence related to the investigation or disciplinary proceeding sent and
(2) a telephone number where the attorney may be reached during normal business hours.

(b) The Commissioner shall designate at least two associate solicitors in the Office of the Solicitor to act as representatives for the Director in disciplinary proceedings. In prosecuting disciplinary proceedings, the designated associate solicitors shall not involve the Solicitor or the Deputy Solicitor. The Solicitor and the Deputy Solicitor shall remain insulated from the investigation and prosecution of all disciplinary proceedings in order that they shall be available as counsel to the Commissioner in deciding disciplinary proceedings.

§10.141 Filing of papers.

(a) The provisions of §1.8 of this Subchapter do not apply to disciplinary proceedings.

(b) All papers filed after the complaint and prior to entry of an initial decision by the administrative law judge shall be filed with the administrative law judge at an address or place designated by the administrative law judge. All papers filed after entry of an initial decision by the administrative law judge shall be filed with the Director. The Director shall promptly forward to the Commissioner any paper which requires action under this part by the Commissioner.

(c) The administrative law judge or the Director may provide for filing papers and other matter by hand or by "Express Mail."

§10.142 Service of papers.

(a) All papers other than a complaint shall be served on a respondent represented by an attorney by:

(1) delivering a copy of the paper to the office of the attorney; or
(2) mailing a copy of the paper by first-class mail or "Express Mail" to the attorney at the address provided by the attorney under §10.140(a) (1); or
(3) any other method mutually agreeable to the attorney and a representative for the Director.

(b) All papers other than a complaint shall be served on a respondent who is not represented by an attorney by:

(1) delivering a copy of the paper to the respondent; or
(2) mailing a copy of the paper by first-class mail or "Express Mail" to the respondent at the address to which a complaint may be served or such other address as may be designated in writing by the respondent; or
(3) any other method mutually agreeable to the respondent and a representative of the Director.

(c) A respondent shall serve on the representative for the Director one copy of each paper filed with the administrative law judge or the Director. A paper may be served on the representative for the Director by:

(1) delivering a copy of the paper to the representative; or
(2) mailing a copy of the paper by first-class mail or "Express Mail" to an address designated in writing by the representative; or
(3) any other method mutually agreeable to the respondent and the representative.

(d) Each paper filed in a disciplinary proceeding shall contain therein a certificate of service indicating:

(1) the date on which service was made and
(2) the method by which service was made.

(e) The administrative law judge or the Commissioner may require that a paper be served by hand or by "Express Mail."

(f) Service by mail is completed when the paper mailed in the United States is placed into the custody of the U.S. Postal Service.

§10.143 Motions.

Motions may be filed with the administrative law judge. The adminstrative law judge will determine on a case-by-case basis the time period for response to a motion and whether replies to responses will be authorized. No motion shall be filed with the administrative law judge unless such motion is supported by a written statement by the moving party that the moving party or attorney for the moving party has conferred with the opposing party or attorney for the opposing party in an effort in good faith to resolve by agreement the issues raised by the motion and has been unable to reach agreement. If issues raised by a motion are resolved by the parties prior to a decision on the motion by the administrative law judge, the parties shall promptly notify the administrative law judge.

§10.144 Hearings.

(a) The administrative law judge shall preside at hearings in disciplinary proceedings. Hearings will be stenographically recorded and transcribed and the testimony of witnesses will be received under oath or affirmation. The administrative law judge shall conduct hearings in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 556. A copy of the transcript of the hearing shall become part of the record. A copy of the transcript shall be provided to the Director and the respondent at the expense of the Office.

(b) If the respondent to a disciplinary proceeding fails to appear at the hearing after a notice of hearing has been given by the administrative law judge, the administrative law judge may deem the respondent to have waived the right to a hearing and may proceed with the hearing in the absence of the respondent.

(c) A hearing under this section will not be open to the public except that the Director may grant a request by a respondent to open his or her hearing to the public and make the record of the disciplinary proceeding available for public inspection, provided agreement is reached in advance to exclude from public disclosure information which is privileged or confidential under applicable laws or regulations. If a disciplinary proceeding results in disciplinary action against a practitioner, and subject to §10.159(c), the record of the entire disciplinary proceeding, including any settlement agreement, will be available for public inspection.

§10.145 Proof; variance; amendment of pleadings.

In case of a variance between the evidence and the allegations in a complaint, answer, or reply, if any, the administrative law judge may order or authorize amendment of the complaint, answer, or reply to conform to the evidence. Any party who would otherwise be prejudiced by the amendment will be given reasonable opportunity to meet the allegations in the complaint, answer, or reply, as amended, and the administrative law judge shall make findings on any issue presented by the complaint, answer, or reply as amended.

§10.149 Burden of proof.

In a disciplinary proceeding, the Director shall have the burden of proving his or her case by clear and convincing evidence and a respondent shall have the burden of providing any affirmative defense by clear and convincing evidence.

§10.150 Evidence.

(a) Rules of evidence. The rules of evidence prevailing in courts of law and equity are not controlling in hearings in disciplinary proceedings. However, the administrative law judge shall exclude evidence which is irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious.

(b) Depositions. Depositions of witnesses taken pursuant to §10.151 may be admitted as evidence.

(c) Government documents. Official documents, records, and papers of the Office are admissible without extrinsic evidence of authenticity. These documents, records and papers may be evidenced by a copy certified as correct by an employee of the Office.

(d) Exhibits. If any document, record, or other paper is introduced in evidence as an exhibit, the administrative law judge may authorize the withdrawal of the exhibit subject to any conditions the administrative law judge deems appropriate.

(e) Objections. Objections to evidence will be in short form, stating the grounds of objection. Objections and rulings on objections will be a part of the record. No exception to the ruling is necessary to preserve the rights of the parties.

§10.151 Depositions.

(a) Depositions for use at the hearing in lieu of personal appearance of a witness before the administrative law judge may be taken by respondent or the Director upon a showing of good cause and with the approval of, and under such conditions as may be deemed appropriate by, the administrative law judge. Depositions may be taken upon oral or written questions, upon not less than ten days written notice to the other party, before any officer authorized to administer an oath or affirmation in the place where the deposition is to be taken. The requirement of ten days notice may be waived by the parties and depositions may then be taken of a witness and at a time and place mutually agreed to by the parties. When a deposition is taken upon written questions, copies of the written questions will be served upon the other party with the notice and copies of any written cross-questions will be served by hand or "Express Mail" not less then five days before the date of the taking of the deposition unless the parties mutually agree otherwise. A party on whose behalf a deposition is taken shall file a copy of a transcript of the deposition signed by a court reporter with the administrative law judge and shall serve one copy upon the opposing party. Expenses for a court reporter and preparing, serving, and filing depositions shall be borne by the party at whose instance the deposition is taken.

(b) When the Director and the respondent agree in writing, a deposition of any witness who will appear voluntarily may be taken under such terms and conditions as may be mutually agreeable to the Director and the respondent. The deposition shall not be filed with the administrative law judge and may not be admitted in evidence before the administrative law judge unless he or she orders the deposition admitted in evidence. The admissibility of the deposition shall lie within the discretion of the administrative law judge who may reject the deposition on any reasonable basis including the fact that demeanor is involved and that the witness should have been called to appear personally before the administrative law judge.

Discovery shall not be authorized except as follows:

(a) After an answer is filed under §10.136 and when a party establishes in a clear and convincing manner that discovery is necessary and relevant, the administrative law judge, under such conditions as he or she deems appropriate, may order an opposing party to:

(1) answer a reasonable number of written requests for admission or interrogatories;

(2) produce for inspection and copying a reasonable number of documents; and

(3) produce for inspection a reasonable number of things other than documents.

(b) Discovery shall not be authorized under paragraph (a) of this section of any matter which:

(1) will be used by another party solely for impeachment or cross-examination;

(2) is not available to the party under 35 U.S.C. §122;

(3) relates to any disciplinary proceeding commenced in the Patent and Trademark Office prior to Mar. 8, 1985;

(4) relates to experts except as the administrative law judge may require under paragraph (e) of this section.

(5) is privileged; or

(6) relates to mental impressions, conclusions, opinions, or legal theories of any attorney or other representative of a party.

(c) the administrative law judge may deny discovery requested under paragraph (a) of this section if the discovery sought:

(1) will unduly delay the disciplinary proceeding;

(2) will place an undue burden on the party required to produce the discovery sought; or

(3) is available (i) generally to the public, (ii) equally to the parties; or (iii) to the party seeking the discovery through another source.

(d) Prior to authorizing discovery under paragraph (a) of this section, the administrative law judge shall require the party seeking discovery to file a motion (§10.143) and explain in detail for each request made how the discovery sought is necessary and relevant to an issue actually raised in the complaint or the answer.

(e) The administrative law judge may require parties to file and serve, prior to any hearing, a pre-hearing statement which contains

(1) A list (together with a copy) of all proposed exhibits to be used in connection with a party's case-in-chief,

(2) a list of proposed witnesses,

(3) as to each proposed expert witness:

(i) an identification of the field in which the individual will be qualified as an expert;

(ii) a statement as to the subject matter on which the expert is expected to testify; and

(iii) a statement of the substance of the facts and opinions to which the expert is expected to tesify,

(4) the identity of government employees who have investigated the case, and

(5) copies of memoranda reflecting respondent's own statements to administrative representatives.

(f) After a witness testifies for a party, if the opposing party requests, the party may be required to produce, prior to cross-examination, any written statement made by the witness.

§10.153 Proposed findings and conclusions; post-hearing memorandum.

Except in cases when the respondent has failed to answer the complaint, the administrative law judge, prior to making an initial decision, shall afford the parties a reasonable opportunity to submit proposed findings and conclusions and a post-hearing memorandum in support of the proposed findings and conclusions.

§10.154 Initial decision of administrative law judge.

(a) The administrative law judge shall make an initial decision in the case. The decision will include (a) a statement of findings and conclusions, as well as the reasons or basis therefore with appropriate references to the record, upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record, and (b) an order of suspension or exclusion from practice, an order of reprimand, or an order dismissing the complaint. The administrative law judge shall file the decision with the Director and shall transmit a copy to the representative of the Director and to the respondent. In the absence of an appeal to the Commissioner, the decision of the administrative law judge will, without further proceedings, become the decision of the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks thirty (30) days from the date of the decision of the administrative law judge.

(b) The initial decision of the administrative law judge shall explain the reason for any penalty of reprimand, suspension or exclusion. In determining any penalty, the following should normally be considered:

(1) the public interest;

(2) the seriousness of the violation of the Disciplinary Rule;

(3) the deterrent effects deemed necessary; and

(4) the integrity of the legal profession; and

(5) any extenuating circumstances.

§10.155 Appeal to the Commissioner.

(a) Within thirty (30) days from the date of the initial decision of the administrative law judge under §10.154, either party may appeal to the Commissioner. An appeal by the respondent will be filed with the Director in duplicate and will include exceptions to the decisions of the administrative law judge and supporting reasons for those exceptions. If the Director files the appeal, the Director shall serve a copy of the appeal. Within thirty (30) days after receipt of an appeal or copy thereof, the other party may file a reply brief in duplicate with the Director. If the Director files the reply brief, the Director shall serve a copy of the reply brief. Upon the filing of an appeal and a reply brief, if any, the Director shall transmit the entire record to the Commissioner.

(b) The appeal will be decided by the Commissioner on the record made before the administrative law judge.

(c) The Commissioner may order reopening of a disciplinary proceeding in accordance with the principles which govern the granting of new trials. Any request to reopen a disciplinary proceeding on the basis of newly discovered evidence must demonstrate that the newly discovered evidence could not have been discovered by due diligence.

§10.156 Decision of the Commissioner.

(a) An appeal from an initial decision of the administrative law judge shall be decided by the Commissioner. The Commissioner may affirm, reverse, or modify the initial decision or remand the matter to the administrative law judge for such further proceedings as the Commissioner may deem appropriate. Entry of a decision by the Commissioner is a final agency action in a disciplinary proceeding. In making a final decision, the Commissioner shall review the record or those portions of the record as may be cited by the parties in order to limit the issues. The Comissioner shall tranmit a copy of the final decision to the Director and to the respondent.

(b) A final decision of the Commissioner may dismiss a disciplinary proceeding, reprimand a practitioner, or may suspend or exclude the practitioner from practice before the Office.

§10.157 Review of Commissioner's final decision.

(a) Review of the Commissioner's final decision in a disciplinary case may be had by a petition filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. See 35 U.S.C. 32 and Local Rule 1-26 of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia.

(b) The Commissioner may stay a final decision pending review of the Commissioner's final decision.

§10.158 Suspended or excluded practitioner.

(a) A practitioner who is suspended or excluded from practice before the Office under §10.156(b) shall not engage in unauthorized practice of patent, trademark and other non-patent law before the Office.

(b) Unless otherwise ordered by the Commissioner, any practitioner who is suspended or excluded from practice before the Office under §10.156(b) shall:

(1) Within 30 days of entry of the order of suspension or exclusion, notify all bars of which he or she is a member and all clients of the practitioner for whom he or she is handling matters before the Office in separate written communications of the suspension or exclusion and shall file a copy of each written communication with the Director.

(2) Within 30 days of entry of the order of suspension or exclusion, surrender a client's active Office case files to (i) the client or (ii) another practitioner designated by the client.

(3) Not hold himself or herself out as authorized to practice law before the Office.

(4) Promptly take any necessary and appropriate steps to remove from any telephone, legal, or other directory any advertisement, statement, or representation which would reasonably suggest that the practitioner is authorized to practice patent, trademark or other non-patent law before the Office, and within 30 days of taking those steps, file with the Director an affidavit describing the precise nature of the steps taken.

(5) Not advertise the practitioner's availability or ability to perform or render legal services for any person having immediate, prospective, or pending business before the Office.

(6) Not render legal advice or services to any person having immediate, prospective, or pending business before the Office as to that business.

(7) Promptly take steps to change any sign identifying a practitioner's or the practitioner's firm's office and the practitioner's or the practitioner's firm's stationary to delete therefrom any advertisement, statement, or representation which would reasonably suggest that the practitioner is authorized to practice law before the Office.

(8) Within 30 days, return to any client any unearned funds, including any unearned retainer fee, and any securities and property of the client.

(c) A practitioner who is suspended or excluded from practice before the Office and who aides another practitioner in any way in the other practitioner's practice of law before the Office, may, under the direct supervision of the other practitioner, act as a para-legal for the other practitioner or perform other services for the other practitioner which are normally performed by lay-persons, provided:

(1) the practitioner who is suspended or excluded is:

(i) a salaried employee of:

(A) the other practitioner;

(B) the other practitioner's law firm; or

(C) a client-employer who employs the other practitioner as a salaried employee;

(2) the other practitioner assumes full professional responsibility to any client and the Office for any work performed by the suspended or excluded practitioner for the other practitioner;

(3) the suspended or excluded practitioner, in connection with any immediate, prospective, or pending business before the Office, does not:

(i) communicate directly in writing, orally, or otherwise with a client of the other practitioner;

(ii) render any legal services to a client of the other practitioner; or

(iii) meet in person or in the presence of the other practitioner with:

(A) any Office official in connection with the prosecution of any patent, trademark, or other case;

(B) any client of the other practitioner, the other practioner's law firm, or the client-employer of the other practitioner;

(C) any witness or potential witness which the other practitioner, the other practitioner's law firm, or the other practitioner's client-employer may or intends to call as a witness in any proceeding before the Office. The term "witness" includes individuals who will testify orally in a proceeding before, or sign an affidavit or any other document to be filed in, the Office.

(d) When a suspended or excluded practitioner acts as a para-legal or performs services under paragraph (c) of this section, the suspended or excluded practitioner shall not thereafter be reinstated to practice before the Office unless:

(1) the suspended or excluded practitioner shall have filed with the Director an affidavit which (i) explains in detail the precise nature of all para-legal or other services performed by the suspended or excluded practitioner and (ii) shows by clear and convincing evidence that the suspended or excluded practitioner has complied with the provisions of this section and all Disciplinary Rules, and

(2) the other practitioner shall have filed with the Director a written statement which (i) shows that the other practitioner has read the affidavit required by subparagraph (d) (1) of this section and that the other practitioner believes every statement in the affidavit to be true and (ii) states why the other practitioner believes that the suspended or excluded practitioner has complied with paragraph (c) of this section.

§10.159 Notice of suspension or exclusion.

(a) Upon issuance of a final decision reprimanding a practitioner or suspending or excluding a practitioner from practice before the Office, the Director shall give notice of the final decision to appropriate employees of the Office and to interested departments, agencies, and courts of the United States. The Director shall also give notice to appropriate authorities of any State in which a practitioner is known to be a member of the bar and any appropriate bar association.

(b) The Director shall cause to be published in the Official Gazette the name of any practitioner suspended or excluded from practice. Unless otherwise ordered by the Commissioner, the Director shall publish in the Official Gazette the name of any practitioner reprimanded by the Commissioner.

(c) The Director shall maintain records, which shall be available for public inspection, of every disciplinary proceeding where a practitioner is reprimanded, suspended, or excluded unless the Commissioner orders that the proceeding be kept confidential.

§10.160 Petition for reinstatement.

(a) A petition for reinstatement of a practitioner suspended for a period of less than five years will not be considered until the period of suspension has passed.

(b) A petition for reinstatement of a practitioner excluded from practice will not be considered until five years after the effective date of the exclusion.

(c) An individual who has resigned under §10.133 or who has been suspended or excluded may file a petition for reinstatement. The Director may grant a petition for reinstatement when the individual makes a clear and convincing showing that the individual will conduct himself or herself in accordance with the regulations of this part and that granting a petition for reinstatement is not contrary to the public interest. As a condition to reinstatement, the Director may require the individual to:

(1) meet the requirements of §10.7, including taking and passing an examination under §10.7(b) and

(2) pay all or a portion of the costs and expenses, not to exceed $1,500, of the disciplinary proceeding which lead to suspension or exclusion.

(d) Any suspended or excluded practitioner who has violated the provisions of §10.158 during his or her period of suspension or exclusion shall not be entitled to reinstatement until such time as the Director is satisfied that a period of suspension equal in time to that ordered by the Commissioner or exclusion for five years has passed during which the suspended or excluded practitioner has complied with the provisions of §10.158.

(e) Proceedings on any petition for reinstatement shall be open to the public. Before reinstating any suspended or excluded practitioner, the Director shall publish in the Official Gazette a notice of the suspended or excluded practitioner's petition for reinstatement and shall permit the public a reasonable opportunity to comment or submit evidence with respect to the petition for reinstatement.

§10.161 Savings clause.

(a) A disciplinary proceeding based on conduct engaged in prior to the effective date of these regulations may be instituted subsequent to such effective date, if such conduct would continue to justify suspension or exclusion under the provisions of this part.

(b) No practitioner shall be subject to a disciplinary proceeding under this part based on conduct engaged in before the effective date hereof if such conduct would not have been subject to disciplinary action before such effective date.

§10.170 Suspension of rules.

(a) In an extraordinary situation, when justice requires, any requirement of the regulations of this part which is not a requirement of the statutes may be suspended or waived by the Commissioner or the Commissioner's designee, sua sponte, or on petition of any party, including the Director or the Director's representative, subject to such other requirements as may be imposed.

(b) Any petition under this section will not stay a disciplinary proceeding unless ordered by the Commissioner or an administrative law judge.

Requests for Reconsideration in Patent and Trademark Office Disciplinary Proceedings

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

Summary: This notice of proposed rulemaking sets forth a proposed amendment to 37 CFR 10.156. The purpose of the amendment is to prescribe a date on which the decision of the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks in a Patent and Trademark (PTO) disciplinary proceeding becomes final agency action for purposes of judicial review, and to provide for one request for reconsideration or modification of such decision by a party. Interested parties are invited to comment on the proposed amendment.
Dates: Written comments must be received on or before Dec. 1, 1988 to insure consideration. No oral hearing will be conducted.
Address: Address written comments to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231 marked to the attention of Harris A. Pitlick.
For Further Information Contact: Harris A. Pitlick by telephone at (703) 557-4035 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: Present rules do not explicitly provide for requests for reconsideration or modification of Commissioner's decisions in appeals from initial decisions of administrative law judges in PTO disciplinary proceedings. 37 CFR 10.156 presently provides that such a Commissioner's decision is a final agency action.

In a recent case, Klein v. Peterson, 6 USPQ 2d 1556 (D.D.C. 1988), a first decision of the Commissioner was withdrawn and ultimately replaced with a second decision. The respondent sought judicial review of the first decision under 35 U.S.C. 32 after its finality had already been withdrawn and then sought judicial review of the second decision. The authority of the Commissioner to, in effect, reconsider his decision in a disciplinary proceeding was challenged in the cited case. The district court held that since there was no express statutory authority proscribing the Commissioner from reconsidering the first decision, there was implicit authority to do so consistent with long-standing precedent in the area of federal administrative law.

While Klein confirmed that the Commissioner has inherent authority to reconsider a decision, at least before an appeal has been noted, the PTO believes that a rule explicitly providing for a time in which requests for reconsideration may be made by a party and a date certain for when Commissioner's decisions in disciplinary proceedings become final will both promote greater certainty in this area of disciplinary proceeding practice and eliminate the possibility of multiple appeals. The rule proposed is not intended to preclude the Commissioner from sua sponte reconsidering or modifying a decision in a disciplinary proceeding at any time where conditions warrant and a respondent's due process rights are not violated, consistent with long-standing federal administrative law precedent.

37 CFR 10.156 is proposed to be amended as follows.

Paragraph (a) would be amended to provide that, subject to paragraph (c), the decision of the Commissioner in a disciplinary proceeding becomes final agency action upon the expiration of twenty (20) days after entry thereof.

New paragraph (c) would be added to provide for a single request for reconsideration or modification by the respondent or the Director of Enrollment and Discipline, if made within 20 days of entry of the Commissioner's decision. Such a request would have the effect of staying the effective date of the decision. The decision by the Commissioner on the request would be the final agency action in a disciplinary proceeding and would be effective on the date of entry.

Other Considerations

The proposed rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration that this proposed rule change is not expected to have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354) because in merely codifying the inherent right of the PTO to reconsider its decisions sua sponte, the proposed rule extends the right to each party in a PTO disciplinary proceeding to seek reconsideration.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this proposed rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increases in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Patent and Trademark Office has also determined that this proposed rule has no federalism implications affecting the relationship between the national government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

This proposed rule change does not contain a collection of information subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

37 CFR PART 10

[Docket No. 80340-8188]

Practice Before the Patent and Trademark Office; Government Employees

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Final Rule.
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is amending its rules governing admission of Government employees to practice before the PTO in patent cases, Part 10 of Title 37. Those rules presently permit officers and employees of the Government to be registered only if their official duties include preparation and prosecution of patent applications. A recent decision of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia has held that these rules are partially invalid. By these amended rules, the PTO has conformed the rules to the court's decision and has eliminated the "inactive" status designation of registered attorneys and agents who became employed by the Government, but do not engage in the preparation and prosecution of patent applications.
Effective Date: Nov. 4, 1988
For Further Information Contact: Nancy C. Slutter by telephone at (703) 557-4035 or by mail marked to her attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: Attorneys and agents must be admitted to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) in patent cases. 35 U.S.C. 31; 37 CFR 10.10(a). Part 10 of Title 37 is being amended to allow Federal employees who fulfill the requirements for registration set forth at 37 CFR 10.7 to have their names placed on the PTO register of attorneys and agents.

In the past, the rules provided that an officer or employee of the Government whose official duties include preparation and prosecution of patent applications may be registered. 37 CFR 10.6(d). Under the rule, all other Government employees were not to be registered. If a registered practitioner became a Government employee, the rule required that the petitioner's name be endorsed as "inactive" if the employee's duties did not involve the preparation and prosecution of patent applications.

In a recent decision by the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, portions of 37 CFR 10.6(d) were held to be invalid. In that case, an attorney presently employed by a Federal agency petitioned the Commissioner, requesting that his name be placed (with an inactive designation) on the register of attorneys and agents entitled to practice before the PTO in patent cases. His petition was denied in view of 37 CFR 10.6(d). In re Athridge, 230 USPQ 470 (Comm'r Pat. 1986). Following the Commissioner's decision, the attorney sought judicial review in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. The court determined that 37 CFR 10.6(d) was invalid to the extent that it precluded registration of an otherwise qualified individual solely on the basis of his status as a Government employee. Based on its determination, the court held that the employee could be registered and designated as "inactive." Athridge v. Quigg, 655 F. Supp. 779, 3 USPQ 2d 1391 (D.D.C. 1987). See also Athridge v. Quigg, 4 USPQ 2d 1656 (Comm'r Pat. 1987).

Amendments to 37 CFR §§10.6, 10.10 and 10.23(c) were proposed in a rulemaking notice published in the Federal Register at 53 FR 20871-20872 (June 7, 1988) and at 1091 Official Gazette 38 (June 28, 1988).

Interested parties were requested to submit written comments on or before Aug. 9, 1988. Written comments were submitted by two individuals and one organization.

Section 10.6, as amended, removes §10.6(d). The effect of removing §10.6(d) will permit otherwise qualified Government employees to be registered to practice before the PTO in patent cases. Registration, however, will not relieve any Government employee from otherwise complying with conflict of interest requirements, e.g., 18 U.S.C. 203, 205, 207, applicable agency regulations and personnel practices, and applicable codes of professional responsibility.

Section 10.10, as amended, refers to restrictions on practice in patent cases imposed on Government employees, Office employees, and former Office employees.

Section 10.23(c), which sets forth specific forms of misconduct, is amended by revising paragraph 10.23(c)(13) to reflect the redesignation of paragraph 10.6(e) as §10.10(b), and by adding new paragraphs (c) and (d), which provide that actions contrary to the restrictions on practice in patent cases set forth in amended paragraphs 10.10(c) and (d) will be treated as misconduct by the Office.

One commenter expressed concern that under §10.10(b) as proposed, a former member of the patent examining corps could be denied registration (or reinstatement) as the result of filing an application that is assigned to his or her former examining group by the Office even though when filing the application, the practitioner sincerely did not believe the application would be assigned to that group. It is noted that §10.10(b) contains the same provisions with respect to applications filed by former patent examiners as former §10.6(e). A former member of the patent examining corps would not be denied registration for filing an application assigned to his or her former group if immediate action is taken to withdraw from further prosecution of the case when he or she finds out that the application has been assigned to his or her former group. Actionable misconduct occurs when the individual knowingly acts in violation of the undertaking signed under §10.10(b). See §10.23(c)(13).

Two comments were received suggesting an addition to §10.66 that would correspond to newly proposed §10.10(d). However, §10.66 relates to Canon 5 of the Patent and Trademark Office Code of Professional Responsibility (A practitioner should exercise independent judgment on behalf of a client) and is concerned with a practitioner's relationship with clients whereas newly proposed §10.10(d) is concerned with applicable conflict of interest laws, regulations or codes of professional responsibility as they relate to Government employees. Accordingly, it is felt that the suggested addition to §10.66 would be inappropriate.

Two commenters suggested the addition of a new section to be designated as §10.11(c), adapted from a notice in the Official Gazette (1064 O.G. 12) "Reinstatement of Patent Attorneys and Agents to Practice Before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office." Such a change is not adopted in this rule package but is under consideration for a future rule change.

Two comments were received concerning the differences in the language used in proposed §§10.10(b) and 10.23(c)(13) and the need to avoid inconsistencies in these two sections. In particular, §10.10(b) (last paragraph) included "providing assistance," whereas §10.23(c)(13) did not; and §10.23(c)(13) recited "knowingly," whereas §10.10(b) did not. This suggestion is being adopted. Amended §10.23(c)(13) will include the language "providing assistance" as it appears in §10.10(b) and §10.10(b) will be changed to include the word "knowingly."

It was suggested by two commenters that additional explanatory commentary be provided with respect to newly proposed §§10.10(c) and (d). It is felt that this is unnecessary in connection with the rule change. Government employees with questions concerning applicable conflict of interest laws, regulations or codes of professional responsibility should address these questions to their respective Offices of General Counsel. With respect to further comment by the Office concerning practice by Government employees before the PTO, the last paragraph under Supplementary Information in the Notice of proposed rulemaking provides sufficient clarity on this issue.

Two comments were received concerning the status of individuals who may be affected by this rule change. These individuals should contact the Office of Enrollment and Discipline (OED). In addition, the Office will publish a notice in the Official Gazette listing all individuals registered as inactive and their last known address.

Two commenters correctly observed that proposed §10.10(b) does not require a written statement of official duties for an officer or Government employee whose official duties require the preparation and prosecution of applications for patent.

The citation to the Commissioner's decision indicating that Mr. Athridge's name has been entered on the "active" list of registered attorneys and agents entitled to practice before the PTO in patent cases has been added to the discussion under Supplementary Information as suggested.

The suggestion that the term "contrary to" be changed to "in violation of" in proposed §10.23(c)(20) has not been adopted. The term "contrary to" is considered preferable.

Two comments were received concerning the continued effect of an opinion rendered by the Acting United States Attorney General, 41 Op. Att. Gen. 21, 1949 Dec. Comm'r Pat. 1 (1949). In response, the Commissioner advises that the PTO maintains the import of that decision is unchanged with respect to practice before the PTO by Government employees. See In re Athridge, 230 USPQ 470 (Comm'r Pat. 1986).

Other Considerations

This rule change will not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment or the conservation of energy resource.

The rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Small Business Administration that the rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The rule change allowing Government employees who meet the requirements set forth at 37 CFR 10.7 to have their names placed on the Patent and Trademark Office register of attorneys and agents would not be expected to result in an increase of fees charged by attorneys and agents to entities, including small entities.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect to the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, state or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The PTO has also determined that this notice has no federalism implications affecting the relationship between the national government and the state as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The rule change will not impose any additional burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. Office of Management and Budget approval of the registration information reporting requirements contained in the proposed rules was extended until July 31, 1990. [OMB Control No. 0651-0012].

Rights Determinations in Government Employee Inventions

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce.
Action: Final rule.
Summary: Executive order 10096 as amended by Executive Order 10930 sets forth the policies and procedures for determining the rights of Government employees and the Government in inventions made by employees. The Delegation of Authority from the Secretary of Commerce, dated Sept. 15, 1988, transferred administration of these provisions from the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks to the Under Secretary for Economic Affairs in the Department of Commerce. This final rule removes 37 CFR Part 100 in its entirety.
Effective date: This rule is effective Nov. 1, 1988.
For Further Information Contact: John H. Raubitschek by telephone at [703] 557-4035 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: Executive Order 10096, as amended by Executive Order 10930, sets forth the policies and procedures for determining the rights of Government employees and the Government is inventions made by the employees. The function of reviewing agency rights determinations assigned to the Secretary of Commerce was delegated by the Secretary to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks. On Sept. 15, 1988, the Secretary changed the delegation to the Under Secretary for Economic Affairs, who is republishing Part 100 as new Part 501 in 37 CFR.

All rights determinations and appeals relating thereto, which are pending before the Commissioner at the time 37 CFR Part 501 becomes effective, will be acted upon by the Commissioner under the procedures in 37 CFR Part 100.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this notice is not a rule within the meaning of section 1(a) of Executive Order 12291. Therefore, no Regulatory Impact Analysis has to or will be prepared. Because a notice of proposed rulemaking and an opportunity for public comment are not required to be given by section 553 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553), or by any other law, no initial or final Regulatory Flexibility Analysis has to or will be prepared for the purposes of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 603(a) and 604(a)).

This final rule does not contain a policy with Federalism implications sufficient to warrant preparation of a Federalism assessment under Executive Order 12612. Nor does this rule contain a collection of information for purposes of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980.

For reasons set forth in the preamble, 37 CFR Part 100 is amended as follows:

Uniform Patent Policy for Domestic Rights in Inventions Made by Government Employees

Agency: Under Secretary for Economic Affairs, Department of Commerce.
Action: Final rule.
Summary: Executive Order 10096, as amended by Executive Order 10930, sets forth the policies and procedures for determining the rights in Federal employee inventions with respect to the Federal employee and the Government employer. The Delegation of Authority from the Secretary of Commerce dated, Sept. 15, 1988 and effective Nov. 1, 1988, transferred administration of the provisions of Executive Order 10096 as amended by Executive Order 10930 from the Commission of Patents and Trademarks to the Under Secretary for Economic Affairs in the Department of Commerce. This final rule establishes 37 CFR Part 501 which sets forth this delegation of authority to the Under Secretary. In addition, each Government agency is authorized to determine whether the results of research, development, or other activity within the agency constitute an invention with the purview of Executive Order 10096, as amended by Executive Order 10930 and to determine initially the rights therein in accordance with the provisions of section 501.6 and 501.7 herein. By separate notice in today's Federal Register the Patent and Trademark Office is deleting 37 CFR Part 100.
Effective Date: Nov. 1, 1988.

However, all rights, determinations, and appeals submitted to the Commissioner prior to the effective date, will be reviewed by the Commissioner under the procedures of 37 CFR Part 100.
Address: Comments may be sent to Mr. Joseph P. Allen, Acting Director, Federal Technology Management Division, Office of the Under Secretary for Economic Affairs, United States Department of Commerce, Room 4839, Herbert C. Hoover Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20230.
For Further Information Contact: Mr. Joseph P. Allen, by telephone at (202) 377-8100 or Robert B. Ellert by telephone at (202) 377-5394.
Supplementary Information: Executive Order 10096, as amended by Executive Order 10930, sets forth the policies and procedures for determining the rights in Federal Employee inventions with respect to the Federal employee and the Government employer. The Under Secretary for Economic Affairs of the Department of Commerce was delegated responsibility for oversight of the Executive Order on Sept. 15, 1988. Functions required by the Executive Order were previously performed by the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks. This final rule is substantially the same as the rule set out in 37 CFR Part 100, except, the Secretary of Commerce is substituted for the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, and advance approval is given to agency heads to make final determinations relating to determinations of rights decisions of Government employee inventions, subject to employee appeal to the Secretary.

President Reagan in Executive Order 12591, on Apr. 10, 1987 directed all Government agencies to facilitate the transfer of technology developed at federal laboratories to the private sector and to promote its commercialization. To accomplish the goals of E.O. 12591 it is necessary that rights to inventions made by government employees be determined as expeditiously as possible. Accordingly, the Secretary has reviewed the existing procedures and policies under 37 CFR Part 100 and concluded that administration of the functions thereunder could be performed on a more efficient basis by confining the role of the Department of Commerce to appeals by employees from disputed agency determinations. Accordingly, under 37 CFR Part 501 each Government agency is given the authority to determine whether the results of research, development of other activities within the agency constitute an invention by an employee, and to determine initially the rights relating to ownership within the provisions of Executive Order 10096 as amended by Executive Order 10930. If no appeal is taken to the Secretary by an employee under section 501.8, the initial determination of the agency will be final.

Notwithstanding the fact that this is a final rule, comments are requested.

Because this rule concerns agency management and personnel, it is not a rule or regulation within the meaning of section 1(a) of Executive Order 12291, and it is not subject to the requirements of the Order. Accordingly, no preliminary or final regulatory impact analysis has to be or will be prepared.

Because a notice of proposed rulemaking and an opportunity for public comments are not required to be given for this rule by section 553 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553), or by any other law, no regulatory flexibility analysis has to be or will be prepared for purposes of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 603(a) and 604(a)).

This final rule does not contain policies with Federalism implications sufficient to warrant preparation of a Federalism assessment under Executive Order 12612. This rule does not contain collections of information for purposes of the Paperwork Reduction Act.

The changes in the process of determining employee rights to inventions made by this rule do not have takings implications sufficient to require preparation of a Takings Implications Assessment under Executive Order 12630.

§501.1 Purpose.

The purpose of this part is to provide for the administration of a uniform patent policy for the Government with respect to the domestic rights in inventions made by Government employees and to prescribe rules and regulations for implementing and effectuating such policy.

§501.2 Scope.

This part applies to any invention made by a Government employee and to any action taken with respect thereto.

§501.3 Definitions.

(a) The term "Secretary," as used in this part, means the Under Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs.

(b) The term "Government agency" as used in this part, means and Executive department or independent establishment of the Executive branch of the Government (including any independent regulatory commission or board, any corporation wholly owned by the United States, and the Smithsonian Institution), but does not include the Department of Energy for inventions made or conceived under the provisions of 42 U.S.C. 2182.

(c) The term "Government employee," as used in this part, means any officer or employee, civilian or military, of any Government agency, including any part-time consultant or part-time employee except as may otherwise be provided for by agency regulation approved by the Secretary.

(d) The term "invention," as used in this part, means any art, machine, manufacture, design, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, or any variety of plant, which is or may be patentable under the patent laws of the United States.

§501.4 Determination of Inventions and rights therein.

Each Government agency has the approval of the Secretary to determine whether the results of research, development, or other activity in the agency constitute an invention within the purview of E.O. 10096, as amended by E.O. 10930 and to determine the rights therein in accordance with the provisions of §501.6 and 501.7 herein.

§501.5 Agency Liaison Officer.

Each Government agency shall designate a liaison officer to represent the agency before the Secretary. Provided, however, that the Departments of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force may each designate a liaison officer.

§501.6 Criteria for the Determination of Rights In and To Inventions.

(a) The following rules shall be applied in determining the respective rights of the Government and of the inventor in and to any invention that is subject to the provisions of this part:

(1) The Government shall obtain, except as herein otherwise provided, the entire domestic right, title and interest in and to any invention made by any Government employee:

(i) During working hours, or
(ii) With a contribution by the Government of facilities, equipment, materials, funds or information, or of time or services of other Government employees on official duty, or
(iii) Which bears a direct relation to or is made in consequence of the official duties of the inventor.

Foreign patent rights are governed by the provisions of 37 CFR Part 101.

(2) In any case where the contribution of the Government, as measured by any one or more of the criteria set forth in paragraph (a)(1) of this section, to the invention is insufficient equitably to justify a requirement of assignment to the Government of the entire domestic right, title, and interest in and to such invention, or in any case where the Government has insufficient interest in an invention to obtain the entire domestic right, title, and interest therein (although the Government could obtain same under paragraph (a)(1) of this section), the Government agency concerned shall leave title to such invention in the employee, subject however, to the reservation to the government of a nonexclusive, irrevocable, royalty-free license in the invention with power to grant licenses for all governmental purposes, such reservation, in the terms thereof, to appear, where practicable, in any patent, domestic or foreign, which may issue on such invention. Reference is made to section 15 of the Federal Technology Transfer Act of 1986 (15 U.S.C. 3710d) which requires a Government agency to allow the inventor to retain title to any covered invention when the agency does not intend to file a patent application or otherwise promote commercialization.

(3) In applying the provisions of paragraphs (a)(1) and (2) of this section to the facts and circumstances relating to the making of a particular invention, it shall be presumed that an invention made by an employee who is employed or assigned:

(i) To invent or improve or perfect any art, machine, design, manufacture, or composition of matter,
(ii) To conduct or perform research, development work, or both,
(iii) To supervise, direct, coordinate, or review Government financed or conducted research, development work, or both, or
(iv) To act in a liaison capacity among governmental or non-governmental agencies or individuals engaged in such research or development work, falls within the provisions of paragraph (a)(1) of this section, and it shall be presumed that any invention made by any other employee falls within the provisions of paragraph (a)(2) of this section. Either presumption may be rebutted by a showing of the facts and circumstances in the case and shall not preclude a determination that these facts and circumstances justify leaving the enire right, title and interest in and to the invention in the Government employee, subject to the law.

(4) In any case wherein the Government neither:

(i) Obtains the entire domestic right, title and interest in and to an invention pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a)(1) of this section nor
(ii) Reserves a nonexclusive, irrevocable, royalty-free license in the invention, with power to grant licenses for all governmental purposes, pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a)(2) of this section.

The Government shall leave the entire right, title and interest in and to the invention in the Government employee, subject to law.

§501.7 Agency determination.

(a) If the agency determines that the Government is entitled to obtain title pursuant to §501.6(a)(1) and the employee does not appeal, no further review is required.

(b) In the event that a Government agency determines, pursuant to paragraph (a)(2) or (a)(4) of §501.6, that title to an invention will be left with the employee, the agency shall notify the employee of this determination.

(c) In the case of a determination under either paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, the agency shall promptly prepare, and preserve in appropriate files, accessible to the Secretary, a written, signed, and dated statement concerning the invention including the following:

(1) A description of the invention in sufficient detail to identify the invention and show its relationship to the employee's duties and work assignments;
(2) The name of the employee and employment status, including a detailed statement of official duties and responsibilities at the time the invention was made; and
(3) An explanation of the agency determination and reasons therefor. The agency shall, subject to considerations of national security, or public health, safety, or welfare, submit to the Secretary, if an appeal is taken, a copy of this written statement.

§501.8 Appeals by employees.

(a) Any Government employee who is aggrieved by a Government agency determination pursuant to §501.6(a)(1) or (a)(2), may obtain a review of any agency determination by filing, within 30 days (or such longer period as the Secretary may, for good cause shown in writing, fix in any case) after receiving notice of such determination, two copies of an appeal with the Secretary. The Secretary then shall forward one copy of the appeal to the Government agency.

(b) On receipt of a copy of an appeal filed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, the agency official who made the agency determination being appealed shall, subject to considerations of national security, or public health, safety, or welfare, promptly furnish both the Secretary and the inventor with a copy of a report containing the following information about the invention involved in the appeal:

(1) A copy of a statement by the agency containing the information specified in §501.7, and
(2) A detailed statement of the points of dispute or controversy, together with copies of any statements or written arguments filed with the agency, and of any other relevant evidence that the agency considered in making its determination of Government interest. Within 25 days (or such longer period as the Secretary may, for good cause shown, fix in any case) after the transmission of a copy of the agency report to the employee, the employee may file a reply thereto with the Secretary and file one copy thereof with the appropriate agency decision maker.

(c) After the time for the inventor's reply to the Government agency's report has expired and if the inventor has so requested in his or her appeal, a date will be set for hearing of oral arguments before the Secretary, by the employee (or by an attorney whom he or she designates by written power of attorney filed before, or at the hearing) and a representative of the Government agency involved. Unless it shall be otherwise ordered before the hearing begins, oral arguments will be limited to thirty minutes for each side. The employee need not retain an attorney or request an oral hearing to secure full consideration of the facts and his or her arguments. The employee may expedite such consideration by notifying the Secretary when he or she does not intend to file a reply to the agency report.

(d) After a hearing on the appeal, if a hearing was requested, or after expiration of the period for the inventor's reply to the agency report if no hearing is set, the Secretary shall issue a decision on the matter within 120 days, which decision shall be final after a thirty day period for requesting reconsideration expires or on the date that a decision on a petition for reconsideration is finally disposed of. Any request for reconsideration or modification of the decision must be filed within 30 days from the date of the original decision (or within such an extension thereof as may be set by the Secretary before the original period expires). The decision of the Secretary shall be made after consideration of the statements of fact in the employee's appeal, the agency's report, and the employee's reply, but the Secretary at his or her discretion and with due respect to the rights and convenience of the inventor and the Government agency, may call for further statements on specific questions of fact or may request additional evidence in the form of affidavits or depositions on specific facts in dispute.

§501.9 Patent protection.

(a) A Government agency, upon determining that an invention coming within the scope of §501.6(a)(1) or (a)(2) has been made, shall thereupon determine whether patent protection will be sought in the United States by the agency for such invention. A controversy over the respective rights of the Government and of the employee in any case shall not delay the taking of the actions provided for in this section. In cases coming within the scope of §501.6(a)(2), agency action looking toward such patent protection shall be contingent upon the consent of the employee.

(b) Where there is an appealed dispute as to whether §501.6(a)(1) or (a)(2) applies in determining the respective rights of the Government and of an employee in and to any invention, the agency will determine whether patent protection will be sought in the United States pending the Secretary's decision on the dispute and, if it decides that an application for patent should be filed, will take such rights as are specified in §501.6(a)(2), but this shall be without prejudice to acquiring the rights specified in paragraph (a)(1) of that section should the Secretary so decide.

(c) Where an agency has determined to leave title to an invention with an employee under §501.6(a)(2), the agency will, upon the filing of an application for patent take the rights specified in that paragraph without prejudice to the subsequent acquistion by the Government of the rights specified in paragraph (a)(1) of that section should the Secretary so decide.

§501.10 Dissemination of this part and of implementing regulations.

Each Government agency shall disseminate to its employees the provisions of this part, and any appropriate implementing agency regulations and delegations. Copies of any such regulations shall be sent to the Secretary. If the Secretary identifies an inconsistency between this part and the agency regulations or delegations, the agency, upon being informed by the Secretary of the inconsistency, shall take prompt action to correct it.

(190) Practitioner's Responsibility to Avoid Prejudice to the Rights of a Client/Patent Applicant

Under 37 CFR Part 10, a practitioner is responsible for taking reasonable steps to avoid foreseeable prejudice to the rights of a client/patent applicant. This responsibility exists in all circumstances including those where the practitioner is operating through a corporate liaison or foreign agent and has no direct contact with the client/patent applicant, who in most cases is the one being represented.

This notice is intended to clarify the appropriate course of action for a practitioner to follow when the practitioner is operating through such a corporate liaison or foreign agent. In such arrangements, the registered practitioner may rely upon the advice of the corporate liaison or the client/patent applicant's foreign agent as to the action to be taken so long as the practitioner is aware that the client/patent applicant has consented after full disclosure to be represented by the liaison or agent. It will be assumed by the Patent and Trademark Office that the client/patent applicant has an agreement with the liaison or agent, arrived at after full disclosure, to be represented by the liaison or agent. Registered practitioners, if they wish, however, may maintain a copy of the agreement in this regard between the client/patent applicant and the liaison or agent in practitioner's file of the application or other proceeding before the Office. If there is, in fact, no such agreement between the client/patent applicant and the liaison or agent, the registered practitioner must communicate to the client/patent applicant.

In circumstances where the practitioner is aware that there is an agreement between the client/patent applicant and the liaison or agent, the practitioner may fully rely upon the advice of the liaison or agent as to the wishes of the client/patent applicant. For example, if the registered practitioner is instructed by the client/patent applicant's liaison or agent to allow an application to go abandoned rather than to respond to an Office action within a set period for response, the practitioner may properly do so without any further notice to the client/patent applicant.

It is assumed that withdrawal from employment by a practitioner will remain a relatively rare occurrence, particularly in view of this clarification. This notice should not be taken to require or encourage withdrawal. If a practitioner should decide to withdraw, however, the practitioner must take reasonable steps to avoid foreseeable prejudice to the rights of the client/patent applicant including allowing time for employment of another practitioner (37 CFR 10.40). Therefore, at least thirty days would be required between the date of approval by the Office of the withdrawal and the later of the expiration date of the response period or the expiration date of the period which can be obtained by a petition for extension of time and fee under 37 CFR 1.136(a). This is necessary so that the client/patent applicant would have sufficient time to obtain other representation or to take other action. If a period has been set for response and the period may be extended without a showing of cause pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) by filing a petition for extension of time and fee, the practitioner will not be required to seek such extension of time for withdrawal to be approved. In such a situation, however, withdrawal will not be approved unless at least thirty days would remain between the date of approval and the last date on which such a petition for extension of time and fee could properly be filed.

(191) Responsibilities of Practitioners Representing Clients in Proceedings Before The Patent and Trademark Office

This notice is intended to remind practitioners of certain aspects of their responsibilities in representing clients in proceedings before the Office. The Notice is also intended to supplement the discussion set forth in the Official Gazette Notice published at 1086 Official Gazette 457 (Jan. 12, 1988) entitled "Practitioner's Responsibility to Avoid Prejudice to the Rights of a Client/Patent Applicant" and to amplify and supersede the Helpful Hint published at 1084 Official Gazette 34 (Nov. 24, 1987) titled "Correspondence Address and/or Fee Address of Maintenance Fees."

Part 10 of title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, sets forth the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) Code of Professional Responsibility. Each attorney or agent who practices before the PTO is subject to the rules set forth in Part 10 and should carefully study the rules promulgation originally published at 50 Federal Register 5158 (Feb. 6, 1985) and at 1052 Official Gazette 4 (Mar. 5, 1985) and reproduced as item number 172 in the Consolidated Listing of Official Gazette Notices, published at 1086 Trademark Official Gazette 3 (Jan. 5, 1988).

Practitioner's Client

During the promulgation of Part 10, 37 CFR, several individuals suggested that "it may be difficult to determine the identity of the 'client' . . ., particularly in corporate patent departments." The response to that suggestion was that "[t]he PTO will presume that practitioners know the identities of their clients . . .." 50 Federal Register 5163 (Feb. 6, 1985); 1086 Trademark Official Gazette 356 (Jan. 5, 1988). For example, in a patent application, practitioner's client is ordinarily the inventor who gives practitioner a power of attorney to prosecute the application (37 CFR 1.31). A practitioner may represent only the assignee of the entire interest in a patent application if the assignee has filed a power of attorney and the assignee is conducting the prosecution of the application to the exclusion of the inventor. (37 CFR 1.32).

In the promulgation of Part 10, 37 CFR, a commenter raised a question of who is the client when an application is filed on behalf of an individual, but the individual's assignee pays practitioner's bill. The question was answered in the following manner:

> "Practitioners are expected to know the identities of their clients. If a practitioner is hired by a corporation and wishes to make that fact plain on the record of a patent application, the practitioner may file an assignment and a power of attorney signed by the assignee. If a dispute should then occur between the individual and the assignee, the record would be clear that the assignee is the client." 50 Federal Register 5164 (Feb. 6, 1985); 1086 Trademark Official Gazette 357 (Jan. 5, 1988).

In some instances, practitioners deal with a corporate liaison or foreign agent. Such arrangements do not automatically change the person whom practitioner represents, e.g., the inventor or trademark owner. The fact that a U.S. practitioner receives instructions from the inventor or trademark owner through a foreign attorney or agent does not change the fact that the client is still the inventor or trademark owner rather than the foreign attorney or agent. See Strojirenstvi v. Toyoda, 2 USPQ 2nd 1222 (Comm'r Pat. 1986), which at 1223 cited Yetter Manufacturing Co. v. Hiniker Co., 213 USPQ 119, 120 (D. Minn. 1981) for the principle that "when attorney served as local counsel for a law firm representing Hiniker Co., the attorney represented Hiniker and not the law firm" and also cited Toulmin v. Becker, 105 USPQ 511 (Ohio Ct. App. 1954) for the principle that "foreign patent agents or attorneys were not clients of U.S. patent attorney." The PTO expects practitioners to know the identities of their clients and to take reasonable steps to avoid foreseeable prejudice to the rights of their clients.

Obtaining Instructions Through Persons Other Than The Client

In practice, it is common for instructions relating to the application of an inventor or trademark owner, who is the client of the U.S. practitioner, to be passed to the U.S. practitioner through intermediaries, such as corporate liaisons or foreign agents. Clearly, a client may choose to use a corporate liaison or a foreign agent to convey instructions, etc., to a practitioner. In such an arrangement, the practitioner may rely upon instructions of, and accept compensation from, the corporate liaison or the foreign agent as to the action to be taken in a proceeding before the Office so long as the practitioner is aware that the client has consented to have instructions conveyed through the liaison or agent. See 37 CFR 10.68(a) and (b). An agreement between the client and the liaison or agent establishes an agency relationship between the liaison or agent and the client such that the U.S. practitioner can rely upon the liaison or agent as the representative of the client for the purpose of communicating the client's instructions about the proceeding to the U.S. practitioner. The PTO will assume that the client has an agreement with the liaison or agent to be represented by the liaison or agent. It is the responsibility of the client to notify the practitioner that the agency relationship between the client and the liaison or agent has ceased to exist and that instructions from the liaison or agent should no longer be accepted.

A practitioner could secure evidence that such an agreement exists by having a patent or trademark applicant sign a statement to that effect at the same time that the power of attorney is executed. For example, the following language could be inserted in an oath, declaration, or power of attorney form:

> "The undersigned hereby authorizes the U.S. attorney or agent named herein to accept and follow instructions from _____ as to any action to be taken in the Patent and Trademark Office regarding this application without direct communication between the U.S. attorney or agent and the undersigned. In the event of a change in the persons from whom instructions may be taken, the U.S. attorney or agent named herein will be so notified by the undersigned."

Without an agency relationship between the liaison or agent and the client, a practitioner would be bound by 37 CFR 10.68(b) to "not permit a person who recommends, employs, or pays the practitioner to render legal services for another, to direct or regulate the practitioner's professional judgment in rendering such legal services."

Practitioner's Responsibility to a Client After the Client's Patent Issues or Trademark is Registered

The Office has received inquiries from practitioners as to their responsibilites to a client (patent or trademark applicant) after the client's patent was issued or trademark has been registered. In response thereto, it is pointed out that a power of attorney given during prosecution of a patent or trademark application is considered to be viable after the patent is issued or the trademark is registered. See 50 Federal Register 5164 (Feb. 6, 1985); 1086 Trademark Official Gazette 357 (Jan. 5, 1988). While the Office considers such a power of attorney to be viable for purposes of the practitioner taking actions in proceedings before the Office if practitioner and the client so desire, the existence of the power of attorney to file and/or prosecute the application through issuance of the patent or registration of the trademark does not establish whether practitioner has a responsibility, and a dutaffirmatively in a proceeding before the Office on behalf of the client after the patent issues or the trademark is registered.

Practitioner's responsibility to take affirmative action in a proceeding before the Office after the patent issues or the trademark is registered depends upon whether practitioner still has a practitioner-client relationship with the client which has continued after the patent issued or trademark is registered. The mere existence of the power of attorney to file and/or prosecute the application through issuance of the patent or registration of the trademark would not establish such a practitioner-client relationship in the absence of other facts establishing such a relationship since the purpose for which the power of attorney was originally given has been accomplished.

Practitioner's Responsibility to a Former Client

While practitioner may no longer have a practitioner-client relationship with a client and therefore has no duty to represent the client in a proceeding before the Office, a practitioner nevertheless has certain obligations to a former client. These obligations are placed upon practitioner by the Office rules and are necessary for the proper conduct of proceedings before the Office. Under 37 CFR 10.23(c)(8), practitioners have a duty to inform a client or former client or timely notify the Office of an inability to notify a client or former client of certain correspondence received from the Office and also from the client's or former client's opponent in an inter partes proceeding before the Office. Practitioners have an obligation whether the client is a present client or a former client. Included among the items of correspondence of which practitioners have the obligation to inform clients or former clients are notices regarding maintenance fees, reexamination proceedings, and institution of inter partes patent and trademark proceedings.

Address to Which Correspondence is Sent Regarding Patent Maintenance Fees and Reexamination Proceedings

Under 37 CFR 1.33(d), a "correspondence address" or a change thereto may be filed with the Office during the enforceable life of a patent. This "correspondence address" will be used in any correspondence relating to maintenance fees unless a separate "fee address" has been specified solely for maintenance fee purposes as provided by 37 CFR 1.363. Practitioners who do not wish to receive correspondence relating to maintenance fees must change the correspondence address in the patented file or provide the PTO with a fee address to which the correspondence should be sent. It is not required that a practitioner file a request for permission to withdraw pursuant to 37 CFR 1.36 solely for the purpose of changing the correspondence address in a patent even though a withdrawal of a practitioner would change the correspondence address.

Since 37 CFR 1.33(c) specifies that all notices, official letters and other communications for the patent owner or owners in a reexamination proceeding will be directed to the attorney or agent of record in the patent file, a request for permission to withdraw pursuant to 37 CFR 1.36 must be filed in the patent if the attorney or agent of record does not desire to receive correspondence relating to reexamination. For information on requests to withdraw, see the discussion in the Jan. 12, 1988 Official Gazette Notice cited above.

Contact Points For Information

If a practitioner has questions about the conduct of, or requirements relating to a particular proceeding before the Office, those questions should be directed to the particular area of the Office responsible for the proceeding. If practitioners have questions about their responsibilities to their clients, those questions should be directed to the Office of Enrollment and Discipline. The telephone number of that Office is (703) 557-2012.

Patent and Trademark Office
37 CFR §1.15
[Docket No. 80515 - 8209]
Requests for Identifiable Records

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Final Rule.
Summary: This final rule sets forth changes that the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) is making to the rules governing requests for records not disclosed to the public as part of the regular informational activity of the PTO. The prior rule sets out the PTO Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) procedures. The final rule updates these procedures and specifies that FOIA requests will be processed in accordance with Department of Commerce regulations contained in Part 4 of 15 CFR (Public Information).
Effective Date: Dec. 30, 1988.
For Further Information Contact: Albin F. Drost by telephone at (703) 557-4035 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: As presently written, 37 CFR 1.15 describes procedures for obtaining documents under the Freedom of Information Act that have been superseded. The purpose of this rule change is to bring the PTO FOIA procedures into conformity with the Department of Commerce FOIA rules. The final rule directly advises requesters that the PTO will follow the Department of Commerce rules for disclosure of information under FOIA.

A notice of proposed rulemaking was published on July 19, 1988 (53 Fed. Reg. 27 177). Interested parties were requested to submit written comments on or before Sept. 20, 1988. No comments were received.

Other Considerations

This rule change will not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment or the conservation of energy resources.

This rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. §3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Small Business Administration that the rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities[Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354] because no increase in fees or paperwork should result from this rule change.

The Patent and Trademark Office has determined that this rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12991. The annual effect to the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, federal, state or local government agencies, or geographic regions. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The PTO has also determined that this notice has no federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the states as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The rule change will not impose a burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. §3501 et seq., since no record keeping or reporting requirement within the coverage of the Act are placed upon the public.

List of Subjects in 37 CFR Part 1

Administrative practice and procedure, Courts, Freedom of Information, Records.

For the reasons set out in the preamble and under the authority granted to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks by 35 U.S.C. §6, the Patent and Trademark Office amends Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations as set forth below:

PART 1 - RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR Part 1 continues to read as follows:

(193) Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) Update
Accession to the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) by Benin

The United States Patent and Trademark Office has received notification from the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) that Benin deposited its instrument of accession to the PCT on 26 Nov. 1986. Therefore, according to PCT Article 63(2), Benin may be designated in international applications filed on and after 26 Feb. 1987.

It should be noted that since Benin is a member of the African Intellectual Property Organization (OAPI), any designation of Benin has the effect of a designation of that country for the purposes of a regional patent issued by OAPI in Yaounde, Cameroon.

(195) Minimum Requirements for Acceptance of Applications Under 35 U.S.C. 371 (the National Stage of PCT)

The Patent and Trademark Office is continuing to receive application papers which do not clearly identify whether the papers (1) are being submitted to enter the national stage of the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) under 35 U.S.C. 371 or (2) are being filed as a regular national application under 35 U.S.C. 111.

Attention is directed to the notice in the Official Gazette at 1070 O.G. 11 titled "Unity of Invention Practice in International Applications and National Phase Applications Entered Under 35 U.S.C. 371" wherein at item eight it is stated

> "(8) Applicants should clearly indicate on all application papers filed for entry under 35 U.S.C. 371 and 37 CFR 1.61 that the filing is being made under 35 U.S.C. 371. Otherwise, the application papers will be treated as having been filed under 35 U.S.C. 111."

To clearly indicate an international application is being filed under 35 U.S.C. 371 the applicant should use the "Transmittal Letter for United States Designated Office" (Form PTO–1390) as the transmittal letter.

Alternatively, one of the following indications may be used:

> 1) the applicant shall clearly state in the transmittal or cover letter that he or she is filing under 35 U.S.C. 371 or entering the national stage under the PCT; or
> 2) the applicant clearly identifies in the oath or declaration the specification to which it is directed by referring to a particular international application by PCT Serial Number and International Filing Date and that he or she is executing the declaration as, and seeking a U.S. Patent as, the inventor of the invention described in the identified international application.

Applicants are cautioned that the identification of the international application, in the oath or declaration or otherwise, as a prior filed application for priority purposes is not considered to be an indication of an intention to file under 35 U.S.C. 371.

If there are any conflicting instructions as to which section of the statute (371 or 111) is intended the application will be accepted under 35 U.S.C. 111. It is strongly recommended that applicant use the Form PTO–1390 in all cases where a filing under 35 U.S.C. 371 is intended.

(196) Patent Cooperation Treaty: Implementing Legislation and Withdrawal of the Reservation to Chapter II.

On Oct. 9, 1986, the U.S. Senate gave its advice and consent to withdrawal by the United States of its declaration not to be bound by chapter II of the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT). Public Law 99–616, that amends title 35, United States Code, to implement U.S. adherence to PCT chapter II was enacted on Nov. 6, 1986.

On Apr. 1, 1987, the President notified the Director General of the World Intellectual Property Organization of the withdrawal of the declaration by the United States. As the withdrawal takes effect three months after the date of notification, the United States will be bound by the provisions of PCT chapter II on July 1, 1987.

A notice of proposed rulemaking concerning PCT chapter II was published in the Federal Register on Mar. 4, 1987 (52 Fed. Reg. 6696) and was reprinted in the Official Gazette on Mar. 17, 1987, (1076 OG 29). The text of the President's notification and of Public Law 99–616 are reprinted below.

2. International Preliminary Examining Authorities

The United States has informed the Director General of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) that the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) will serve as an International Preliminary Examining Authority for any international application filed in the United States Receiving Office and for any international application for which the USPTO has served as the International Searching Authority.

Applicants who have filed their international applications in the USPTO as a Receiving Office may choose to have the European Patent Office (EPO) serve as their International Preliminary Examining Authority if (1) the EPO has served as the International Searching Authority for the international application and (2) the demand filed with the EPO is one of the first 500 demands filed by applicants who have filed their international applications in the United States Receiving Office in one of the 3 years beginning July 1, 1987.

The attention of applicants desiring to use the EPO as an International Preliminary Examining Authority is also directed to the notice titled "Information for PCT applicants concerning the procedure before the EPO as an International Preliminary Examining Authority under Chapter II of the PCT" published in the Official Journal of the European Patent Office in volume 12/1986 at pages 441–445.

A copy of the "Memorandum of Understanding" to monitor the number of demands filed in the EPO by U.S. applicants between the USPTO and EPO appears below.

DONALD J. QUIGG,
June 11, 1987. Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks United States Patent and Trademark Office.

Memorandum of Understanding

Procedures for monitoring and processing demands submitted to the European Patent Office by U.S. applicants who filed their international applications with the United States Receiving Office.

Purpose

The purpose of this memorandum is to set forth the procedures to be used to monitor the number of demands for international preliminary examination filed by U.S. applicants in the European Patent Office (EPO) in respect of international applications filed with the United States Receiving Office (hereinafter referred to as "demands filed in the EPO by U.S. applicants"). Such monitoring is important in view of the limit of 500 international preliminary examination reports which the EPO has agreed to establish during each of the first three years that PCT Chapter II is in effect as to the United States of America. The memorandum also sets forth the processing procedures for any demands filed in excess of the agreed to-amount.

Monitoring of Number of Demands

It is essential that U.S. applicants be informed as to the number of demands which have already been filed in the EPO by U.S. applicants, especially where the number of demands filed in the EPO is approaching 500.

In order to provide such numerical information to the U.S. applicants, the EPO will provide to the USPTO, each month during the first three years by telex, the cumulative number of demands filed in the EPO by U.S. applicants during that particular year. The USPTO will then publish a notice which indicates the number of demands filed in the EPO by U.S. applicants as of a particular date, in its Official Gazette. The number of demands filed, based upon the latest known information, will also be supplied by telephone or telex to interested persons by both the EPO and USPTO.

Processing of Demands in Excess of 500

Since the EPO will only accept 500 demands a year from U.S. applicants, the USPTO will accept any demands beyond the 500 limit filed in the EPO by U.S. applicants.

Upon receipt by the EPO of the 501st and subsequent demands from a U.S. applicant, the EPO will promptly notify the applicant that it is not competent under PCT Rule 59.1 to receive the demand. The EPO will also immediately telex or telephone the USPTO and inform it of the international application serial number so that the USPTO may make immediate contact with the applicant.

The EPO will refund any fees paid by the applicant to the EPO and indicate that only the USPTO is competent to receive the demand and establish the international preliminary examination report, and that the demand is being forwarded to the USPTO. The EPO will indicate the date of receipt of the demand on the demand and promptly forward it to the USPTO for further processing. The EPO will be considered to be the agent of the USPTO for purposes of receiving and dating demands. The USPTO will correspond with the applicant concerning the demand and require the payment of fees to the USPTO under PCT Rules 57.4 and 58.2.

For purposes of this procedure, the contact person in the USPTO is Louis O. Maassel (telephone 703–557–3070) and the contact person in the EPO is Mr. Colin Philpott (telephone 2399–2479) for substantive and organizational matters, or Mrs. M. Houyez-Stevens (telephone 2399–2423) for numerical information.

(198) Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) Update

Number of demands received by the IPEA/EP from US applicants and Guidelines for use of the European Patent Office as International Preliminary Examining Authority.

Number of demands for International Preliminary Examination filed by US applicants with the European Patent Office as International Preliminary Examining Authority (IPEA/EP) as of April 29, 1988

As of April 29, 1988, the European Patent Office acting as International Preliminary Examining Authority (IPEA/EP) had received 257 demands for International Preliminary Examination from US applicants who filed their international applications with the United States Receiving Office.

Guidelines for use of the European Patent Office as International Preliminary Examining Authority

The European Patent Office (EPO) has informed the United States Patent and Trademark Office of a number of problems which have arisen with demands originating from US applicants. These problems can cause serious delays in the handling of demands and, in some cases, may result in a loss of rights or in responses being disregarded.

In particular, attention is drawn to the following points:

1. When a demand for International Preliminary Examination has been properly filed after the expiration of 19 months from the earliest priority date (or filing date when no priority is claimed), it is nevertheless validly submitted. However, the consequence of the late filing of the demand is that the applicant has to start the regional/national phase under Article 22 of the Treaty before the expiration of 20 months from the earliest priority date and will not benefit from the extension to 30 months from the earliest priority date for starting the regional/national phase under Article 39.
2. A power of attorney when needed — because of a change in the appointment of an agent or common representative under PCT Rule 90.3 — must be filed with the International Bureau or with the Receiving Office.
   However, it is recommended to file a photocopy thereof with the EPO in Munich for Information.
3. Reply to the first/second opinion (Form PCT/IPEA/408):
   (a) A written reply must contain an original signature (i.e. not a photocopy) by an authorized person (PCT Rule 92.1).
   (b) A reply sent by facsimile/telex/telegram must be confirmed in writing within 14 days from the date of its receipt; otherwise, it shall be considered not to have been submitted (PCT Rule 92.4(a)).
   (c) A reply filed outside the time limit set may be disregarded.
   Computation of the time limit is effected according to PCT Rule 80.
4. When using facsimile or telex as a means of correspondence, the communication should contain the complete appropriate number (i.e. for the facsimile: State, place, facsimile number) to facilitate a possible reply from the EPO.
5. Withdrawal of the demand for international preliminary examination or the election of any State under PCT Article 37 and Rule 75.1 must be effected by signed notice of the applicant to the International Bureau.
   However, it is recommended to file a photocopy thereof with the EPO in Munich for information.
6. Any withdrawal of the international application under PCT Rule 32.1 must be accomplished by signed notice of the applicant to the International Bureau or Receiving Office, not to the EPO in Munich.
   However, it is recommended to file a photocopy thereof with the EPO in Munich for information.

Translation of the International Preliminary Examination Report (IPER) into Russian no longer required, Withdrawal by Japan of the reservation concerning filing a translation of the international application by 20 months and Number of Demands received by the IPEA/EP from U.S. applicants.

Translation of the IPER into Russian no longer required

The following information was released by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) on July 17, 1987.

Pursuant to PCT Rule 72.1 the USSR State Committee for Inventions and Discoveries has informed the International Bureau of a change in the languages into which it requires a translation of the International Preliminary Examination Report (IPER) by the International Bureau.

> As from July 8, 1987, a translation of the IPER into Russian will no longer be required if the IPER has been established in English . . . .

Consequently, as of July 8, 1987, the payment of a multiple of the handling fee under PCT Rule 57.2(a) for a translation into Russian is no longer required if the Soviet Union is elected in demand for International Preliminary Examination filed in English. Nor will the supplement to the handling fee under PCT Rules 57.1(b) and 57.2(b) apply if the Soviet Union is elected in a later election under PCT Rule 56 filed with the International Bureau on or after July 8, 1987.

Withdrawal by Japan of the reservation concerning filing a translation of the International application by 20 months from the priority date

On Sept. 16, 1987, WIPO announced that on Sept. 8, 1987, the Government of Japan notified the withdrawal of the declaration made by it under PCT Article 64(2)(a) concerning the time limit applicable under Chapter II of the PCT for the furnishing of a translation of the international application. Thus, Japan will become bound by the provisions of PCT Chapter II without any reservations on Dec. 8, 1987.

Pursuant to the said declaration, the translation of an international application into Japanese must at present be furnished to the Japanese Patent Office in all cases within 20 months from the priority date.

The withdrawal of the said declaration has the effect that, as from Dec. 8, 1987, the provisions of PCT Article 39 (1)(a) (under which a translation of the international application into Japanese must be furnished within 30 months from the priority date) will apply in respect of the Japanese Patent Office as elected Office.

This 30 month time limit applies also to international applications which have been filed before Dec. 8, 1987, provided that Japan has been elected in a demand for international preliminary examination or in a later election prior to the expiration of the 19th month from the priority date and that on Dec. 8, 1987, 20 months from the priority date have not expired.

Number of demands for International Preliminary Examination filed by U.S. applicants with the European Patent Office as International Preliminary Examining Authority (IPEA/EP) as of Oct. 31, 1987

Pursuant to the Memorandum of Understanding between the European Patent Office (EPO) and the USPTO concerning monitoring Demands submitted to the IPEA/EP by U.S. applicants, published at 1080 O.G. 2 on July 7, 1987, the number of Demands filed by U.S. applicants (who filed their international applications with the United States Receiving Office) with the IPEA/EP as of Oct. 31, 1987 was 70.

(202) Request for Comments on the Desirability of Permitting Acceptance of Unintentionally Delayed Payment of Maintenance Fees and Revival Under 35 USC 111 of Unintentionally Abandoned Applications

The Patent and Trademark Office has received suggestions that it would be desirable for unintentionally delayed payment of maintenance fees to be accepted and for revival of unintentionally abandoned applications to be permitted for applications abandoned for failure to submit the required fee and/or oath within the prescribed period under 35 USC 111. The purpose of this notice is to solicit public comment on draft legislation permitting acceptance of unintentionally delayed payment of maintenance fees and revival of unintentionally abandoned applications under 35 USC 111. The draft legislation follows this notice.

At the present, late payment of a maintenance fee under 35 USC 41(c)(1), and late submission of the filing fee and/or the oath under 35 USC 111 can only be accepted if the delay was unavoidable. The draft amendments provide for reinstatement of a patent to an enforceable status or revival of a patent application to a pending status in the cases of unintentional as well as unavoidable late payment of a maintenance fee and late submission of the filing fee and/or the oath respectively.

The intent of these draft amendments is to be consistent with other sections of Title 35, United States Code, which permit revival of unintentionally or unavoidably abandoned applications. Therefore, these draft amendments would permit the Commissioner to accept a late response under 35 USC 41(c)(1) and 35 USC 111 if the delay in submitting the response is shown to be either unavoidable or unintentional.

Dates: Comments and suggestions should be received by July 1, 1988.

Addresses: Address written comments to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231 to the attention of Jeffrey V. Nase, Petitions Examiner, Crystal Plaza 3-11A09. For further information, contact Jeffrey V. Nase at telephone number (703) 557-4282.

Proposed amendments to sections 41(c)(1) and 111 of Title 35, United States Code (new language is italic).

(1) Amend 35 USC 41 (c)(1) to read as follows:

(c)(1) The Commissioner may accept the payment of any maintenance fee required by subsection (b) of this section filed after the six-month grace period if the delay is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been unavoidable or unintentional. The Commissioner may require the payment of surcharges in different amounts as a condition of accepting an unavoidably or unintentionally delayed payment of any maintenance fee after the six-month grace period. The Commissioner may not accept an unintentionally delayed payment of a maintenance fee filed later than six months after the six-month grace period. If the Commissioner accepts payment of a maintenance fee after the six-month grace period, the patent shall be considered as not having expired at the end of the grace period.

(2) Amend 35 USC 111 to read as follows:

§111 Application for Patent

Application for patent shall be made, or authorized to be made, by the inventor, except as otherwise provided in this title, in writing to the Commissioner. Such application shall include (1) a specification as prescribed by section 112 of this title; (2) a drawing as prescribed by section 113 of this title; and (3) an oath by the applicant as prescribed by section 115 of this title. The application must be accompanied by the fee required by law. The fee and oath may be submitted after the specification and any required drawings are submitted, within such period and under such conditions, including the payment of a surcharge, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner. Upon failure to submit the fee and oath within such prescribed period, the application shall be regarded as abandoned, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the delay in submitting the fee and oath was unavoidable or unintentional. The filing date of an application shall be the date on which the specification and any required drawing are received in the Patent and Trademark Office.

Purpose of the Amendments to Sections 41 and 111:

The amendments being proposed to sections 41 and 111 are intended to provide for an increased opportunity for revival of abandoned applications or reinstatement of expired patents. At the present, under the aforementioned sections of Title 35, late payment of a maintenance fee or filing fee or late filing of an oath can only be accepted by the Commissioner for reasons that the delay was unavoidable while other sections of Title 35 permit revival of applications for unavoidable as well as unintentional reasons. Some members of the public have pointed out that there is no sound policy reason for the inconsistency in the discretion that the Commissioner may exercise in reviving abandoned applications or accepting late payment of a fee in appropriate circumstances. The intent of these draft amendments is to respond to this criticism by providing consistency between the sections of Title 35 regarding the revival of abandoned applications and the reinstatement of expired patents. These draft amendments achieve their objectives by providing for reinstatement of expired patents under 35 USC 41 (c)(1) and revival of abandoned applications under 35 USC 111 for unintentional reasons. By making the reasons regarding revival of abandoned applications and reinstatement of expired patents more consistent throughout Title 35, these draft amendments will provide an increased opportunity for, and make revival of, abandoned applications and reinstatement of expired patents less burdensome and confusing to the public.

Section Analysis:

Section (1) of this bill amends subsection 41(c)(1) of Title 35, United States Code, to give the Commissioner the authority to accept payment of any maintenance fee after the six-month grace period if the delay in payment was unintentional and the payment was made not later than six months after the end of the six-month grace period. It is intended that the Commissioner will issue regulations establishing guidelines for acceptance of late payment of the maintenance fee on the basis of unintentional delay.

The Commissioner would establish surcharges as a precondition to acceptance of a late payment of a maintenance fee. The surcharge established for acceptance of a late payment of a maintenance fee based on unintentional delay would be substantially higher than the surcharge established for acceptance of a late payment of a maintenance fee based on unavoidable delay.

Under this section, a late payment of a maintenance fee would not be accepted where the failure to pay the maintenance fee was intentional as opposed to being unintentional or unavoidable. This subsection would permit the Commissioner to have more discretion than present law to accept late payment of the maintenance fee in appropriate circumstances. The intervening rights provided in subsection 41(c)(2) of Title 35, United States Code, would protect the rights of any person or their successors in business who made, purchased or used anything protected by the patent after the six-month grace period but prior to the acceptance of the maintenance fee based on unintentional delay.

Section (2) of this bill would amend section 111 of Title 35, United States Code, to authorize the Commissioner to revive applications unintentionally abandoned under section 111 in the same manner as the Commissioner presently revives applications unintentionally abandoned under 35 USC 41(a)7. It is intended that the fees for filing a petition for the revival of an unavoidably or unintentionally abandoned application pursuant to section 111 be the same as the fees established by the Commissioner for filing a petition for the revival of unintentionally or unavoidably abandoned application pursuant to subsection 41(a)7 of Title 35, United States Code. This amendment would permit the Commissioner to have more discretion than present law to revive applications abandoned pursuant to section 111 in appropriate circumstances.

(203) Requests for Comments on the Desirability of Permitting More Participation by Non-Patent Owner Requesters During Reexamination

The Patent and Trademark Office has received indications and suggestions that reexamination requesters who are not the patent owner be permitted to participate more fully during reexamination proceedings than is now permitted under the present statute (35 USC 302-307) and rules (37 CFR 1.510-1.570). The purpose of this notice is to solicit public comment on draft legislation permitting more participation by non-patent owner requesters during reexamination proceedings. The draft legislation follows this notice.

The draft amendments to the reexamination statute permit increased requester participation throughout the reexamination proceeding including appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and permit rejection of patent claims in reexamination for lack of compliance of the claims or the specification of the patent with the requirements of 35 USC 112. The amendments being proposed to sections 303, 305, and 306 are intended to increase the value of the reexamination proceeding to the public, and particularly the person requesting reexamination of another's patent, by providing well-defined, but limited, opportunities for the requester to participate in the examination process after it has begun. At present, the person requesting reexamination, if not the patent owner, is not able to participate in, or comment upon, the examination process after it has begun. The intent of these draft amendments is to provide well-defined, but limited, opportunities for the reexamination requester to comment upon, and participate in, each stage of the examination after it has begun, but to do so in such a manner that the requirement of section 305 of this title that reexamination proceedings "be conducted with special dispatch within the Office" is met.

Presently, issues under 35 USC 112 may only be raised during reexamination with respect to new claims or the amendatory subject matter of original claims. The draft amendment provides for the raising of issues under 35 USC 112 with respect to any claim – new, amended, or original.

Although not specifically provided for in the draft amendments to the statute, this increased requester participation contemplates the Commissioner, under appropriate guidelines, permitting the requester to attend, as an observer, interviews between the examiner and the patent owner. For example, the requester might not be permitted to participate in any manner. The requester might, however, be permitted to file into the reexamination record a summary of the interview or comments on the patent owners or examiner's summary.

The amendment provides a person requesting reexamination, who is not the patent owner, with the opportunity, within the times and conditions established by the Commissioner, to effectively respond to the positions taken by the patent owner during the reexamination proceeding. The amendment provides that a fee or fees for increased requester participation may be established. This could be done, for example, by an increase in the initial reexamination filing fee for all reexaminations, by requiring an individual fee for the right to further participation for each paper filed, or by a combination of such fees.

The amendment also provides the requester with the opportunity, under appropriate conditions, to appeal decisions which are favorable to patentability to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences and to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. The amendment is intended to assist the public, including patent owners and alleged or potential infringers, and the Federal courts, by providing a more expeditious and less costly alternative to patent litigation to determine questions of patentability based on patents and printed publications. These amendments will provide the public and the Federal courts with the opportunity in appropriate cases, to obtain a decision as to the patentability of subject matter which may be given preclusive effect. These amendments therefore will make patent litigation less costly and reexamination more attractive and effective.

Dates: Comments and suggestions should be received by March 1, 1988. A public hearing will be held on March 8, 1988, beginning at 9:30 a.m. in Room llCl0 on the llth floor of Building 3, located at Crystal Plaza, 2021 Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, Va. Requests to make oral presentations at the hearing should be received on or before March 1, 1988.

Addresses: Address written comments and requests to make oral presentation to the Commissioner of Patent and Trademarks, Washington, D.C 20231 to the attention of R. Franklin Burnett, Crystal Plaza 3-11A13. For further information contact R. Franklin Burnett by telephone at (703) 557-3054.

Proposed Amendments to Sections 303, 305, and 306 of title 35, United States Code (New language is italic)

(1) Amend 35 U.S.C. §303(c) to read as follows:

(c) The Commissioner may refund a portion of the reexamination fee required under section 302 of this title upon a final determination that no substantial new question of patentability has been raised unless an appeal under the provisions of section 306 of this title is filed.

(2) Amend 35 U.S.C. §305 to read as follows:

§305 Conduct of reexamination proceedings

After the times for filing the statement and reply provided for by section 304 of this title have expired, reexamination will be conducted according to the procedures established for initial examination under the provisions of sections 132 and 133 of this title. The examination will include issues under section 112 of this title relating to the patent undergoing reexamination and to proposed amendments to the patent. The person requesting reexamination may file a single set of comments on each notice of examination pursuant to section 132 of this title or the patent owner's response to each notice of examination pursuant to section 132 of this title, within such time and conditions, and upon payment of such fee or fees, as the Commissioner shall establish. The Commissioner may establish the fee or fees as a part of the reexamination fee under section 302 of this title or require the fee or fees to be paid at another time by the requester. In any reexamination proceeding under this chapter, the patent owner will be permitted to propose any amendment to his patent and a new claim or claims thereto, in order to distinguish the invention as claimed from the prior art cited under the provisions of section 301 of this title, or in response to a decision adverse to the patentability of a claim of a patent. No proposed amended or new claim enlarging the scope of a claim of the patent will be permitted in a reexamination proceeding under this chapter. All reexamination proceedings under this section, including any appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences will be conducted with special dispatch within the Office.

(3) Amend 35 U.S.C. §306 to read as follows:

306 Appeal

The patent owner involved in a reexamination proceeding under this chapter may appeal under the provisions of section 134 of this title, and under the provisions of sections 141 to 144 of this title, with respect to any decision adverse to the patentability of any original or proposed amended or new claim of the patent. Any person requesting reexamination, who is not the patent owner, may appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences within such time and conditions and upon the payment of such fee as the Commissioner shall establish, with respect to any decision favorable to patentability or a final order denying reexamination because no substantial new question of patentability has been raised. Any person requesting reexamination, who is not the patent owner, may appeal, under the provisions of sections 141 to 144 of this title, with respect to any decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences favorable to patentability, or any decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences upholding a final order denying reexamination because no substantial new question of patentability has been raised.

Purpose of the Amendments To Sections 303, 305, and 306

The amendments being proposed to sections 303, 305, and 306 are intended to increase the value of the reexamination proceeding to the public, and particularly to the person requesting reexamination of another's patent, by providing well-defined, but limited, opportunities to participate in the examination process after it has begun. At present, the person requesting reexamination, if not the patent owner, is not able to participate in, or comment upon, the examination process after it has begun. Some members of the public view this total lack of the ability to participate in, or comment upon, the examination process after it has begun as a serious drawback to the effectiveness of reexamination. The intent of these amendments is to respond to this criticism by providing well-defined, but limited, opportunities for the reexamination requester to comment upon, and participate in, each stage of the examination after it has begun, but to do so in such a manner that the requirement of section 305 of this title that reexamination proceedings "be conducted with special dispatch within the Office" is met. This amendment achieves its objectives by providing a person requesting reexamination, who is not the patent owner, with the opportunity, within the times and conditions established by the Commissioner, to effectively respond to the positions taken by the patent owner during the reexamination proceeding. Such a person is also provided with the opportunity, under appropriate conditions, to appeal decisions which are favorable to patentability to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences and to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. This amendment is intended to assist the public, including patent owners and alleged or potential infringers, and the Federal courts, by providing a more expeditious and less costly alternative to patent litigation to determine questions of patentability based on patents and printed publications. These amendments will provide the public and the Federal courts with the opportunity in appropriate cases, to obtain a decision as to the patentability of subject matter which can be given preclusive effect. These amendments therefore will make patent litigation less costly and reexamination more attractive and effective.

Section Analysis

Section (1) of this bill amends paragraph (c) of section 303 of title 35 to authorize the Commissioner to refund a portion of the reexamination fee required under section 302 of title 35 upon a final determination that no substantial new question of patentability has been raised unless an appeal under the provisions of the amendment to §306 is filed. If an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences is filed, no refund is proper since the additional expense to the Office makes a refund inappropriate. Further, the refusal to refund a portion of the reexamination fee when an appeal is filed will discourage frivolous appeals.

Section (2) of this bill amends section 305 of title 35, United States Code, by adding to the section a new sentence including examination under section 112 of this title of all claims in a reexamination including those in the patent and those in proposed amendments to the patent. This will allow issues under section 112 with regard to the patent claims to be resolved in the reexamination along with such issues as are now being considered as to new claims or amendments to the claims of the patent under reexamination. It is not intended to extend reexamination to other issues such as whether the invention was on public use or sale or whether there was inequitable conduct in obtaining the patent. Such issues may be decided in the courts in view of the evidence presented after discovery and testimony. A new sentence is also added to the section permitting a person requesting reexamination to file either comments on each notice of examination pursuant to section 132 of this title or a reply to the patent owner's response to each notice of examination pursuant to section 132 of this title, within such time and conditions, and upon payment of such fee or fees, as the Commissioner shall establish. This amendment would permit the person requesting reexamination to have one opportunity to comment upon each notice of examination pursuant to section 132 of this title. If the person requesting reexamination is the patent owner, the patent owner's comments under this section would be expected to be incorporated into the patent owner's response to each notice of examination and the Commissioner could so require. If the person requesting reexamination is not the patent owner, this amendment would permit the requester to file a single set of comments on each notice of examination under section 132, i.e., each of the patent examiner's official actions, or the patent owner's response to each of the examiner's actions. Under this amendment, although a requester could file a set of comments on an official action by the examiner without waiting for the patent owner's response, it is not anticipated that most requesters will do so. A requester would file a set of comments on the examiner's official action, however, in situations where no response is expected by the patent owner.

The amendment authorizes the Commissioner to establish appropriate times and conditions for the filing of the comments or reply such that the requirement of this section that reexamination proceedings "be conducted with special dispatch within the Office" will be met. The Commissioner may limit the content and/or length of the comments or reply, if appropriate, to ensure that the procedure is orderly and conducted with special dispatch. The Commissioner may also, in the Commissioner's discretion, permit the requester to reply to any petitions or other submissions of the patent owner which the Commissioner may authorize to be filed during the reexamination proceeding. It is contemplated that the Commissioner will set strict times for the filing of the comments or reply in order to ensure that the reexamination proceedings are conducted expeditiously. Further, the Commissioner may, in the Commissioner's discretion, return any unauthorized or untimely comments or replies. The requester may be permitted to be present during interviews with the patent owner, subject to guidelines established by the Commissioner.

The amendment authorizes the Commissioner to establish a fee or fees for the increased requester participation. The Commissioner could do so by establishing the fee or fees as part of the reexamination fee under section 302 of this title or requiring the fee or fees to be paid at another time, e.g., upon filing the first or each comment or reply.

Section (3) of this bill amends section 306 of title 35, United States Code, by providing for an appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit by a patent owner from a decision adverse to patentability rather than providing alternative routes of review under both sections 141 and 145. Section (3) also amends section 306 to provide that any person requesting reexamination, who is not the patent owner, may appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences within such time and conditions and upon the payment of such fee as the Commissioner shall establish, with respect to any decision favorable to patentability or a final order denying reexamination because no substantial new question of patentability has been raised. Section (3) also amends section 306 to provide that any person requesting reexamination, who is not the patent owner, may appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit with respect to any decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences favorable to patentability, or any decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences upholding a final order denying reexamination because no substantial new question of patentability has been raised.

The amendments to section 306 to require that appeals by either the patent owner or the requester, who is not the patent owner, be directed to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit are designed to eliminate the limited de novo consideration in the District Court which does not appear necessary and to prevent the anomalous situation which would result if the patent owner and the requester, who is not the patent owner, could appeal or seek review in different courts. These amendments will not adversely affect the rights of either the patent owner or the requester, who is not the patent owner, since reexamination proceedings involve decisions based on patents and printed publications or admissions and previous determinations on any grounds by the courts or the Patent and Trademark Office and are suited for consideration by the Court based on the record before the Patent and Trademark Office.

The amendment to section 306 is intended to permit an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences of a final order denying reexamination because no substantial new question of patentability has been raised only in those circumstances where the request is found to contain no substantial new question of patentability and an order for reexamination is denied. If the reexamination request is granted on any basis, this amendment would not permit an appeal on other grounds upon which reexamination was not ordered. In such circumstances where reexamination has been ordered, any appeal would be on the basis that the decision of the examiner was favorable to patentability and not on the basis of an order denying reexamination. This amendment to section 306, provides a route of appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit for any person requesting reexamination, who is not the patent owner, of any decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences upholding a final order denying reexamination because no substantial new question of patentability has been raised. If reexamination of the patent is ordered as a result of the request for any reason, this route of appeal does not exist. The amendment does not provide for participation by the patent owner in any appeal of a final order denying reexamination because no substantial new question of patentability has been raised since the patent owner will fully participate if reexamination is ordered as a result of the appeal. In this respect, the amendment is consistent with the reexamination procedures in effect prior to the amendment which do not permit participation by the patent owner prior to the determination on the request for reexamination. The amendment also contemplates that precluding the patent owner from participating in any appeal of a final order denying reexamination will be less expensive to the patent owner and will simplify and expedite the appeal. The patent owner will not lose any rights by not having to participate until reexamination is ordered.

1. APPEALS

a. Appeal Fees in Patent Cases

Appeal fees deficiencies are frequent, causing necessity for extension fees to cover the additional time consumed in making up the appeal fee deficiency. Ensuring proper payment at time of filing the appeal will save money and time.

b. Notices of Appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit

Notices of appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit should be sent to the Solicitor at the address below:

Solicitor
Box 8

U.S. Patent and Trademark Office
Washington, DC 20231

Improperly addressing such communications, e.g. to the examining groups, may delay delivery to the Solicitor.

2. APPLICATION FILES

a. Requests for Allowed Patent Application Files

Applicants or attorneys requesting files from the Publishing Division, Office of Publications, should make their request at least twenty-four hours in advance to ensure file availability. Attention is especially directed to out-of-town requesters who visit the Office, anticipating same day service. Although the Office is usually able to respond promptly, unexpected inconvenience can be avoided if arrangements are made in advance.

Inquiries and requests should be directed to the Correspondence Section at (703) 557-6397 or (703) 557-6398 between the hours of 8:30 AM through 5:00 PM on weekdays.

b. Returning Files to the File Information Unit (FIU)

Customers are reminded that file histories obtained through the FIU are official government records which must not be removed from the confines of the Patent Search Room at any time. Such files must be returned to the File Information Unit by 7:45 pm on the same day they are obtained.

FIU personnel will continue to periodically monitor this problem. Should individual patterns of abuse be discerned, administrative sanctions up to termination of access privileges may be applied.

3. APPLICATION PAPERS – IDENTIFICATION

a. Disclosure Statements

If a disclosure statement is to be filed before an Office action, file it when the application is filed. Some Group Art Units have greatly reduced the pendency to first action. Hence, many examiners are taking up new applications before an information statement is matched with the application.

b. Docket Numbers – Placement and Length

If use of a docket number is desired, the docket number should be placed in the upper right corner of the transmittal letter accompanying newly filed patent applications. This will eliminate a time consuming search of the application papers for the docket number or the likelihood of it being overlooked during processing.

The Patent Application Location and Monitoring (PALM) System data base allows a maximum of 12 characters for the attorney's docket number. All characters, including spaces, slashes and hyphens are counted toward the 12-character limit. Docket numbers are entered into the data base starting with the first character at the left. Any characters over 12 cannot be entered.

c. Information to be Included for Proper Routing of Application Papers

To improve the accuracy and speed of routing patent application-related papers, all papers must contain, at a minimum, the series code/serial number of the application. Additionally, the word "Patent" should be in the upper right hand corner and the filing date, inventor's names and title of the invention should be included on the paper

Responses to Notices of Incomplete Application and Notices to File Missing Parts must be accompaied by a copy of the Notice form. Otherwise, the response may not be matched to the appropriate application in a timely manner.

For all papers related to trademark applications, the word "Trademark" and the series code/serial number should be placed in the upper right-hand corner of the document. Also, please set forth the applicant's name, filing date, law office, examining attorney, and mark.

d. License to Foreign File

Each newly filed patent application is routinely reviewed for security interests during preexamination processing. A code is entered into the data base to indicate the presence or absence of security interests. When no security interests are found, the filing receipt will be generated with the notation "Foreign license granted xx/xx/xx." There is no additional cost for this security screening and license notation.

e. Papers Filed Prior to Receipt of Serial Number

After a patent or trademark application is filed, avoid filing additional papers (other than those required by the Office) until the Filing Receipt or return post card identifying the Serial Number and Patent Examining Group Art Unit or Trademark Law Office has been received.

f. Papers With No Particular Time Requirement

File patent and trademark documents which have no particular time or sequence requirement with materials submitted in response to the statutory or regulatory requirements. Examples are certified copies of foreign documents to support priority in patent applications, changes of Power of Attorney, or changes in Mailing Address following first action.

g. Residence of Applicant

The residence of applicant should be indicated as city and state for United States residents and city and country for residents of foreign countries. The Patent Application Location and Monitoring (PALM) System data base allows a maximum of 15 characters for the city of residence. If the city name is longer than 15 characters, it will be truncated in the data base and appear in the shortened form on the filing receipt. However, the entire city name will be taken from the file and printed on any patent that issues.

Please do not call or write the Office for a corrected filing receipt should the printed city name be cut short due to the 15-character limit.

Often applicants who are residents of foreign countries indicate street address, sections of cities, provinces or other political divisions as part of their cities of residence. This leads to confusion and possible erroneous entries in the data base. Only the foreign city and country should be indicated as the applicant's residence.

h. Response to Final Rejection In Patent Applications – Expediting Processing

i. Separation of Various Application Papers

In patent applications, requests for extensions of time, changes of address, proposed drawing corrections, and petitions are sometimes incorporated in the remarks section or at the beginning of papers entitled "Amendment" or "Response." In trademark applications, change of address and powers of attorney are sometimes incorporated in the remarks section or at the beginning of papers entitled "Amendment" or "Response". Please present such items in separate papers, appropriately titled, since they are all handled by different personnel [37 CFR 1.4(c)]. However, please include a statement in the amendment/response describing the paper being filed.

j. Supplemental or Preliminary Amendments

Where a supplemental or preliminary amendment is found necessary in patent or trademark applications, please telephone the examiner and request that the examiner delay action for a certain time in order to avoid crossing in the mails of the amendment and the Office action.

k. Transmittal Letters for Deposit Account Charges

When statutory fees are to be charged to a deposit account, the processing of the application can be facilitated by submitting the applicant's transmittal letter or other correspondence specifying the account to be charged in triplicate. Submission of these documents in triplicate will eliminate the need for the Mail Room to photocopy the document and thereby reduce the processing time of incoming mail.

4. ASSIGNMENTS

a. Delays in Assignments for New Patent Applications

The automated patent assignment system is dependent upon bibliographic information that is keyboarded to produce filing receipts and to create records in the PALM system. When assignments are filed before the filing receipt has been produced, their processing is delayed until the bibliographic information is keyed and verified.

b. Ensuring Correct Printing on Trademark Registration

To ensure the correct printing of ownership information on a Trademark Registration at issue date, provide the trademark examining attorney with the reel and frame number of the appropriate assignment document as soon as you are notified of it.

c. Expediting Processing of Assignments

Many individuals are submitting assignment documents and requests for assignment services, together with application prosecution papers, directly to the examiner. Often, these requests get placed in the file and are not forwarded to the assignment area for handling. Please send all assignment documents and requests through the mailroom in order that they may be properly routed to the assignment area.

Please separate requests for certified copies of assignments from requests for other services including requests for certified copies of other documents. Certification of assignment documents is not performed by the same individuals as certification of other documents.

d. Expediting Recording

When requesting correction or updating of a previously recorded patent or trademark assignment document, providing the reel and frame number of that document to the Assignment Branch will greatly expedite the recording process.

e. Return Addresses

Some assignment documents are being filed with applications for patents without a transmittal letter attached to the assignments. Therefore, no address is available for return of the original assignment document by the Assignment Branch.

A transmittal letter that contains the firm's name and address must be attached to each assignment document filed to ensure accurate return of assignment documents.

f. Signature on Assignments

When signing an original assignment document, BLUE ink pen should be used. When signatures are in black ink, they cannot always be identified as original signatures. In such cases the document must be returned, thus delaying the recording process.

5. CERTIFICATES OF CORRECTION

a. Accurate Requests

Many requests for "Certificate of Correction" result from a perfunctory comparison of the issued patent with the attorney's application file, without investigating whether the recitation in the issued patent is correct. In many instances, change to the PTO file wrapper has been caused by the examiner prior to printing of the patent in order to make appropriate corrections to the file.

6. CERTIFICATION SERVICES

a. Expedited Service for Patent Applications-As-Filed

If there is a need for special service, for example to meet a priority date within a short period of time, the order must be marked "RUSH" with the date/time needed and reason for the need. The order should be hand-delivered to the Office of the Director, Office of Patent and Trademark Services, CP2-7D25. Orders may also be mailed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, DC 20231, clearly marked to the attention of the Manager, Certification Branch. However, because mail orders must be initially handled by the Mail Room, requesters are cautioned that turnaround time will be several days longer than for hand-delivered orders. Every effort will be made to fill all "RUSH" orders timely, to the extent resources are available.

b. Methods of Ordering

Mail Orders –The address for mail orders is:

Box 10
Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
Washington, D.C. 20231

Hand-carried Orders –Hand-carried requests for certification service should be taken to the Public Service Window in the North Stacks of the Patent Search Room where they can be placed in the Certification Order Receipt Box or given to the attendant. For security reasons, the public is not permitted access to the Certification Branch itself.

c. Processing Time

The current goal for furnishing certified copies of applications-as-filed is 17 days from receipt in the Mail Room of the Patent and Trademark Office to mailing of the completed order by the Certification Branch. The 17 days includes 4 work days for Mail Room and Finance processing, 9 work days in the Certification Branch and 4 weekend days that accrue over the 13 work days.

The 17-day goal applies to those orders for which microfiche of applications-as-filed are available in the Certification Branch. The microfiche for a small percentage of the total orders for certified copies of applications-as-filed must be retrieved from a remote location, or be replaced due to damage or correction. The 17-day goal does not apply to these orders.

d. PTO vs Public-Supplied Copies for Certification

Requests for all certified copies of applications-as-filed and file wrapper/contents of pending patent and trademark applications will be filled with PTO supplied copies of original source documents. No public supplied copies will be accepted.

The public may submit copies of Registered Trademarks, Registered Trademark Files, Patented Files, and Patents for certification by the Certification Branch.

e. Questions Frequently Asked

Q. What does "certified" mean?
A. Authentication of copies by ribbon and seal of the PTO with the signature of an officer authorized by the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.
Q. What does an application consist of?
A. (1) Specification (2) Claims (3) Oath or Declaration (4) Drawings, when necessary, and (5) Filing Fee.
Q. What does a file wrapper and contents (file history) consist of?
A. The original application papers plus all correspondence between the applicant/attorney of record/assignee and the PTO.
Q. Why are certified copies of application-as-filed required?
A. Since the rights granted by a U.S. patent extend only throughout the territory of the U.S. and have no affect in a foreign county, an inventor who wishes patent protection in other countries must apply for a patent in that country by filing a certified copy of his or her U.S. application.
Q. What regulation govern the filing of a U.S. application in a foreign country?
A. There is a treaty relating to patents which involves 92 countries and is known as the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property. It provides that each country guarantees to the citizens of other countries the same patent rights that it gives to its own citizens.
Q. Can anyone request a copy of a pending application?
A. No. Pending applications are preserved in secrecy. No information or copies may be obtained without written authority of the applicant, attorney of records, or the assignee, if any. Such written consent must accompany the request for copies.
Q. Can orders for copies be placed by phone?
A. No. All orders must be in writing.
Q. May office copies of my application be sent to the PTO for certification?
A. No. We do not certify copies prepared outside the PTO.
Q. Will the PTO mail certified copies ordered directly to a foreign country?
A. No. With respect to the exportation of technical data, the PTO discontinued the practice of forwarding direct to any foreign country certified copies of U.S. applications order by residents of the United States.
Q. Are cited references in a file automatically furnished when a file wrapper and contents is requested?
A. No. Cited references are not included as papers comprising the file history. References cited are furnished only if specifically requested.
Q. Can cited references, when requested, be certified with the file wrapper and contents under one certificate?
A. No. Each reference must be certified separately.
Q. Are there instances when references are included in a file wrapper and contents?
A. Yes. If the references are submitted as attachments to a response from the applicant and if such response is entered and made a part of the file.
Q. Exclusive of applications-as-filed and file wrappers and contents of patented files, what other types of copies may be obtained from the Certification Branch?
A. The following items may be obtained:

a. Certified copies of issued U.S. patents and designs.
b. Certified copies of foreign patents.
c. Certified copies of publications from the Scientific Library.
d. Certified copies of Office letters.
e. Certified duplicate filing receipts.
f. Certified copies of an assignment and application-as-filed, under one certificate.
g. Copies of disclosure documents.
h. Copies of the following files:

- Defensive publication files.
- Reexamination files.
- Interference files.
- Tradmark Files.
- Opposition files.
- Concurrent use proceedings files.
- Statutory Invention Request
- Certified copies of assignment documents.
- Abstract of title.

f. Status Requests or Problems

For status inquiries, call the Input and Records Control Unit of the Certification Branch at 557-1587. For problem situations call the Manager of the Certification Branch, at 557-1552.

7. DRAWINGS FOR PATENT APPLICATIONS

a. Proper Identification of Formal or Substitute Drawings

When the Office receives formal or substitute drawings, a cover letter identifying the application by serial number should accompany them. It is extremely difficult to associate the drawings with the files when this information is missing. The application serial number should be placed on the sheet of drawing in accordance with 37 CFR 1.84(1).

According to 37 CFR 1.84(1), identifying indicia (such as the attorney's docket number, inventor's name, number of sheets, etc.) not to exceed 2½ inches may be placed in a centered location between the side edges within three-fourths inch of the top edge. Either this marking technique on the front of the drawing or the placement of this information on the back of the drawing is acceptable. However, for identification of the serial number, the PTO prefers that it be placed on the front.

b. Proper Identification of New Application Drawings

During pre-examination processing, drawings are temporarily separated from the rest of the application papers. To facilitate the matching of drawings with the application, it would be helpful if the applicant's name, docket number, and the title of the invention were put on the back of the drawings. This may be done by writing lightly on the drawings or by using gum labels.

c. Submission of Copies of Drawings Rather than Originals

For your convenience and for more effective handling of any drawing corrections which may be necessary, please DO NOT SUBMIT ORIGINAL DRAWINGS WITH PATENT APPLICATIONS. DO SUBMIT A HIGH QUALITY COPY. If the copy submitted passes the formality review and patent examination, no substitute drawings will be necessary. If corrections are necessary, they should be made to the original drawings. Either one good copy of the corrected drawings or the corrected original can then be submitted after the Notice of Allowability is mailed.

d. Timeliness of Submission of Corrected Drawings in Allowed Cases

When drawings need to be corrected in an allowed patent application, the applicant is required to submit acceptable corrected drawings within a three-month shortened statutory period. Within that three-month period, two weeks should be allowed for review of the correction by the Office. If a correction is determined to be unacceptable by the Office, the applicant must arrange to have an acceptable correction re-submitted within the original three-month period to avoid the necessity of obtaining an extension of time and of paying the extension fee. Therefore, the applicant should file corrected drawings as soon as possible following the setting of the three-month shortened statutory period.

8. EXTENSIONS OF TIME IN PATENT CASES

a. Appropriateness

In essence, where applicants' approval is not needed to amend the claims, no extension of time is required. However, if applicants' approval is required and applicants did not file their response within two months of the Final Rejection, the appropriate extension of time must be purchased.

Also, it should be noted that extensions of time may be requested under 37 CFR 1.136(a) for extending the time required to pay for the request for an oral hearing before the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. [MPEP §1209(1)]. The time for a request and fee for an oral hearing is one month from the date of the Examiner's Answer or any supplemental Examiner's Answer.

Extensions of time by fee payment under 37 CFR 1.136 (a) are appropriate for filing of the Brief on Appeal in regular applications. No more than four months may be granted under 37 CFR 1.136 (a). Beyond those four months, any further request must show sufficient cause under 37 CFR 1.136 (b), and no additional extension fee is required.

An extension of time is not required in order to hold an interview with the examiner. However, after the period for response has ended, an extension is required for the purpose of filing a follow-up amendment by applicant and/or for the entry of an Examiner's Amendment requiring approval of the applicant.

Extensions of time are appropriate for the purpose of achieving continuity between parent and continuing applications. A separate paper requesting the extension of time must be filed in the parent application. It would be useful to file a copy of that request or petition with the papers constituting the filing of the continuing application.

b. Extensions of Time Under 37 CFR 1.136(a)

Under 35 U.S.C. 41(a) (8) and 37 CFR 1.136(a), a response filed within a statutory period but outside of the period set for response may be rendered timely if accompanied by (1) a petition for an extension of time and (2) the appropriate extension fee. Experience indicates that there have been differing opinions as to the language necessary to constitute an acceptable extension of time petition. This Helpful Hint is intended to clarify the policy of the patent and Trademark Office concerning the language required for such a petition.

An extension of time under §1.136(a) requires a petition therefor and payment of the appropriate fee. The §1.136(a) petition should explicitly request in writing an extension of time for the specific number of months needed as explained in §710.02(e) of the Manual of Patent Examining Procedure. This is the best way to avoid mistakes by the applicant or by the Patent and Trademark Office and assure orderly and efficient processing of the petition.

The following language is an example of a preferred §1.136(a) request:

Applicant petitions the Commissioner of Patent and Trademarks to extend the time for response to the Office action dated _____ for_____ month(s) from_____ to_____ .

[If paying by check:]

Submitted herewith is a check for _____ to cover the cost of the extension. (Optionally, add: Any deficiency or overpayment should be charged or credited to deposit account number _____ . A duplicate copy of this sheet is enclosed).

[If paying by charge to deposit account number:]

Please charge my deposit account number_____ in the amount of _____to cover the cost of the extension. Any deficiency or overpayment should be charged or credited to this deposit account.

Applicants are cautioned that, in order to be timely, a response must be accompanied by a specific reference to an extension of time. A general authorization under 37 CFR 1.25(b) to charge necessary fees to a deposit account will not be interpreted as a petition for an extension of time. For example, a response accompanied by the statement "Please charge any fees necessary under 37 CFR 1.17 to my deposit account" would not be acceptable, since the statement does not make specific reference to an extension of time.

As previously indicated, a proper §1.136(a) petition must be in writing. However, when an extension of time is necessary to make an Examiner's Amendment timely, the extension may be obtained by way of a verbal communication. The verbal communication must be transcribed as a written part of the official application file record. For example, during a telephone interview with an examiner, an attorney for the applicant, in order to render an Examiner's Amendment timely, may verbally request an extension of time under 37 CFR 1.136(a) and authorize a charge of the appropriate fee to his or her deposit account. If this verbal request and authorization are transcribed as a written part of the application file record (e.g., via the Examiner's Amendment or an Examiner Interview Summary Record, PTOL-413), the desired extension of time may be obtained. The filing date of the §1.136(a) petition and fee will be considered the date of the verbal request and authorization if this date is reflected in the written file record.

c. Instances Not Permitted

An extension of time under 37 CFR 1.136(a) is not permitted in following instances:

(1) Where an applicant is so notified in an Office action as, for example, in a Reissue application involving a litigated patent.
(2) Where the application is involved in an interference declared pursuant to 37 CFR 1.611. See 37 CFR 1.645 for provisions governing extensions of time in interference proceedings.
(3) In reexamination proceedings. See 37 CFR 1.550(c) for extensions of time in reexamination proceedings.
(4) In PCT international applications. Under PCT Rule 26.2, extensions are permitted for correction of PCT Article 14 defects in international applications before the Receiving Office.

d. Insufficient Fees

Many requests for extension of time are being filed with insufficient fees. In those instances where there is no authorization to charge an account, additional fees are necessary to cover the additional time consumed in making up the original deficiency. If the maximum, six-month period has expired before the deficiency is noted and corrected, the application is held abandoned. In those instances where authorization to charge is included, processing delays are encountered in returning papers to the PTO Finance Branch in order to apply these charges prior to action on the cases.

Please note that effective October 5, 1985, the extension fees in patent cases are as follows:

	Small Entity	Non-Small Entity
One Month Extension	$28	$56
Two Month Extension	85	170
Three Month Extension	195	390
Four Month Extension	305	610

If applicants have a deposit account, it is recommended that applicants file, in an individual application, a general authorization to charge any of the fees set forth in 37 CFR §§1.16 to 1.18 to a deposit account for the entire pendency of the application.

e. Policy

Where an extension of time is required to file a response in a timely manner, the response is not considered complete until the response, fee, and request or petition for an extension of time are received. The fee and request or petition must be filed before the expiration of the extended period requested. The fee cannot be paid outside the statutory six-month limit for the period of response.

f. Requirement for Request or Petition for Extension

Submission of the appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.136(a) is to no avail unless a request for petition for extension is filed. Frequently, the request is omitted, which then requires an additional extension fee to cover the period to the date of the request. Occasionally, the application is held abandoned because the six month maximum statutory peiod has expired before detection of the omission of the request for extension. It is critical that a paper specifically requesting the extension be filed with late responses. It is also wise to use the Certificate of Mailing practice under 37 CFR 1.8 when requesting extensions.

g. Response to Final Rejection — Avoiding Extension Fees

In patent applications wherein a three month Shortened Statutory Period (SSP) is set for response to a Final Rejection, the response would best be filed within two months of the date of the Office Action. If filed within two months, any Advisory Action mailed after the SSP expires will reset the SSP to expire on the date of the Advisory Action for extension fee purposes, but never more than six months from the date of the Final Rejection.

h. Supplemental Amendments

If a timely and complete response has been filed after a Non-Final Office Action, an extension of time is not required to permit filing and/or entry of an additional amendment after expiration of the shortened statutory period.

If a timely response has been filed after a Final Office Action, an extension of time is required to permit filing and/or entry of a Notice of Appeal or filing and/or entry of an additional amendment after expiration of the shortened statutory period unless the timely-filed response placed the application in condition for allowance. Of course, if a Notice of Appeal has been filed within the shortened statutory period, the period has ceased to run.

9. INTERVIEWS WITH PATENT EXAMINERS

a. Appropriateness

Prior to filing, no interview is permitted; only search assistance may be given to the attorney, searcher or inventor.

Prior to first action, an interview is ordinarily granted only in continuing or substitute applications; a request for an interview is untimely and will not be granted prior to first action in all other applications.

After final rejection, an interview will not be denied merely because final Office action has been rendered. Normally, one interview after a final rejection is permitted if the examiner is convinced that disposal or clarification for appeal may be accomplished with only nominal further consideration. In requesting an interview after final rejection, the intended purpose and content of the interview must be presented briefly, either orally or in writing. Interviews merely to restate arguments of record or to discuss new limitations which would require more then nominal reconsideration or new search will be denied.

After a case is sent to issue, it is technically no longer under the jurisdiction of the primary examiner (37 CFR 1.312). Requests for interviews on cases already passed to issue should be granted only with specific approval of the Group Director upon a showing in writing of extraordinary circumstances.

The ideal time for personal interviews, during which time an interview is clearly available, is the "Conference Period", which is the time between the filing of applicant's thorough first response to the examiner's first action on the merits and a concluding action by the examiner.

In reexamination proceedings, an interview with the owner is permitted after first action. Requests that reexamination requesters be permitted to participate in or attend interviews will be denied.

When an interference has been declared, all questions involved are to be determined inter partes and will not be discussed ex parte.

Following the grant of a United States Patent, an examiner must refuse to express any opinion or view as to the invalidity of the patent, except on the record in the course of examining a reissue application or a reexamination proceeding. Even in the case of search assistance on an invention, if an examiner is aware that the invention has been patented in the United States, the searcher will be referred to the prosecution file history, and the examiner will make no comment on the appropriateness of the search conducted or the references cited.

Should any examiner fail to comply with the above guidelines, the matter would best be brought to the attention of the examiner's Group Director.

Direct questions to:

Al Lawrence Smith
Director, Group 350
(703) 557-3414

b. Prohibitions

No interview will be conducted with an attorney who is not registered or who has been suspended or excluded from practice regarding an application unless the attorney is the applicant in the application.

Protestors are not permitted to participate in interviews in applications where the protest was filed after Dec. 8, 1981, and the examiner will not communicate in any manner with such protesters.

10. FILES

a. Official Searches

The PTO has had an unusually large number of official search status letters returned by the Postal Service due to insufficient/incomplete addresses. When requesting an official search for a lost patent or trademark file, please ensure that all pertinent information is completely filled out on the PTO Form 1216. In the case of an individual working for a particular firm, the firm's name should be included in block number 5 of the form along with the name of the requestor. If you have any questions in this matter please call the Chief, Support Services Branch on (703) 557-3560.

b. Requests for Reconstruction

To request the reconstruction of a file, submit a written request along with a notice from the PTO Official Search unit stating that the file cannot be located.

c. Requests for Trademark Files

To eliminate unnecessary delays when ordering Trademark files, requesters should complete all required information blocks on form PTO-1538 (Order and Charge for Trademark Files). Failure to properly complete the form is the primary reason for requests not being quickly processed. Submitting a completed form will reduce the number of requests that have to be returned and thus reduce the overall time required to fill the request.

11. MAIL

a. Certificate of Mailing AND Return Post Card

Use of the Certificate of Mailing Procedure is strongly encouraged.

37 CFR 1.8(a) provides for the use of a Certificate of Mailing on most correspondence with the PTO, whereby the correspondence (and/or fee) will be considered as timely filed if desposited with the U.S. Postal Service within the set time period. Consistent use of this procedure is extremely beneficial to practitioners, whether or not the Post Card Receipt provision of MPEP 503 is used.

In those instances where the PTO never receives the correspondence, no post card receipt will be available to evidence the filing and/or timeliness of the correspondence. However, in those instances where a Certificate of Mailing is properly used, 37 CFR 1.8(b) provides relief, even if the correspondence is not received in the PTO at all. Under 37 CFR 1.8(b) the party who forwarded the correspondence need only (1) inform the PTO of the previous mailing of the correspondence, (2) supply a copy of the previously mailed correspondence and Certificate, and (3) include a declaration which adequately attests to the previous timely mailing.

b. Correspondence with Certificate of Mailing Delivered by Commercial Carrier

The benefits of 37 CFR 1.8 or 1.10 apply only to documents delivered to the PTO by the U.S. Postal Service.

A number of instances have been uncovered where individuals are certifying that documents were deposited with the U.S. Postal Service when, in fact, the documents were hand-carried or delivered to the PTO via commercial mail service, e.g., "Federal Express," "DHL," "Purolator," "Air Borne," "UPS," etc. In those instances where documents include a certificate of mailing under 37 CFR 1.8 or 1.10, but were delivered to the PTO by other than the U.S. Postal Service, Mail Room personnel are placing a notice indicating that fact on the correspondence involved to alert PTO personnel that the benefits of 37 CFR 1.8 or 1.10 do not apply.

c. Expediting Handling of Trademark Applications

To facilitate processing of new trademark applications, place them in a separate envelope apart from all other mail. Identify on the outside of the envelope "TRADEMARK APPLICATION ONLY." More than one new trademark application may be placed in the same envelope. Do not place any papers in the envelope other than those related to the new trademark applications.

d. Express Mail

Due to a failure of following proper procedures, many applicants are losing the advantage of receiving the date a paper or fee was deposited at the Post Office when "Express Mail" is used. According to 37 CFR §1.10, any such paper or fee must include a certificate of mailing by "Express Mail," signed by the person mailing the paper or fee.

To ensure papers and fees sent by "Express Mail" are accorded the proper certificate date, the following suggestions and reminders are offered:

(1) Each document must have a certificate of mailing typed on or affixed to the document. The certificate should be placed on the first page of the document or the covering letter to ensure easy accessibility.

Often, the certificate is missing, illegible, inaccurate, incomplete, or difficult to locate. As a result, the paper or fee is considered to have been filed on the date of receipt in the PTO.

(2) The certificate should be legible.

(3) The Express Mail number must be placed on the certificate.

(4) Dates on the certificate must correspond to dates on the Express Mail label.

The PTO continues to receive correspondence filed under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.10 in which the certificate of mailing by "Express Mail" certifies that the correspondence is being mailed on one date while the "Express Mail" label shows a "Date-In" on a different date. This usually occurs when the "Express Mail" package is deposited in a remote "Express Mail" receptacle or mailbox after the last pickup, and accordingly is not being picked-up and processed by the Postal Service until the next business day. The question as to the treatment of such a situation was covered in the final rulemaking published on Jan. 20, 1983, at 48 FR 2696–2714 and on Feb. 10, 1983, at 1027 O.G. 9. The following comments appear therein.

> "Comment: One person questions what treatment will be accorded a paper placed in an 'Express Mail' box receptacle after the box has been cleared for the last time on a given day."
> "Reply: The paper will be considered to be deposited as of the date of receipt indicated on the 'Express Mail' mailing label by the Postal Service clerk"

It is recommended that where the filing date of a paper or fee is critical, e.g., the filing of a patent application, and particularly when the deposit by "Express Mail" is being made late in the business day, the correspondence should be personally delivered to a Post Office. There the date of receipt of the "Express Mail" package can be immediately indicated by the Postal Service Clerk.

(5) Each certificate must have an original signature of the person actually mailing the paper or fee; i.e., the person who actually deposits the paper or fee with the U.S. Postal Service.

The PTO has encountered instances in which the certificate of mailing by "Express Mail" was signed by an attorney and the deposit was made by the attorney's secretary or another member of the attorney's staff. This is improper under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.10 This section differs in that regard from 37 CFR 1.8.

(6) The preferred wording and information to be included on the certificate is as follows:

> "Express Mail" Mailing Label No. (insert B no. from Express Mail label)
> Date of Deposit (insert date from Express Mail Label)
> I hereby certify that this paper or fee is being deposited with the United States Postal Service "Express Mail Post Office To Addressee" service under 37 CFR 1.10 on the date indicated above and is addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
> (Typed or printed name of person mailing paper or fee)
> (Signature of person mailing paper or fee)

By following these procedures, problems concerning filing dates should be minimized.

e. Response to Final Rejections In Patent Applications— Expediting Processing and Reply by PTO

In order to ensure the quickest reply to an amendment or response after Final Rejection in patent applications, the paper must be marked in the upper right portion:

> "RESPONSE UNDER 37 CFR 1.116
> EXPEDITED PROCEDURE
> EXAMINING GROUP (Insert Group Number)"

The marking on the paper preferably should be written in, highlighted by, or encircled with, a bright color felt-point marker.

The envelope in which the response is submitted must include only submissions under 37 CFR 1.116. The envelope must be marked "Box AF" in the lower left corner and must be addressed to:

> BOX AF
> Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
> Washington, D.C. 20231

If the paper is being hand-carried to the Examining Group (instead of mailing to Box AF), the envelope, if any, and the response should both be marked:

> "RESPONSE UNDER 37 CFR 1.116
> EXPEDITED PROCEDURE
> EXAMINING GROUP (Insert Group Number)"

Use of this procedure should avoid the necessity for extensions of time and the filing of unnecessary notices of appeal in many cases.

f. Return Post Card

If a receipt for any paper filed in the Patent and Trademark Office is desired, it may be obtained by enclosing with the paper a self-addressed post card identifying the paper. The Patent and Trademark Office will stamp the receipt date on the card and place it in the outgoing mail.

The identifying data on the card should be so complete as to clearly identify the paper for which receipt is requested. For example, the card should identify the applicant name(s), serial number, filing date, interference number, etc. Also, the paper(s) should be identified by specifying the type thereof, namely affidavit, amendment, appeal, itemized components of applications, brief, drawings, fees, motions, supplemental oath or declaration, petition, etc.

A post card receipt which itemizes and properly identifies the papers which are being filed serves as prima facie evidence of receipt in the PTO of all the items listed thereon on the date stamped thereon by the PTO unless the post card receipt has been annotated by the PTO to indicate that one or more items were not received. A post card receipt will not serve as prima facie evidence of receipt in the PTO if the papers are not itemized in a detailed manner, e.g., number of pages of specification and number of sheets of drawings, or if the post card receipt has been annotated to indicate that one or more items was not received.

When papers for more than one document are filed under a single cover, a return addressed post card should be attached to the paper for each document for which a receipt is desired.

g. Secrecy — Related Papers (37 CFR 5)

All correspondence in connection with 37 CFR 5 should be addressed to:

> Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
> (Attention Licensing and Review)
> Washington, D.C. 20231

Improperly addressing such correspondence may delay delivery and could result in violations of 37 CFR 5. See 37 CFR 5.33 regarding correspondence.

h. Special Box - Box AF

Since the establishment of the special box "Box Non Fee Amendment," some questions have been received as to which box should be used for amendments after final rejections. Continue to use Box AF for amendments after final rejections, even it it is a non-fee amendment. Although mail delivery by the Mail Room should be the same in either case, the Patent Examining Group will expedite those labeled Box AF.

i. Special Box - Box Re-exam

Requests for re-examination should be clearly marked "Box Reexam" on the outer envelope, and include only requests for re-examination. The goal for processing requests for re-examination is 30 days from receipt in the Mailroom to delivery to the appropriate examining group. Requests for re-examination which are marked on the outside envelope for Box Re-exam are immediately placed in a special box for pick up by re-examination processing clerks twice daily. Properly marked requests for re-examination allow us to meet the 30-day goal and allow the examiner adequate time for considering the request.

If requests for re-examination are included in packages with other mail, the entire package will be placed with the thousands of pieces of mail received on that date to be opened in date order. Re-examination requests are, therefore, delayed for several days making the 30-day goal nearly impossible to meet, and often reducing the time available for the examiner's consideration of the request.

j. Special Boxes for Mail

Special PTO mail box numbers should be used to allow forwarding of particular types of mail to the appropriate areas as quickly as possible. Such mail is forwarded directly to the appropriate area without being opened. Only the specified type of document should be placed in an envelope addressed to one of these special boxes. If any documents other than the specified type identified for each box are addressed to that box, they will be significantly delayed in reaching the appropriate area for which they were intended.

The following special boxes should be used only for their specified purpose. Address mail as follows:

> Box 3 — Mail for the Office of Personnel from NFC.

Box 4 — Mail for the Assistant Commissioner for External Affairs and the Office of Legislation and International Affairs.

Box 5 — "No fee" mail related to trademarks.

Box 6 — Mail for the Office of Procurement.

Box 7 — Reissue applications for patents involved in litigation and subsequently filed related papers.

Box 8 — All papers for the Office of the Solicitor except communications relating to pending litigation.

Box 9 — Coupon orders for U.S. patent and trademark copies.

Box 10 — Orders for certified copies of patent and trademark applications.

Box 11 — Electronic Ordering Service (EOS).

Box 12 — Contributions to the Examiner Education Program.

Box 13 — Mail for the Employee and Labor Relations Division.

Box 171 — Vacancy Announcement Applications.

Box AF — Amendments or responses to final rejections in patent applications, submitted under the expedited processing program.

Box EEO — Mail for the Office of Equal Employment Programs.

Box FWC — Mail related to File Wrapper and Continuations.

Box Interference — Communications relating to interferences and applications and patents involved in interferences.

Box Issue Fee — All communications following the receipt of a PTOL-85, "Notice of Allowance and Issue Fee Due," and prior to the issuance of a patent should be addressed to Box Issue Fee, unless advised to the contrary. Assignments are the exception. Assignments should be submitted in a separate envelope and not be sent to Box Issue Fee.

Box M. Fee — Correspondence related to a patent that is subject to the payment of a maintenance fee.

Box Non Fee Amendment — Non-fee amendments to patent applications. (Use Box AF for responses after final rejection).

Box OED — Mail for the Office of Enrollment and Discipline.

Box Pat. Ext. — Applications for patent term extension.

Box Reexam — Requests for Reexamination.

Box SN — For fee and petitions under 37 CFR 1.182 to obtain date received and/or serial number.

12. MAINTENANCE FEES

a. Address to Which Correspondence is Sent Regarding Patent Maintenance Fees

Under 37 CFR 1.33(d), a "correspondence address" or change thereto may be filed with the Office during the enforceable life of a patent. This "correspondence address" will be used in any correspondence relating to maintenance fees unless a separate "fee address" has been specified solely for maintenance fee purposes as provided by CFR 1.363. Practitioners who do not wish to receive correspondence relating to maintenance fees must change the correspondence address in the patented file or provide the PTO with a fee address to which the correspondence should be sent. It is not required that a practitioner file a request for permission to withdraw pursuant to 37 CFR 1.36 solely for the purpose of changing the correspondence address in a patent, even though a withdrawal of a practitioner would change the correspondence address.

b. Correspondence Address and/or Fee Address on Maintenance Fees

Effective Nov. 1, 1984, 37 CFR 1.363 provides for a "fee address" to be entered in the Office patent file records for use in all correspondence relating to maintenance fees. The fee address is in addition to the "correspondence address" under 37 CFR 1.33 which will continue to be used for all reexamination and interference purposes. If no separate fee address is specified, the correspondence address will also be used for maintenance fee correspondence. A similar reminder appears on the Issue Fee Transmittal Form, PTOL-85(b).

Practioners should maintain a current "correspondence address" and, if desired, a separate current "fee address" during the enforceable life of the patent in order to ensure receipt of correspondence regarding maintenance fee.

In the case where a practitioner does not intend to continue representing the patentee, a request for permission to withdraw pursuant to 37 CFR 1.36 must be approved by the Commissioner.

Practictioners are reminded that they should inform a client or former client (or timely notify the Office of an inability to notify a client or former client) of any maintenance fee correspondence received from the PTO. See 37 CFR 10.23(c) (8). This is similar to the practice with respect to interferences and reexamination proceedings.

c. Delayed Payment of Maintenance Fees

Payment of any maintenance fee due on a patent after expiration of the patent may be accepted if the conditions set forth in 37 CFR 1.378 are satisfied.

In the past, petitions under 37 CFR 1.378 to accept delayed payment of the maintenance fee in an expired patent have been filed which allege, as a basis for unavoidable delay: (1) lack of knowledge that a maintenance fee was due and/or (2) failure to receive a Maintenance Fee Reminder notice from the PTO.

Practitioners are reminded that a patentee's lack of knowledge of a requirement to pay a maintenance fee does not constitute a showing of unavoidable delay; see 49 F.R. 34716 at page 34720, and 1046 O.G. 28 at page 32.

Maintenance Fee Reminder notices are mailed only as a courtesy after the "grace period" has begun; see 37 CFR 1.362(e). Patentees are expected to maintain their own docket systems to ensure timely payment of maintenance fees, preferably during the "window period"; see 37 CFR 1.362(d). Since patentees are expected to maintain their own docket systems for timely payment of maintenance fees, proof that a Maintenance Fee Reminder notice was not received from the PTO does not constitute a showing of unavoidable delay; see 49 F.R. 34716–34726, and 1046 O.G. 28–37.

Practitioners are cautioned that any petition to accept delayed payment of a maintenance fee under CFR 1.378 must include an enumeration of the steps taken to ensure timely payment of the maintenance fee. In this regard, the petition should include a detailed explanation of the docket system employed to ensure such timely payment. Any petition filed more than six months after the expiration of a patent will also be required to show that the failure to timely pay the maintenance fee was due entirely to circumstances outside the control of the patentee and those acting on behalf of the patentee.

d. Maintenance Fee Transmittal Form Notice

Where maintenance fee payments are to be made by authorization to charge a deposit account, the Maintenance Fee Transmittal Form, should reflect both the Payer's Name and signature in the bottom left corner thereof.

e. Mandatory Identifiers when Submitting Maintenance Fees

Practitioners are reminded that a patent maintenance fee payment and any surcharge payment submitted must identify the patent to which it relates by at least two mandatory identifiers [see 37 CFR 1.366(c)]:

1. The patent number; and
2. The serial number of the United States application for the patent on which the maintenance fee is being paid.

Reissue patent maintenance fee due dates are based on the issue date of the original, rather than the reissue patent. The payment must identify the reissue patent by reissue patent number and reissue application serial number as the two mandatory identifiers and should also include the original patent number, the original patent issue date and the original United States application filing date. See 37 CFR 1.366(d).

The two mandatory identifiers are required as a minimum to enable a cross-check to be made to avoid errors in crediting payment of maintenance fees.

It is suggested that the payment identify the fee being paid for each patent as to whether it is the 3½, 7½ or 11½ year fee; whether small entity status is being changed or claimed; the amount of the maintenance fee and any surcharge being paid; any assigned payer number; the patent issue date; and the United States application filing date. See 37 CFR 1.366(d).

Failure to provide at least the two above-named mandatory identifiers will likely result in the non-acceptance of the maintenance fee payment. The date the two mandatory identifiers and the required fee are submitted is the date the maintenance fee payment is credited as being made.

f. Payer Number

In order to simplify changes in address by patent owners having several patents, and data input by the Patent and Trademark Office, a "payer number" will be assigned to each fee address when a fee address is presented to the Office in a patent or earlier upon request. A request for a payer number before a maintenance fee is paid or due will permit a patent owner to request that the fee address and payer number be recorded in the Office records of the patents owned on which maintenance fees are due so that all notices relating to maintenance fees will be sent to the fee address.

When a fee address has been specified as provided by 37 CFR 1.363, that address is assigned a "payor number". Processing time can be greatly reduced if practitioners cite that "payor number" when submitting a maintenance fee payment.

The Patent and Trademark Office has established a procedure for assigning a payer number upon request by a patent owner or a party responsible for paying maintenance fees. Such a party may be, for example, the finance office of a corporation or of a separate organization specializing in maintenance fee payments.

Under the procedure, a patent owner or other party may request a payer number for a particular fee address by writing to:

Commissioner of Patent and Trademarks
Box M. Fee
Washington, DC 20231

Each request for a payer number should include the:

- fee address to be used by the Office, and
- telephone number of the fee addressee to be used to resolve problems.

After receipt of a payer number, it may be used to indicate to the Patent and Trademark Office the fee address to be used in particular patents on which maintenance fees will become due and in applications in which issue fees have been or are being paid. Any request for entry of a payer number or fee address in the Office records of a patent, however, must be signed by the patent owner or his or her attorney or agent of record.

After a payer number has been assigned, it should be used in all future maintenance fee payments and related correspondence. However, where a payer number has not been previously entered in the Office records for a particular patent, the mere indication of a payer number at the time of payment of the maintenance fee, without the signature of the patent owner or the owner's attorney or agent of record, will not serve to make the payer number of record in the Office for that patent.

The problems which most often arise in connection with attempts to establish a fee address in a particular patent or group of patents is that the request is being signed by an attorney who is not of record in each of the patents. This results in the request being entered only in part.

Also, when the request is signed by an owner of the patent, the records of the Assignement Branch do not always reflect such ownership. Where the assignment was recorded prior to Dec. 1980, it would help the Office if the PTO reel and frame number of the assignment recordation were presented in the paper requesting that a fee address be entered, and if the person signing the request would indicate his or her title.

g. Public Availability of Maintenance Fee Petitions/Decisions

Maintenance fee petitions and decisions thereon are public records. Copies thereof can be obtained by submitting a written request to the Certification Branch. The request should state the patent number and serial number. The charge for the copies is currently $.50 per page.

13. NEW PATENT APPLICATIONS

a. Attorney Docket Number on Missing Part/Incomplete Notices

In response to several requests from patent attorneys, the PTO is now entering the attorney docket number on the Notice of Incomplete Application and Notice to File Missing Parts of Application.

The attorney docket number which will be entered on the Notice will be that which was submitted on the transmittal letter as filed with a new patent application. The number must be clearly identified as an "attorney docket number". This number will be entered by the PTO under the Title of Invention on the Notices.

If the Office makes a mistake in recording the attorney docket number on the Notice of Incomplete Application or the Notice to File Missing Parts of Application, such mistake is not to be used by the attorney as cause for delay in response. Nor is the attorney to request that the Office correct the docket number prior to response to the Notice. The attorney can notify the Office in the response, but no change will be made by the Office until the Filing Receipt is issued.

If the attorney wishes to change the attorney docket number from that which was entered on transmittal letter as filed, the request must be submitted through amendment, submitted to the Patent Examining Corp.

b. Continuation or Divisional — Retaining Original Claim

When filing under Rule 1.60, retain at least one original claim from the parent application to assure a complete application. Only amendments reducing the number of claims or adding a reference to the prior application [Rule 1.78 (a)] will be entered, upon request, before calculating the filing fee and granting the filing date. Reminder : Applicant cannot file a CIP (continuation-in-part) under Rule 1.60.

c. Continuation or Divisional – Problems

Applications continue to be filed incorrectly under both 37 CFR 1.60 and 37 CFR 1.62. This causes problems not only for applicants but also for the Patent and Trademark Office. Filing dates are not granted to applications which do not comply with the rules. As a result, petitions with fees are required to be filed in such applications before a filing date will be granted.

Most often, the problems that arise in this area can be characterized as the following:

(1) Applicants continue to fail to comply with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.60 with regard to what must be submitted upon filing under the rule. This is true even after the clarifying amendments (effective April 1, 1984) were made to the rule.

(2) A true copy of the prior application must be filed including the specification (with claims), drawings, oath or declaration showing the applicant's signature or an indication it was signed, and any amendments referred to in the oath or declaration filed to complete the prior application.

(3) Applicants are using transmittal forms which request filings under one rule when, in fact, they wish to file under another rule. For example, a transmittal form requesting filing under 37 CFR 1.62 may be filed when it was really desired to file a divisional application under 37 CFR 1.60 and not to abandon the parent application.

d. File Wrapper Continuation - Preliminary Amendment

Many continuation applications filed under 37 CFR 1.62 contain no preliminary amendment to the claims which were finally rejected in the parent application. The result is a first action final rejection of these claims. Applicants should file any desired amendments at the time the application is filed under 37 CFR 1.62, since the Office is treating these applications as "Special" and an action on the merits will be rendered quite prompty.

To expedite processing under Rule 1.62, make certain that the parent serial number cited in the transmittal letter is the correct serial number.

e. File Wrapper Continuation - Problems

Applications continue to be filed incorrectly under both 37 CFR 1.60 and 37 CFR 1.62. This causes problems not only for applicants but also for the Patent and Trademark Office. Filing dates are not granted to applications which do not comply with the rules. As a result, petitions with fees are required to be filed in such applications before a filing date will be granted.

Most often, the problems that arise in this area can be characterized as the following:

(1) Applications have been filed with a transmittal form requesting filing under 37 CFR 1.60 when it was intended to file under 37 CFR 1.62. The confusion in the record of such applications must be clarified by a decision on petition before the applications can be processed for examination.

(2) Some applicants fail to realize that the parent application is abondoned by the filing of a continuing application under 37 CFR 1.62. Paragraph (g) of 37 CFR 1.62 states:

> "The filing of a request for a continuing application under this section will be considered to be a request to expressly abandon the prior application as of the filing date granted the continuing application."

Correction after such a mistaken filing under 37 CFR 1.62 usually requires a revival of the parent application under 37 CFR 1.137(a) or (b) which expends resources of both the applicant and the PTO.

(3) Some applicants are attempting to file continuing applications under 37 CFR 1.62 after payment of the issue fee in the parent application. Such applications are improper and are not entitled to a filing date. Additionally, such filings will not affect the prior application; i.e., the parent application may issue as a patent. Paragraph (a) of 37 CFR 1.62 specifies that continuing applications may be filed under 37 CFR 1.62 "before the payment of the issue fee, abandonment of, or termination of proceedings on the prior application".

(4) Some applicants are attempting to file continuation-in-part applications under 37 CFR 1.62 with a new specification rather than with the changes made by amendment to the prior application. As stated in 37 CFR 1.62(a), filings under 37 CFR 1.62 use the specification of the prior application.

Paragraph (c) of 37 CFR 1.62 also states:

> "In the case of a continuation-in-part application which adds and claims additional disclosure by amendment , an oath or declaration as required by §1.63 must also be filed . . ." (emphasis added)

f. Information Disclosure Citation - Form PTO 1449

The Public is encouraged to use Form PTO 1449, "Information Disclosure Citation," when preparing a statement under 37 CFR 1.97–1.99 (see MPEP §609). This form provides the Office with a uniform way of listing the citations and a vehicle from which the information thereon can be printed on the issued patent.

Some citations are being presented on various forms prepared by the public rather than on Form PTO 1449. As a result, delays are cropping up in the printing process because the printer has difficulty in following the various formats and is having to query the examiner each time a non-PTO 1449 form is used.

Note that listing citations on Form PTO 1449 does not raise an irrebuttable presumption that the citation is prior art. A holding by an examiner that any citation on Form PTO 1449 is prior art to claimed subject matter can be rebutted by procedures commonly used to rebut the prior art status of an examiner's citations on Form PTO 1449, "Notice of References Cited".

Among the information that should be provided on Form PTO 1449 is the date of the citation. In addition, it is helpful if the class and subclass of each citation is provided. It is appreciated that classification information may not be known at the time Form PTO 1449 is prepared. When classification information is not known, draw a line in the boxes under the class and subclass heading adjacent to the citation for which classification information is not known.

g. Petition for License

Rule 5.12 states that "filing of an application for patent for inventions made in the United States will be considered to include a petition for license under 35 USC 184 for the subject of the application. The filing receipt will indicate a license is granted." There is no need to request a corrected filing receipt deleting the words "License Granted." Its intent is to provide the necessary acknowledgement for those filing abroad.

h. Processing and Retention Fees for Abandoned Applications

An application, which has become abandoned pursuant to 37 CFR 1.53(d) for failure to pay the filing fee, will be disposed of unless the processing and retention fee set forth in §1.21(1) is paid within the 1-year period referred to in §1.53(d). Moreover, the processing and retention fee must be timely paid in order to obtain certified copies of the application (e.g., for convention priority purposes) or to establish in a later filed application the filing date benefit of an earlier copending application under 35 USC 120 and 37 CFR 1.78(a) (3). Therefore, an application which has become abandoned for the reasons set forth above should be immediately reviewed in order to timely determine the advisability of submitting a processing and retention fee payment.

i. Surcharge for Filing a Patent Application

Filing dates are accorded to applications filed without the basic filing fee and without the oath or declaration. In such cases, a notice is mailed by Application Branch requiring at least the basic filing fee and the oath or declaration, accompanied by a surcharge [37 CFR 1.16(e)]. In numerous instances, applicants fail to submit the surcharge causing the application to become abandoned. See 37 CFR 1.53(d) and MPEP §506.

14. PATENT COOPERATION TREATY APPLICATIONS

a. Responses Filed in International Applications

The 18 month publication deadline for international applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) is critical. Therefore, it is in applicant's interest to respond timely to an invitation to correct a PCT Article 14 defect. An untimely response can result in the withdrawal of the international application under Article 14 and PCT Rule 26. If an extension to respond is needed, call the person who signed the invitation before the expiration of the time limit. The PTO will strictly comply with PCT Article 14 and Rule 26 in holding international applications withdrawn when responses are untimely or not filed.

b. Early Notification of Receipt of PCT Designated Office Cases

If you would like to have early notification that the PTO has received requirements under 35 U.S.C. 371 to enter the Designated Office phase, you should send two self-addressed, stamped postcards with those requirements. The first postcard will be date stamped and returned to you upon receipt of the requirements by the PCT staff. The second postcard will be sent to you when the case is released to the Mail Room to join the regular flow of national applications. The second postcard will be stamped with the U.S. serial number. If only one postcard is sent, it will be marked with the U.S. serial number but will remain with the application until requirements are completed and the case is released.

When corrections of PCT Rule 91 obvious errors in the description, claims or abstract are submitted together with corrections of deficits under PCT Article 14, the transmittal letter should clearly note the Rule 91 corrections. This is necessary because, under PCT Rule 91.1(e), the Receiving Office can authorize the rectification of obvious errors only in the Request (Form PCT/RO/101), while Searching Authority authorization is needed for obvious errors in the description, claims or abstract. When the transmittal letter clearly notes the Rule 91 corrections, Searching Authority authorization of any obvious errors in the description, claims or abstract can be expedited.

Call 557-2003 if you have questions concerning responses filed during the international stage for international applications under the PCT.

15. PATENT COPIES

a. Electronic Ordering Service

Copies may be ordered electronically through the PTO's Electronic Ordering Service (EOS) rather than placing orders through the mail. With EOS, orders are received the same day they are placed, thereby reducing the turnaround time by about seven days. Orders can be placed any day, 24 hours a day.

Our regulations require that we receive payment for services before they are rendered. For this reason, a Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) deposit account is a prerequisite for becoming an EOS user.

There are two types of PTO deposit accounts. One is an unrestricted account which can be used for any service PTO provides. This account requires a minimum balance of $1,000. The second type of account, the restricted deposit account, is available only for EOS and for subscriptions for copies of newly issued patents by subject matter classification. The restricted account requires a minimum balance of $300. If you have any questions about PTO deposit accounts, call (703) 557-3227.

To use EOS you need a standard computer terminal and modem. If you have any questions about equipment or the technical aspects of EOS, call (202) 377-2535.

The cost of EOS orders will be charged to your deposit account. The copy costs are $1.50 for each patent and trademark, and $6.00 for each plant patent. In addition, there will be a communication cost. This has been averaging 10 cents per copy; could range up to 25 centers on single orders.

b. Subscription Services

When submitting changes to subscription accounts, allow approximately two months from the date mailed to the Patent and Trademark Office for changes to become effective. The reason for the two month delay is to allow for changes to be recorded, data entered, and the automated system to be updated.

16. PETITIONS TO REVIVE

a. Request and Fee for Extension Not Required

Frequently, a petition to revive an abandoned application is accompanied by an unnecessary request and fee for extension of time. Our policy is set forth in MPEP 711.03(c). Specifically, a response does not require a request and fee for extension of time as a condition of revival.

b. Terminal Disclaimer

A petition to revive an abandoned application is often accompanied by an unnecessary terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer is required only when a grantable petition based on unavoidable delay is not filed within six months of the date of abandonment [37 CFR 1.137(a) and 1.137(c)]. It follows that a terminal disclaimer should not accompany a petition based on unintentional abandonment[(37 CFR 1.137(b)]. In these respects, analogous reasoning applies to petitions to accept late payment of the issue fee under 37 CFR 1.155 or 1.316.

When a terminal disclaimer is a necessary component of the petition, the period to be disclaimed must equal the number of months between the date of abandonment and the date a grantable petition is filed. The date of abandonment is the date the period for response has expired [see MPEP 711.04(a)]. This is normally the end of the three month shortened statutory period. Moreover, the terminal disclaimer should employ the format shown in Figure 1.

17. POWER TO INSPECT

a. Power of Attorney

The Office receives letters granting power to inspect patent applications. These may only be granted by the attorney of record or inventor. Sometimes the person signing the power is not authorized to do so, causing delay until proper authorization is received. Copies of completed applications cannot be made during the pre-examination process. They can be inspected, but not pulled from the work flow to have copies made.

b. Withdrawal of Attorney

To expedite requests for permission to withdraw as attorney under 37 CFR §1.36, submit the request in triplicate (original and two copies) and indicate thereon the present mailing addresses of the attorney who is withdrawing and of the applicant. The examining group number should also appear on all such requests. Because the Office does not recognize law firms, each attorney of record must sign the notice of withdrawal, or the notice of withdrawal must contain a clear indication of one attorney signing on behalf of another.

A request to withdraw is effective when approved rather than when received. This is particularly important when such requests are submitted toward the end of the period for response. There should be at least thirty days between approval of withdrawal and the expiration date of a time response period so that the applicant will have sufficient time to obtain other representation or take other action. If less than 30 days remains in a running response period, a request to withdraw is normally disapproved.

If a period has been set for response and the period may be extended [without a showing of cause pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a)] by filing a petition for extension of time and fee, it is not necessary to seek such extension of time for withdrawl to be approved. In such a situation, however, withdrawal will not be approved unless at least 30 days would remain between the date of approval and the last date on which such a petition for extension of time and fee could properly be filed.

18. REISSUES

a. Amendments

To avoid unnecessary delays in the issuance of reissue applications, applicants and their attorneys are reminded to exercise caution and give sufficient attention to 37 CFR 1.121(a) and (e) in presenting reissue amendments. The practices and procedures vary somewhat from regular utility application amendments.

MPEP Sec. 1455 provides guidance for proper entry of amendments and claim numbering. Publication of the reissue application(s) may be needlesaly postponed while formal irregularities are corrected.

b. Oaths and/or Declarations

Since standard oath and declaration forms are not used in reissue applications, applicants are commonly neglecting to include averments required by 37 CFR 1.63 per 37 CFR 1.175(a). The most frequent omissions involve the "duty of disclosure" acknowledgment, and the "reviewed and understands" statement. Such omissions usually necessitate additional handling and correspondence, and cause undue time delays, which result in postponement of publication of the reissue patent.

A frequent problem in reissue practice is the failure of applicants to satisfactorily comply with 37 CFR 1.175 regarding the description of all errors of the original patent in the reissue oath or declaration. Applicants are required to specify errors in the original reissue oath or declaration at the time of filing the reissue application. They must also specify, in a supplemental oath or declaration, any errors brought to their attention during the prosecution, as well as the circumstances surrounding the occurrence or discovery of these errors. Every departure from the original patent represents an "error" and must be particularly and distinctly specified and supported in the original, or a supplemental, reissue oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.175. See MPEP Sec. 1414 and 1444. Postponement of publication of the reissue patent may result if these requirements are not met at the time of allowance.

19. SMALL ENTITY STATUS

a. Small Entity Statements

Verified statements claiming small entity status, where appropriate, would best be signed and submitted at the time the application oath or declaration is signed to permit filing of the statement with the application. This would reduce correspondence between attorney and client, reduce paper handling by the PTO support staff and the PTO Finance Branch, and greatly simplify the processing of subsequent papers involving fees. If small entity status is being claimed for the first time at the time of payment of the issue fee, a verified statement claiming small entity status should be submitted with the fee. See MPEP §509.03.

20. TRADEMARKS

a. Application Drawings

To avoid delays in processing new trademark applications, the drawing should have the following information in the upper left hand corner:

- Drawing title.
- Applicant's name and address.
- First use date.
- First use in interstate commerce date.
- Goods, services or both.

b. File Histories

When requesting trademark file histories, the "status date" (i.e. date abandoned) must be provided to fill the order if the file is abandoned. If not known, this information can be obtained from TRAM. The request will be returned unfilled if this date is not provided.

c. Post Registration

Section 8 Affidavit or Declaraction Held Insufficient During Post Registration Examination - The Trademark Act of 1946, Section 8(a) was amended Aug. 27, 1982, Public Law 97-247 (96 Stat. 317), to clarify that the continued use required to be shown in the sixth year under Section 8(a) be use "in commerce." Subsequently the Trademark Rules were amended on Jan. 28, 1983 (48 Federal Register 3977), to require that all Section 8(a) affidavits or declarations "state that the registered mark is in use in commerce and specify the nature of such commerce." [37 C.F.R. Section 2.162(e)].

Some applicants under Section 8(a) are not complying with the requirements that the affadivit or declaration state that the mark is in use "in commerce," and "specify the nature of such commerce." The Office cannot accept an affidavit under Section 8(a) which does not comply with the Act and, if the defect is not corrected before the end of the sixth year, the registration in question will be cancelled.

While the Post Registration Division will allow up to six months to respond to a letter from the Office, a supplemental or substitute affidavit or declaration required by Section 8(a) will not be considered unless it is received before the expiration of the six year anniversary of the registration. It is suggested that registrants file Section 8(a) applications as early as possible between the fifth and sixth year following registration to allow time to submit an affidavit or declaration which is correct, if required.

Signatures - The corporate title of the affiant/declarant is often missing. Occasionally, the affidavit/declaration is unsigned.

Assignments - it will speed up the processing of Section 8 affidavits and renewal applications if the affiant/declarant will furnish the reel and frame number and the date(s) of recordation with the USPTO Assignment Section of any relevant assignment, merger, change of name, or other transfer.

Fees - Many of the affidavits and applications for renewal contain insufficient fees. The fee schedule for these transactions done in the Post Registration area is listed below:

(1) For filing an application for renewal of a registration, per class $300.00
(2) For filing an affidavit under Section 8 of the Act, per class $100.00
(3) For filing an affidavit under Section 15 of the Act, per class $100.00
(4) For filing a combined affidavit under Sections 8 and 15 of the Act, per class $200.00

Revision of Patent and Trademark Fees

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office proposes to amend the rules of practice in patent and trademark cases, Parts 1 and 2 of Title 37, Code of Federal Regulations, to adjust patent fee amounts and to reduce certain trademark fee amounts. The Office also proposes to amend the rules of practice in patent cases to clarify requirements in the filing of applications and to provide for procedures for applicants to cure certain defects in the filing of applications.

Establishment and adjustment of patent fees is provided for by §6 and §41 of Title 35, United States Code, and section 103(b) of Pub. L. 100-. Establishment and adjustment of trademark fees is provided for by section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §1113) and section 103(c) of Pub. L. 100-.

Dates: Written comments must be submitted on or before Jan. 4, 1989; a public hearing will be held on Jan. 4, 1989, at 9:00 A.M. Requests to present oral testimony should be received on or before Jan. 3, 1989.

Addresses: Address written comments and requests to present oral testimony to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, Attention: Frances Michalkewicz, Suite 904, Crystal Park 2. The hearing will be held in Suite 912 on the 9th floor of Bldg. 2, Crystal Park, located at 2121 Crystal Dr., Arlington, Va. Written comments and a transcript of the public hearing will be available for public inspection in Suite 904 of Bldg. 2, Crystal Park at 2121 Crystal Dr., Arlington, Va.

For Further Information Contact: Frances Michalkewicz by telephone at (703) 557-1610 or by mail marked to her attention and addressed to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Supplementary Information: Patent fees were set on Oct. 1, 1982, in accordance with the provisions of Title 35, United States Code (Pub. L. 97-247). Patent fees were adjusted effective Oct. 5, 1985, in accordance with the provisions of Title 35, United States Code. Trademark fees were set on Oct. 1, 1982, in accordance with the provisions of §31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §1113) and adjusted on Oct. 1, 1986, in accordance with the provisions of that Act and Title 35. On Nov. 6, 1986, legislation modifying the way fee adjustments could be made was enacted as Pub. L. 99-607. The fee adjustment provisions of Pub. L. 99-607, §3(a) and §3(b) expired on Sep. 30, 1988. On Nov., 1988, legislation extending §3(a) and §3(b) of Pub. L. 99-607 was enacted as Pub. L. 100-. Therefore, patent and trademark fee adjustments will be guided by the provisions of Title 35, United States Code, and by Pub. L. 100, and the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §1113), and by Pub. L. 100-.

The Patent and Trademark Office is proposing to amend 37 CFR §2.6 to reduce the fee for filing an application for trademark registration from $200 to $175 per class. The Office further proposes to reduce the fee for recording trademark assignments and agreements or other papers relating to the property in a registration or application from $100 to $8 for each mark in the same document.

Effective Oct. 1, 1982, trademark operations within the Office became 100 percent user-fee funded. Experience to date has demonstrated that the fees first established in Oct. 1982, and as later adjusted in Oct. 1986, are more than adequate to meet total trademark function costs. At the end of fiscal year 1988, total trademark function fees exceeded total trademark function costs by approximately $10 million. Left undisturbed, it is projected that the current trademark fee structure will result in an additional $12.7 million in excess fees over the course of the next three-year fee cycle. Thus, by the end of fiscal year 1991, total trademark fees are projected to exceed total trademark costs by almost $23 million if the current fee structure remains in place.

In this light, the Office is proposing to reduce both the trademark application and assignment fees. A reduction of the application fee to $175 would be consistent with the legislative history surrounding passage of Pub. L. 97-247. In its report (H. Rep. No. 97-542, May 17, 1982), the House Committee on the Judiciary stated that, "It is expected that the Commissioner will set the [trademark] fees in a way that the filing fee will be kept as low as possible to foster use of the Federal registration system." The application filing fee from Oct. 1982 to Oct. 1986 was $175. The filing fee was increased in 1986 to $200 in an effort to recover a greater percentage of the actual costs incurred in the processing of trademark applications. While the proposed reduction will increase the discrepancy between the application filing fee and out projected unit cost, the size of the current "surplus," as well as the objective of encouraging filings, supports the proposed action.

A reduction of the fee for recording trademark assignments to $8 for each mark would make such fees consistent with those proposed for the recording of patent assignments.

While the proposed fee reductions still will leave a healthy "surplus," prudence suggests that further reductions be held in abeyance pending implementation of "The Trademark Law Revision Act of 1988" (Pub. L. 100-). The Act, among other things, would permit applicants to file applications for Federal trademark registrations based upon a bona fide "intent-to-use" the mark in commerce. Implementation of "intent-to-use" legislation will require the Office to incur additional expenditures, such as increased personnel costs and improved computer capabilities. The Office will review its trademark fee structure appoximately 18 months from implementation and propuse further fee adjustments if warranted.

Even absent "intent-to-use," theOffice will probably be required to upgrade its computer capabilities within the near future. Moreover, implementation of an automated trademark assignment system, now scheduled for fiscal year 1990, and other improvements in automated searching, will result in increased demands on trademark resources.

BACKGROUND:

Provisions of Title 35 and Title 15, United States Code, and Pub. L. 100-* Which Affect This Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

Patent and Trademark Office fees are authorized by 35 U.S.C. §41 and 35 U.S.C. §376. Section 41(a) of Title 35, United States Code, establishes a number of statutory fees. Among the more significant of these are fees for filing a patent application and issuing a patent. Certain other fees, such as appeal fees, the fee for filing a disclaimer, fees for filing petitions seeking to revive an abandoned application and for extensions of time also are set in 35 U.S.C. §41(a). Section 41(b) of Title 35, United States Code, sets forth the statutory fees for maintaining a patent in force if the application was filed on or after Aug. 27, 1982.

The provisions of Pub. L. 96-517 also establish maintenance fees for patents other than design and plant patents issued on applications filed on or after Dec. 12, 1980 and before Aug. 27, 1982. These maintenance fees are to recover 25 percent of the estimated cost to the Office of processing patent applications.

Section 1 of Pub. L. 97-247 authorized the reduction by 50 percent in the fees paid under 35 U.S.C. §41(a) and §41(b) by independent inventors, small business concerns, and nonprofit organizations, who meet the definitions establish. Section 1(a)(2) of Pub. L. 99-607 makes this provision permanent in 35 U.S.C. §41(h).

Section 41(f) of Title 35, United States Code, provides that fees established in 35 U.S.C. §41(a) and 35 U.S.C. §41(b), "may be adjusted by the Commissioner on Oct. 1, 1985, and every third year thereafter, to reflect any fluctuations occurring during the previous three years in the Consumer Price Index, as determined by the Secretary of Labor." Section 41(f) also provides that changes of less than one percent may be ignored. Pub. L. 100- makes no modifications to 35 U.S.C. §41(f).

Section 41(d) of Title 35, United States Code, provides that the "Commissioner will establish fees for all other processing, services, or materials related to petents" which are not covered in 35 U.S.C. §41 (a) and 35 U.S.C. §41(b), "to recover the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing, services or materials."

Section 103(b) of Pub. L. 100- changes the way fees established under 35 U.S.C. §41(d) can be adjusted. For fiscal years 1989, 1990, and 1991, the Commissioner cannot increase fees established under §41(d) except for the purposes of making adjustments which in the aggregate do not exceed fluctuations during the previous three years in the Consumer Price Index.

Section 103(b) of Pub. L. 100- provides that the Commissioner cannot establish additional fees under 35 U.S.C. §41(d) during fiscal years 1989, 1990, and 1991.

Section 376 of Title 35, United States Code, authorizes the Commissioner to set fees for patent applications filed under the Patent Cooperation Treaty. The fees under the PatentCooperation Treaty are keyed to full cost recovery of the processing costs under the Treaty. Pub. L. 100- makes no modifications to 35 U.S.C. §376.

Section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §1113) authorizes the Commissioner to establish fees for the filling and processing of an application for the registration of a trademark or other mark, and for all other services and materials relating to trademarks and other marks. No fee for the filing or processing of an application for the registration of a trademark or other mark or for the renewal or assignment of a trademark or other mark will be adjusted more than once every three years. The House Committee on the Judiciary, in a report that accompanied H.R. 6260, which ultimately was enacted as Pub. L. 97-247, recommended a trademark fee schedule to the Commissioner which was established by rule published in the Federal Register on July 30, 1982 at 47 FR 33086, effective Oct. 1, 1982.

A final rule to increase the trademark application filing fee per class and the fee for copies of trademarks was published in the Federal Register on Aug. 4, 1986 at 51 FR 28052. The increased fees became effective on Oct. 1, 1986.

Section 103(a) of Pub. L. 100- changes the way fees established under the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §113) can be adjusted. For fiscal years 1989, 1990 and 1991, the Commissioner cannot increase fees established under the Act except for the purposes of making adjustments which in the aggregate donot exceed fluctuations during the previous three years in the Consumer Price Index.

Section 103(a) of Pub. L. 100- provides that the Commissioner cannot establish additional fees under the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §1113) during fiscal years 1989, 1990, and 1991.

However, as described above under Supplementary Information, the Office is proposing only to reduce the fee for filing an application, per class, and the fee for recording trademark assignments and agreements or other papers relating to the property in a registration or application.

Proposed Rule Changes

General Procedures

Cost Calculations: The Office calculated unit costs for all fees based on OMB Circular A-25, "User Fees," and OMB Circular A-130, "Management of Federal Information Resources." Costs were determined from the best available records (for example, the 1987 end of fiscal year financial statements for the Office) and included direct and indirect costs to the Office of carrying out the activity, as directed by OMB Circular A-25. To estimate costs for the three-year fee cycle Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992, the 1987 actual costs were then adjusted by a mid-cycle inflation rate of 12.644 percent derived from the Administration's inflation projection.

Workload Projections

Determination of future year workloads varies by fee code. Principal workload projection techniques are as follows:

Patent and trademark application workloads were projected from statistical regression models using recent application trends. Associated application workloads, for example, patent claims and extensions of time, grow relative to patent applications. Patent issues are projected from an in-house patent productivity model and reflect examiner production achievements and goals. Patent maintenance fee workloads utilize patents issued 3.5, 7.5 and 11.5 years prior to payment and assume payment rates of 80 percent, 50 percent and 25 percent, respectively. Trademark affidavits and renewals are based on prior year registrations and renewal trends. Service fee workloads follow linear trends from prior year activities. All workload estimates are approved by the manager responsible for the fee program.

Policy for applying the Consumer Price Index: The Office of Management and Budget has determined that the Patent and Trademark Office should use Consumer Price Index-U)CPI) to adjust patent fees. The Department of Labor's Consumer Price Index is made public approximately twenty-one days after the end of the month being calculated. The time lag between the initiation and the completion of the rulemaking process dictates that the Aug. 1988 through Mar. 1989 inflation rate be projected. The Administration's projected cumulative CPI for the three-year period Apr. 1986-Mar. 1989 is 10.303 percent. This estimate is included in the cumulative three-year CPI applied to patent fees. Before the final fee schedule is published, the estimate will be recalculated using the additional actual data that will have become available in the interim.

Rounding Procedures: After application of the 10.303 percent projected fluctuation in the CPI to fees, amounts were rounded by applying standard arithmetical rules so that the amounts rounded would be de minimis and convenient to the user. Fees of $100 or more were rounded to the nearest $10. Fees between $10 and $99 were rounded to the nearest even number so that the comparable small entity fee would be a whole number. Fees under $2 were rounded for convenience. Since the amounts of the patent fees that went into effect on Oct. 5, 1985 wee rounded after application of the Consumer Price Index, a first step in calculating proposed new fee amounts was to eliminate any effects of rounding prior years' fee adjustments. For example, 35 U.S.C. §41(a), sets the patent application filing fee at $300.00. Applying the 11.8 percent CPI for the period 1983-1985 resulted in an allowable increase to $335.40. This amount was rounded to $340.00. For purposes of this fee adjustment process, the base used to adjust fees for the next fee cycle was the "unrounded" fee amount; i.e., the $335.40 for patent application filing fees. Similarly, the cost for certifying Office records was $2.70. This amount was rounded to $3.00. For purposes of this fee adjustment process, the base was unrounded amount of $2.70.

It should be noted that following routine rounding off practices can result in some fee items being adjusted by more or less than CPI. This divergence from the CPI ceiling will only exist in the short term because of the policy of applying the CPI adjustment factor to the unrounded amount from the previous fee cycle.

Proposed Rule Changes Under Title 35 and Title 15, United States Code and Pub. L. 100-

Statutory patent fees established under 35 U.S.C. §41(a) and 35 U.S.C. §41(b) will be adjusted in accordance with 35 U.S.C. §41(f) to reflect any fluctuations occurring during the previous three years in the CPI.

Non-statutory patent fees established under 35 U.S.C. §41(d) will be adjusted in accordance with §103(b) of Pub. L. 100- to reflect, in the aggregate, any fluctuations occurring during the previous three years (Apr. 1986-Mar. 1989) in the Consumer Price Index, as determined by the Secretary of Labor. Fees established under 35 U.S.C. §376 will be adjusted to recover the full cost of processing under the Patent Cooperation Treaty. International patent fees under 37 CFR §1.492 are related to patent fees established under 35 U.S.C. §41(a) and will be adjusted to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

For fees established under section 31 of the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §1113), the Office is proposing only to reduce the fee for filing an application, per class, and the fee for recording trademark assignments and agreements or other papers relating to the property in a registration or application as fully described above under Supplementary Informtion.

Fee Adjustment Methodology

1. PROJECTED ACTUAL COSTS. The projected actual costs for all fee items wee calculated by applying the principles of OMB Circulars A-25 and A-130.

a. Statutory patent fees were derived by: (1) identifyingthose operational units of the Office involved in, or contributing to, the processing of a patent application through all phases of examination; (2) identifying and certifying actual fiscal year 1987 obligations incurred by the operational units in processing an application; (3) projecting those obligations to the period of Apr. 1989 through Mar. 1992 in accordance with approved budgets and future year budget targets; and (4) increasing the obligations projected for the period of Apr. 1989 through Mar. 1992 by the Administration's estimates for federal pay raise adjustments and projected inflation. Projected actual costs for Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992, $729,810,051 less projected budget authority of $265,834,000, are $463,976,051.

b. For non-statutory patent fees, projected costs for each fee item were established by (1) identifying actual costs for 1987, and (2) projecting actual costs for fiscal years 1988 through Mar. 1992 by applying the Administration's inflation projection of 12.644 percent. This projected actual cost was then multiplied by the projected workload for each fee item. The sum of the projected costs for all fee items is the projected actual cost of operation during the three-year fee cycle. Projected actual costs for Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 are $64,661,341.

c. The same methodologies as described in paragraphs (a) and (b) above were applied to Patent Cooperation Treaty fees. Projected actual costs for Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 are $16,531,990.

d. The same methodology as described in paragraph (b) above was applied to Trademark fees. Projected actual costs for Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 are calculated to be $74,329,783.

2. INCOME PROJECTIONS

a. The maximum amount of statutory fee income that the Office is authorized to recover under 35 U.S.C. §41(f) was calculated as follows.

For each statutory patent fee, the unrounded base (i.e., the 1986 adjusted fee before rounding) was multiplied by the projected CPI fluctuation of 10.303 percent for the three-year period Apr. 1986-Mar. 1989. This amount was then multiplied by the projected workload for Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 to project the income from that fee item during the Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 fee cycle. The sum of the projected incomes from all statutory patent fees is the maximum amount that the Office is authorized by 35 U.S.C. §41(f) to recover during the fee cycle and is equal to $464,676,178.

b. The maximum amount of non-statutory fee income that the Office is authorized to recover under §103(b) of Pub. L. 100- was calculated as follows.

For each non-statutory patent fee, the unrounded base (i.e., the 1986 adjusted fee before rounding) was multiplied by the projected CPI fluctuation of 10.303 percent for the three-year period Apr. 1986-Mar. 1989. This amount was then multiplied by the projected workload for Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 to project the income from that fee item during the Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 fee cycle. The sum of the projected incomes from all non-statutory patent fees is the maximum amount that the Office is authorized by §103(b) of Pub. L. 100- to recover during the fee cycle and is equal to $62,101,874.

c. For Patent Cooperation Treaty fees, the Office is authorized by 35 U.S.C. §376 to recover the full cost of processing under the Treaty. Thus, the projected costs identified in paragraph 1(c) for Patent Cooperation Treaty fees of $16,531,990 would be the maximum level of recovery.

d. The maximum amount of trademark fee income that the Office is authorized to recover under §103(a) of Pub. L. 100- was calculated as follows.

For each trademark fee, the unrounded base (i.e., the 1986 adjusted fee before rounding) was multiplied by the projected CPI fluctuation of 10.303 percent for the three-year period Apr. 1986-Mar. 1989. This amount was then multiplied by the projected workload for Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 to project the income from that fee item during the Apr. 1989-Mar. 1992 fee cycle. The sum of the projected incomes from all trademark fees is the maximum amount that the Office is authorized by §103(a) of Pub. L. 100- to recover during the fee cycle and is equal to $107,704,135.

e. Each statutory patent fee amount identified in paragraph 2(a), and each PCT amount identified in paragraph 2(c) above was rounded according to the de minimis rounding rules described above.

Sections 103(a) and 103(b) of Pub. L. 100- allow the Office to set fees "in the aggregate." The fee amounts proposed for non-statutory patent fees and trademark fees would recover the maximum amount of income determined in paragraph (b) and (d) above.

Each of these fee amounts was multiplied by the projected workload during the fee cycle to project the income from that fee item. The sum of the projected income from all patent fees is $542,281,082, which is the sum of the projected incomes from statutory patent fees, $463,626,421, non-statutory patent fees, $62,047,763, and Patent Cooperation Treaty fees, $16,606,898.

f. The Office reduced two trademark fees, as described above under Supplementary Information. Each trademark fee amount was multiplied by the projected workload during the fee cycle to project the income from that fee item. The sum of the projected income from all trademark fees is projected to be $72,972,690.

Summary:

Fee Category	Projected Cost April - Mar 1992	Maximum Allowable Recovery	Projected Income April 1989 - Mar 1992
Statutory Patent	$463,976,051	$464,676,178	$463,626,421
Non-Statutory Patent	$64,661,341	$62,101,874	$62,047,763
PCT	$16,531,990	$16,531,990	$16,606,898
Total - Patent	$545,169,382	$543,310,042	$542,281,082
Total - Trademarks	$74,329,783	$107,704,135	$72,972,690
Total - All Fees	$619,499,165	$651,014,177	$615,253,772

The unit costs by fee item are summarized in Appendix A. The Office has detailed cost calculation worksheets for each fee item, which are available for public inspection in Suite 904 of Bldg. 2, Crystal Park at 2121 Crystal Dr., Alrington, Va.

It is intended that the amount of any fee due and payable on or after Apr. 1, 1989 is the amount set in this rulemaking. For purposes of determining the amount of the fee to be paid, the date of mailing indicated on a proper Certificate of Mailing, where authorized under 37 CFR 1.8, will be considered to be the date of receipt in the Office. A "Certificate of Mailing under Section 1.8" is not "proper" for items which are specifically excluded from the provisions of §1.8. Section 1.8 should be consulted for those items for which a Certificate of Mailing is not "proper." Such items include, inter alia, the filing of national and international applications for patents and the filing of trademark applications. The provisions of 37 CFG §1.10, relating to filing of papers and fees by "Express Mail" with certificate, however, do apply to any paper or fee (including patent and trademark applications) to be filed in the Office. If an application or fee is filed by "Express Mail" with a certificate of express mailing dated on and after the effective data of the rules, the amount of the fee to be paid is the fee established herein if a change is being made in the fee. In order to ensure clarity in the implementation of the fee proposals, a discussion of specific sections is set forth below.

The provision for color drawings in utility patent applications is in §1.84(p). Although color drawings may be permitted in a utility patent application by petition, copies of printed patents will only be provided in black and white. If a copy of the printed patent with copies of the drawings in color is desired, it must be separately ordered and accompanied by the fee proposed in paragraph (a)(4). The fees proposed in paragraphs (a)(5), (a)(6) and (b)(4) are for expedited processing of copy orders.

The Public Service Window (PSW) in the Patent Public Search Room referred to in proposed new paragraph 37 CFR §1.19(a)(5) is located on the lobby level of Crystal Plaza Building 3. The Office rents numbered lock boxes (delivery boxes) to members of the public for copy order delivery purposes. Members of the public may place coupon orders at the PSW and request that the copies be delivered to their boxes at the PSW. PSW staff members receive and process the coupon orders and forward them to the copy fulfillment contractor. Upon receipt of the copies, PSW staff members place them in the appropriate delivery box for pickup by the box holder.

Section 1.19, paragraph (a), if revised as proposed, would remove the charge for a microfiche copy of a microfiche.

Section 1.20, paragraphs (d) and (h)-(j), if amended as proposed, would adjust patent post-issuance fees established in 35 U.S.C. §41(a) and 35 U.S.C. §41(b) to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

Section 1.20, paragraphs (e)-(g), if amended as proposed, would adjust post-issuance fees authorized by §2 of Publ. L. 96-517, as modified by §404 of Pub. L. 98-622. These fees must be set at a level to eventually recover 25 percent of the estimated cost to the Office of processing patent applications. In order to achieve this level of recovery, these maintenance fees are proposed to be adjusted to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

Section 1.20, paragraph (k), if amended as proposed, would adjust the patent application surcharge fee authorized by §2 of Pub. L. 96-517.

The CopiShare Card referred to in 37 CFR §1.21(g) relates to the photocopiers and reader/printers for use by members of the public in the Office's search facilities. Each photocopier and reader/printer is connected to an access device which affords access to the equipment through the use of a magnetic card which has been encoded with an amount pre-paid by the customer. The access devices, encoding equipment, and magnetic cards comprise an equipment access system called the CopiShare system. The magnetic CopiShare Cards are purchased by the public and encoded with an amount of funds paid to the Office. The customer places the encoded card in the device connected to the photocopier or reader/printer, and a pre-set amount is deducted for each copy produced.

The Office is proposing to authorize the public to use credit cards for the purchase of CopiShare Cards. This will be a pilot program for accepting credit cards for fees, and if feasible, may be extended to other operations of the Office.

Section 1.21(h), if further amended as proposed, would establish one fee for recording each property in an assignment, agreement or other paper relating to the property in a patent or application. The fee reflects increased costs to enhance the processing of assignments.

Section 1.21, if amended as proposed, would add a new paragraph (n) for handling incomplete or improper applications under §§1.53(c), 1.60 or 1.62.

37 CFR §1.26 Refunds.

Section 1.26, if amended as proposed, would change pharagraph (c) to provide for a refund of $1,500 if the Commissioner decides not to institute reexamination proceedings. The $1,500 refund would apply to those instances where the proposed reexamination fee of $1,980 under 37 CFR 1.20(c) was paid. The current $1,300 refund will be made in those cases where the current $1,770 reexamination fee was paid.

37 CFR §1.53 Serial number, filing date, and completion of application.

Section 1.53, if amended as proposed, would establish a procedure whereby the failure to name all the inventors on filing an application, which results in a filing date not being accorded to the application, could be excused upon the filing of a petition satisfactorily explaining the delay. If the petition is granted, the application would be accorded a filing date as of the date the original papers were deposited. No specific provision allowing this relief is now in the rules. Paragraph (c), if amended as proposed, would set forth the procedure which the Office uses to notify an applicant that the names of the inventors have been omitted and would refer to the handling fee set in §1.21, rather than including the fee amount in the rule so as to be consistent with the other rules which refer to fees.

37 CFR §1.55 Claim for foreign priority.

Section 1.55, paragraph (a), if amended as proposed, would refer to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

37 CFR §1.60 Continuation or divisional application for invention disclosed in a prior application.

Section 1.60, if amended as proposed, would require that an applicant, who desires an application under the rule, indicate that the application is being filed pursuant to the rule. Applications which are not specifically designated as being filed under §1.60 or §1.62 are considered as having been filed under §1.53, which does not require an originally executed declaration before a filing date is given. The proposed amendment would also establish a procedure whereby the failure to file a true copy of the prior application or the statement that the papers are a true copy, which results in a filing date not being accorded the application, could be excused upon the filing of a petition satisfactorily explaining the delay in filing these items. If the petition is granted, the application would be accorded a filing date as of the date of deposit of the request for a §1.60 application. No specific provision allowing this relief is now in the rules. Paragraph (c), if added as proposed, would set forth the procedure which the Office uses to notify an applicant that an application filed under paragraph (b) is incomplete and the handling fee which is deducted from the amount refunded if an application is not completed after notice to do so has been given.

37 CFR §1.62 File wrapper continuing procedure.

Section 1.62, if amended as proposed, would specifically state that changes to the prior application must be made by an amendment to the prior application filed in the application under §1.62. An application which includes a copy of the prior application or a new specification is improper under the rule and is not accorded a filing date. This specific statement would hopefully eliminate errors by applicants. The paragraph would also establish a procedure whereby such an error could be excused upon the filing of a petition with instructions to cancel the copy or specification. If the petition is granted, the application would be accorded a filing date as of the date of deposit of the request for a §1.62 application. Paragraph (j), if added as proposed, would set forth the procedure which the Office uses to notify the applicant that an application filed under the section is improper and the handling fee which is deducted from the amount refunded if an application is not corrected after notice to do so has been given.

37 CFR §1.96 Submission of computer program listings.

Section 1.96, if amended as proposed, would include a copy of the microfiche appendix as part of the file wrapper and contents.

37 CFR §1.102 Advancement of examination.

Section 1.102, paragraph (d), if amended as proposed, would refer to the petition fee set forth in proposed new paragraph 1.17(i)(2).

37 CFR §1.103 Suspension of action.

Section 1.103, paragraph (a), if amended as proposed, would refer to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

Section 1.171, if amended as proposed, would refer to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

37 CFR §1.177 Reissue in divisions.

Section 1.177, if amended as proposed, would refere to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

37 CFR §1.296 Withdrawal of request for publication of statutory invention registration.

Section 1.296, if amended as proposed, would adjust the handling fee for withdrawal of a statutory invention registration to reflect fluctuations in the CPI.

37 CFR §1.313 Withdrawal from issue.

Section 1.313, paragraph (a), if amended as proposed, would refer to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

37 CFR §1.314 Issuance of patent.

Section 1.314, if amended as proposed, would refer to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

37 CFR §1.334 Issue of patent to assignee.

Section 1.334, paragraph (c), if amended as proposed, would refer to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

37 CFR §1.445 International application filing and processing fees.

Section 1.445, if amended as proposed, would adjust the fees authorized by 35 U.S.C. §376 for international application processing as set forth in 37 CFR §1.445(a)(2) and (a)(3) to recover the cost to the Office of such processing, as determined by fluctuations in CPI.

37 CFR §1.451 The priority claim and priority document in an international application.

Section 1.451, paragraph (b), if amended as proposed, would refere to the renumbered §1.19(b)(1) and §1.19(b)(6).

37 CFR §1.482 International preliminary examination fees.

Section 1.482, if amended as proposed, would adjust the fees authorized by 35 U.S.C. §376 for international application processing as set forth in 37 CFR §1.482(a) to recover the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing.

37 CFR §1.492 National stage fees.

Section 1.492, if amended as proposed, would adjust the fees authorized by 35 U.S.C. §376 for international application processing as set forth in 37 CFR 1.492(a)-(b) and (d)-(f) to recover the estimated average cost to the Office of such processing as determined by fluctuations in the CPI.

37 CFR §1.666 Filing of interference settlement agreements.

Section 1.666, paragraph (b), if amended as proposed, would refere to the renumbered §1.17(i)(1).

37 CFR §2.6 Trademark fees.

Section 2.6, if amended as proposed, would adjust trademark fees established pursuant to the Trademark (Lanham) Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. §1113), as set forth in paragraphs (a) and (q).

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS: The proposed rule change is in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612, and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. §§3501 et seq. There are no information collection requirements relating to patent fee rules.

The Office has determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that the proposed rule change will not have a significant adverse economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354). The principal impact of the major patent fees has already been taken into account in Pub. L. 99-607, which provided small entities with a 50 percent reduction in the major patent fees. The proposed rule change will adjust fees to reflect the change in the CPI and cost of processing services as provided by statute (35 U.S.C. §41(d) and §41(f)).

The Office has determined that this proposed rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, federal, state, or local government agencies, or geographic regions, because most major fees are being adjusted to reflect changes in the CPI over the past three years. There will be no significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

(206) Guidelines for Extension of Patent Term for New Animal Drugs or Veterinary Biological Products Under 35 U.S.C. 156 as Amended

This notice establishes initial guidelines for patent owners seeking extensions of patent terms for new animal drugs or veterinary biological products pursuant to 35 U.S.C. §156 as amended. See Pub. L. No. 100-670 enacted Nov. 16, 1988. These guidelines are effective until further notice. This notice does not affect the procedures in place for extensions of patent terms for human drug products, food additives, color additives, or medical devices as described in 52 Federal Register 9386 (Mar. 24, 1987) and 1079 Official Gazette 52 (June 23, 1987); this notice relates solely to procedures for extensions of patent terms for new animal drugs and veterinary biological products. In time, the pertinent regulations (37 C.F.R. Part 1, Subpart F) will be changed to encompass all items for which patent term extension is authorized.

A patent owner or its agent should use the guidelines in the various sections below in determining whether a patent is subject to, and meets the conditions for, extension of its term for a new animal drug or a veterinary biological product. If so, the patent owner or its agent should also use the guidelines below in preparing and filing an application for extension of the patent term. If any application for extension of the term of a patent for a new animal drug or a veterinary biological product is filed in accordance with 35 U.S.C. §156 as amended before the date on which this notice is published in the Official Gazette and the application is not in compliance with the requirements of this notice, applicant will be notified of the deficiencies in the application and will be given a period of time within which to correct those deficiencies.

Guidelines

§A. Patents subject to extension of the patent term

(a) Any patent that claims a product as defined in paragraph (b) of this section, or a method of using such a product, or a method of manufacturing such a product, is now subject to being extended under 35 U.S.C. §156 as amended.
(b) The term "product" referred to in paragraph (a) of this section means a new animal drug or veterinary biological product (as those terms are used in the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act and the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act) that is not primarily manufactured using recombinant DNA, recombinant RNA, hybridoma technology, or other processes involving site specific genetic manipulation techniques, including any salt or ester of the active ingredient, as a single entity or in combination with another active ingredient.

§B. Conditions for extension of a term of a patent

The term of a patent may be extended if:

(a) the patent claims a product or a method of using or manufacturing a product as defined in §A of this notice;
(b) the term of the patent has never been previously extended;
(c) an application for extension is submitted pursuant to §D of this notice;
(d) the product has been subject to a regulatory review period as defined in 35 U.S.C. §1.56(g) and by the Secretary of Health and Human Services or the Secretary of Agriculture, as appropriate, before its commerical marketing or use;
(e) the product has received permission for commerical marketing or use and the application is submitted within the sixty day period beginning on the date the product first received permission for commerical marketing or use under the provision of law under which the applicable regulatory review period occurred;
(f) the term of the patent has not expired before the submission of the application pursuant to §D of this notice; and
(g) no other patent has been extended for the same regulatory review period for the product.

§C. Applicant for extension of patent term

Any application for extension of a patent term must be submitted by the owner of record of the patent or its agent as defined in 37 C.F.R. §1.740(b)(1) and must comply with the requirements of §D of this notice.

§D. Application for extension of the term of a patent

(a) An application for extension of the term of a patent must be made in writing to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks. The filing date of an application for an extension of the term of a patent is the date on which the complete application for extension and a duplicate of the papers, certified as such, are received in the Patent and Trademark Office or filed pursuant to the provisions of 37 C.F.R. §§1.8 or 1.10.
(b) A complete application for the extension of the term of a patent comprises:

(1) a complete identification of the product as by appropriate chemical and generic name, physical structure or characteristics;
(2) a complete identification of the Federal statute including the applicable provision of law under which the regulatory review occurred;
(3) an identification of the date on which the product received permission for commerical marketing or use under the provision of law under which the applicable regulatory review period occurred;
(4) an identification of each active ingredient in the product and as to each active ingredient, a statement that it has not been previously approved for commerical marketing or use under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, the Public Health Services Act, or a statement of when the active ingredient was approved for commerical marketing or use (either alone or in combination with other active ingredients), the use for which it was approved, and the provision of law under which it was approved;
(5) a statement that the application is being submitted within the sixty day period permitted for submission pursuant to 37 C.F.R. §1.720(f) and an identification of the last day on which the application may be submitted;
(6) a complete identification of the patent for which an extension is being sought by the name of the inventor(s), the patent number, the date of issue, and the date of expiration;
(7) a copy of the patent for which an extension is being sought, including the entire specification (including claims) and drawings;
(8) a copy of any disclaimer, certificate of correction, receipt of maintenance fee payment, or reexamination certificate issued in the patent;
(9) a statement beginning on a new page that the patent claims the product or a method of using or manufacturing the product, and a showing that lists each applicable patent claim and demonstrates the manner in which each applicable patent claim reads on the product or a method of using or manufacturing the product;
(10) a statement beginning on a new page of the relevant dates and information pursuant to 35 U.S.C. §156(g) to enable the Secretary of Health and Human Services or the Secretary of Agriculture, as appropriate, to determine the applicable regulatory review period as follows:

(i) for a patent claiming an animal drug product, (a) the date a major health or environmental effects test on the drug was initiated and any available substantiation of that date or the date of an exemption under subsection (j) of section 512 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act became effective for such animal drug product, (b) the date on which a new drug application was initially submitted, (c) the number of the application, and (d) the date on which the application was approved; and
(ii) for a patent claiming a veterinary biological product, (a) the date the authority to prepare an experimental biological product under the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act became effective, (b) the date an application for a license was submitted under the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act, and (c) the date the license issued;

(11) a brief description beginning on a new page of the significant activities undertaken by the marketing applicant during the applicable regulatory review period with respect to the product and the significant dates applicable to such activities;
(12) a statement beginning on a new page that in the opinion of the applicant the patent is eligible for the extension and a statement as to the length of the extension claimed, including how the length of the extension was determined;
(13) a statement that applicant acknowledges a duty to disclose to the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks and the Secretary of Health and Human Services or the Secretary of Agriculture, as appropriate, any information that is material to the determination of entitlement to the extension sought;
(14) the prescribed fee for receiving and acting upon the application for extension (see §F of this notice) and an oath or declaration as set forth in paragraph (c) of this section; and
(15) the name, address, and telephone number of the person to whom inquiries and correspondence relating to the application for patent term extension are to be directed.

(c) Any application for extension of the term of a patent submitted pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section must include an oath or declaration signed by the owner of record of the patent or its agent that specifically identifies the application papers and the patent for which an extension is sought and avers that the person signing the oath or declaration:

(1) is the owner, an official of a corporate owner authorized to obligate the corporation, or a patent attorney or agent authorized to practice before the Patent and Trademark Office and who has general authority from the owner to act on behalf of the owner in patent matters;
(2) has reviewed and understands the contents of the application being submitted pursuant to this section;
(3) believes the patent is subject to extension pursuant to §A of this notice;
(4) believes an extension of the length claimed is justified under 35 U.S.C. §156 as amended; and
(5) believes the patent for which the extension is being sought meets the conditions for extension of the term of a patent as set forth in §B of this notice.

(d) If any application for extension of term of the patent submitted pursuant to this section is held to be incomplete, applicant may seek to have that holding reviewed by filing a petition pursuant to 37 C.F.R. § 1.182 within such time as may be set, or if no time is set, within one month of the date on which the application was held incomplete. Compliance with the provisions of these guidelines that are not required by statute may be waived in appropriate circumstances. 37 C.F.R. §1.183.

§E. Interim extension of the term of a patent

An applicant who has filed an application for extension pursuant to §D of this notice may request one or more interim extensions for periods of up to one year pending a final determination on the application. Any such request should be filed at least three months prior to the expiration date of the patent. The Commissioner may issue interim extensions for periods up to one year until a final determination is made without a request by the applicant. In no event will the interim extensions granted under this section be longer than the maximum period of extension to which the applicant would be eligible.

§F. Fee for receiving and acting on an application for extension of the term of a patent

Pursuant to 35 U.S.C. §156(h), the Commissioner has determined that a fee as set forth in 37 C.F.R. §1.20(n) (presently $550.00) is appropriate to cover the costs to the Patent and Trademark Office of receiving and acting upon the applications for extension of the term of a patent filed pursuant to 35 U.S.C. §156 as amended. The fee should accompany the application when filed. If a fee in a different amount is adopted in Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations, applicant will be refunded any excess of the fee or will be required to submit any deficiency in the fee.

§G. Address for application for extension of the term of a patent and communications relating thereto

All applications for extension of the term of a patent and any communications relating thereto intended for the Patent and Trademark Office should be addressed to Box Patent Ext., Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

§H. For further information, contact:

Charles E. Van Horn by telephone at (703) 557-4035 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Summary

The initial guidelines set forth above are considered to be appropriate and authorized by 35 U.S.C. §156 as amended. They will provide appropriate guidance to patent owners and their agents pending appropriate changes that will be made in Title 37 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

TRADEMARK APPLICATION EXAMINATION AND CONTENT

(207) Interviews Involving Trademark Application

Interviews frequently result in a better understanding of the issues involved, shorten the prosecution and facilitate disposal of applications.

Interviews for discussion of registrability of the mark of a pending application will not be had before the first official Office action thereon and ordinarily not before filing the first response. Arrangements for an interview should be made in advance so that the Examiner may review the case and be familiar with the details involved.

Interviews on Friday will no longer be prohibited as a matter of policy but all interviews should be set at a time satisfactory to all parties concerned.

A memorandum summarizing the conclusions reached at the interview should be prepared by the Examiner and placed in the application file. The memorandum will be retained in the application file until the prosecution is completed. Such procedure will not, however, relieve the applicant of the responsibility of complying with the requirements of Trademark Rule 2.62.

(208) Trademark Examining Procedure for Amended Applications; Reporting Oldest Dates of Amended Trademark Applications

Effective immediately, the order in which amendments to trademark applications are examined is changed. Previously, Examiners have usually acted on amended cases in order of filing date of the application which the amendment concerned, i.e., amended cases with the oldest filing date were examined first. Under the new procedure, amended cases will normally be examined in the order in which the amendment or other response is received, i.e., amendments that are received first will normally be examined first.

Effective with this issue of the Official Gazette (Trademark Section) in order to reflect more accurately the condition of division dockets, the column reporting the date of the oldest amended application in each division has been changed to indicate the date of receipt of the oldest filed amendment. Under this new method of reporting the oldest date of receipt of a filed amendment upon which no action has been taken by an Examiner will be indicated for each division of the Trademark Examining Operation.

(209) Trademark Office Actions

Effective immediately Applicants or their attorneys will be provided with only one carbon copy of any office action, and the mailing of an additional carbon copy will be discontinued.

This change is consistent with the current practice in the patent examining operations and should result in greater efficiency in the preparation and mailing of office actions.

(210) Petition to Make Trademark Applications Special

The practice of expediting the prosecution of new trademark applications on request of the applicant (accelerated prosecution) was rescinded, effective Aug. 1, 1971 (36 F.R. 13231, July 16, 1971; 825 O.G. 2). This action was taken after a careful study of the practice, including a recommendation of the Public Advisory Committee for Trademark Affairs that the Patent Office terminate accelerated prosecution of trademark applications. The study considered both the effect of the procedure on the workload of the Trademark Operations and the broader interest of examining trademark applications in an order which is equitable to all applicants.

Since the termination of this practice, the Office has experienced some increase in the number of petitions requesting the Commissioner to invoke his supervisory authority pursuant to Rule 2.146 in order to advance the examination of applications out of their regular order. This was to be expected since applicants who might have been able to show special circumstances entitling them to advanced examination could previously achieve this special treatment without resorting to a petition. However, some of the petitions now being received are not considered sufficient to justify the extraordinary relief of invoking the supervisory authority of the Commissioner for the purpose of advancing the applications out of their regular order.

In particular, a number of such petitions have been based on the ground that the applicant is about to embark on an advertising campaign or to commit advertising or promotional expenditures in which the mark applied for is material. Such a ground is not considered to constitute appropriate circumstances justifying the advancement of the application out of its regular turn and the petitions based on such ground have been and will continue to be denied. The principal reason for the denial is that these circumstances are applicable to a substantial portion of the trademark applications filed in the Patent Office. The supervisory authority of the Commissioner should be exercised only where an extraordinary reason for such action has been disclosed. See Anderson & Dyer v. Lewry, 89 O.G. 1861, 1899 C.D. 230, and Wilputte v. Van Ackeren, 103 USPQ 235. Thus, the extraordinary remedy of invoking the supervisory authority of the Commissioner is not considered appropriate under these circumstances.

In the interest of equitable treatment of all applicants, the policy of the Office in granting such petitions will be restricted to those cases in which particular and very special circumstances exist, such as a demonstrable possibility of loss of substantial rights, rather than circumstances which would be equally applicable to a large number of other applicants for trademark registration.

(211) Title 37—Patents, Trademarks, and Copyrights

Chapter I—Patent Office, Department of Commerce

Parts 2 and 6—Rules of Practice in Trademark Cases

International Trademark Classification

A proposal was published at 37 F.R. 6404 to revise §6.1 of the Rules of Practice in Trademark Cases. The Patent Office proposed to establish the "International Classification of Goods and Services to Which Trademarks Are Applied" (the subject of the "Nice Agreement Concerning the International Classification of Goods and Services for the Purposes of the Registration of Marks" of 1957, as revised at Stockholm on July 14, 1967) as the primary classification of goods and services for registration of trademarks and service marks. Pursuant to the Notice, written comments have been received, and a public hearing was held on June 14, 1972. Full consideration has been given to all matter presented, and changes in the text of the original proposal have been made in view thereof. It has been determined that adoption of the international classification system is desirable.

The Patent Office has studied the international classification and, since Mar. 5, 1968, has indicated the appropriate international class in all publications and on all issued registrations and renewals as a subsidiary classification. Based on this experience and the comments received, it is now believed that adoption of the international schedule as the primary classification system is desirable. The international system is easier to administer because of fewer classes of goods and the availability of an alphabetical listing of goods and services.

The Nice Agreement provides for an International Committee of Experts whose objective is to keep the classification current. The classification of specific goods and services is set forth in the Alphabetical List entitled "International Classification of Goods and Services to Which Trademarks Are Applied" (published by the World Intellectual Property Organization). In addition, the International Trademark Classification List contains the names of the classes setting forth the basic contents of each class. The Alphabetical List also comprises explanatory notes which serve as guidelines for determining the appropriate international class for a specific product or service.

The alphabetical listing within the International Trademark Classification Manual is currently used by the Office as a guideline for determining the degree of particularity of identification of goods. See "Identification of Goods and Services in Trademark Applications," 36 F.R. 13232; July 16, 1971.

Applications for registrations filed on or after Sept. 1, 1973, and registrations issuing thereon, will be classified according to the international classification set forth in the new §6.1. Accordingly, the international classification is adopted under Section 30 of the Trademark Act of all purposes under the statute and rules; and, therefore, will be the criterion for determining, inter alia, fees.

Applications for the registration of marks filed on or before Aug. 31, 1973, appeals or petitions to revive or oppositions filed in connection with said applications, and affidavits, renewals and petitions for cancellation filed in connection with registrations issuing thereon, will continue to be processed under the classification system existing at the time the mark was registered.

All applications which are published and registrations which are issued will carry both the appropriate international classification and existing U.S. classification number.

An insufficient fee, in connection with an appeal or opposition on any application or in connection with an affidavit or renewal filed in connection with any registration, will not render the same unacceptable, if the proper fee is submitted within a time limit set forth in a notification of the defect, providing the proper fee for at least one class has been originally submitted within the applicable time limit. This will be the case even if the full fee is not received within the sixth year in the case of an affidavit filed under Section 8 or before the end of the twentieth year, including the grace period, in the case of renewal applications, or within the six-month statutory response period in the case of an appeal, or within the thirty-day opposition period, or any extension thereof in the case of the filing of an opposition.

The existing classification system will continue to be used for searching registered and pending marks until all documents in the search file are organized on the basis of the international system of classification. Until this changeover is effected, the U.S. class designation will continue to be printed on all published applications and registrations issued under the existing or the international classification system to facilitate searching on the basis of the existing U.S. system of classification.

Until all applications filed on or before Aug. 31, 1973, have been disposed of, the trademark sections of the Official Gazette, which are organized by class, will include two sections: one for applications published or registrations issued on the basis of applications filed on or before Aug. 31, 1973, organized by class according to the U.S. schedule of classes; the other section for applications published or registrations issued on the basis of applications filed on or after Sept. 1, 1973, organized by class according to the new international schedule.

Certification marks and collective membership marks will continue to be classified as set forth in redesignated §§6.3 and 6.4.

Efforts will be made to have the International Trademark Classification List printed by the Government Printing Office or otherwise assure the availability of the List from local sources. Notification will appear in the Official Gazette when the List is available from local sources of the Government Printing Office.

The English edition of the "International Classification of Goods and Services to Which Trademarks Are Applied" can presently be ordered from:

Sales Branch, The Patent Office, Block C
Station Square House, St. Mary Cray
Orpington, Kent, England

Certain modifications and additions to the international trademark classification have been published as supplements and are also available from the British Office. In addition, and inasmuch as the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) has issued the List in several languages, it is anticipated that an English version will be published by that organization.

We have been advised by the Patent Office of the United Kingdom that the only acceptable methods of payment for the International Trademark Classification List are by International Postal Money Order or by banker's draft payable in sterling and drawn on a bank in the United Kingdom.

(212) Wording In Verification or Declaration of Trademark Application

Applicants and attorneys are requested to use the following wording in the part of the verification or declaration of the trademark application which indicates the signer's belief that the mark applied for does not resemble another person's mark:

> —that no other person, firm, corporation, or association, to the best of his knowledge and belief, has the right to use such mark in commerce either in the identical form thereof or in such near resemblance thereto as to be likely, when applied to the goods of such other person, to cause confusion, or cause mistake, or to deceive:—

The wording emphasized conforms to the language of both Sections 1(a)(1) and 2(d) of the Trademark Act of 1946.

Some applicants and attorneys, instead of using the wording emphasized above, are still using the now obsolete wording "as might be calculated to deceive" which was promulgated in the forms under the Trademark Act of 1905 and inadvertently continued by the Act of 1946 up to October 1962 in Section 1(a)(1) and in the forms connected with the Act. Section 1(a)(1) of the 1946 Act was amended by Act of October 9, 1962 (Public Law 772, 87th Congress, 76 Stat. 769) to conform it to the language of Section 2(d) of the 1946 Act, since the language of Section 2(d) reflects the thinking at the time the 1946 Act was written. The wording of the trademark forms for the 1946 Act has also been amended appropriately.

It is desirable that proper wording be used. However, since the differences in wording referred to above are considered to be differences of form rather than of substance. Examiners will not require new verifications or declarations. When the obsolete wording is observed and a letter is to be written for other reasons, Examiners will at that time call attention to the fact that the wording is obsolete and should be modified in applications in the future.

(213) Standardized Disclaimers

Beginning with the Nov. 9, 1982 issue of the Official Gazette, disclaimers in marks published for opposition and in those registered on the Supplemental Register will be printed in a standardized form, regardless of the text submitted. Certificates of registration for marks issued on the Supplemental Register will also contain the standardized disclaimer as of that date. Certificates of registration for marks issued on the Principal Register will contain the uniform statement beginning Feb. 1, 1983. The disclaimed matter will be taken from the disclaimer of record and inserted into a standardized disclaimer for printing and data base purposes. The new disclaimer text will take the following form:

No claim is made to the exclusive right to use ——, apart from the mark as shown.

(214) Trademark "Revivals" and "Reinstatements"

It would be of great assistance to the Office if the heading or caption of "Petitions to Revive" or "Requests for Reinstatement" of abandoned trademark applications carried the following identifying data:

1. Address Paper to the Attention of:
   Office of Director, Trademark Examining Operation
2. Serial Number
3. Mark
4. Applicant's Name
5. A title indicating the nature of the paper

Use of this heading for "Petitions to Revive" or "Requests for Reinstatement" of abandoned trademark applications will help ensure that the papers are promptly routed to the proper Office, which will prevent needless delay in its consideration.

(215) T-Search Printouts as Section 2(d) References

As part of its ongoing automation program, the PTO is pleased to announce that on or about July 1, 1986, Trademark Examining Attorneys will use the automated Trademark search system (T-Search) exclusively for searching word marks. The Examining Attorneys will use computer printouts to advise applicants about Section 2(d) references. The printouts will include computer-generated facsimiles of the drawing where appropriate. The printouts will be used for word marks, whether the word is depicted in a typed drawing or in stylized form. Photocopies of certificates of registration will continue to be used for design marks.

The Patent and Trademark Office, in consultation with the Public Advisory Committee for Trademark Affairs, has established accuracy standards for the computerized data. Data elements which are not essential for examiner searching are being systematically checked and corrected. The following data elements which are essential for examiner searching purposes are essentially complete:

1. MARK
2. SERIAL NUMBER
3. REGISTRATION NUMBER
4. FILING DATE
5. REGISTRATION DATE
6. GOODS AND SERVICES
7. INTERNATIONAL CLASS
8. U.S. CLASS

Subject to the above caveat, the printouts will contain all the information that appears on the certificate of registration with one exception. If an application for registration was based on Section 44, 15 U.S.C. 1126, the printout will indicate that the registration or application was filed under the provisions of Section 44 (using the notation "SECT 44"). The printout will also show the priority date if the application was filed under the provisions of Section 44(d). However, it will not indicate the country or certificate number of the foreign registration on which the U.S. registration was based.

The printouts will also contain additional registration information which was not provided under the non-automated system, as follows:

A. Change in registration—This will indicate that a registration was changed after registration, such as by an amendment of the mark or identification of goods/services. The current information will be displayed in the printout.

B. Affidavits—This indicates that a Section 8 affidavit of continued use was accepted, that a Section 15 affidavit of incontestability was acknowledged, or that a mark was republished under the provisions of Section 12(c).

C. Renewals—Applicable renewal information, such as "1st Renewal" or "2nd Renewal" will be shown.

D. Owner—In addition to listing the original registrant, the last known owner, as the change of ownership is acknowledged by the Office by virtue of examining an affidavit or renewal, will be included.

The following provides an explanation of the terms/symbols used in the printout:

1. Goods or services appearing in double parentheses "(( ))" were not included in a Section 15 affidavit.
2. Goods or services appearing in brackets "[ ]" were deleted after registration by amendment, correction, restriction or at the time of renewal.
3. Dates will appear as year, month and day. For example, June 20, 1983 will appear as 1983.06.20.
4. Goods and services will be indicated with the international class (IC), the prior U.S. classification (US), the identification, date of first use and date of first use in commerce.
5. Registrants (OWNER) will be listed showing the owner's name, entity designation (e.g., individual, partnership, corporation), country of citizenship or state or country of incorporation, and address.
6. Pseudo mark—This material is merely a search aid and has no bearing on the registration information.
7. Design search code—This is also merely an aid for computerized searching of design marks, by which a number is assigned to describe a particular design element. It has no bearing on the registration information.
8. Mark drawing code—This indicates the appearance of the mark, and again is not part of the registration data. There are six mark drawing codes.

   1—typed drawing
   2—design only
   3—words, letters and/or numbers and design
   4—words, letters and/or number in block form (block letters; not typed drawing)
   5—words, letters and/or numbers in a stylized form
   6—sound marks

An example of a computer printout and a facsimile of a stylized word mark follow.

TRADEMARK POST REGISTRATION

(216) Trademark Rule 2.165 Requirement Where A Section 8 Affidavit Or Declaration Is Held Insufficient

Several recent Petitions to the Commissioner have indicated a failure on the part of registrants and their attorneys to follow the requirements of Trademark Rule 2.165. Therefore, reviewing certain basic elements of this rule is considered timely so as to alert registrants and attorneys to technical errors which might lead to the cancellation of a valuable trademark registration.

Part (a) of Rule 2.165 indicates that the examiner will notify the registrant when an affidavit or declaration of use under Section 8 of the Statute is insufficient and the reasons therefor. When the registrant wishes the examiner to reconsider the affidavit or declaration, or when the registrant has taken additional steps to rectify the deficiencies and desires to have the examiner reconsider the affidavit or declaration in light of those steps, the request for reconsideration must be submitted within 6 months of the date of mailing of the notice of insufficiency.

Note, however, that a supplemental or substitute affidavit or declaration required by Section 8 cannot be considered unless it is received before the expiration of the six year anniversary of the registration. Consequently, registrants should file their affidavits as early as possible during the sixth year following registration.

There are situations where correcting the deficiency in the affidavit or declaration requires recording an assignment with the Assignment Division of this Office. If the recording cannot be completed within 6 months, the registrant must at least respond to the examiner's notice of insufficiency within that period. The response must indicate the steps being taken to correct the deficiency. The examiner can then allow the registrant additional time or suspend action depending on the circumstances. Registrants must always observe the "six month response" period whenever responding to the examiner from an adverse action.

Part (b) of Rule 2.165 permits a registrant to request the Commissioner to review the action of the examiner when he is dissatisfied with that action. Review by the Commissioner should be sought only where it is believed that the examiner has erred in his action. In other words, the Commissioner's role is to review the correctness of the examiner's action and not to serve as an alter ego of the examiner before whom the registrant may seek to correct deficiencies.

When review by the Commissioner has been sought, the decision on that request constitutes the final action of the Patent and Trademark Office. If no review by the Commissioner is sought and if no request for reconsideration of an examiner's action is timely filed, the Commissioner will notify the registrant of the deficiency in the affidavit or declaration after the sixth year has expired. Such notice is never mailed prior to the expiration of the sixth year following registration nor until a reasonable time has elapsed following a six month period from the last action mailed by this Office. This notice constitutes the final action of the Patent and Trademark Office in those cases where the Commissioner's review has not been sought. Once this notice has been mailed, it is too late (under the Rules of Practice) to request the Commissioner to review the action of the examiner. Review would only be proper if an affiant could show circumstances sufficient to suspend the finality element of Rule 2.165(b) pursuant to Rule 2.148.

Registrants will be held to strict compliance with Rule 2.165 as it has been briefed above. Therefore, parties are urged to respond fully as soon as possible after an action is received from the examiner.

(217) Late-Filed Renewal Fees

Sections 9 and 31 of the Lanham Act (15 U.S.C. §§1095 and 1113) require that an additional five dollar ($5.00) fee be submitted by a registrant who files a renewal application during the three-month period following expiration of its registration. The language of the statute requires that this additional fee be submitted within the three-month grace period. A number of registrants who have failed to submit the additional fee within the prescribed period have petitioned the Commissioner to allow their renewal applications. The Commissioner has granted petitions of this kind where the registrant or its attorney maintained a Patent and Trademark Office deposit account which contained, on the date the renewal application was filed, sufficient funds to cover the additional fee. Specifically, the Commissioner has exercised discretion under Trademark Rules 2.146(a)(3) and 2.147 to deem the authorizations to charge the deposit accounts to have taken place at the time the registrants filed their renewal applications, even though the authorizations were not confirmed until a later date. This Office policy was established by the Commissioner's decision in In re Ralston Purina Co., 191 USPQ 154 (Comr. Pats. 1976).

The policy established by the Ralston Purina decision is being changed. Henceforth, the Commissioner will no longer exercise discretion to charge deposit accounts nunc pro tunc for trademark renewal application fees. To allow an authorization to charge a deposit account to relate back to a date on which no actual authorization existed is, in effect, to allow late payment. It is inequitable to permit those registrants who have deposit accounts (or those whose attorneys have such accounts) to make late payment of renewal fees, while those without deposit accounts may not.

Petitions relying on Ralston Purina will, after the date of this notice, be denied, unless the events that gave rise to those petitions occurred before publication of this notice.

(218) Renewal Applications and Section 8 Affidavits

There has been a noticeable increase in the number of petitions requesting provisional acceptance of defectively executed Section 8 Affidavits and Renewal Applications under 35 U.S.C. §26, the most common problem being a lack of notarization or a Rule 2.20 declaration. Often, such petitions are necessitated by the failure of registration owners to file the documents early enough to leave time in which to correct should they prove defective.

Section 8 Affidavits may be filed beginning with the fifth anniversary of the registration. The period for filing expires on the sixth anniversary of the registration. The period for filing Renewal Applications begins six months before the twentieth anniversary of the registration and extends three months beyond the expiration of the twenty year term. While the Post Registration Division may allow up to six months to respond to a notice of defect, it may not allow corrective action beyond the period for filing established by the Trademark Act. It is therefore in the registrant's best interest to file such documents as close to the opening date as possible to allow time for correction, if necessary. Provisional acceptance under 35 U.S.C. §26 has been, and will continue to be, given narrow application. Registrants should not rely on 35 U.S.C. §26 as a means of acquiring an extension of time.

We have also become aware of many delays caused by defects in the chain of title. Registrants are encouraged to keep Patent and Trademark Office assignment records current with regard to ownership of registrations.

The filing of Post Registration documents at the earliest date and maintenance of assignment records will help to avoid the cancellation or expiration of registrations of trademarks currently in use, and will result in a savings of time and expense for both the registrant and the Patent and Trademark Office.

(220) Expedited Service for Certified Copies of Trademark Registrations

On Oct. 4, 1986, expedited service for obtaining certified copies of trademark registrations will be available to the public. The cost of obtaining a certified copy showing title and/or status will be $10.00 plus $25.00 for the expedited service for a total of $35.00 per copy; a certified copy of the registered mark, not showing title or status, will be $5.00 plus $25.00 for expedited service for a total of $30.00. Requests received in the Post-Registration Section of the Trademark Services Division, Crystal Plz. 2–4C24, before 12:00 noon on U.S. Patent and Trademark Office scheduled work days will be filled within three work days.

Requests for expedited service which are hand carried to the Post-Registration Section located in Crystal Plz. 2–4C24 will be available for pickup at the same location after 12:00 noon three work days later. Requests for expedited service which are mailed to the Patent and Trademark Office will be processed and mailed back to the requester three work days after they are received in the Post-Registration Section from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office mail room. All requests for expedited service will be machine stamped when received in the Post-Registration Section and machine stamped upon completion by the Post-Registration Section.

Anyone requesting expedited service will be limited to five registration numbers per day. Limits on the number of registrations being certified are needed in order to ensure that service is not disrupted for routine requests for certified copies. The guarantee of service in three work days is based on the ability of the Post-Registration Section to process up to 1,000 expedited copies out of an average of 16,000 copies processed each year.

Inquiries about the service should be addressed to:

(221) Helpful Hints

- Trademark Post Registration - Failure to Specify Type of Commerce in Section 8 Affidavits or Declarations — Section 8(a) of the Trademark Act requires that before the end of the sixth year following registration, an affidavit must be filed showing that the "mark is in use in commerce." [15 U.S.C. 1058a].

  The Trademark Rules require that all Section 8(a) affidavits or declarations "state that the registered mark is in use in commerce and specify the nature of such commerce." [37 C.F.R. Section 2.162(e)].

  The affidavit or declaration must be filed between the fifth and sixth year following the date of registration and it must contain a statement that the "mark is in use in commerce," with evidence thereof. There may be no extensions of time beyond the sixth year for submission of this statement and evidence of use of the mark in commerce. However, if the timely-filed affidavit or declaration does not set forth the type of commerce, the registrant will be given six months to submit that information even though the sixth year may have expired. The rules do not provide for any further extensions of time beyond the six months. (Carlisle Walters, 703-557-3061)

- Backlogs in Trademark Renewals and Section 8 Affidavits and Declarations — Registrants are advised that a backlog currently exists in the processing of Trademark Renewals and Section 8 affidavits and declarations. While the Patent and Trademark Office conducts a preliminary review of critical elements in order to notify registrants of statutory deficiencies prior to the expiration of the statutory period for the submission of required documents, the ultimate responsibility for complying with the requirements of the statute and the rules rests with the registrant. (223) Initial Processing of Application

On Feb. 1, 1972, the operations of the Trademark Application Section of the Patent Office will be reorganized. The purpose of the reorganization is to provide the public and applicants with more current information concerning newly filed applications.

The prompt initial processing of trademark applications is necessary in order to fulfill one of the main Patent Office functions, that of producing a record, accessible to the public, of new trademark activity to facilitate the clearance of new marks for use, determine the registrability of proposed marks, and avoid conflicts with the rights of others. In order to maintain a record of marks applied for which reflects the most current information available to the Office concerning them, the early processing of drawings in order to have them placed in the search room is considered as a first priority. The processing of these drawings includes the assignment of serial numbers, initial classification, duplication of the drawing and the forwarding of copies of the drawing to the search room. Other functions which are necessary in the processing of applications, such as the processing and mailing of filing receipts, are secondary to the processing of drawings.

In past years, there have been delays in processing applications and forwarding application drawings to the search room. These delays have varied from several weeks to several months. In view of the importance, both to applicants and the public, of recording essential information concerning newly filed applications as quickly as possible, a reorganization of the workflow in the Application Section is being effected.

There is no change in the processing of applications through the mail room and finance branch to the Application Section. However, under the new plan, upon receipt in the Trademark Application Section, all applications will be stamped with a serial number, and the drawing of the mark will be reproduced immediately and placed in the search file. This processing will occur as soon as the application files reach the Application Section. Such procedures as determining whether or not an application will receive a filing date, preparation of the file jackets, and mailing of the filing receipt will take place at a later time.

Applicants who wish to be notified promptly of the date their papers were received in the office and their serial number, may send two self-addressed postcards with their application papers. The mail room will stamp both postcards with the date of receipt and return one to the applicant; the second postcard will be stamped with the serial number and forwarded to the applicant from the Application Section. The postcards should contain the applicant's name and the trademark which is the subject of the application. When more than one set of application papers are forwarded under one cover, postcards should be attached to each set of papers for which a receipt is desired.

Under the new system of processing application papers, your particular attention is directed to the following changes as compared to the present procedure.

1. Application drawings will be placed in the public search file prior to the mailing of the filing receipt.

2. By using the postcard system described above, applicants will be notified sooner of the date of receipt of their papers and the serial number of their application. Applicants are encouraged to use the postcard system.

3. Additional papers sent in by the applicant or attorney should be identified by serial number, thereby enabling the office to process these papers quickly.

4. When an application is accompanied by a petition to the Commissioner under §2.146, the petition will not be considered until processing by the Application Section is complete.

Effective date. The procedure outlined in this notice will become effective Feb. 1, 1972.

(224) Mail Delays and Petitions to Revive (Trademarks)

Since applications that become abandoned unintentionally present burdens to both the Patent office and the applicant, a simplified procedure has been devised to alleviate these burdens when the abandonment results from a delay in the mails. This procedure (which is similar to the procedure adopted for patent applications at 910 O.G. 402 and 910 O.G. TM 76) provides for an automatic petition to revive.

When a trademark communication which falls within the circumstances enumerated below is mailed to the Patent Office more than three full days prior to the due date, a conditional petition may be attached to the communication. If the communication is received in the Patent Office after the due date and the application becomes abandoned, the conditional petition will become effective, subject to the following requirements. The petition must include (1) an authorization to charge a deposit account for any required fees, including the petition fee, and (2) an oath or declaration signed by the person mailing the communication and also signed by the applicant or his attorney stating that the communication and petition were either placed in the United States mail as first class or air mail or placed in the mail outside the United States as air mail. Since mail handled in this manner may reasonably be expected to reach the Patent Office by the due date, any mail delays beyond such time will be considered to constitute unavoidable delay and sufficient cause to grant a petition to revive (Section 12(b) of the Trademark Act of 1946).

The circumstances under which this procedure may be used are those where the communication, if timely filed, (1) would be a proper and complete response to an action or request by the Patent Office, and (2) would stop a period for response from continuing to run. Accordingly, this procedure would be appropriate for:

1. A response to a non-final Office action.
2. A response to a final Office action which places the application in condition for publication or issue.
3. A notice of appeal and requisite fee.
4. An appeal brief.

(Location) (Name of individual)

In the event that such communication is not timely filed in the Patent Office, it is requested that this paper be treated as a petition to revive and that the delay in prosecution be held unavoidable.

The petition fee is authorized to be charged to Deposit Account No. _____ in the name of _____.

The undersigned declares further that all statements made herein of his own knowledge are true, and that all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further that these statements were made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both, under Section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the application or document or any registration resulting therefrom.

(226) Requests for Information on Status of Trademark Registrations

The purpose of this notice is to explain the circumstances in which the Trademark Examining Operation can respond to written and telephone requests for information about the status of trademark registrations. Only limited information can be provided by telephone.

I. Orders for "Status" Copies

The most reliable means of obtaining status information concerning a registration is a written order for a "status" copy of the registration. Status copies show whether affidavits have been filed under Sections 8 and 15, whether the registration has been renewed or cancelled, and whether certain other actions have been taken with respect to the registration. The charge for copies of registrations showing status and/or title, if not certified, is $6.50, effective Oct. 1, 1982. The charge for a certified copy showing status and/or title is $10.00 effective the same date.

II. Telephone Information Available from the Search Library

If the caller has the registration number, he or she may leave a request for status information on an automatic answering machine in the Trademark Search Library (Search Room) at 703–557–3282. The Search Library staff will call back with the information requested within one working day. Callers are asked to limit their requests to two registration numbers per day.

The Search Library staff is not permitted to make "searches" to determine if particular marks are in the Office's search files. Neither is the staff able to supply information as to the ownership or assignment of registrations, or to read over the telephone lengthy passages of a registration, such as the identification of goods or services.

III. Telephone Information on Receipt of Section 8 and 15 Affidavits and Renewal Applications

The Post Registration Section can be reached by calling 703–557–2923. The staff of this section can advise only on whether an affidavit or a renewal application has or has not been received. Inquiries as to whether affidavits and renewals have been accepted should be directed to the Search Library.

(227) Transmittals for Use of Deposit Accounts

When statutory fees are to be charged to a deposit account, the processing of the application can be facilitated by submitting the applicant's transmittal letter or other correspondence specifying the account to be charged in triplicate. Submission of these documents in triplicate will eliminate the need for the Mail Room to photocopy the document and thereby reduce the processing time of incoming mail.

(228) Helpful Hints From The PTO

- Data To Be Included on Patent and Trademark Papers Filed In The PTO In Response To Office Actions—Perhaps the greatest cause of delay and wasted time in the support sections of the PTO is in trying to match papers bearing incorrect or incomplete data with applications. Because some Trademark Papers are not clearly identified as pertaining to Trademark applications, they are frequently misrouted to the Patent Examining Groups.

On all papers related to Patent applications, type the word "PATENT" in the upper right-hand corner of the document. Also, please include the correct serial number, filing date, inventor's name, and title of the invention. Additionally, include the examiner's name, and group art unit number or other identifying data found on the most recent letter from the PTO. (37 CFR 1.1(a)).

However, please note that an organizational restructuring of the Patent Examining Corps has resulted in many applications being reassigned to new Groups and Art Units. Your attention is directed to the NOTICE OF CHANGES IN THE PATENT EXAMINING CORPS that appeared in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE on June 26, 1984, (1043 OG 23), which identifies the Group Art Unit of each examiner (1043 OG 40 through 1043 OG 67). Letters mailed from the Groups after Apr. 15, 1984, should reflect the current identifying data.

For all papers related to Trademark applications, type the word "TRADEMARK" in the upper right-hand corner of the document. Also, please set forth the applicatant's name, correct serial number (including the series number which currently is "73"), filing date, law office, examining attorney and mark.

Documents for which no fee is required at the time of filing (e.g., amendments to applications and requests for extensions of time to file an opposition) continue to be addressed:

Box 5
Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
Washington, D.C. 20231

Mail directed to the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board should have mark "Attention: TTAB" on the envelope in additon to "Box 5."

- Mailing Responses To The PTO—In general, it would eliminate or greatly reduce processing steps by the

PTO support staff, and will avoid interruption of the examiner's work, if a few simple, general rules were followed in regard to mailing of the responses to the PTO:

1. After a Patent or Trademark application is filed, please avoid filing additional papers (other than those requesting a filing receipt or those required by the Office) until the filing receipt or return post card identifying the Serial Number and Patent Examining Group Art Unit or Trademark Law Office has been received.
2. In Patent applications, requests for extensions of time, changes of address, proposed drawing corrections, and petitions are sometimes incorporated in the remarks section or at the beginning of papers entitled "Amendment" or "Response." In Trademark applications, change of address and powers of attorney are sometimes incorporated in the remarks section or at the beginning of papers entitled "Amendment" or "Response". Please present such items in separate papers, appropriately titled, since they are all handled by different personnel (37 CFR 1.4(c)). However, please include a statement in the amendment/response describing the paper being filed.
3. Where a supplemental or preliminary amendment is found necessary in Patent or Trademark applications, please telephone the examiner and request that the examiner delay action for a certain time in order to avoid crossing in the mails of the amendment and the Office action.
4. File Patent and Trademark documents which have no particular time or sequence requirement, with materials submitted in response to the statutory or regulatory requirements. Examples are certified copies of foreign documents to support priority and formal drawings in Patent applications or changes in Power of Attorney or Mailing Address following first action.
5. If a disclosure statement is to be filed before an Office action, file it when the application is filed. Some Group Art Units have greatly reduced the pendency to first action. Hence, many examiners are taking up new applications before an information statement is matched with the application.

(229) Published Trademark Applications

Papers which are filed in the Patent and Trademark Office in connection with published trademark application files should be captioned to the attention of the Trademark Quality Review Clerk and addressed as follows:

Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
Attention Box 5, Trademark Quality Review Clerk
Washington, D.C. 20231

This mailing should be used only for papers filed after publication but before issuance of the registration. This could include corrections to information which appears to have been inadvertently or incorrectly published in the Trademark Official Gazette, as well as changes of attorney or address papers or notification of filing an assignment. Corrections to information published in the TMOG must be received in the Office before the registration is issued.

Use of this mailing address for corrections will help ensure that such papers are properly routed within the Office. Telephone inquiries concerning corrections or other matters in relation to published trademark applications should be directed to (703) 557–4249.

(230) Notices of Abandonment

The Trademark Operation has begun notifying trademark applicants when their pending applications have been abandoned by the Office. Under this new procedure, a computer-generated post card bearing the notice, serial number, applicant name and abandonment date will be sent to the correspondence address designated by the applicant. The post cards will be mailed within 2 to 4 weeks after the application is declared abandoned.

(231) Change of Correspondence Address in Trademark Applications

Applicants are reminded that when an application is filed and a correspondence address is entered in the Official record, correspondence will continue to be sent to such address until the applicant or party, or the attorney-at-law or other authorized representative of the applicant or party, indicates in writing that correspondence is to be sent to another address. 37 CFR Section 2.18. The filing of a response to an Office action on letterhead stationery that indicates a different address from the correspondence address of record is insufficient notice that correspondence is to be sent to another address. Specific language is needed which can reasonably be interpreted to be a request to change the address. See TMEP Section 603.

If a power of attorney has been filed in an application, a subsequently filed power of attorney will be regarded as a written request to change the correspondence address, even if there is no specific language changing the address or revoking the prior power of attorney. See TMEP Section 603.

(232) Use of Restricted Deposit Account for Electronic Ordering of Patent and Trademark Copies

Effective July 1, 1986, the restricted deposit account will be made available to those members of the public who wish to use it for electronic ordering of patent and trademark copies. The restricted deposit account requires maintenance of a minimum balance of $300.00 at the end of each month, as compared to the unrestricted account which requires a minimum balance of $1,000.00

In FY 1986, the Office established the restricted deposit account for use in charging subscriptions for copies of newly issued patents by subject matter classification. Establishment of a PTO deposit account is a prerequisite for subscription service.

Recently, the Office established an electronic ordering service (EOS), a method of ordering copies of patents and trademarks through the use of a computer terminal and modem. EOS is available only to PTO deposit account holders.

Many people who are interested in using EOS to order copies of patents and trademarks and who do not have PTO deposit accounts find the $1,000.00 balance required for the unrestricted account prohibitive. Therefore, the use of restricted account is being expanded to incorporate EOS ordering. Subscriptions and EOS ordering are the only two services for which restricted accounts may be used. If you have any questions on subscriptions or EOS, please call Mary Brown on (703) 557–3236. If you have questions on deposit accounts, please call Delores Riley on (703) 557–3227.

(234) Filing of a Notice of Appeal to the Federal Circuit and Service of Court Papers on the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks

1. Service of court papers

This notice supersedes the Solicitor's Notice of Sept. 10, 1982 [1023 Official Gazette 3 (Oct. 5, 1982)].

Court papers may be served on the Solicitor in the following manner:

A. By hand between 8:30 A.M. and 5:00 P.M. at the Office of the Solicitor located in Crystal Plz., Bldg. No. 2, 2011 Jefferson Davis Hwy., 5th Fl., Rm. 5–C–15, Arlington, Va.

B. By mail in an envelope addressed as follows:

Office of the Solicitor
P.O. Box 15667
Arlington, Va. 22215.

Court papers mailed to an address other than the Solicitor's service address above, or hand-delivered to the Office of the Solicitor, are deemed to be served when actually received in the Office of the Solicitor.

Papers which are not court papers and are intended to be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office in connection with an application or other proceeding pending in the Office should not be mailed to the Solicitor's mail service address. Any such papers which are mailed to the Solicitor's mail service address will not be filed in the Office and will be returned. No exceptions will be made to this policy.

2. Filing of a notice of appeal to the Federal Circuit

A notice of appeal from a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in an ex parte or inter partes patent matter or a decision of the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board in an ex parte or inter partes trademark matter must be timely filed.

A certificate of mailing under 37 CFR §1.8 cannot be used for the purpose of effecting "filing" of a notice of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. In re Thrifty, 231 USPQ 560 (Comm'r. Pat. 1986), mandamus denied mem., Misc. No. 137 (Fed. Cir. Nov. 21, 1986) (unpublished). Thus, a notice of appeal which reaches the Patent and Trademark Office after the due date, is not considered to be timely filed, even though mailed prior to the due date with a certificate of mailing under 37 CFR §1.8.

A notice of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit may be filed in the Patent and Trademark Office in any of the following ways:

A. By mail addressed as follows, in which case the notice of appeal must actually reach the Patent and Trademark Office by the due date:

Box 8
Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
Washington, D.C. 20231
Attention: Office of the Solicitor

B. By "Express Mail" (U.S. Postal Service only) under 37 CFR §1.10 addressed as follows, in which case the notice of appeal is deemed filed on the date of the Express Mail certificate:

Box 8
Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
Washington, D.C. 20231
Attention: Office of the Solicitor

C. By hand to the Office of the Solicitor.

A notice of appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit should not be mailed to the Solicitor's mail service address.

JOSEPH F. NAKAMURA,
June 8, 1987. Solicitor.

(235) HELPFUL HINTS

• Correspondence with Certificate of Mailing Delivered by Commerical Carrier — The benefits of 37 CFR 1.8 or 1.10 apply only to documents delivered to the PTO by the U.S. Postal Service.

A number of instances have been uncovered where individuals are certifying that documents were deposited with the U.S. Postal Service when, in fact, the documents were hand carried or delivered to the PTO via commerical mail service, e.g., "Federal Express," "DHL," "Purolator," "Air Borne," "UPS'," etc. In those instances where documents include a certificate of mailing under 37 CFR 1.8 or 1.10, but were delivered to the PTO by other than U.S. Postal Service, Mail Room personnel are placing a notice indicating that fact on the correspondence involved to alert PTO personnel that the benefits of 37 CFR 1.8 or 1.10 do not apply.

(236) Appeals to CAFC

In every case of an appeal to the CAFC from a decision of the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board, a copy of the notice of appeal should be separately transmitted to the Office of the Solicitor at the time the original notice is filed with the Commissioner. The Solicitor's copy should be sent in an envelope addressed as follows:

Box 8
Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
Washington, D.C. 20231
Attn: Office of the Solicitor

In lieu of mailing, the copy for the Solicitor may be hand-delivered to the Office of the Solicitor. Sending a copy of the notice of appeal to the Solicitor's Office will prevent or reduce delays in docketing appeals in the CAFC.

July 17, 1987. DONALD W. PETERSON,
Deputy Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

[1081 TMOG 5]

(237) HELPFUL HINTS

• Certificate of Mailing AND Return Post Card — Use of the Certificate of Mailing Procedure is strongly encouraged.

37 CFR 1.8(a) provides for the use of a Certificate of Mailing on most correspondence with the PTO, whereby the correspondence (and/or fee) will be considered as timely filed if deposited with the U.S. Postal Service within the set time period. Consistent use of this procedure is extremely beneficial to practitioners, whether or not the Post Card Receipt provision of MPEP 503 is used.

In those instances where the PTO never receives the correspondence, no post card receipt will be available to evidence the filing and/or timeliness of the correspondence. However, in those instances where a Certificate of Mailing is properly used, 37 CFR 1.8(b) provides relief, even if the correspondence is not received in the PTO at all. Under 37 CFR 1.8(b) the party who forwarded the correspondence need only (1) inform the PTO of the previous mailing of the correspondence, (2) supply a copy of the previously mailed correspondence and Certificate, and (3) include a declaration which adequately attests to the previous timely mailing.

(238) Unpaid Fee Checks

Beginning Dec. 1, 1987, the Office will change the procedure for handling fee checks of attorneys and agents that are returned to the Office unpaid. Presently, when a check submitted as payment for an application, a processing, an issue or any other fee is returned to the Office unpaid, the Office of Finance sends a letter to the attorney or agent who represents the applicant, or to the applicant if unrepresented by an attorney or agent, enclosing the check and calling attention to the fact that the check was returned unpaid. Beginning Dec. 1, 1987, the Office of Finance will send a copy of its letter to the applicant if the letter is addressed to an attorney or agent. The prohibition of 37 CFR §§1.33 and 2.18 against double correspondence is waived in view of the submission of a check that is returned unpaid to the Office.

A registered patent attorney or agent who repeatedly submits checks that are returned unpaid through no fault of the bank may expect to have the matter referred to the Office of Enrollment and Discipline.

Oct. 5, 1987. DONALD W. PETERSON,
Deputy Commissioner.

(239) Service of Court Papers on the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks

The procedure set forth in M.P.E.P. §1216 (5th ed., revs. 1 to 6) under the heading "Service of Court Papers on Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks" was superceded by the procedure set forth in the Solicitor's Notice of June 8, 1987 [1079 OG 72], which remains in effect and which also describes the procedure for filing a notice of a appeal to the Federal Circuit. The portion of that notice concerning service of court papers on the Commissioner is repeated below, as modified to include additional guidelines about supplementation of the mail service address.

Court papers may be served on the Commissioner in either of the following ways:

A. By hand between 8:30 A.M. and 5:00 P.M. at the Office of the Solicitor, located in Crystal Plaza Bldg. No. 2, 2011 Jefferson Davis Hwy., 5th Floor, Room 5-C-15, Arlington, Va.

B. By mail in an envelope addressed as follows:

Office of the Solicitor
P.O. Box 15667
Arlington, Va. 22215

While the above mail service address may be supplemented to include the name of the particular attorney assigned to the court case, it must not be supplemented to refer to either the Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks or the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (PTO).

Court papers mailed to an address other than the above mail service address and court papers delivered by hand are deemed to have been served on the Commissioner when actually received in the Office of the Solicitor.

Papers which are not court papers and are intended to be filed in the PTO in connection with an application or other proceeding pending in the Office should not be mailed to the solicitor's mail service address. Any such papers which are mailed to the Solicitor's mail service address will not be considered to have been filed in the PTO. Instead, all such papers will be returned. No exceptions will be made to this policy.

Feb. 22, 1988 JOSEPH F. NAKAMURA,
Solicitor.

(240) HELPFUL HINTS

• Expediting Processing Trademark Assignments — As noted in our statistics we are currently running behind in processing trademark assignment documents. We are working to eliminate the backlog in this area. We have recently eliminated a backlog in patent assignment processing. The following helpful hints are offered to aid us in eliminating backlogs and to allow us to provide better service for all assignment processing:

> Many individuals are submitting assignment documents and requests for assignment services, together with application prosecution papers, directly to the examiner. Often, these requests get placed in the file and are not forwarded to the assignment area for handling. Please send all assignment documents and requests through the mailroom in order that they may be properly routed to the assignment area.
> Please separate requests for certified copies of assignments from requests for other services including requests for certified copies of other documents. Certification of assignment documents is not performed by the same individuals as certification of other documents.

• Expediting Handling of Trademark Applications — To facilitate processing of new trademark applications, place them in a separate envelope apart from all other mail. Identify on the outside of the envelope "TRADEMARK APPLICATION ONLY." More than one new trademark application may be placed in the same envelope. Do not place any papers in the envelope other than those related to the new trademark applications.

(241) Weekly Summaries of Trademark Trial and Appeal Board Final Decisions

The Patent and Trademark Office will begin publishing, in each issue of the Trademark Official Gazette, a weekly summary of final decisions issued by the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. Publication of the summary is being undertaken on a discretionary basis, as a courtesy to interested members of the public.

Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks.

(242) Filing Receipt for Trademark Applications

Effective immediately, the Trademark Examining Operation will replace its existing "FILING RECEIPT FOR TRADEMARK APPLICATIONS," PTO Form 100 (Rev. 8/78), with a filing receipt using a new format. The revised filing receipt will be printed on a single sheet of 8½" x 11" paper and will contain information regarding the mark, applicant, International and U.S. classes, goods and/or services, and dates of use. If all of the information relating to a new application cannot be printed on the 8½" x 11" filing receipt, it will be noted that additional information was contained in the application but was not printed. The addressee's name and address will be printed on the back of the filing receipt.

(243) Separation of the Patent and Trademark Sections of the Official Gazette

Effective February 2, 1971, the Official Gazette will be separated into two parts to be known as the Patent Official Gazette and the Trademark Official Gazette.

* * * * *

Orders for subscriptions should be addressed to Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Also effective February 2, 1971, the Official Gazette will no longer contain "Decisions in Patent and Trademark Cases." Decisions of the type heretofore found in the "Decisions in Patent and Trademark Cases" are published by non-Federal organizations such as, for example, the Bureau of National Affairs, Inc., 1231 25th St. NW., Washington, D.C. 20037, and West Publishing Co., 50 Kellogg Blvd., St. Paul, Minn. 55102.

Finally, the "Decisions Leaflet" of the Official Gazette will no longer be supplied as a separate subscription item after January 26, 1971. According to present plans, however, both the Patent Official Gazette and the Trademark Official Gazette will have identical "Patent Office Notices" sections containing notices of the various types heretofore published in the Gazette decision leaflet and Trademark Section. Those notices of particular interest to Patent Office employees will be accumulated and published approximately every fourth week, and distributed separately to employees.

Dec. 29, 1970. WILLIAM E. SCHUYLER, JR.,
Commissioner of Patents.

(244) Changes in Format for Publishing Trademarks for Opposition

Because of the adoption of the International classification of goods and services by the United States as of September 1, 1973 (see Official Gazette of June 26, 1973, 911 O.G. TM 210), it is necessary to change the arrangement in the Official Gazette of the marks published for opposition.

Beginning with the issue of May 7, 1974, the section of the Official Gazette entitled "Marks Published for Opposition" will be divided into four sections instead of the present two sections. (For the preceding change from one to two sections, see Official Gazette of October 13, 1964, 807 O.G. TM 51.) Sections 1 and 2 will be according to international classification and will contain marks in applications filed on or after September 1, 1973, and Sections 3 and 4 will be according to prior United States classification and will contain marks in applications filed on or before August 31, 1973.

In Section 1, all marks presented in combined applications filed on or after September 1, 1973 for registration in more than one international class will be published with only one reproduction of each mark. The reproduction of the mark will be followed by the international class numbers, and under each class will appear the goods or services in connection with which the mark is used. If the date of first use applies to all classes, it will appear following the last class; otherwise, the dates of use will appear after each class.

In Section 2, all marks presented in applications filed on or after September 1, 1973 for registration in a single class will be published in international class order.

In Section 3, all marks presented in combined applications filed on or before August 31, 1973 for registration in more than one prior United States class will be published with only one reproduction of each mark. The reproduction of the mark will be followed by the prior United States class numbers and titles, and under each class will appear the goods or services in connection with which the mark is used. If the date of first use applies to all classes, it will appear following the last class; otherwise, the dates of use will appear after each class.

In section 4, all marks presented in applications filed on or before August 31, 1973 for registration in a single class will be published in the prior United States class order.

The following explanation will appear under the heading "Marks Published for Opposition":

> The following marks are published in compliance with section 12(a) of the Trademark Act of 1946. Applications for the registration of marks in more than one class have been filed as provided in section 30 of said act as amended by Public Law 772, 87th Congress, approved Oct. 9, 1962, 76 Stat. 769. Opposition under Section 13 may be filed within thirty days of the date of this publication. See Rules 2.101 to 2.105.
> A separate fee of twenty-five dollars for opposing each mark in each class must accompany the opposition.

Sections 1 through 4 will appear immediately after the above explanation, the sections being designated as follows:

Section 1. International classification—Application in more than one class
Section 2. International classification—Application in one class
Section 3. Prior United States classification—Application in more than one class
Section 4. Prior United States classification—Application in one class

The same procedure of dividing into four sections will be followed in the notice of the issuance of registrations on the Supplemental Register.

(245) Change in Official Gazette Entry to Show Cancellation of Fewer Than All Classes in a Multiple Class Registration

Effective with the Official Gazette issue of December 16, 1980, there will be a change in the Official Gazette listing entitled "Trademark Registrations Cancelled." Beginning with that issue, "Trademark Registrations Cancelled" will list:

(1) single class registrations cancelled;
(2) multiple class registrations cancelled in all classes;
(3) multiple class registrations cancelled in fewer than all classes.

For every entry in the listing, the specific classes cancelled will be included in parentheses, next to the registration number and mark.

For a single class registration and for a multiple class registration in which every class has been cancelled, the class number(s) shown in parentheses will represent every class to which the registration applied.

For a multiple class registration in which fewer than all classes have been cancelled, the Official Gazette entry will include the word "only" following the notation of classes in parentheses, for example: (Int. Cls. 12 and 20, only). In this example, the addition of the word "only" would indicate that there are classes in the registration in addition to Classes 12 and 20, but only Classes 12 and 20 have been cancelled.

(246) Single Copies of the Trademark Official Gazette

Members of the public ordering single copies of the Trademark Official Gazette from the Superintendent of Documents are reminded they must specify the date of the issue being ordered.

The date of the issue in which a mark will be published for opposition is shown on The Notice of Publication form mailed to applicants approximately two weeks before the publication date. This date must be included on each single copy order.

Orders received without an issue date may be filled from current weekly stock. The Superintendent of Documents cannot check on whether a particular mark is published in the issue then in stock. If the stock is exhausted at the time the order is received, the order will be returned unfilled.

(247) Inadvertently Issued Registration Numbers

Effective Jan. 3, 1984, a new sub-section identified as "Inadvertently Issued Registration Numbers" will exist as the last category of cancellations listed under the "Trademark Registrations Canceled" section of the Official Gazette.

This new sub-section will provide public notice of the cancellation of registration numbers which have been inadvertently issued by the Patent and Trademark Office.

(251) Notification of Errors in Trademark Official Gazette

In view of the establishment of in-house photocomposition of the Trademark Official Gazette, it is important that errors noted by the public be directed to a single office within the Trademark Examining Operation for verification and correction.

Written notification of errors in the publication of marks in the Trademark Official Gazette should include the correspondent's telephone number and should be addressed to the Paralegal Specialist, Office of the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, United States Department of Commerce, Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, D.C. 20231. Error notification may also be done by telephone to the Paralegal Specialist in the Office of the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks, at 202–557–3268.

Applicants may use this procedure to notify the Office of errors in relation to marks published in the Official Gazette if the error is purely clerical (e.g. typographical error, drawing printed upside down, or incorrectly stated data). This procedure should not be used to dispute information that is actually of record in the application file. The Paralegal Specialist will review the notification of error and verify the existence of the clerical error, determine whether the error can be corrected without jurisdiction being restored to the Examining Attorney or republication being required, and coordinate the appropriate correction procedure.

Notification must be received by the Office within one week after the Official Gazette publication date to permit processing by the Office.

TRADEMARK MISCELLANEOUS

(254) Recording of Documents Affecting Title

The Patent Office is liberalizing its policy concerning the recording of documents, other than assignments, which affect title to trademark registrations and applications. Under Rule 2.185 of the Trademark Rules of Practice, instruments affecting title to a trademark registration or application, and licenses of trademarks which are the subject of trademark registrations or applications, will be recorded even though the recording thereof may not serve as constructive notice under Section 10 of the Trademark Act of 1946, as amended (15 U.S.C. 1060).

(255) International Protection of Government Emblems and Seals

Change of Intent

The Patent and Trademark Office, Department of Commerce, intends to forward only the 50 State seals plus one department seal for each department listed in the publication "Seals and Other Devices in Use at the Government Printing Office" ("Seals") instead of the entire publication, as indicated on page 59366 of the Federal Register of Dec. 23, 1975.

Since the publication had been printed in 1975, it was assumed that few deletions and additions would be necessary. However, the response to the above notice, along with some necessary deletions, resulted in a large number of seals in the publication requiring deletion. This rendered the publication unacceptable for submission to the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO).

Therefore, the Patent and Trademark Office now intends to forward only the 50 State seals along with the departmental seal denoted "No. 1" for each department listed in the "Seals" publication. If this is not the preferred departmental or State seal, the department or State involved is requested to notify the Patent and Trademark Office by Sept. 21, 1976. This notification should either specify the number of the preferred seal, as it appears in the "Seals" publication, or provide a clear, black and white photograph, suitable for reproduction, of the preferred seal. The seal must be no larger than 1 1/2 inches in diameter.

These seals will then be forwarded to WIPO for protection under Article 6*ter* of the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property.

Address all correspondence to: Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

(256) Recording of "Territorial Assignments" in the Assignment Division of the Patent and Trademark Office

It has been the practice of the Assignment Division for many years to refuse to record "territorial assignments," that is, assignments purporting to transfer rights in a trademark registration (not a concurrent use registration) for less than the entire United States. Hereinafter, such documents will be recorded as long as the requirements of the Rules of Practice are met by the documents submitted.

The Office is not addressing the validity or effect of such documents by recording same, but is merely recognizing that such transfers may affect title to a registered mark and therefore ought to be recorded. At the time a Section 8 affidavit or declaration or an application for renewal is filed, the Examiner of Trademarks will consider the effect of such a document.

(257) Flexible Working Hours

On Jan. 4, 1979 the Patent and Trademark Office is beginning a 15 month experiment with flexible working hours for its employees. Under the "flexitime" experiment many of the Office's employees will have flexibility to begin their workdays as early as 6:30 a.m. or as late as 9:30 a.m., and end their workdays between 3:00 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Employees in every case shall of course work eight hours each day. All or most patent and trademark examiners will have flexible hours.

The public hours of the Patent and Trademark Office will continue to be 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. All units of the Office which deal directly with the public will be staffed to answer telephone calls and receive visitors during those hours. All employees will be on duty from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. The patent public search room will continue to operate from 8:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m. and the trademark search room from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

With the advent of flexible hours, it will be advisable for members of the public to make appointments in advance when they wish to interview examiners.

(259) Public Advisory Committee for Trademark Affairs

Reestablishment

In accordance with the provisions of the Federal Advisory Committee Act 5 U.S.C. App. (1976) and Office of Management and Budget Circular A-63 of Mar. 1974, and after consultation with GSA, it has been determined that the reestablishment of the Public Advisory Committee for Trademark Affairs is in the public interest in connection with the performance of duties imposed on the Department by law.

The Committee was first established in Sept., 1970, and its present charter expired on Jan. 10, 1979. Since its inception the purpose of the Committee has been to advise the Patent and Trademark Office concerning steps which can be taken to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of administration of the Trademark Act and to provide a continuing flow of knowledge from the private sector to the government in the field of trademarks. Approximately seventy-five per cent of the over one hundred twenty-five specific recommendations have been implemented at least in part. There is no question that the Committee has contributed greatly to the efficiency and effectiveness of the administration of the statute. In reviewing the Committee, the Secretary has sought continued effort towards this objective. The Committee's function cannot be accomplished by any organizational element or other committee of the Department.

As it was initially established, the Committee will continue to comprise the members of the Advisory Committee for Trademark Affairs of the United States Trademark Association. The membership is balanced and is under the control of the President of the Association. The Committee will continue to operate in compliance with the provisions of the Federal Advisory Committee Act.

Copies of the Committee's revised charter will be filed with appropriate committees of Congress.

Any inquiries or comments may be addressed to Patricia M. Davis, Committee Control Officer, Office of Trademark Program Control, U.S. Patent & Trademark Office; Washington, D.C. 20231; telephone (703) 557-3881.

Mar. 15, 1979.

GUY W. CHAMBERLIN,
Assistant Secretary for Administration.

(260) Certified Copies of Trademark Applications/Registrations

The Trademark Operation is in the process of microfilming its records and, as this proceeds, requests for certified copies of applications and, eventually, registrations, will be furnished from the microfilmed records. Such certified copies will not contain copies of the file jacket.

Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks.

(261) TABLE OF OFFICIAL GAZETTE VOLUME NUMBERS: 1872–1990

A table which relates volume numbers of the Official Gazette comprising collections of weekly issues of that publication to the month of their publication has found good use in the Patent and Trademark Office and Patent Depository Libraries in a variety of applications. The need for such a table arises, in part, from the fact that Official Gazette volumes have not been uniformly numbered on a monthly basis over the 110 year history of that publication. From Jan. 1872 through June 1883, they were numbered on a semi-annual basis; from July 1883 through Dec. 1902, quarterly; from Jan. 1902 through Dec. 1908, bi-monthly; and since Jan. 1909, the volume of issues for each month has been separately numbered. To fulfill the interest which has been expressed in this table, it is published below:

The Copyright Office stated that it will also examine the impact of the new technologies on the integrity of our national film heritage and the creative freedom of filmmakers.

The scope of the Patent and Trademark Office's inquiry is narrower. The Office seeks specific, thorough comment on the extent to which the Lanham Act may be applied to address potential problems relating to the use of new technologies for the alteration of existing motion pictures. The Office solicits information on whether legal arguments have been or are likely to be made for the application of the Lanham Act, and particularly section 43(a), to such technologies. Discussion of relevant case law, including unreported cases, is requested. The Office also seeks comment on whether the Lanham Act should be amended to provide expanded protection against such alteration, and, if so, on the proper scope of such amendments. Recommendations for amending the Act should be precise and detailed.

Questions

(1) To what extent is it contemplated that the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. 1051 et seq., and particularly section 43(a) of the Act, 15 U.S.C. 1125(a), may be used to address potential problems relating to the use of new technologies for the alteration of existing motion pictures, including but not limited to colorization, time compression, and panning and scanning?

(2) Should the Lanham Act be amended to provide more or different protection than is currently available? If so, what form should new legislation take? Who should be protected?

Copies of all comments received will be available for public inspection after Sept. 26, 1988, in Suite 902, Crystal Park Bldg. 2, 2121 Crystal Dr., Arlington, Va. 22202.

July 20, 1988. DONALD J. QUIGG,
Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

(274) Procedures for Enforcement of the Regulations Relating to the Use of Patent and Trademark Office Records or Search Facilities

Under applicable statutes and regulations, including 40 U.S.C. 486(c), 41 CFR 101–20.3, and appropriate sections of Department Organization Orders 10–14 and 30–3 of the Department of Commerce, the procedures appearing below are established.

1. Violations involving unauthorized removal of PTO files, documents, records or government property.
   a. Each observed or reported violation will be investigated.
   b. Persons found in possession of PTO material or government property, other than in areas or under circumstances where possession is specifically authorized, shall be required to immediately surrender the material or property and if appropriate, their User Pass. An oral explanation for the possession of such material or property will be requested by the PTO.
   c. Each incident involving unauthorized possession of PTO material or government property shall be immediately reported by telephone or in person to the Office or Group Director of the area from which the material or property was taken.
   d. If it appears to the Office or Group Director that possession of the materials was inadvertent or otherwise unintentional, no further action will be taken. The materials will be replaced appropriately and the person's User Pass will be returned.
   e. If it appears to the Office or Group Director that possession of the materials was intentional, all persons involved shall be required to submit written statements detailing the circumstances and, in the case of a PTO User/visitor, show cause why the User Pass and visitor privileges should not be suspended or revoked. Statements will also be obtained from other witnesses where appropriate. The material or property shall be secured for possible use as evidence by the Office or Group Director, if appropriate.
   f. If the involved person possesses a Permanent User Pass, it shall be retained and forwarded with the written statements to the Assistant Commissioner for Administration. A Temporary User Pass may be issued as replacement by the Assistant Commissioner for Administration, pending action on an alleged violation.
   g. If the involved person possesses only a Temporary User Pass it shall be retained and forwarded with the written statements to the Assistant Commissioner for Administration within two weeks of the incident. No replacement will be provided pending action by the Assistant Commissioner for Administration.

2. Other violations of public use regulations.
   a. Each observed or reported violation will be investigated. The persons involved shall be informed of the nature of the violation and requested to comply with regulations.
   b. If it appears that the violation was inadvertent or otherwise unintentional and the involved person immediately conforms to the regulations, no further action will be taken.
   c. If the violation appears to be intentional or if the person involved refuses to comply with a verbal request from a PTO employee or continues to violate the regulations after being requested to comply, the person shall be required to surrender his or her User Pass to the PTO. A written report of each violation and the User Pass will be submitted to the Assistant Commissioner for Administration for a final decision. User Pass replacement procedures shall be as specified in paragraphs 1.f. or 1.g.
   d. If the Assistant Commissioner for Administration determines that a reported violation was inadvertent or otherwise not intentional, the User Pass will be returned and no further action will be taken. In all other cases, the Assistant Commissioner for Administration will request the person involved to show cause in writing why his or her User Pass and visitor privileges should not be suspended or revoked.
   e. A written decision will be rendered by the Assistant Commissioner for Administration after consideration of any timely submitted response.
   f. In the case of a written decision by the Assistant Commissioner for Administration adverse to a practitioner as defined by 37 CFR 10.1(r), a copy of the written decision will be forwarded to the Director of the Office of Enrollment and Discipline for whatever further action, including sanctions, as may be appropriate under the PTO Code of Professional Responsibility.

3. Factors to be Considered in Assessing Penalties.
   a. Penalties will be determined on a case by case basis.
   b. Prior violations of regulations will be considered when assessing whether any violation is willful, deliberate or intentional, and when determining the penalty to be imposed.
   c. Penalties may be assessed as follows, depending on circumstances:

      (1) For a first offense: from a written warning to a 30 day suspension of the User Pass and visitor privileges.
      (2) For a second offense: a suspension of the User Pass and visitor privileges from 5 days to one year.
      (3) For a third or subsequent offense: from a suspension of 30 days to permanent revocation of the User Pass and visitor privileges.
      (4) For any single serious or aggravated violation: suspension of the User Pass and visitor privileges for up to one year or permanent revocation of the User Pass and visitor privileges. A serious or aggravated violation is defined as any instance involving multiple violations of regulations during a single event or acts which also constitute a violation of Federal or local criminal law.

4. Record of Penalties Imposed.
A record of penalties imposed for given violations will be maintained by the Assistant Commissioner for Administration. These records will be made available to the public upon request.

5. Use of Public Facilities During Suspension or After Revocation of User Pass.
No individual will be permitted to use the facilities specified in these regulations while his or her User Pass is suspended or revoked.

6. Absence of Assistant Commissioner for Administration.
In the absence of the Assistant Commissioner for Administration, the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Administration will carry out the responsibilities assigned by these regulations.

7. Absence of Designated PTO Officials.
In the absence of any Designated PTO Official, a Deputy or Acting Official will carry out the responsibilities assigned by these regulations.

8. Assistance.
PTO employees may, when necessary, request the Security Officer of the Patent and Trademark Office or the Federal Protective Service or their contractors to provide assistance in carrying out their assigned responsibilities in paragraphs 1. and 2.

9. Appeals.
Decisions rendered by the Assistant Commissioner for Administration may be reviewed on petition to the Commissioner.

May 11, 1987.

THERESA A. BRELSFORD,
Assistant Commissioner for Administration.

(275) IMPROVEMENTS TO SERVICES

• Trademark Drawings — Effective July 1, 1987, the rule requiring that trademark drawings be limited in size to 4 inches by 4 inches will not be insisted upon for the purpose of assigning a filing date. This change is being made based on a recommendation by the Public Advisory Committee for Trademark Affairs and after consideration of the effect on Office practice.

Drawings must still meet the other requirements of CFR §2.52 to receive a filing date. Further, the size limitation to 4 inches by 4 inches of CFR §2.52(c) must be met before the application may be approved for publication or, if the application is on the Supplemental Register, for registration. It is strongly recommended that applicants attempt to comply with the size requirements at the time of filing to expedite the examination and registration process.

(276) IMPROVEMENTS TO SERVICES

Until recently, trademark assignments containing more than 99 properties were pulled from the normal processing pipeline and handled separately. This was being done since the automatic typewriters used to record the information must be reset to accommodate for more than 99 properties. However, this procedure has resulted in delays in recording such assignments, and in their being processed well after other assignments with earlier receipt dates. This backlog is now being addressed and will be processed by the end of July. All trademark assignments, regardless of the number of properties, are now being processed in date order.

(277) IMPROVEMENTS TO SERVICES

Until June 1987, trademark assignments containing more than 99 properties were pulled from the normal processing pipeline and handled separately. This was being done since the automatic typewriters used to record the information must be reset to accommodate for more than 99 properties. However, this procedure had resulted in delays in recording such assignments, and in their being processed well after other assignments with earlier receipt dates. An intensive effort has been underway to record all those assignments and the backlog has now been completed. All trademark assignments, regardless of the number of properties, are now being processed in date order and we are planning to be back on schedule by the end of Sept.

Similarly, patent assignments involving several properties had also been delayed. The increase in the days to process assignments reflects the working off of this backlog. It is expected to be completed by the end of Sept. and all patent assignments should be back on target in Oct.

Patent and Trademark Office Implementation of 37 CFR 1.28(d) and 1.56(c), (f) and (g)

This notice supplements the Official Gazette Notices relating to the implementation of 37 CFR 1.56 published at 1095 Official Gazette 16 (Oct. 11, 1988) and 1096 Official Gazette 19 (Nov. 8, 1988) which announced that the Office will no longer investigate and reject original or reissue applications under 37 CFR 1.56.

With regard to 37 CFR 1.28(d), it will still be considered as fraud attempted or practiced on the Office either to attempt to fraudulently (1) establish status as a small entity or (2) pay fees as a small entity or to improperly and through gross negligence (1) establish status as a small entity or (2) pay fees as a small entity. The rule, however, makes reference to 37 CFR 1.56(d) but the Office no longer investigates or rejects original or reissue applications under 37 CFR 1.56(d). Therefore, the Office will accept payment of fee deficiencies under 37 CFR 1.28 but will just note in such cases that the Office no longer investigates and rejects applications under 37 CFR 1.56.

With regard to 37 CFR 1.56(c), (f) and (g), after further review of Office practice, it has been determined that the same reasons set forth in the Official Gazette Notices cited above also apply to the investigating and striking of applications for defects in the manner in which the application was executed by the signing of an oath or declaration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.63. It is no longer considered appropriate for the Office to expend the resources required to investigate such issues and to consider striking the applications involved. The resolution of such issues involves the difficult process of determining the intent of the parties and the facts surrounding the execution of the applications. Since Feb. 27, 1983, an application may be filed without an executed oath or declaration and still be granted a filing date as to the subject matter disclosed and claimed. Therefore, while the defects in execution described in 37 CFR 1.56(c) are not condoned, it is appropriate to allow the filing of a new oath or declaration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.63 and the payment of the surcharge under 37 CFR 1.16(e) for filing an oath or declaration later than the filing date of the application without action under 37 CFR 1.56(c), (f) or (g) by the Office.

Accordingly, the Patent and Trademark Office will not consider striking an application for the type of conduct described in 37 CFR 1.56(c) and will not entertain a petition directed to such matter submitted pursuant to 37 CFR 1.56(f) and (g). Any such petition submitted will merely be placed in the application file and will not be commented upon by the Patent and Trademark Office. The provisions of 37 CFR 1.56(c), (f) and (g) are hereby waived. The regulation will be modified through the rulemaking procedure.

DONALD J. QUIGG,
Assistant Secretary and Commissioner of Patents
and Trademarks.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries (PDLs), receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier-issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections, which are organized in patent number sequence, are available for use by the public free of charge. Each of the PDLs, in addition, offers supplemental reference publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System, including the Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public, in gaining effective access to information contained in patents. CASSIS (Classification And Search Support Information System), which provides direct, on-line access to Patent and Trademark Office data, is available at all PDLs. Facilities for making paper copies of patents from either microfilm or paper collections are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent collec patents from either microfilm or paper collections are generallcontemplating use of the patents at a particular library is advised to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries (PDLs), receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier-issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections, which are organized in patent number sequence, are available for use by the public free of charge. Each of the PDLs, in addition, offers supplemental reference publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System, including the Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public, in gaining effective access to information contained in patents. CASSIS (Classification And Search Support Information System), which provides direct, on-line access to Patent and Trademark Office data, is available at all PDLs. Facilities for making paper copies of patents from either microfilm or paper collections are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent collec patents from either microfilm or paper collections are generallcontemplating use of the patents at a particular library is advised to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
